If you're a Shelby County property owner, you might as well brace yourself now. Your ad valorem tax notice this year will probably show a substantial in-

As the result of a statewide reappraisal of property values, Shelby County tax assessor Bobbie Reynolds expects property taxes here will increase an average of 40%.

What that means for the county is a jump in revenues from $6.46 million this year, to roughly $9.05 million next year.

Ironically, although your taxes could possibly jump 100% or more, the county commission actually decreased the millage on 1982 ad valorem taxes from 32 to 30 mills.

The tax increase is coming despite this because of increases in land and house values between 1975 and 1980.

Since 1979, tax appraisals have been assessed according to the fair market values as of October, 1975. That statewide reappraisal, however, came under strong public and legal criticism. Reynolds, calling the 1975 reappraisal a "guessing game," said those values were based on only 27 studies, which led to numerous inaccuracies.

The 1975 reappraisals are now being updated on the basis of 600 studies, Reynolds told the statements Reynolds' office ex-Reporter. The new values, however, are being based on the fair market values as of October. 1980, a time when the housing market was at a peak.

Reynolds emphasized that Shelby County is not unique. The new appraisals are statewide and were ordered by the federal courts to equalize taxation among counties.

Even with the expected leap in ad valorem taxes, Reynolds notes that Alabama will still rank nationally as having the third or fourth lowest property taxes.

pects to mail out in September will no doubt come as a shock. The area of the county you live in will have something to do with the weight of that shock because market ratio studies were based on different sections of the coun-

For instance, a house and one acre lot in Pelham (no doubt undervalued in 1975, Reynolds said) was valued on last year's notice at $45,600. For 1982, the value jumps to $75,030. Claiming the usual homestead exemption and including Pelham's 14 mills, For Shelby Countians used to the total property tax on this parpaying considerably less, the tax ticular house will jump from

In Columbiana, a house and half acre lot in a subdivision valued last year at $21,820 would be reappraised this year at $32,780. Again, with the homestead exemption and including Columbiana's 10 mills, the total property tax will jump from $33.64 to $77.20.

Reynolds noted, however, that county taxes on land appraised at $10,000 in Jefferson County could be as high as $58, whereas that same value property in Shelby County would be taxed at

In some instances, she said, houses and lots may have been overvalued during the 1975 reappraisals. In such cases, the new reappraisals may reflect no increase in taxes.

Homestead exemptions, available upon request to all owner-occupied residences, have also decreased this year from $58 to $54, Reynolds said. Other savings are available through handicap exemptions and, for owners of tracts of land, by claiming "current use" status.

The first indication of what the reappraisals will do to you will show on your Board of Equalization appraisal notice, which Reynolds said should arrive by mail in May. If you feel you can show just cause why the market value quoted on the notice is inaccurate, then you have ten days in which to apply in writing for a 15 minute protest hearing before the board.

"I anticipate the protest pro-cedures to be rather lengt year, " Reynolds said. J. they lasted four weeks. This year she said they may take three mon-

Reynolds stressed that calling her office in regard to the new reappraisals will be futile. Currently, two shifts of data entry clerks are working day and night to enter all the new values into the computer. If the work progresses smoothly, Reynolds said that the appraisal notices may also include the amount of taxes that will appear on your tax notice in September.

"We're not prepared to go over this with property owners right now," Reynolds said, "and by law, we can't discuss the reevaluations except through the Board of Equalizations."

She added that by August, when a more clear estimate of expected revenues is available, the county commission can, if it sees fit, vote to lower the millage, which would lower taxes somewhat.

The 30 county mills are presently broken down into 12 for the schools, 6.5 for the state, 5 for the general fund, 4 for hospital and health care, and 2.5 for roads and bridges.

St. Vincent's enters county; emergency center is underway

by Marcia M. Sears

St. Vincent's Hospital is poised and ready to build a comprehensive medical complex on the 40 acres it owns in Shelby County.

Approval from the State Health Planning Development Agency (SHPDA) has already been awarded to St. Vincent's for construction of a free standing emergency center. The emergency center is one of at least six buildings the Birmingham-based hospital would like to construct on old Highway 280, just south of the Cahaba River.

In an interview with the Reporter, John Davis, director of corporate development for St. Vincent's, said other buildings planned are: an ambulatory surgery and birthing center; a retirement center with 230 living units and a 60 bed nursing home; and a hospital with about 120 beds. Each of these buildings would however, require a separate 'certificate of need' from the state health agency. At least four other groups are competing for a certificate of need for a hospital in the north Shelby County area, and controversy continues to surround the subject.

But the St. Vincent plan is more comprehensive than any of the others that have been advanced to date.

In addition to the four major buildings mentioned above, St. Vincent's envisions at least two more buildings, financed by private business investment, to complete a 'health mall."

These might include doctors' and dentists' offices, and commercial space for health-related needs, such as a pharmacy, optical dispensary, and rental firm for medical and surgical ap-

Davis says the planners also want to install a physical fitness center with a racquet club, handball, and tennis courts, indoor swimming pool, weight rooms, saunas and a nutrition center. Some of the services might be provided by St. Vincent's; others might be provided by franchise arrangements.

Davis said that health education and a fitness program could be offered as community services. These are planned in the emergency room building.

He emphasized that the master plan anticipates integrating all the facilities and services so that individuals could have all their health-related needs taken care of in the one location.

The retirement center would not only have living spaces and nursing home beds, but it would also have a grocery store, restaurant, recreation room and chapel. The residents would participate in the fitness programs at other parts of the complex.

Davis said that in making up the design for the project, St. Vincent's planners studied urban hospitals and the components that normally develop around them. They decided to plan for these components, rather than to let them develop helter-skelter. Davis outlined the current status of the project:

Montevallo holds annual Trade Day

Cotton candy, paintings and violets are just three of the hundreds of items that will be on sale Saturday, April 3 at the Montevallo Trade Day.

Sponsored by the Centrala Garden Club, the event has already lined up 26 organizations and individuals who have taken booths to sell their wares. Many of the items are carefully made arts and crafts articles.

Counted cross stitch will occupy one booth; toys and baby quilts another. Rummage sales and flea markets are the features at other booths. Cypress clocks, decorator Venetian blinds and books about the history of Shelby County are also included.

This is the fifth year the club has conducted the Trade Day. It is scheduled for Main Street, beginning at 9 a.m. For more information: 665-2479.

Loot recovered

Thieves hit lake homes

David F. Moore Eight Lay Lake area residents lost an estimated $14,000 during a Sunday night theft spree.

By Monday morning, however, sheriff's personnel had recovered the stolen goods and arrested one man and two juveniles in connection with the thefts.

Tuesday, chief investigator Reed Smith signed warrants against Mark Kurtts, 22, of Ridge Avenue, Bessemer, charging him with seven counts of first degree theft of property.

Similar warrants were signed against two white juveniles, ages 15 and 16, also from Bessemer.

Smith credited the quick police work to the cooperation of a number of citizens and a lead supplied by deputies Mike Shaw and Sgt. Billy Thomas.

Thomas and Shaw, responding to a report of a suspicious vehicle in the Spring Creek/Waxahatchie Creek area, stopped a man Sunday night about 7:30. Smith said the 18 year old Bessemer man had a hard time explaining why an outboard motor was in his possession.

That particular motor was later reported stolen and Smith said he expects charges to be filed against the suspect.

Around 7:30 a.m. Monday, following leads provided by Thomas, Shaw, and area residents, deputy Bobby Boyd tracked down Kurtts to a trailer on Spring Creek. In the trailer Boyd discovered three pickup truck loads of stolen boat motors, fishing equipment, furniture, TV's and other household goods.

Smith arrived at the trailer around 8 a.m. About two hours later, he said the two juveniles drove up in a pickup loaded with more stolen goods.

Smith said Tuesday afternoon that all but one of the victims had been to the sheriff's office to claim the stolen goods.

According to reports, eight cabins and trailers from Waxahatchee to Spring Creek were broken into between Sunday night and Monday morning. Attempted breakins were also made at three other weekend residences.

Smith called the citizens' cooperation in the case "fantastic."

"People are getting tired of this sort of thing (burglaries and thefts) and they're starting to look out for one another," Smith

He said the trailer where the stolen goods were recovered was owned by one suspect's grandfather. The grandfather, Smith said, was not connected in the thefts.

Small numbers turned out for March vote

Only 13 percent of Shelby County's registered voters turned out to vote in the March 2, 1982, Constitutional Amendment election, according to Secretary of State Don Siegelman.

"In contrast, Shelby County's voter turnout was 67 percent in the 1978 gubernatorial race and 62 percent in the 1980 presidential elections," Siegelman said in releasing the voter analysis.

Siegelman also reported that, statewide, 22 percent of registered voters cast ballots in the amendment election, compared to 43 percent who voted in the 1978 governor's race and 53 percent in the 1980 presidential

"Although it is disappointing that only one out of every five Alabama voters went to the polls March 2, it is usually the case that only one in 10 votes in amendment elections," Siegelman said.

The secretary of state said, however, that "these voter turnout figures are not necessarily accurate because Alabama still does not have a workable system for keeping its voter registration lists up to date.

"We still have some counties in which the number of registered voters is actually greater than the number of eligible voters," Siegelman said.

He said Bullock County, for example, has 8,815 names on its voter registration lists, but only 7,173 county residents are eligible to vote. "This equals 123 percent, which is impossible," Siegelman said.

Siegelman said other counties whose registered voters outnumber those eligible to register include Clarke, Conecuh, Geneva, Greene, Lamar, Lowndes, Sumter and Wilcox.

The secretary of state said the inaccuracies occur because "the counties' registration lists are not adequately purged of dead people, duplicates, felons and others who have moved or died out of

"It also is possible that some people are counted for population purposes in one county and continue to vote in another," Siegelman said.

Judge Curt Payne dies

A man who spent more than 20 years serving in various positions in city and county government died Tuesday morning after a lengthy illness.

At the time of his death, 67 year old Lloyd Curt Payne was Magistrate in Shelby County's District Court.

Prior to assuming that position, Payne was judge of the county's law and equity court.

A resident of Alabaster, Payne served as mayor of the city from 1964-1971, and was also a member of the Alabaster council for eight years.

He lived all his life in Shelby

County, was a charter member of the First Baptist Church in Alabaster, and was active in masonic work.

He was also owner of the Western Auto store in Alabaster. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today (Thursday), at the First Baptist Church in Alabaster.

Judge Payne is survived by his wife Maggie Hodge Payne: one daughter, Mable Langston, Alabaster; two sisters, Evelyn Buse, Alabaster, and Emily Hawkins, Cocoa Beach, Fla.

Other survivors are: two brothers, Coe Payne, Alabaster, Chester Payne, Chelsea; six grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Rev. Wayne Crumpton will officiate at the funeral service and interment will be in Jefferson Memorial Gardens South.

HOW TO GET EVEN WITH YOUR WIFE

Sure you have a wonderful wife. She comforts you when things get tough; she keeps an immaculate house; she's a perfect mother, companion, wailing wall and source of inspiration.

But how many times have you asked her not to squeeze the toothpaste in the middle of the tube? And how about that fishing jacket, exquisitely mellow and just beginning to smell the way a jacket should? She gave it to the Salvation Army! Then there was her attitude the night you came home with no alibi three hours late and higher than a

Well, since circumstances make it necessary to sell your house, you have a golden opportunity to get even with your wife! How? By selling the house yourself.

First, when, you try to determine the sales price of your home, drive her crazy with financial figures. She's no expert on land values, replacement costs, depreciation or market fluctuation. For that matter you probably aren't either. So there's a good chance you'll ask too much - or too little for your house. Of course you could list the property with a licensed real estate broker at Tom Cory Realty whose skill and knowledge would assure your getting a fair price - but that would spoil all the fun.

Second, put up your own "for sale" sign and advertise in the newspaper. Your wife will be subjected to interruptions by every busybody in the neighborhood. Her phone will ring night and day. Uninterested "lookers" will parade through her kitchen like an army while qualified propects are being escorted to other houses by real estate brokers at Tom Cory Realty. You might even be inviting thieves and burglars which should eliminate any peace of mind she has left.

Next, if you ever do get an offer from a buyer (and it's bound to be too low), you can maneuver your wife into a state of nervous collapse during the period of negotiation. The services of an experienced real estate broker at Tom Cory Realty at this point with his ability to negotiate such things as price, terms possession, accessories and financial arrangements should be avoided if you expect the most from your chance to torture your wife.

Suppose the improbable happens and you find an honest-to-goodness buyer? He needs a mortgage and turns to you for help. Here is one of the more subtle ways to get your wife on edge. Her disappointment when the sale is lost because the financing arrangements fell through will be something to see! Of course, a real estate broker at Tom Cory Realty who works closely with all the local financial institutions, knows their requirements and is in a position to give the buyer sound, practical advice on obtaining a mortgage, would kill your scheme to make the little woman squirm.

Finally, if it gets this far, you can smother your wife in details at the time the sale is closed. Selling a house involves a great mass of paper work - attorneys, title protection, tax and escrow prorations and confusing documents. A real estate broker at Tom Cory Realty takes pride in being alert to every step in the transaction, helping make the necessary arrangements, following through with appointments. He knows how important it is that agreements be in writing - to protect against arguments later on. If you have a real estate broker at Tom Cory Realty guiding you through all of the bothersome details, you will wind up with a serene and happy wife on your hands.

So - if you want to get even with your wife, try to sell your house yourself.

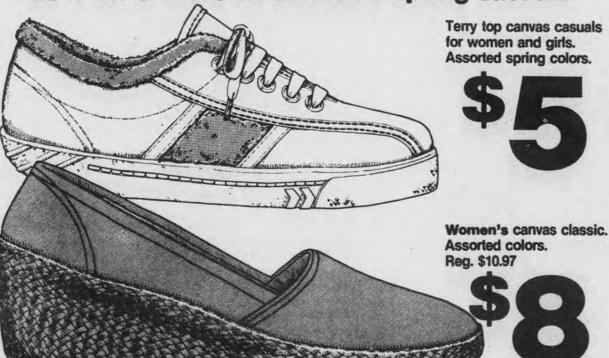

On the other hand, if you want and expect the best price possible with the greatest peace of mind - see a real estate broker at Tom Cory Realty in Alabaster or call 663-

NSCFD still seeks Dewberry past dues

by David F. Moore

The North Shelby County Fire District is still striving to collect $11,250 in past fire dues and late fees for coverage of Dewberry Engraving Company.

The battle over who's legally responsible for the fire dues has been bounced around between attorneys and courtrooms for more than two years. Fire district attorney Mike Campbell is currently seeking a way to pull Dewberry back into the lawsuit.

The Vincent Industrial Development Board sold bonds in the 1970's to purchase the land on which Dewberry was built.

Dewberry alleged that since it doesn't own the land, it should not be obligated to pay for the fire protection. Judge Robert Armstrong agreed and in the spring of 1980, dismissed Dewberry from the lawsuit, Campbell said.

That action passed the ball to Vincent which was then required to show why it wasn't liable for the fire dues. Campbell said he filed a motion for default against Vincent when it did not reply within a year.

That motion, however, was overruled on February 16 of this year, and Vincent was given two weeks more in which to reply. Before the end of the month, Sonny Conwill, attorney for the city, replied that Vincent should be free of the liability because municipalities cannot be taxed.

NSCFD accountant Jim King, who contacted Campbell Monday, told the Reporter that the attorney is seeking to appeal Dewberry's dismissal. Campbell is expected to report on the matter at the next NSCFD board meeting, April 12.

"We don't intend to let the situation hang fire," NSCFD board member Martha Geyer told the Reporter. "We're looking for some final adjustment to the problem.

Under the act which established it, the NSCFD is required to answer all fire and emergency calls within its district. According to Chief Winston Boutwell, the department has made three or four emergency calls to Dewberry over the past three years and will continue to answer calls there.

"Dewberry got a free ride from the city of Vincent and they get fire protection from us," King said. "They want to keep their cake and eat it, too."

King called the fire dues a "service charge," as opposed to a tax, and said it is the board's intent to collect the charges.

King said the Dewberry bill now includes three years fire dues and late charges. The NSCFD makes collections on over 90% of its dues, and Dewberry is the only major business that has not paid, he added.

King noted that the City of Birmingham pays NSCFD fire dues for coverage on Spain Park, the city nursery located within the fire district on Valleydale Road.

SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION SHELBY COUNTY

NORMA N. ROGERS, Ph.D.

March 28, 1982 Dear Friends - -

Four years ago I delayed in announcing as a candidate for the office of Superintendent of Education of Shelby County, and many of you had already committed to other candidates. I am letting you know today that I am definitely a candidate for this position in the up-coming

Many of you have expressed a strong desire for a superintendent of education that would have an open-door policy so that your ideas would be heard. I, too, share that desire and know that my management style, which has provided for full participation of students, parents and teachers at Valley School, for the past eleven years, is what our county needs. A cooperative team approach will provide greater educational programs for the students of Shelby County.

During the last election my campaign was funded mostly with personal funds. I want to be your next superintendent and I will be dependent not only on your vote, influence, and other campaign efforts, but also your financial support which is tax deductible.

The bottom portion of this letter is for your use and will be used in organizing the campaign. I hope you will take the time to respond.

This is the year to elect a superintendent that believes and practices an open-door policy whereby your ideas will be heard and respected, and the team effort will be practiced.

COMMUNICATION IS THE KEY TO SHELBY COUNTY'S FUTURE!

Sincerely.

It was sort of like the housewife who spent days cleaning up the house in anticipation of a visit from rich kinfolks, only to be told at the last minute that the kinfolks weren't coming after

When President Reagan announced in January that he planned to visit Montgomery, there was some indication that he would be accompanied by Mrs. Reagan, and that because the President's son was performing in a ballet in Montgomery that night, it seemed likely the Reagans would spend the night. Certainly they would have been provided accommodations in the Governor's Mansion, which is presently unoccupied.

Faced with this likelihood of such distinguished visitors, Mrs. Fob James busily prepared the mansion for the event. Not only did it receive an early "spring cleaning", but the lovely old home was spruced up a bit with some new wallpaper, carpeting, and some new furnishings--including a $7,000 love seat and an ash tray that cost $55. Total cost: $38,000.

When the story belatedly leaked out it created a predictable tempest, but Windy Leavell, press secretary to Gov. James, insisted the refurbishing was going to be done no matter the Reagan visit, it was simply done sooner than planned in the event they stayed overnight at the mansion.

As it worked out, Mrs. Reagan didn't accompany the President to Montgomery, and his visit here was very brief...something like two hours. The mansion had been made fancy...but alas there was no Nancy.

Odds and Ends---State Sen. Sonny Callahan of Mobile has announced he will push for an amendment to the state constitution which will relieve forever the responsibility of voters all over Alabama deciding the fate of constitutional amendments which affect only one county. His measure comes on the heels of a recent constitutional referendum in which Alabama voters had to approve or disapprove 14 amendments purely of local application.

The racially-flavored tempest at the Public Service Commission continues to rage. An inordinately large number of blacks have been put in key places at the PSC since Billy Joe Camp and Jim Folsom came on the Commission, and the result has been that some veteran white employees feel they are being discriminated against, and the blacks have countered with the same charge. One long-time PSC employee said the present donnybrook is just the "tip of the iceberg."

Rev. and Mrs. Higgins have invited us to spend the day, with things like singing and dinner on the ground and a sermon by Rev. Higgins... And maybe some notes later on so I can tell you about it next week...

Grady Looney and Gordon Isbell and Mrs. Isbell and Julia Camp were among the old friends we saw at Lawrence Looney's funeral... Some folks get old, and some just stay the same, like these four who looked like they might have come in out of the past the day before yesterday...

If you haven't been to church at United Methodist Church at Woodlawn, you ought to go one time before you get too old... And the men's Sunday School Class... Those folks know all you need to know about being friendly and kind and thoughtful... I think that's why I was delighted at the reception Amy and I got at my church...

Friends are like little candles in the dark... And when two go out within a week it makes a difference along the street a fellow lives on... Curtis Merrett and .Gaines Farmer, both my friends for years, and both gone within a week...

The book has been a pure delight... I won't make a whole lot of money, but the response has been fantastic... From just the very places I'd hoped it would come from... It almost took forever to get it published but it was worth waiting for...

I'm back in the banty business... With three roosters and a dozen and a half hens, I'm back in up to my ears... They're laying in every dark spot on this hill... Six are setting... They'll probably scratch up our corn and eat some of our strawberries and wake us up at daylight every morning... But I like 'em and Amy likes 'em and that's what mat-

Be kind to animals week slated

Letter to the Editor:

For over 100 years Americans have been working for the humane treatment of all living creatures.

May 2-8 marks the 68th annual observance of 'Be kind to animals week' in the nation. Sponsored by the American Humane Association and over 2,000 local humane agencies throughout the country, the Humane Society of Shelby County urges the citizens of Shelby County to sit up and take notice.

toward dogs and cats who are allowed to breed millions of offspring each year that must be destroyed; that hundreds of animals are bought each year before the owner considers the full responsibility time and expense involved in pet ownership; and that thousands of animals are mistreated, but through 'Be kind to animals week' the Humane Society of Shelby County and the American Humane Association are dedicated to bringing about a change in these practices through education.

'Be kind to animals week' is one way we in the humane community would like to remind pet owners that kindness toward animals involves love, respect and responsibility. Responsible pet ownership and kindness result when owners are willing to provide the routine health checks, vaccinations and proper diet needed by their animals. Even more importantly, kindness means providing the pet with the love and concern that makes animal companionship so worthwhile.

This week, and all weeks, pet owners and potential pet owners are urged to consider the basic health needs of their animals. Pet ownership is a responsibility, but it is full of love.

Sincerely, Ruthann L. Cumbo, President Humane Society of Shelby County P.O. Box 404 Alabaster, AL 35007 which I have proposed for virtually scrap this important education is vital in their lives.

I certainly favor a pay raise for The War on Illiteracy testing state teachers and state out a plan to provide a 14 percent raise for teachers and a 10 perneed these pay raises. It is a realistic plan.

The AEA lobbyists came up with a plan that has nothing to do with realism in the state budget. They are pushing for a 16 percent pay raise by shuffling items in the state budget to provide the money. Their main target is the Department of Youth Service funded by the Special Education Trust Fund.

They propose to switch DYS from the Special Education Trust Fund to the General Fund to get money for the 2 percent difference to fund the 16 percent pay raise for teachers. This action would throw at least a $12.15 million burden over on the General Fund. The General Fund has no excess funds to take on this extra burden. It could lead to proration.

The Department of Youth Services is a very important agency of state government. It deals with school-age delinquent children. They are 12 to 18 year-old children who have violated laws. These school-age children are sent to DYS by the 67 juvenile courts in Alabama. Their average age is 15. DYS operates three training schools, four group homes and a diagnostic clinic to test delinquent children. DYS trains juvenile probation officers and pays half the salaries of the juvenile probation officers at the county level. Its role of rehabilitating and providing for the school-age juvenile delinquents from all 67 counties is a vital function of state government.

It is wrong, dead wrong, to toss this agency adrift without funding from the Special Education Trust Fund which is the logical source of its funds since it deals with school-age children.

It's encouraging that some lawmakers have indicated they are beginning to grasp the whole picture of what is best for state government and to rethink their actions.

and look at the real facts, Alabama taxpayers will be the beneficiaries.

If they do rethink their actions

There seems to be a lot being said and written lately on the subject of touching.

Now don't get excited. What I mean by touching is a handshake, hug, or friendly peck on the cheek.

Far be it from me to mention anything about the sex aspect since I'm so unlearned in that

It's getting to the point now questions on that subject.

Really - I can't believe my eyes and ears while watching some of the TV shows concerning that intimate relationship between a man and woman.

These days, nothing is too personal to be aired.

My mouth dropped open the other day as I watched a talk show on which two of the guests were a minister and his wife.

Their attitude was a "try it, you'll like it," approach to some things I considered going a little too far in the matter of bedroom

I wasn't sure what one of their suggestions meant, and when I asked my daughter about the meaning of the term they used, she couldn't bring herself to tell her poor old ignoramous mother about it aloud.

However, she did volunteer to write out an explanation if I really wanted to know.

There was some consolation in learning I wasn't the only dummy though. As the program was about to go off the air, someone called in and wanted to know the meaning of the term that had puzzled me.

There wasn't time to explain. But as he went off the air, the show's host noted, "There's a lot of ignorance out there!"

But let me get back to the subject of touching in a less personal

For instance, take the matter of shaking hands. I'm a firm believer in a firm handshake - I don't like to feel that I've gotten hold a wet dishrag when I shake someone's hand.

However, I must admit, I've relented somewhat on the matter of just how firm someone should grasp my hand after what happened the other day.

Scrambled

A man I hadn't seen in some time, stuck out his hand when he saw me, and when I extended mine, he clamped down with all his might.

It might not have been too bad under normal circumstances, but since my hand and arm haven't been out of a cast too long, it was a rather painful experience.

I've noticed too, that the form that I have to ask my children of greeting causes confusion on some occasions.

On another recent TV show, the guest walked out with his hand extended, only to be grabbed by the host and welcomed with a hug.

So this left the poor guy with his arm dangling there in mid-air. I've observed that people in that situation always seem to be convinced they must use that hand once it's been offered, After being released from the hug, the person I mentioned on TV, thrust his hand out in another attempt at a shake. But the host responded by giving him a pat on the arm.

I don't know - maybe there should be some sort of signal as to what type of greeting is coming before individuals who are encountering each other get too close.

In any case, I still think our feelings should be expressed in an enthusiastic manner. All I ask for is more time to recover.

Pelham races clock to complete park

by David F. Moore

The first event at the new Pelham Park will be a race--a race to get the park ready by the April 17 opening day of baseball season.

City engineer Paul Yeager, II, says it will be close, hinged on the arrival and placement of round, galvanized light towers. The particular light towers were chosen over wooden and triangular posts because of their extra strength, their ability to support work platforms and their looks, Yeager

"We decided the towers would be worth the risk of running late (with the opening)," he told the Reporter. "But we may still make it if they get delivered soon."

field ball park is progressing according to its tight schedule.

Yeager said fencing materials arrived Friday, and that part of the work is expected to be well underway this week. Most of the underground wiring for the lights has been laid and most of the work on the concession stand has been completed.

The city budgeted $158,000 for the park this year, of this, $80,000 have been spent on lighting for two of the fields. Cost of the fencing is about $31,000 and the concession stand is costing about $40,000, Yeager

Helena Elementary School has been notified by the State Fire Marshal that it violates the state fire code.

According to State Fire Marshal Roy Thornell, the school was inspected March 4 by deputy Fire Marshal Jim Munger. Thornell said the inspection was made at the request of former Helena Fire Chief Doug Sprouse before his resignation. (See related story.)

Thornell indicated the most serious fire hazard cited was the lack of dry chemical sprinklers over the stove's exhaust hood in the school's kitchen. Without such a sprinkler, he said grease in the exhaust could ignite, leading to a fire in the attic.

The lack of such fire extinguishing systems is a major

Art students tour UM facilities

For 16 Shelby County students were deemed to have artistic with exceptional artistic ability, Super Saturday was a day to experiment with ceramics, printmaking and photography.

These students were invited to a workshop at the University of Montevallo after their names were selected from a list submitted by teachers, and they presented portfolios of their work.

Dr. Frank McCoy, chairman of the university's art department, helped in the selection of the 35 most outstanding students from a list of 115 students who talent.

The 16 students who accepted the invitation gathered on the UM campus at 9:30 a.m. Fifth and sixth graders comprised one group, and seventh and eighth graders made up the second group which rotated among the workshops and toured art department facilities.

Schools represented were: Valley, Chelsea, Montevallo Elementary, Montevallo Middle, Thompson Middle, Columbiana Middle, Elvin Hill and Vincent.

According to Dr. Lusia Mac Pherson, Supervisor of the Enrichment Resource Center, art instruction is now available to every student in the Shelby County school system.

Although every school doesn't have an art teacher on the faculty, Mac Person said that instruction is provided on a rotating basis by resource teacher Cindy Kirkpatrick.

At the Super Saturday workshop, UM students who helped budding artists delve into the three areas covered were: ceramics - Kevin McCoy, Phillip Bond; printmaking - Donna Dean, Vonda Schrader; photography - Beck Cox.

Work is already underway for the emergency center.

The retirement center will be the subject of a hearing by SHPDA on April 20. The state has been saying that only 35 nursing home beds are needed in Shelby County, and St. Vincent's will try to show that the Cahaba River location would serve both Shelby and Jefferson Counties.

A hearing is also scheduled on April 20 for the ambulatory surgery and birthing room.

Approval for building a hospital, however, is more complicated. In February St. Vincent's planners applied to the state Health Coordinating Council to modify the state bed plan for this region. They hope to prove there is a need for 120 hospital beds here, based on future needs.

On April 27 a public hearing is scheduled at Briarwood Presbyterian Church gymnasium in Cahaba Heights. At that meeting the state agencies will accept arguments from anyone who wishes to speak. This is considered a first step in trying to get the state to adjust its figures on the need for hospital beds in the

CAT scan contract awarded at hospital

The contract for Shelby Medical Center's CAT Scan room was awarded last Thursday to E.C. Coston Contractors.

According to Al Dampier of Dampier-Harris and Associates, architects for SMC, Coston's bid of $88,690 was the lowest of four bids taken for the job. Coston also built the recent multi-million addition to the hospital.

The hospital's old film file storage room will be remodeled into a 900 square-foot facility to house the computerized x-ray machine. Dampier explained that the room had been pre-planned for future use of the CAT Scan.

Remodeling will include installaton of computer floors, wiring, lead shielding and additional air conditioning capacities, Dampier said. Work is expected to begin this week and take 45 days to complete.

The CAT (Computerized Axial Tomography) Scan is used to x-ray portions of the body for abnormalities that used to require exploratory surgery or invasive testing to detect, The CAT Scan reportedly costs nearly $900,000.

SMC board wants medical staff rep at meetings

The board of Shelby Medicai Center wants the chief of the medical staff to attend its

At the board's March meeting on the 23rd, Herman Moore and Russell Seay criticized the medical staff for not sending a representative. At issue was a question of approving appointments to the medical board, and several board members wanted to question a physician about the appointments.

Since no one was there from the medical staff, the board did not approve the requests. Board chairman C.E. "Bull" Carter asked administrator Roland Bradford, "Get Dr. Mills or Dr.

Phillips to come to these meetings."

In other action the board expressed displeasure that the State Health Planning Development Agency had approved St. Vincent Hospital's request to build an emergency center in Shelby County, without any notice to other health car e providers or any public hearing on the matter.

Board members Bill Jackson and E.E. "Pete" Raughley moved that a letter be sent to the SHPDA "strongly demanding that we be officially notified in advance" before any similar applications are approved. The board unanimously approved the move and decided to ask the board attorney about possible legal action.

Board members noted the public hearings that were required before SMC and Brookwood were allowed to build a health center in Riverchase, and the many hearings that are scheduled for the right to build a hospital in north Shelby

spring meeting

Around 1,000 Jehovha's Witnesses, representing ten congregations from the Calera-Talladega area, gathered in Bessemer, at their regional meeting center for their spring regional meeting March 27 and

The featured talk, given by John D. Busby, was entitled, "Surviving a Generation of Darkness."

Ed Ebner, an elder with the Calera congregation, said, "Mr. Busby's talk was most enjoyable and encouraging. I also appreciated Saturday afternoon's program, which used skits to show how and why Witnesses should be blameless and irreprehensible, avoiding such things as malicious gossip, stealing in any form, flirting with the opposite sex, and showing lack of respect."

On behalf of the Calera congregation, Ebner extends to all an invitation to attend a special meeting on Thursday, April 8. This memorial will be held at the local Kingdom Hall on Second Avenue, in Calera at 7:30 p.m.

What Does Jesus Teach - About His Law

Just before Jesus Ascension, Math. 28-19, Jesus commanded the eleven Apostles, "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit: teaching them to boserve all things whatsoever I commanded you."..

And again before His Ascension in Acts 1:8, Jesus said to the eleven, "But ye shall receive power, when the Holy Spirit is come upon you: and ye shall be my witnesses."

Also in Luke 24:48-49, "Ye are witnesses of these things. And behold, I send forth the promise of my Father upon you, but tarry ye in the city, until ye be clothed with power from on high.

Now that God speaks to us through

His Son, Heb. 1:1-2, and since

Jesus is not here in bodily form as he once was, IlCor. 5:16, we must understand by what means Christ directs us today. From these passages and many others we see the Apostles, selected and appointed to speak on His behalf. Math.

Baptists eye strings

The Music Ministry of the First Baptist Church of Columbiana has tentatively scheduled instruction in strings. Arrangements are underway with the Alabama Symphony Orchestra to begin classes in early June.

Classes are open to students from age 3 through adult, and will be held weekly at the church in Columbiana. A qualified string instructor will use the Suzuki method of study. In this method, the parent studies with the child. There is instruction charge for the child only and instruments may be rented from the Symphony.

Baseball is on the scene. There's not much else that can be said about it. County teams are playing like a yo-yo. Win-lose, Shelby County High even has a weird record: one and a half wins against no losses. (see other

Rather than try to explain, just

Shelby Academy seems to like other teams to get in double digits. The Raiders lost to Autauga 1-11, to Bessemer 5-12, and Berney Points 1-12. The only double-digit for Shelby is hits, and it took three games for the Raiders to mount 10 hits altogether.

Vincent whipped Pelham last week 10 to 1. Blaine Shaw was the winning pitcher. Top hitters in the game for the Yellow Jackets were Kevin McKenzie, Tim Smith and Joel Richey.

Vincent also edged Chelsea in action last week. McKenzie was the winning pitcher in the 4-3 score. Paul Kendrick was the losing pitcher for the Hornets. Jeff Burns and Larry Cork went 3 for 3 at the plate for Chelsea. Leading batters for Vincent were Smith, Richey and Mike Kelley.

Wildcats winning after all

by Richard Crosby

Rain and darkness had their chance, but couldn't end the game. The Shelby County Wildcats and Thompson Warriors battled in baseball last Thursday evening.

The Warriors got off to a two run lead in the top of the first inning, but Shelby County rallied right back and scored seven runs. Between that slugfest, the rain came and fans scattered for

The teams returned to the field but the Wildcats continued undampened. Bobby Greenawalt swatted a three run triple in keeping the inning alive.

The Warriors were dispatched quickly by Greenawalt's pitching in the second inning, and Wildcat Matt Dill poked one out of the park. SCHS led 9-2 aftertwo innings.

Thompson got a run back in the third, but the Wildcats retorted with two in the bottom of the fourth.

Problems arose as Shelby County took the field in the top of the fifth. Under normal conditions, four and a half innings must be played in order for the game to be valid. With the Wildcats needing just one more out to make the game official, the umpires called the contest because of darkness.

Thompson rejoiced - Shelby County couldn't believe it. Under the ruling, the game would have to be resheduled and played from the beginning.

Late Friday, Alabama High School Athletic Association Executive Director Bubba Scott reversed that ruling, saying that the game constituted championship play. As explained to the Reporter, Scott's statement was based on the likelihood that the game could be a deciding factor regarding Area championship

Shelby County is rejoicing - Thompson can't believe it.

Randy Lewis was the winning pitcher. Bryan Stanley went 3 for 4 and Ronald Benton 2 for 3 at the plate.

The Wildcats faced Shades Valley Monday, Montevallo Tuesday. Today (Thursday), Shelby County faces Comer on the road, and Pell City on Friday. Next Monday Childersburg comes to Columbiana and Tuesday, Pelham hosts the Wildcats.

Calera lost its first game of the year to Isbella. Barry Turnbloom took the loss. Ricky Winterbottom has a two-run homer in the top of the seventh inning to tie the score, but the Eagles couldn't get the edge as Isbella came back in the bottom of the seventh for the winning run.

This Friday, Calera travels to Montevallo to face the Bulldogs for a 7 p.m. game at the University of Montevallo's Kermit Johnson Field.

The Bulldogs began the season this past Monday at Vincent. Tuesday they faced Shelby County. Montevallo is an unknown in baseball since only three players return from last year's team. "We have a lot of inexperience," coach Richard Gilliam said of the squad.

Falcons take 21-4 record out for road test

When this Saturday rolls around, the University of Montevallo baseball team will experience something for the first time this season -- namely, life on the road.

To date, the Falcons have played 25 games, all at home, wining 21 of them, which has earned the team a No. 9 national ranking in the NAIA. Head coach Bob Riesener feels he has a very good ballclub, but he points out that "we're heading into the heart of our schedule, with no easy teams left, and we'll find out real quick just how good we are."

That first road test opens Southern States Conference play for Montevallo, and comes against archrival Birmingham-Southern College at 4 p.m. in a double header. The UM-BSC rivalry has become one of the good one. 'Southern is 11-3 on the year and ranked No. 7.

After the 'Southern series, the Falcons visit Livingston University on Monday for a pair at 5:30 p.m., then return home to host Jacksonville State University on Wednesday, Apr. 7, in a 6 p.m.

Prior to the JSU game, it will be "Picture Day" at Montevallo's Kermit Johnson Field, with Falcons' players available from 4 to 4:30 for pitures with any fans of the team.

Montevallo hosted St. Xavier College of Illinois in twinbills on Monday and Tuesday, March 29 and 30, and took a five-game winning streak into that series after winning five of six games last week.

The Falcons dropped a 7-2 decision to Kalamazoo College in finest in the state in small college the first of two on Mar. 22, but baseball, and promises to be a came back to win 3-2 in eight innings in the nightcap, then pounded Kalamazoo 18-3 and 9-4 on Mar. 23, and beat Baldwin-Wallace College on Mar. 26 by scores of 5-4 and 11-6.

The Montevallo bats, which had averaged over 10 runs and 11 hits a game the previous week, could get only 10 hits all night in the first Kalamazoo twinbill, and avoided a double defeat when the visitors' right fielder dropped a two-out fly ball in the last of the 7th that would have ended the game, enabling the tying runs to score. Montevallo went on to win when Tim O'Hara scored all the way from second on a force out grounder.

The Falcons lost O'Hara, their starting shortshop who was batting .333, for the year that night when he suffered torn ligaments and a cracked bone in his right hand in a collision at third base during a rundown. AlabamaBirmingham transfer Jay Haskew has stepped into the slot and done a good job with the glove while batting .300.

Montevallo tied the team record for hits in a game the next evening, pounding out 21 safeties in the 18-3 romp over Kalamazoo. Mark Hearn did the most damage with three singles and a home run in four trips and one earned run allowed. He 4 RBI, and then scored three runs in the nightcap as Tim Eberhart pitched two-hit shutout ball for six innings before exiting. Eberhart, a sophomore southpaw from Ft. Payne, is 4-0.

Against Baldwin-Wallace, Todd Kuhn boosted his record to 4-0 with a seven-hitter and only struck out seven and walked only

In the second game, catcher Ralph Rogers, who has seen limited action this year due to knee problems, delivered two run-scoring hits, a double and a single, to spark the Falcons to their fifth straight victory.

Swoosh replaces clang in Hornet weight room

by Richard Crosby

Sounds are changing in the weight room at Chelsea High School. The clanging of iron is being replaced by the swooshing of air.

The reason is the new hydrogym that was purchased by the Athletic Booster Club at the school.

Although delivered last November, the new $5,200 machine is just now being given its inauguration by the athletes, and the use and results of the new piece of equipment is pleasing to head coach Roger Hibbs.

"The safety of the hydrogym is an important feature," Hibbs told the Reporter. "Our junior high athletes can use the machine and derive as much benefit as the older boys.

"The machine works by resisting the amount of force that is applied to it. The harder you work the more it resists. It's much safer than free weights because you don't have to balance the iron, and there's no way you can get hurt on the hydrogym if you do the exercises correctly."

It looks like a padded spider with silver vinyl skin and has 15 different exercises.

Hibbs continued by saying that the machine has seven stations for athletes to work out on. Looking like a padded spider with silver vinyl skin, the machine has 15 different excercises.

"We will save a lot of time with this equipment also," Hibbs added. "With free weights, we lose a lot of time changing the poundage for the different exercises in a weight training program. With the hydrogym we can run 12 athletes through their programs in a short period of time. " This will enable us to continue with a weight program during the season as well as before."

There were several reasons behind the aquisition of the hydrogym. One of the most important was the feeling that the strength of the linemen on the football team was inferior to that of the competition. "We feel like it (the hydrogym) will enable us to compete against teams we play," is doing its job.

Hibbs informed. "Last season we did not have the strength to compete in the line." He continued, saying that the weight equipment that the school already had was still of value to the program. "We'll use it mainly for squats, bench presses and also to build

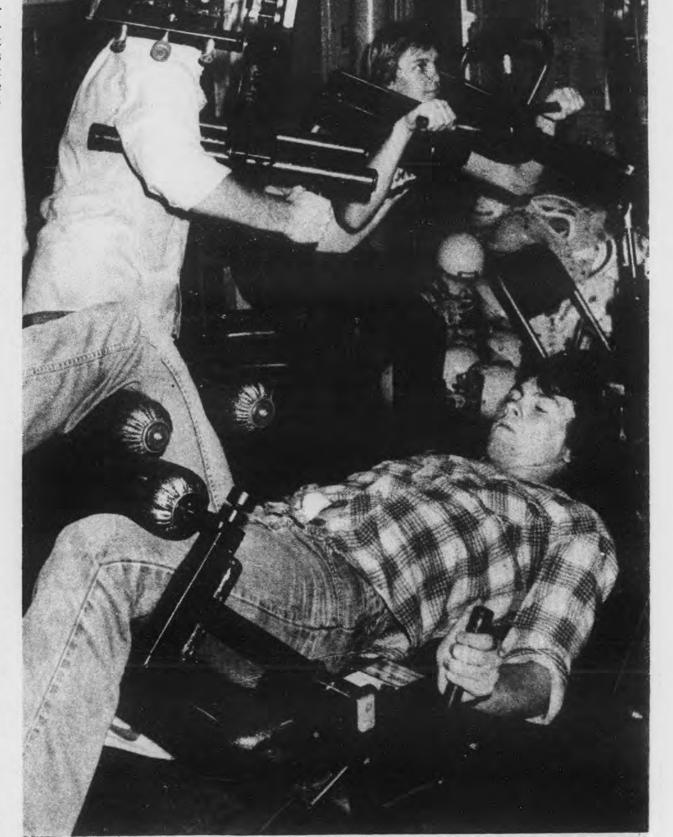

The hydrogym has stations for vertical and horizontal neck strength, bench presses, a leaper for leg development, a rowing station, and an upper thigh developing exerciser.

Money for the new equipment was raised by the booster club and the Chelsea community. In speaking of the benefits of the new hydrogym, Hibbs added that he believed his athletes' use of it should make them stronger and Based on the showing Chelsea made in last week's jamboree, it's not hard to conclude that the Hornets are already showing that the machine

Conservation officers predict turkey hunters will kill 50 coyotes

Alabama turkey hunters will shoot perhaps 50 coyotes this spring, conservation officers predict. Since the Department of Conservation is supporting a study to determine the feeding habits of coyotes, the extent to which they interbreed with other canines, and compete with other wildlife, it is desirable that as many coyote carcasses as possible be collected.

Skulls or carcasses from coyotes along with information on place or origin would also be useful to the study. Should you obtain a carcass (skinned or unskinned) or a skull from a coyote during the hunting season or collected 15 hits and were marked for three errors. Tim Rich went 3 for 4 with one triple, Scott Moore 2 for 4 with a double, Greg Conkle 2 for 5 with one homer, and Larry Cork 2 for 5.

On Tuesday Chelsea traveled to Calera. On Saturday they face Fultondale, and next Tuesday, Montevallo at UM at 7 p.m.

That about wraps up the baseball report. Next week the news may not be better, but more games will be played so there'll be more of it.

An estimated crowd of 600 turned out Sunday for the opening races at Oak Mountain State new facility drew racers from as Park's new BMX track.

According to track officials, there were 244 entries for the races - only three less than the number of racers that signed up for last year's state champion-

State BMX Race Commissioner Charlie Justice said the far away as Georgia. He estimated at least 75 of the racers were from Shelby County.

"Man, we were thrilled to death with the turnout," Justice told the Reporter. "They've built a fine setup here."

Swain, a 6'1" sharpshooter, averaged 17.5 points, 7 assists and 4 steals a game during his career at Childersburg High School. He started for three-anda-half years under Coach Marvin Rochelle, and was instrumental in leading Childersburg to a 19-10

In addition to his cage skills, Swain was an A student and served as president of the senior class.

"Of course, he's a good . shooter, but what really attracted me to him was his passing ability; he's an excellent passer. He is capable of handling either the point or wing guard position.

"If he plays up to his potential - and I think he will - he's going to see a lot of playing time as a freshman. He's going to be a good one, and I'm glad he'll be playing for us."

Sports Scribbles

by Richard Crosby

There should be a headline over this story saying something like, "Sports Editor out-eaten." There isn't of course, because I hate to admit defeat, but defeated I was last Saturday night at the Montevallo Winter Sports Banquet.

It did take a 145 pound wrestler though. That made losing worse. Jeff Chism won the Big Mouth trophy at the banquet. His award was fashioned from a pile of chicken bones. I just can't figure out where it all went.

Correcting a boo boo, Jeff Carter was the Chelsea player who made the saving tackle in the jamboree. He tackled the quarterback for a loss and thus preserved a Hornet victory.

Last Friday night the Mount Olive Blazers defeated Kurt Panzek and company at the Montevallo High School gym. The Blazers were held close in the first half, but streaked back in the second to ice the game 70 to 62.

Kurt probably learned that it's been a long time since he had the old bounce in his shoes. The former Birmingham-Southern Panther was too out of breath for comment.

I found out why no one called me to come eat the first day of turkey season. Homer Joiner and Randy Joiner both got first day birds, but were too busy bragging to get their picture made

That about wraps it for for this week and the month of March. Maybe my kite will fly better in April. Stay tuned....

Kennamer advises turkey hunters to prepare

by Earl Franklin Kennamer

After being outwitted by wild turkeys for more than 30 years, I've narrowed necessary equipment to one "truck load." In fact, nowadays I make a list and check it before each trip.

These statements may strike you as facetiously ridiculous, but I've made blunders more than once. There was the day when I got to the woods and found 20-gauge cartridges in my jacket and I had taken along only my 16-gauge turkey double! While I'm thinking about this cartridge mixup, you who shoot both 20 and 12 gauge guns - make doubly sure you keep those rounds and guns just as separate as you would strychnine tablets and aspirin bottles.

Besides your shotgun, you need a good mechanical caller, and you must know how to use it properly. There are a few gifted individuals who can yelp as well as a turkey hen, using only their throats and lips.

Examine such individuals closely by jerking open their shirts. You may find feathers rather than hair or bare skin. There are also those who are positioned between their pursed

In turkey callers you have as great a choice of types today as you do in an automobile. The cedar box caller is possibly most popular, easiest to master and is the type I used to call up my first gobblers in a 3-year period.

The cedar box comes in several models -- hinged wooden top and the slate and square box in several shapes and sizes. There is the slate with a pencil-shaped striker. All these are friction callers and need soft carpenter's chalk for coating slate and wood scraping surfaces. You may have seen the wingbone with or without mouthpiece.

Some hunters use the snuff box caller with diaphragm top. Then there is the horseshoe-shaped mouth caller with rubber diaphragm. This is the choice of many hunters. With some mastery, you can yelp, cluck and even gobble with a diaphragm mouth caller.

I must include as third essential item a binocular. I'm speaking of a "night" glass, such as a 7 x 50 with lens caps and of a size you master callers with green leaves can easily slip into your coat pocket. More than once I've spotted turkeys feeding along a distant woodland edge when I used by binocular. I would have missed them with my naked eye. Don't be cheap -- get a Bushnell, a Bausch & Lomb or Tasco. A Zeiss binocular is really no better and is three times more expen-

Fourth necessary item is a good compass, especially if you're hunting in new territory.

Fifth, I must include a good outdoors type pocket or folding lockblade knife.

I also take along a pemmican bar, homemade fried pies, meat stick, package of jerky, etc. for a quick snack when my stomach begins growling at daylight. Remember, I made my breakfast of bacon and eggs at 2:30 a.m. and by 7:30 my stomach reminds me I need a bit of added sustenance.

I usually carry a thermos of hot coffee, tea or carob and a jug of water in my vehicle.

Some obvious paraphernalia that may or may not be appropriate are flashlight -- I keep one when I'm trekking a long way and when I'm an hour before daylight in the woods - to avoid snake arguments, to avoid breaking a leg in a stump hole and to warn any misplaced woodland fool who might shoot at the sound of anything. Bailey was named "Player of back-to-back honors.

At the time of this year's award, Bailey led both the conference and the district in hits (28) and RBI (24), and ranked among the top five in batting Bailey, a lefty-swinging (.452), home runs (5), and runs

Todd, a hard-throwing senior won his spurs with a six-hit 9-1 win over Lambuth that clinched Classic crown. He went the seven-inning distance, striking out six and walking only one.

At the time, Kuhn led the conference and district in starts (6), and ranked in the top ten in complete games (2), innings (28), strikeouts (26), and earned run average (2.57).

To date, Bailey is batting .410 with five doubles, five home runs, 21 runs scored and 28 RBI. while Kuhn is 4-0 with a 2.13 ERA and 39 strikeouts in 38 innings, allowing only 29 hits and 15

Both Bailey and Kuhn have played major roles in helping Coach Bob Riesener's Falcons to a 21-4 record and a No. 9 national ranking in the NAIA.

Kace to award largest purse in track history this month.

The largest purse in the history of Alabama International Motor Speedway, nearly $400,000 will be at stake in the Winston 500 on May 2 at Talladega.

An increase of more than $44,000 has raised the purse to a whopping $391,475, a record for any event at the world's fastest speedway.

"This record purse is another step toward our ultimate goal of making Alabama International Motor Speedway the finest track in the world in all categories," declared general manager Don Naman. "Bigger purses stimulate greater competition, and that's the name of the game at Talladega."

The winner's share will be $32,500, with at least $9,400 more available in lap money. That figure will increase as the May 2 race date approaches.

Fourth trail added for dogwood lovers

The annual Dogwood Trails opening will be observed there, offically open Saturday, April 3 in Pelham and Alabaster. In connection with the Hoover trail, a dogwood route has been added in Riverchase this year.

The "trails" will be marked with signs to allow motorists to follow the blooming trees through the respective neighborhoods.

In Pelham, Mayor Burk Dunaway will offically open the trail with a 1 p.m. ribbon cutting at Pelham Plaza. Pelham trailmaster is Nancy Hughes (663-2995).

Alabaster trailmaster Sue Ann Myers (663-6723) said no offical but signs will be posted through residential areas in town, Navajo Hills and Kingwood subdivisions.

The Easter Bunny, the Riverchase Middle School Dancerettes and Majorettes, and other entertainment will be at Hoover Mall Saturday at 11 a.m. for the opening of the Riverchase and Hoover trails. A trail caravan will leave the mall at 1 p.m. On Sunday, April 4 several private gardens will open for tours. Trailmaster is Bess Shields (979-3800).

A total of 14 Dogwood Trails are to be opened this weekend by the Birmingham Area Board of Realtors. This marks the seventh consecutive year for the trails.

MHS plays host for special olympics

The district Special Olympics will bring more than 400 youngsters from five central Alabama counties together Tuesday, April 13.

Special education students from Bibb, Chilton, Coosa, Shelby and St. Clair Counties will participate in the Special Olympics Program beginning at 9 a.m. in the Montevallo High School football stadium.

State Sen. Hinton Mitchem of Albertville, chairman of the state Special Olympics executive committee and State Rep. Curtis Smith of Clanton will help lead the opening ceremonies. The Montevallo High School band will play during the parade of

CMS student wins spelling bee

An eighth grader from Columbiana Middle School outspelled 11 competitors in the county spelling bee Thursday, and won the county championship.

In her first county competition, Duann Vanderslice correctly spelled restitution, the word that tripped up second place winner, Alan Jemison from CVA.

When pronouncer Gayle Robbins called out the word satisfaction, Duann spelled it correctly too, to capture the title of county spelling champ.

The youngest contestant in this year's event was April Carter, a third grader from Thompson Elementary School.

Rev. and Mrs. Dan Kitchens and John Jones served as judges for the event which was coordinated by Rebecca Nail, the county's coordinator of elementary instruction.

Schools which participated in held April 24.

Faith is the Basis of Easter Celebration

Frank Murphy, recreation director of the Columbiana First Baptist Church, portrays Christ in the Passion Play being presented by the Church. Here Murphy reenacts the miracle recounted at Mathew 21:19-22 and Mark 11:13-14, 20-22 wherein a fig tree withered and died after disappointing Christ, who has wanted some figs to eat on his way to casting money changers out of the temple.

As Shelby Countians hurry along about their business, many can't help noticing the fresh blossoms, the newly green grass, the arrival of migratory birds, and the thousand and one other signs of nature's season of rebirth.

Our president assures us that we are now in the dawn of a new economic age. Some early bird politicians are already cranking up campaigns for the elections this fall. Farmers prepare their fields for planting and worry about frost.

All these varied fresh starts merely mirror THE rebirth, the one whose memory will be celebrated this Sunday.

In approximately A.D. 29, in a small country thousands of miles from here, an event occurred that affects Shelby County today more than whatever our own leaders did yesterday.

People here will commemorate that event with sunrise services in various parts of the county, with new Easter outfits, and in other ways. Columbiana Baptists are presenting a passion play that will recreate, as far as possible, the last week of Christ's life.

We know that Christ was tried and crucified at this same season of the year because Easter week is connected to Passover, and the date for that holiday is still determined by the old lunar Hebrew calendar that was used in biblical times.

Attempts to modernize the calculation of Easter's date aroused century-long controversies and near civil war in medieval

Many people do not believe anything written or said about the events of passion week, but it affects even them. Christ's followers changed the character of Western Civilization, and their influence permeates nearly everything.

Public reaction to Christ's execution eventually led to the abolition of crucifixion. Had he done nothing else, Christ's role in stamping out this most barbaric of all legal tortures would have a started him a place in history.

However, there was so much more inhe threat of nost seems like volved that removing crucifixion from mankle an insignificant hy-produc

From the day Christ rode into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday, to his anger at the merchants and septies who defiled the temple, to the Last Sup of or has lamb, so many were converted to his cause that the local rulers felt (freatened.

ers that be, then as now, can move fast when they want to. Christ was betrayed and arrested after supper on Thursday night, tried, convicted, his case appealed to Roman authorities with complex jurisdictional issues resolved, tortured, and dead before dark Friday. Many converts of earlier in the week relapsed, and it appeared that the local officials won again, although more ruthlessly than usual.

Nothing happened Saturday, mainly because that was the day of rest under the Jewish custom then observed.

On Sunday, Christ emerged from his tomb, triumphant over death and carrying a promise of eternal life for all mankind.

He reorganized his dispirited followers, and sent them out to deliver his promise throughout the world. Christ's promise is relied on by millions, including most Shelby Countians.

Christian efforts to follow Christ's instructions and imitate him have transformed the world. So powerful is his effect that even the wicked often feel obliged to feign allegiance to him.

Although Christmas is a more commercially successful holiday, Easter is the more spiritual. Let all Christians take advantage of the Easter season to rededicate their faith, and let others be thankful for the blessings that his life and rebirth indirectly bestow on

Calera limits its mutual aid

by Fred Guarino

After much heated discussion, Calera's City Council approved a limited mutual aid program and delayed the purchase of new city hall property Monday night.

However, the council rejected a program of mutual aid to all surrounding communities for police, fire and rescue operations as originally proposed by Councilman Roy Hadaway.

with a mutual aid agreement from Calera, small communities in the city's area would form fire and rescue squads with their only purpose to solicit such protection from Calera.

Hadaway resolution making C sible only for protection its corporate limits but adding that Calera would assist com-

The basic objection was that munity based units outside the city on a mutual aid basis in the event that they arrived on a scene and found themselves unable to handle the situation.

He later amended that resolution to include only Insurance Service Office approved police, fire and rescue units but was still unable to get council ap-

Hadaway charged that the council was really trying to get back at the Shelco Fire District because it was selling fire protection and "taking our bone."

Frustrated, he withdrew his resolution.

A motion was finally approved which was introduced by Councilman W.B. Watts.

That motion stated that Calera would agree to mutual aid with only sister cities and governmental agencies but would not serve as a substitute for those agencies. The motion was accepted only with the understanding that responsible fire, police and rescue units would have to be on the scene and unable to handle a situation before Calera was called.

Councilman Bob Lofton who opposed the original motion, surveyed the situation as follows: "If Shelco calls Montevallo and Montevallo is on the scene and they call us, we will assist Montevallo."

Mayor Carl Prichard also ran

He pointed out that it did no good to criticize without offering positive alternatives. The Birmingham Councilman thanked the elected officials present for, "doing your best to come up with positive solutions."

Fair employment ordinance fails to pass in Columbiana

It wasn't that he objected to the proposed ordinance governing fair employment practices, Columbiana Councilman Lewis Walker declared, but he insisted on having time to study it before making a decision.

Riled that a vote was taken at Thursday's council meeting without a chance for discussion, he asked Councilwoman Jessie Jones to withdraw the motion.

When she refused, Walker moved that the motion be rescinded, but Mayor Buck Falkner broke a tie vote and the motion failed.

Then after all the wrangling, the council learned that there had been no need for it in the first place.

Reading the form which state law requires when a proposed ordinance is to be approved at the meeting at which it is introduced, the mayor called for a unanimous vote to consider the ordinance.

He didn't get it since Walker was opposed, which made the previous 4-1 vote for the or dinance meaningless.

According to one source at city hall, the consideration of employment practices was being studied due to some dissatisfation on the part of a department head

Tom Wilkerson from the League of Municipalities had met with the council several hours Thursday afternoon, discussing the establishment of policies and regulations to ensure good management.

The proposed ordinance, Jones pointed out, was just to have documented evidence that the city was following fair and just practices.

If the ordinance had passed, further steps would have been taken to work on policies, which Jones estimated would take from six to eight months to complete

Walker thought the best plan would be to pass the ordinance after the rules and regulations had been worked out.

Councilman Frank Owens was in apparent agreement, saying "This could tie our hands."

However, it was Jones' contention that the failure to adopt the ordinance had only delayed the development of city policies.

BTNB keeping quiet on Chandalar law suit

by Fred Guarino

The legal department of Birmingham Trust National Bank (BTNB) has declined to comment on a law suit filed by residents of Chandalar South.

That suit charges that a restrictive covenant governing construction in the subdivision was violated by four homes being built by Harbar Homes Inc., and asks for $95 million in damages.

Attorney Richard W. Bell, who represents Millard A. and Shirley A. Knecht on behalf of 600 other homeowners in the subdivision, stated that BTNB was being sued because it owns the land.

He told the Reporter that as BTNB is the landowner, it should have been aware of the covenant made by the original developer and noted on all deed to land in the area.

Bell stated that the bank is responsible in that someone from BTNB should have appointed an architectural control committee called for by the restrictive covenant to approve the construction

He also stated, "We feel they are negligent... if no approval was given."

He commented that whether BTNB failed to appoint an architectural control committee or Accepts chief's resignation

Helena hears problems of Dearing Downs

by David F. Moore

The Helena Council took the first step Monday night towards hiring a new fire chief. It accepted the resignation of former Chief Doug Sprouse.

Sprouse's resignation, dated March 5, was accepted so that the council would be in a position to hire a replacement. But Mayor Pro-tem Bill Harris, acting on behalf of Mayor Charles Penhale who reportedly had a sickness in the family, said no one was currently being considered for the position.

Assistant chief Gary Penhale has been heading the volunteer fire fighters since Sprouse left. The council also heard four complaints concerning Dearing Downs. The complaints were voiced by Fran Hughes who was accompanied by Terri Meier and Donna Weselius, all residents of the subdivision

Hughes stated the most dangerous problem concerned speed breakers which had been covered over on Dearing Downs Drive. Without them, she said, drivers often speed down the hill at 50-70 mph, especially from 5-6 p.m. She explained that a policeman had helped the situation some by handing out tickets, but requested that the speed breakers be replaced.

The new entrance to Dearing Downs at county 52 is turning into an illegal dump, Hughes also told the council. Furthermore, she asked that something be done about supplies left scattered for a year in front of an unfinished house, as well as an abandoned realtor's shed on War Admiral Road where other materials had been left. Hughes said that these situations were a danger to children who played there.

Councilman Ron Erwin explained that since the developer, Jack Harris, had paved over the speedbreakers, he would probably be responsible for having them replaced.

Bill Harris instructed city clerk Francis Parrish to contact the developer on the problems. "We'll get something done about it," he told the residents.

In other action:

Councilman James Kwater told Evangel Presbyterian representative Mike Brooks that the city's ordinances made no provisions for modular buildings such as the church wants to erect on it's property, and that the building inspector would have to give his approval for the project. Kwater and the council indicated that there would be probably be no problem with the proposed 24 x 36 foot building, and that they were pleased with the work the church has done to date.

The council accepted an apparent low bid by Allied Construction of Montevallo for laying some 1,200 feet of water line to the city's new ball park. The company quoted a price of $3,500 and said the project could be completed by the park's opening date, April 17.

Over the next 30 days, the council will prepare a specification sheet for a new telephone system for the city offices. In May, it will let bids on the phones and accept them at the June 7 meeting.

The council also accepted an opinion from the attorney general's office stating that advertisements could not be accepted from the Fraternal Order of Councilmen C.W. Fulgham, Billy Ray Hinds and Harris were appointed to a committee to amend the city's dog ordinance. They voted to change to rates for holding dogs from $1 per day, to the "prevailing rate," said to be $4 per day.

At Kwater's suggestion, the city will send a letter asking Police Chief Gary Carter to instruct Federal Home Builders to clean up construction litter in Fox Haven. Kwater said the company will also be required to see to it that a low ditch there is filled in before the final building inspection is approved.

Harris and Erwin were appointed to a committee to study new insurance policies for the city.

Erwin reported that the former county dump in Helena had finally been covered over by prisoner labor and said the job had been well done.

Guard storms Pelham city hall

by David F. Moore

Company "B" of the 167th National Guard Infantry Division finally got their way last Friday. But not before they staged a coup in Pelham and executed three men.

At 1000 hours, troops with camouflage smeared faces, carrying M-16's and .45's, stormed Pelham city hall. Within two minutes, they kidnapped Mayor Burk Dunaway, councilman and president of the Chamber of Commerce Ray Hamilton, and Pelham High coaches Ron Griggs and Bill Horne.

In a flash of grenades and smoke bombs, and escorted by a serious looking M-60 attack tank, the troops fled city hall with their hostages in an armoured personnel carrier and a machine gun

After a 20 minute delay, a helicopter carrying General William Jackson landed at Pelham field in front of the high school student body.

Jackson gave the students an enlistment pitch, citing the financial benefits of joining the Guard, as well as its military tradition in the state and country.

Jackson mentioned the Guard's "community responsibility" to aid in times of disaster, but said its "primary purpose is to engage the enemy and kill them."

"Sooner or later--and I hope it's later--we're all going to have to serve the country in uniform," he said.

Eventually, the tank rolled over the hill and down to the field, followed by the other vehicles, troops and hostages. Once the troops secured the field, the hostages were escorted to the general.

During the discussion of what to do with the prisoners, Dunaway whipped out a handy proclamation ("I always carry an extra one in pocket for situations like this.") and proclaimed every April 2 as "National Guard Day in Pelham."

That got the mayor off the hook. But since Hamilton, Griggs and Horne apparently carried very little bargaining power, General Jackson put them on trial before the students.

Firefighters saved park, beauty

Letter to the Editor:

Thank you Oak Mountain fire fighters.

Thank you for all those concerned citizens who fought to finally put out the Pea Vine Falls

There were volunteers as well as the staff of Oak Mountain Park, headed by Phil Easterwood and his assistant Phil Roberson, and Ala. Forestry.

Representatives from Lake Guntersville, Lake Lurleen Wallace, Cheaha Park and Wind Creek came. The comunication officer from Bessemer also helped. Appreciation runs deep for all who risked heat and danger that ravaged the high cliffs and steep terrain, threatening to burn to highway 280.

My husband and I watched all night the sparkling Christmas tree lights of the fires.

The next morning the fighters came with equipment and even a caterpillar bulldozer to plow a no-fire lane.

The volunteers' eagerness and friendliness gave us faith that they could put out the fires.

But what has happened since? These fine folks have added a Sanctuary and Sunday School rooms and a Fellowship Hall and a piano and an organ and six stained glass windows.

We were the guests of Mrs. Thomas Higgins and Rev. Higgins. Rev. Higgins preached from Deuteronomy 34-4. "And the Lord said unto him, This is the land which I sware unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob, saying, I will give it unto thy seed: I have caused thee to see it with thine eyes, but thou shall not go over thither."

We sang three songs, old songs that everyone knew, In The Garden and Near The Cross and He Leadeth Me. It was nice to hear the old songs again, and sing highway 119 with a group of folks who must have sacrificed a lot and loved a lot to have built such a beautiful place of worship.

And the folks were there, from Amy Couch, age two months, to Beth Bradley and Andy Haney and B.J. Painter to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradley and Cecil and Dot Fancher and Gordon and Sis Garrett to Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Arledge and Mrs. Anna Cross and Mrs. Bertha Wyatt, and all the others, too numerous to list here, but just as dedicated and just as faithful as the others.

Afterward we had dinner in the Fellowship Hall. Things like fried chicken and salmon croquettes and macaroni and stuffed eggs and pickled peaches and buttermilk pie and sweet potato pie and blackberry pie and pound cake and tea and coffee.

It was a day to remember. For Amy and me a sort of special day in a beautiful little church with a group of fine and dedicated folks who loved a lot and proved it by what they had done and what they were doing now.

Maybe they'll ask us back again. We hope so. Because it was a beautiful way to spend a

Of course, I'm grateful for that fact. I wouldn't have wanted a crowd to witness my ascent up a ladder using only one hand.

If you wonder why I couldn't use both, I needed one to carry my camera since it doesn't have a strap.

What I was after, in my attempt to make it to the courthouse roof, was a closeup view of the hands being placed on a new clock face.

It's surprising what you'll do to get a story - or maybe, I should just limit that to what I'll do.

How I thought I could scale a ladder one handed when I barely made it up the steps inside the dome, I'll never know.

When I'd tried that a few days earlier, I required some help from the fellow who was escroting me on my upward journey to the courthouse attic and beyond.

I have never seen steps so narrow or steep, and I was out of breath even before we reached the final flight.

But with a brief rest and a little help from my friend, who volunteered to carry my camera, I managed to reach the pinnacle of the courthouse.

My exterior exploit required a little reconnoitering though, since I thought court was going to be in session at the time my climb would take place.

A courthouse worker suggested I could probably reach the roof oposite the dome by climbing through a window of the old jail. And knowing I'd probably get lost trying to find my way there, the dear person even showed me the way.

After getting the window unfastened, I made sure I could squeeze through so there wouldn't be any last minute hitches when it was time for me to get out.

However when the propitious moment arrived, the courtroom had nearly emptied, so I opted for that exit, firguring that way was easier and quiet.

So with the court reporter wat-

However, when I did the same nonchalant clock man, who was thing last week, no one other higher up and whose footing than the court reporter took any wasn't as good as mine, I straightened up, and standing on the edge of the roof, focused on the nerveless gentleman.

Trying not to think about the height, I snapped away until he had the hands set at the proper time, and disappeared inside.

Then I had to think about getting back on the ladder and descending. By that time even the court reporter had tired of watching me. If I'd lost my grip and bounced off the lower roof, on the way down, I guess I'd have had to crawl inside under my own steam - if I still had any after landing, that is.

However, I made it down in one piece, and climbed back through the window into the deserted courtroom. A telescopic lens would have

Prospects are good for grant

The prospects of getting a community block grant look good, Columbiana Mayor Buck Falkner told members of the city council Thursday evening.

Early in March, the panel had been informed by a representative of the Birmingham Regional Planning Commission that grant money formerly under HUD control is now being administered by the state.

Eager to get the money for improving the city's sewer system, the council approved making an application for it.

Relaying a message from Alan Creel, the BRPC planner who is assisting the city with the application, Falkner told the council there's a good chance the grant will come through.

The community block grants are limited to $350,000.

After listening to Kent Rushs' request to open a game room in the city, the council gave approval.

Rush said it was his observation that young people in the community "just drive around," because they have no recreational facilities.

He plans to open the game room in the building between Holcombe's Shell Service Station and the Breakfast House on the Alabama Hwy. 25 by-pass.

According to Rush, his game equipment will include video games, small pool tables and pinball machines.

Saying he would be there to supervise activities, Rush reported the establishment would open at 11 a.m. and remain open until midnight.

In the summer, he said, he planned to move the closing hour up to 1 a.m.

One member of the audience, who has a son in the fire department, pointed out that these men are required to take 774 class hours and work hospital rotation as part of their training.

After a fireman in Jefferson County successfully completes paramedic training, Cochran reported, they are given a 10 percent pay increase.

But in another bid opening the high bid was accepted. Disposing of a pickup truck no longer needed by the city, the council accepted a purchase price of $400 for the vehicle.

Although it might seem a little early to be thinking about Christmas, Naish said that he had received several calls inquiring about plans for a second parade during the holiday season.

Agreeing that last year's parade had been a successful undertaking, the Mayor asked S.R. Peacock, who had introduced the idea, to take charge of this year's one of their own.

But county attorney Frank Ellis claimed that the commission did not have the authority to act on the matter.

Commissioners Alph Lowe and Jake Morris continued to stand firm on leaving the lines as they are, despite the threat of legal action. But when a tie vote resulted from Republican Don Murphy's motion to meet with the county's legislative delegation to work on a redistricting plan, Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden sided with Murphy and Commissioner Harold Davenport in approving the action.

Lowe and Morris contend that Bradley's plan to put 25 percent of the population in each district would cancel out the vote of those living in the less populated east and northeastern parts of the county which they represent.

Saying he didn't think the courts would be the place to settle the matter, Ellis contended they had already spoken to the issue.

It was his legal opinion, Ellis said, that the current district lines do not violate the "one man, one vote" principle. And he pointed out that the imbalance in population in the four districts is not different now than it was in 1976 when he cited a court ruling in which there was no statement made that each of the four districts had to contain an equal number of people.

The successful bidder for the county's insurance this year was George Bentley. Representing Rux Carter Insurance, Bentley's bid was $67,626.

Ken Williams, whose MMI Company handled the county's insurance needs last year, bid $80,860.

After it was reported by James Johnson that he had enough applications for apartments to justify the construction of 48 units in Calera, the city agreed to look into the matter of possible sewer expansion for his project.

In other action: The council agreed to check into the bid laws to see if the Case Company could be hired to repair a Case machine for the city without bids being taken. The duties of James Averson of the general maintenance department were increased to include the maintenance of right of ways and his yearly pay was increased by $1,000 on a pro-rated

An ad in a Fraternal Order of Police magazine was declined by the council as it was indicated such a purchase might be illegal for a municipality.

Bill Watts was approved as secretary for the fire department and former fireman Bobby Phillips was reinstated to fire fighting duties.

The Calera fire department was also given permission to use an old metal building left by the county for fire fighting training.

Police Chief Harry Deal was authorized to work with the municipal judicial system to institute a less expensive form of bookkeeping and records for his department.

State inmate's bill refused

The Shelby County Commission decided Monday, that they wouldn't pay a state prisoner's hospital bill, which amounted to $1,273.

Sheriff Buddy Glasgow told the commission that William Boykin had been in the Chilton County jail at the time he required surgery and claimed it wasn't this county's responsibility to pay the bill.

According to the sheriff, Boykin's life had been threatened following a fight in the Shelby County jail.

The prisoner was taken to Kilby for treatment of his injuries, the sheriff explained, and then transported to the Clanton jail facility.

But the ruptured spleen which was not detected during his examination at Kilby, was the condition which necessitated surgery, Glasgow said.

Even though the state reimburses the county for housing state prisoners, the sheriff reports that the money he receives doesn't begin to cover the cost.

The most recent payment of $39,218.91 the county received, Glasgow said, was only half the amount he should have received.

He figures the cost of keeping a state prisoner to be between $25-$30 a day the sheriff said, or about $10,000 a year.

At the present time, there are 35 state inmates being housed in the Shelby County jail, Glasgow reported.

To date, payment for their keep amounts to $124,513.84.

School plans 'South Pacific'

While Jennifer Joiner finds out how to wash a certain man out of her hair, Sharon Prince gives a musical description of a special island in the South Pacific.

The two Shelby County High School students are part of a 39 member cast who are preparing for the school's production of one of the most popular musicals written by Popers and Hammerstein, "South Pacific."

So far, the cast has completed work on 15 of the play's 24 scenes. And students are working with Frank Murphy on the backdrop for the production which will be staged May 6, 7 and 8.

Parents are helping with the construction of the set, and band director David Dixon is working with high school musicians who will provide the musical accompaniment for the production.

SCHS English teacher Bonnie Atchison is directing the play, and Tom Stoker, minister of music at the Columbiana Baptist Church, is voice coach.

A discussion on what to do about the operation of the pumps came up at the last council meeting when it was announced that pump operator Willard Cross was retiring.

In his report Thursday, Councilman Harold McCord indicated that the key system would be the most efficient and he related that the cost of a ten key system would be around $1,000.

When the panel started to add up the number of city owned vehicles, it was discovered that more keys would be needed.

But even with the additional keys, city clerk Mary Largin estimated the system would pay for itself in less than a year.

Two of Argo's stallions, Silver Bottle and Meteor, are national champions. And some of the 4-H Horse

"If it hadn't been for Mr. Argo," McEwen remarked, "I don't think we would have ever gotten the club started."

At the time he began working with the 4-H project, Argo didn't even have any members of his family in the program. But as soon as they were old enough, some of his grandchildren joined him in the club's activities.

And the latest state winner in the 4-H horse project is a member who began working with horses under Argo's tuteledge.

Sixteen year old Beth Bowman, the current president of the Shelby County club, was selected as the 1981 state 4-H horse project winner.

Other local winners in state competition are: Larry Cain, Adelle Simpson, Charles Wilder, Susan McEwen McIntosh, Melinda Hollis Blankenship, Cindy Wallace, Sandra LeFoy and Carolyn Smiley.

Assistant County Extension agent John Jones says that through his work with the 4-H horse program, Argo became interested in other phases of extension work.

"He is now on the county CRD planning committee, and three years ago was the recipient of the County Extension Leadership Award," Jones reported.

Explaining why the 4-H project is so important, Jones says "We are are able to reach and keep more older 4-H members with it than with any other 4-H project."

"This makes it a valuable program for us," he stressed, "and Argo plays an important part in it," Jones added.

Falcons add another roundballer

Kennedy King, a talented forward for Hueytown High School's team that went to the State 4A tournament this past season, has signed with the University of Montevallo for the 1982-83 basketball season.

King played for Montevallo alumnus Randy Fuller at Hueytown, where he averaged 18.5 points and 13.0 rebounds a game as a senior and earned team MVP honors. He was a First Team All-County selection, made All-Tournament in the Shades Valley, Jefferson County and State 4A Tournaments and was an Honorable Mention All-State choice.

Montevallo coach Bill Elder believes King will greatly aid one of the Falcons' significant weaknesses of the past year -- rebounding.

"Kennedy is a very good rebounder for his size (6'4", 195 pounds)," noted Elder. "We expect him to become part of the answer to some of our rebounding deficiencies. In addition, he is a pretty good shooter, and also a fine person who will fit in real well around here."

King is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. King of Bessemer. He joins Steve Swain, a 6'1" guard from Childersburg, in the fold for the Falcons for next season.

Despite near gale force gusts of wind, 54 golfers hit the links at Buxahatchee Country Club last Saturday. The occasion was the first Thompson High School Booster Club golf tournament.

After the dust settled, the booster club had raised about $1,500, and club president Jess Horton was lavish in praise of the tourney's supporters.

"The merchants, school, coaches, and of course the golfers helped to make this event a good one for us," he told the Reporter. "I think everyone enjoyed themselves and will look forward to our next tournament which should be bigger and better."

Winning the first flight was Don Bunn with a score of 77. Jim Threet placed second and Mickey Crawford third. Roddy Stamps took the first place trophy in the second flight. His round of 83 inched out Andy Bunn and Carl Pruitt.

Bob Festavan took the metal in the third flight with a score of 86. Eddie Bentley placed second and

John Kent third. Wayne Rasco won the fourth flight. Randy Gill claimed second and Dick Scott Winning golf balls as prizes for 'Closest to the Pin' were: Ellie Glasscox, Jerome Hall, Andy Bunn, Hugh Morrison, Mickey Crawford and Mark Thompson.

Ron Smith won the baseball glove for shooting the highest score of the day. His mark of 119 set the pace at the back of the pack.

The lady boosters prepared and served lunch for the day. Many merchants helped support the event by sponsoring holes and donating services and prizes.

Thompson sets six team meet

Thompson is hosting a six team track meet this Saturday afternoon. The field will consist of all 3A schools with the exception of Briarwood which is unranked by the Alabama High School Athletic Association. The running, jumping and throwing gets underway at 2 p.m. with individual medals and conclusion.

Thompson will also host the varsity county track meet on April 27. The day before, Briarwood will be the site of the junior trophies being awarded at the high county meet.

What began as a very bright week for the University of Montevallo baseball team ended up in heartbreak.

Early last week, the Falcons learned that they had been ranked No. 6 in the second NAIA Baseball Poll of the 1982 season, equalling the highest a Montevallo nine has everbeen ranked.

To celebrate, the Falcons went out and took three of four from St. Xavier College, the Defending District 20 champions from Chicago, Ill., willing 2-1, 5-4, 6-2 and losing 10-5 in nine innings.

Greatly encouraged by that success, the Falcons hit the road for the first time last Saturday, opening Southern States Conference play against 8th-ranked Birmingham-Southern College.

Birmingham-Southern scored three runs in the last of the 7th to pull out a 5-4 victory in the first game, then scored a run in the bottom of the 8th for a 4-3 win in the second, leaving the Falcons stunned and vowing revenge.

Despite three straight defeats, Montevallo still has a very fine 24-7 record and could possibly remain in this week's Top Ten in the NAIA.

In upcoming games, the Falcons visit Miles College on Friday for a 1 p.m. single, then are at home all next week. Huntingdon College comes in on Wednesday, April 14 for a pair at 4 p.m., the University of Alabama in Birmingham will engage the Falcons in a single at 7 p.m. on Thursday, April 15, and then Montevallo gets its chance to redeem the BSC losses on Saturday, April 17 in a 4 p.m. twinbill with the Panthers.

A number of specials have been planned for the coming home games. April 14 against Huntingdon is "Sorority Nite," with the sorority with the most members present winning a trophy. April 15 against UAB is "Merchants' Nite," when area businesses will be honored. April 17 against Birmingham-Southern will be "High School Bands Nite" and "Youth League Nite," with all area youth league teams admitted free when accompanied by the coach of the team.

SA majorettes prove themselves

Shelby Academy majorettes won a total of 33 trophies in the NBTA competition held March 27 at their school.

This was the first time that a National Baton Twirling Association contest has ever been held in Shelby County.

In addition to making their presence felt in individual performances, the Raider majorettes also made a good showing when competing as a group.

Twirling as a unit, the majorettes received the same award as they had in state competition earlier in the year.

The trophy they earned on both occasions was for second Other events the SA majorettes entered during this school year were the Midfield and Thompson High School band competitions. In both events they earned superior ratings. During football season, the girls performed at every game, and they also put on a show at all the home basketball games.

Besides providing entertainment with their twirling, all of the girls are also members of the school's concert band.

Golfer completes 250 mile course for cancer

by Fred Guarino

Bandages, blistered feet and tears...

The sheer exhaustion of a 250 mile walk from Mobile to Birmingham, hitting golf balls all the

A memory of a man who died and the knowledge of a little boy whose future could well depend upon his effort...

The anguish of these things seemed far from the face of Roy Nichols as he officially ended his one man golf-a-thon for funds to fight cancer on Riverchase Country Club's ninth green Saturday.

He had raised thousands of dollars forbasic research at UAB's Comprehensive Cancer Center and had captured the hearts of Shelby Countians as well as re sidents from all across the state and as far north as Mas sachusetts.

An exact count of just how much money Nichols raised cannot be given at this time, according to UAB's Marcia Cohen.

Nichols stated that the reason he undertook the trek was that his father died of cancer and that he had just learned that it cost $42,000 a year to treat a child with leukemia.

He reflected upon his official poster child, eight year-old Earl Alsobrook, a leukemia patient from Selma.

Nichols, a champion long distance hitter with a nine iron, lost eighteen balls in the "rough" between Mobile and Birm-

The Comprehensive Cancer Center at UAB and the Greater Birmingham Sertoma Club sponsored the journey.

However, the trip was not without problems.

Although he received approval from Governor Fob James, the federal government would not let him hit golf balls along federal highways.

Sen. Earl Goodwin, whose grandson is the Cancer poster child, and arranged for Nichols to hit along state highways with state trooper assistance.

Nichols' feet were blistered so badly that he had to stop for hospital treatment along the way. His last medical stop was at the Shelby Medical Center emergency room where his bandages were changed and his feet soaked in a special solution. The hospital refused to charge for the service, and the hospital staff gave Nichols a $113 contribution of its own which was officially presented by Roland ministrator. Nichols told the Reporter hospital: ad-

Bradford,

"There were times I was feeling sorry for myself... I hurt so bad."

There was a point, he said, at which he had to walk on bandages and sponges, wrapped with six pairs of socks.

He commented however, that it was on one lonely stretch of road "really out in the boondocks" in which he lost his agony for good.

He said he met a man who had heard he was coming and had waited on him in his car all of one day and a great part of another.

Nichols stated that it turned out the man had throat cancer and had to speak with the aid of a special device.

He commented that when the man proceeded to give him a $20 donations, "I quit feeling sorry for mucalf "

As Nichols continued along his way into Alabaster, school children rushed outside to see and store operators gave him the high

Falcons place eighth in own tournament

For the fourth straight year, Jacksonville State University won the University of Montevallo-Pine Harbor Invitational Golf Tournament March 28 and 29 at the Pine Harbor Country Club in Pell City.

This year, the Gamecocks were not even challenged, shooting a two-day score of 603 to finish 28 strokes ahead of runner-up University of South Alabama's 631.

Montevallo golf coach Dr. Leon Davis was puzzled by his team's dismal showing as the Falcons continue to struggle after a good fall season.

"I can't believe we played as poorly as we did, but I have even more trouble believing everybody else played so poorly as well, except for Jacksonville State," he wondered. "They've got a very fine team and could definitely challenge Troy State in their conference this year.

"As for our team, we've got to get our act together soon, with the district tournament coming up." The NAIA District 27 Tournament is set for April 26 and 27, with the site to be determined.

Montevallo's next golf action will be April 8 and 9 in the Point Mallard Intercollegiate Tournament at the Point Mallard Golf Course in Decatur.

the Shelby Medical Center, an 86 year-old woman waved him over and gave a donation.

Nichols actually ended his walk by chipping up to a make-shift green at the Harbert Corpora-

After an additional two mile walk to the ninth green at Riverchase, Nichols showed that he could still hit with best even after 250 miles.

He took only two nine iron shots to reach the par four green surrounded by a lake.

The cancer poster boy handed him a putter so he could complete the ceremony by putting out.

Nichols concluded by thanking a man who gone with him the whole way, Robert Roberson of Mobile.

The final touch was when Sertoma Club members tossed Nichols into the ninth hole lake.

The splash he made seemed symbolic somehow.

Lung Association warns

jobs may make you sick

Is your job making you sick? It could be, says the American Lung Association, if your are inhaling hazardous substances during working hours.

For manufacturing workers in particular, certain materials in the air can be hazardous to lung Dusts, gases, fumes, mists or vapors can contain substances that can cause lung disease or other diseases.

Heavy exposure to breathing hazards, such as in accidental spills, explosions or fires may result in immediate, acute lung damage. But most exposure to breathing hazards at work are the result of smaller amounts of substances inhaled over a long period of time. Work-related chronic lung diseases usually develop slowly--over years. Symptoms, like shortness of breath, may not be noticed for 20 to 40 years after exposure to hazards.

Smoking adds to the risk of developing lung and other diseases, espcially for people exposed to workplace hazards.

Since most chronic lung diseases are difficult to treat or impossible to cure, prevention is important, says the Lung Association.

THS volleyball player signs with Jax State

Lady Warrior Donna Oden has been offered a full scholarship to Jacksonville State University for volleyball. The Thompson senior signed a letter of intent last week and plans to play next year for coach Janice Creel.

In Oden's first year on the THS volleyball team, the Lady Warriors captured the 1979 State Championship. In the '81 season, with Oden as captain, the team captured yet another state title, thus making her the first female athlete at THS to play on two state championship teams.

Thompson coach Lynn Rushing will no doubt miss Oden's talents, but other teams in the area will probably be relieved.

"Donna has the highest vertical jump of anybody on the team (24 inches)," Rushing said. "She's a super little spiker and a good back row defensive player. We wouldn't have gone where we went this year without her leadership qualities."

After Oden's first year on the team, Rushing said she received several letters from colleges interested in her playing abilities.

In mid-February, Oden tried out at Jax State's open audition. A few weeks ago coach Creel contacted her with the four year scholarship offer.

Creel apparently likes the quality of athletes that come out of THS since she already has former Lady Warrior Debbie Seales on her team.

The daughter of Clarance and Earnestine Oden, Donna is the third member from her family to accept an athletic scholarship. Her brothers Michael and Perry

It made us think that it had A victory high and deep.

But stone-cold death was unaware Of truths we Christians know: That death but put you in God's care,

Where tears will never flow. You live, oh yes, you live, our boy, Where angels sweetly sing; And where the Father's endless joy Will make your praises ring.

And while you're living There in love. We hold those memories And while you're loving up

We're loving you down here. The Easter flowers with bud and bloom Tell us that life is real: And make us see beyond your tomb.

As close to you we feel.

So hold the fort, 'twill not Till we will join you There; And blend with you in Where death will never dare.

Camp Branch turns back on ball teams with blacks

by Richard Crosby

Blacks will not be playing softball at Camp Branch this season. Discrimination practices have eliminated that minority group from the roster of all teams in the Representatives of both the Elastic Corporation in Columbiana and Shelby Medical Center were told that blacks could not play for their teams, if they wished to join the Camp Branch Softball League.

Don Blackerby, Director of Personnel at the Elastic Corporation, stated that his employee representative sent to Camp Branch softball organizational meetings was told, "Work the blacks off your team and we'll let you play."

That statement was allegedly made by the Athletic Director for Camp Branch - Eugene Carden. When questioned about it, Carden replied, "I'm in the middle of this thing. I'm just doing what I'm told to do." He further explained that his responsibility only involves maintaining the field and the refreshment stand at the ball park. "You'll have to talk to Tony (Seales)," Carden concluded.

Seales admitted that, "The board told me to tell them (the blacks on the team you can't play.' I'm only told what to do. It was their (the board of director's) decision."

He explained that he called a special board meeting before the March 25th coaches' meeting. "I called that meeting to try and get them (members of the board) to reconsider. They said to keep blacks out as long as possible. I told them that they couldn't do that. 'This is 1982! What's wrong with you?""

"I was told earlier (before the special board meeting) when the community built the field that blacks would never play here," Seales continued. "I got so mad I couldn't see straight."

He told the Reporter that board member Herchiel Meadows said to the board, "I think it ought to be left up to these men (Seales and Carden) to decide how the league ought to be made out."

Seales said that Camp Branch president Charles Seales (Tony Seales' uncle) echoed that same feeling, but when Chairman of the Board Ben Grubbs asked for a motion in that regard, both Charles Seales and Meadows remained silent. "Then Grubbs said that an

25th meeting, 'If you've got Tony Seales stated. "I think they passed a motion at an earlier meeting saying that blacks couldn't play."

> In response to that, Grubbs said, "I won't say whether it did or didn't come up at the meeting. It shouldn't come from me." He did say that he was contacted by the Elastic Corporation about their team playing. His reply to them was that the league was full.

Grubbs was not aware that Shelby Medical Center had wanted to play in the league. However, hospital spokesmen state that the hospital's representative to the league's organizational meeting was told that blacks could not play in the league.

When contacted, the hospital replied in a prepared statement: "The hospital considered several leagues in the county in which to play. Our men are playing in a league in Montevallo and our women's team is playing in a league in Alabaster."

Pressed to clarify whether the hospital was told to get rid of its blacks or be barred from the league, Sue Henderson, Community Relations Director for SMC, replied, "These leagues (the ones the hospital has joined) best suited us."

League is run by the Camp Branch-Saginaw Civic Center, incorporated in 1968. In November of that year, the corporation purchased the old schoolhouse and adjoining ball field from the State of Alabama for $10.00.

The deed to the Civic Center Corporation contains this provision: "It is expressly understood and agreed that, if and when the above-described property ceases to be used for community purposes, it shall revert to the State of Alabama."

When asked whether racial discrimination might endanger their title to the ball field under that provision, league officials had no comment.

Since it is a non-profit corporation, the Civic Center does not pay ad valorem taxes.

Grubbs told the Reporter that the Civic Center receives no state or federal money. "The only money it receives is from itself,' Grubbs commented.

To become a voting member of the Civic Center Corporation, one must be a resident of the area and must pay a three dollar membership fee. Although several black families reside in the area, no blacks have yet become members, according to

Pelham seeks 'prepared status'

by David F. Moore

The Pelham Chamber of Commerce is on the verge of making its bid for "prepared city" status. If the Alabama Development Office (ADO) accepts the bid and grants the status, it would greatly increase chances of attracting new businesses and light industries to Pelham.

"The prepared city situation merely states what we have available," chamber president Ray Hamilton said at the group's meeting last Thursday in Pelham. "We need to be excited about it. We've got to beat our own drum."

Tom Lloyd, chairman of the prepared city committee, reported that data required by the ADO has nearly been compiled. The data lists Pelham's available land and buildings, labor information, access to transportation, natural resources, utilities, churches and schools.

For Alabaster

Annex vote okayed

Even though the annexation bill that passed the legislature last week didn't go through exactly as advertised, Alabaster officials are still relieved that an election can be held.

However, Governor Fob James must sign the bill before Shelby County Probate Judge Tommy Snowden can set an elec-

Wilton fire rates lowered

The town of Wilton is benefiting from the lower fire insurance rating Montevallo received this ye ar.

According to Wilton City Clerk Louise Reeder, the town was recently informed their insurance rating was changed from an 8 to a 6.

However two or three square miles were cut out of the annexation when Representative Jabo Waggoner amended the bill to make I-65 the east boundary line.

Waggoner had told the Reporter in February that he wouldn't go along with the Highway 31 boundary because of the number of calls he had received from residents of that area who did not want to be annexed.

By changing the boundary line to I-65, Chaney Lime plus the 75 families who live in that area of Saginaw will remain outside Alabaster.

Earlier annexation bills advertised by the city had included a 38 square mile area which included some large landowners who objected to the move to bring their property into the city limits.

The latest bill excluded most of these people.

According to Mayor H.A. "Doc" Rubin, most of those who will be affected by the annexation are subdivision residents in Woodland Hills, Eaglewood, Green Valley, Scottsdale and Mission Hills.

Rubin said he is confident the to effect May 1, means that annexation will be approved by an overwhelming majority of the

Once the data has been packaged, it will be presented to the ADO for consideration. The committee has been gathering the data since last fall, and hopes to present it to the ADO by April

Because of Dothan's prepared city status, the Sony Corporation now has plans to build a plant there. That deal was struck during Governor Fob James' recent industry seeking trip to Japan. Chamber member Ken Williams pointed out that at the time of that visit, Dothan was the only city in the state listed as prepared.

"That's the big fringe benifit of a listing as a prepared city," Williams commented. "When the Economic Development Board goes out of state, the information on Pelham will be there. If we're not listed, we don't stand a chance."

"If we can't have these new businesses in Pelham, we at least want them in the county,' Hamilton said. "Maybe we could make Shelby County a prepared county. We're all in this together."

It was noted that the ADO said Pelham's top priority should be cleaning up the city to leave representatives of potential businesses with a better first impression.

Pelham city clerk Willie Mae Dennis said the Home take on the U.S. 31 medians as a until May 31. beautification project. She said the club intends to start on it this summer, and hopes to have a masterplan for the project by

Other clubs have also expressed interest in the cleanup and Dennis said the city was willing to help with such projects.

Members of the prepared city committee are Tom Kimbrough, Beverly Wunderlich, John Bauer, Ron Curren, Mayor Burk Dunaway, Dennis and Lloyd. ADO advisor Paul Porter has coordinated the group's work.

State's new jury striking law postpones second murder trial

Because of a legislative act passed last week, the trial of Dar-Demonstration Club wants to rell Grayson has been continued

The 21 year old Montevallo man is charged with the murder of an elderly widow from the same community, Mrs. Annie Laurie Orr.

He is also charged with first degree rape, first degree burglary, first degree robbery, and violation of §13A-5-31(A)(4) of the 1975 Alabama Code in connection with the murder.

His trial was scheduled for Monday. But after the state legislature passed the one-for-one jury striking procedure, the state and defense disagreed on whether it would apply to this trial.

If the judge determines the law giving the state and defense the same number of strikes goes into effect immediately, then defense attorney Dick Bell would go the state court of criminal appeals and the supreme court to ask for

That would cause a delay in the trial, and because of the fact that witnesses from out of state are being called, both sides asked for a continuance in the case. Apparently, the dispute over the jury strike act's effective date will be resolved by the six week delay.

In the past, the defense has had the advantage in choosing a jury since they could eliminate two jurors to the state's one.

GovernorFob James and Attorney General Charles Graddick both backed the one-for-one bill which will now have statewide application.

Neighboring Jefferson County and other counties in the state have had the one-for-one strike rule under local law.

Grayson is the second defendant to be tried for the Orr murder which took place on December 24, 1980. Victor Kennedy has been sentenced to death for the murder of the elderly woman who was suffocated by a pillow case, tightly bound with tape, which had been put over her head.

Work starts on intersections

In order to improve the intersection at Valleydale and Caldwell Mill Roads, traffic will be rerouted this Sunday as earthmoving work begins.

By performing that phase of the work on a Sunday during the lightest traffic flow, County Engineer Gary Ray told the Shelby County Commission that traffic could then continue through the area till the project was completed.

At Monday's commission meeting, Ray explained that two hills would be cut down several feet on each side of the entrance of Valleydale Plaza to give motorists a better view when pull-

Cahaba reclassification washed out by state

The Alabama Water Improve- declined in a unanimous Comment Commission (AWIC), has declined to make water use classification changes on the upper reaches of the Cahaba River.

A request by the Birmingham Water Works for a change in use classification from fish and wildlife to public water supply on the upper reaches of the Cahaba River Basin was "respectully" mission decision.

Commission Director James W. Warr said "the staff is of the opinion that the Commission cannot give favorable consideration to the request for a change," because available data did not demonstrate the need for such a change. However, the Commission approved a number of staff recommendations to "increase vigilance in the area and provide a "better data base on water quality in the basin."

County tries to keep lid on dumping

The Shelby County Commission declared Monday that it intends to continue to prosecute those who litter in unauthorized

Highway Director Gary Ray told the commissioners that his department and the Shelby County Health Department are working together to locate dumps and find evidence of who is using Letters are being sent to the individuals whose names are found on envelopes or other material, Ray reported, and they ar e being asked to clean up the dumps.

Saying he was in favor of stonger measures, Commissioner Don Murphy declared, "I'm ready to make some cases."

Noting that the commission had its "ears pinned back," when the prima facie law was used in the first littering cases that were tried, Murphy said that if the proper evidence was obtained, the court route should be tried

Ray told of finding a number of dumps and Commissioners reported places they knew of that were being used for dumping.

Two of those areas were subdivision cul-de-sacs.

Reporting on the county's 12 volunteer fire departments, Civil Def ense Director Bill Tucker said he had received reports from all of them.

He then recommended the $500 funding that the commission had approved in the budget be given to each department.

In the past, there has been a hassle over funding when departments have refused to provide Tucker with written reports.

Since the volunteer firefighters have answered more than a 1,000 calls during the past year, and figuring the cost at $1.50 per man hour, not counting equipment, Tucker noted, "We're getting a real good deal."

Last year, the volunteer units each received $750, and this year Tucker asked the commission to up that to $1,000.

But instead of an increase, the departments are receiving less money on which to operate, as Tucker's $1000 recommendation was scaled back to $500.

To make matters worse, Tucker related that the equipment which was loaned to local fire units through the Defense Department is no longer available.

That puts the new unit that is being organized in Shelby at a disadvantage since it won't be provided for in the county budget nor will it be able to obtain a fire fighting vehicle.

Some good news from the Civil Defense Director was the acquisition of an early warning tone alert receiver and a UHF set with a state-wide CD hook-up.

Courthouse shuffle eyed again

Shelby County Courthouse isn't going to go away, Commissioner Don Murphy observed at Monday's Commission meeting.

"We've talked about it, kicked it around, beat it to death and have done everything except take any action," Murphy declared.

The only solution he could see to the situation, Murphy said, was to ask offices that didn't need to be in the courthouse to find space elsewhere.

But he stressed that the commission should help in the reloca-

The space problem in the courthouse squeeze came from the court system. Snowden related that three judges have been trying to hold court in two courtrooms.

Murphy said he was opposed to spending any more money on renovating courthouse space until meeting with court officials to get their thinking on what should be done.

But Commissioner Harold Davenport contended that the commission was already committed to fixing up office space in the old jail for the Board of Registrars.

"We agreed," he stressed, "to situation, if agencies which don't have to be in the courthouse are paying the county rent, they could just as well pay that money to the owners of vacant buildings in town for renting office space.

Because of the number of empty buildings available, Murphy said he saw no reason for the county to construct a building for those who are asked to move.

The commissioners agreed that representatives from courthouse offices attend the next commission meeting to discuss the pro-

Heflin, who instituted major reforms in Alabama's court system, said the federal court's power to review state court criminal convictions should be limited to "claims of manifest msicarriages of justice."

To illustrate the need to eliminate abuses in habeas corpus procedures, Heflin cited an Alabama murder conviction-where the defendant confessed in open court--that has been languishing in the federal courts since the guilty verdict was returned in 1977.

Chief Justice Torbert strongly advocated passage of the legislation to amend habeas corpus procedures.

"The encroachment of federal courts into state court systems through an overly-broad application of the federal writ of habeas corpus threatens the integrity of the criminal justice system in this country," Torbert testified.

Both Heflin and Torbert said state courts provide fair trials in the vast majority of cases and that constitutional rights of criminal defendants are respected and upheld in state court proceedings. "The United States Supreme Court has recognized the primacy of state jurisdiction over criminal law,"Torbert said. "Yet, in recent years the federal writ of habeas corpus has been overextended to the point that state court judges have become frustrated members of the Everyone said it was a nice place to live. And it was. At least, Cotton Lester and I thought so. Maybe because of the apple tree in the yard, with the reddest apples in town, that a boy couldn't help but see every time he passed on his way to town.

A boy hunts tobacco tins all morning and finds the one he wants and puts 'em all in a little sack and goes on about his business. Or he plays marbles, in a big round ring with speejinks in the center, and wins a pocket full and goes on about his business. Or he goes to the wash-hole, three miles up the dusty Wilsonville road to Mr. John Cates' pasture, and swims a little and dives a little and goes on about his business.

But at that nice place to live, with the apple tree in the side

Mr. Bill Farley had the yard, there was no way for Cotton and I to forget and go on about our business. The more we tried to forget the more-we could see those apples, so round and red and tempting a fellow would think somebody was painting 'em and hanging 'em on a tree.

> And then--I think it was on a Wednesday--we decided we'd do it. We raised the latch on the front gate and opened it and skipped up the front walk. We knocked. Then we waited, hoping she wouldn't answer and hoping she would. Then we heard her footsteps coming down the hall and the door opened and she stood there, gray hair and wrinkles and all, looking straight

Chelsea cleans house for accreditation

Spic n'span

Sixth grade teacher Ester Chesser and students Linda Barker, Angie Gentry and Lisa Carter worked along with other students and teachers Saturday to get the school spic and span for this week's visit from representatives from the Southern Association.

The day before Easter finds most people dying eggs, cleaning the house or making some last minute purchases .

But in Chelsea, a number of teachers, students and parents spent Saturday morning sprucing up the school.

The reason for all the spit and polish, plus a new decorative fence in front of the building, is to get the school in top notch shape for a review committee from the Southern Association of secondary schools and colleges.

For the past two years, the staff at Chelsea School has been working on a self study program in order to gain Southern Association accreditation.

Pulling a newpaper article about his appointment as principal out of his desk drawer, Brad Stephens pointed to his statement on accreditation.

"I set that as an immediate goal when I took over four years ago," he said.

Expressing his pride in the effort that has been put forth to get accreditation, Stephens said, "I'm pleased to be principal at a school with such a fine staff and in such a cooperative communi-

Only 49% of the schools in the state have Southern Association accrediation, Stephens related.

The school hosted a banquet Monday evening for the reviewing committee.

On Thursday, the committee will give their report and make recommendations.

Another inspection will be made in October to see if standards are being maintained and any recommendations they made followed.

The final word on accreditation will come in December.

Wilsonville plant gets grant

The Department of Energy and the Electric Power Research Institute have awarded an $8.5 million contract to Southern Company Services for the operation of its synthetic fuel plant in Wilsonville.

The contract runs from April 1, 1982 to January 31, 1983, and covers research and development of a process for converting coal to liquid fuel. The contract was announced March 31 by Alabama Senator Jeremiah Den-

"The Wilsonville facility is one of the best synthetic plants in the countty and I am extremely proud it is in Alabama," Denton said. "It is fortunate that the department of energy is releasing such substantial funds for this project."

In operation as a Solvent Refined Coal (SRC) pilot plant since 1974, the Wilsonville facility was instrumental in the development of a solid, clean burning, synthetic fuel from raw coal for use in the production of electricity.

In August of 1981, the plant added advanced coal liquefaction capabilities which further process SRC-1 into liquid fuels. According to Southern Company research engineer Tom Johnson, the process basically involves reheating the SRC to a molten stage and adding hydrogen to it to drive out mineral residue

The plant produces some dozen barrels of liquid fuel per day, and has capabilities for up to 17 barrels per day. Johnson said the fuel is used for analysis purposes, and as such he said the company's end product is knowledge as opposed to a commodity.

"The thrust of our work is two-fold," Johnson said. "Our near-term goal is to develop utility fuels for use in producing electricity. In the future we hope to produce synthetic crude oil for transportation uses."

Such synthetic crude, Johnson said, should be available before the end of the decade.

Setting the time

T.E. Bedgood sets the hands on one of the new clock faces he and his son recently made and installed in the dome of the Shelby County courthouse. The father-son team are among the few people left who do this type of work.

Calera agrees to buy land for new city hall

After holding a finance committee meeting Monday, April 5, the Calera city council voted to go ahead with the purchase of property for a new city hall.

The council had agreed in earlier action to hold a separate finance meeting to discuss the

However, as the council never officially adjourned and a decision to go ahead was reached in the finance meeting, the body decided to reopen its city council session and take the action.

Meeting until midnight, the group voted to spend $40,000 for a tract of land on Alabama Highway 25 and to activiate a building committee.

The council went into a closed session before the finance committee met to discuss a personality but no facts as to what occurred in that session have been

Clocks take on new face

While courthouse workers went about their routine duties a couple of weeks ago, most of them were unaware of the two men working quietly in the dome of the building.

But the fruits of their labor are now obvious to anyone approaching the courthouse, especially after dusk.

The peeling wooden clock faces in the courthouse dome have been replaced with plexiglass faces which are illuminated after dark.

A time consuming job, veteran clockmaker T.E. Bedgood and his son, Tommy, sometimes arrived at the courthouse as early as 6 a.m. and worked far into the

At 65, Bedgood says that he's supposed to be retired. But he explains that the "oldtimers" who kept clocks in courthouses and city halls in good repair have just about died out.

The only other individual who does the same type of work as he and his son, Bedgood said, is a man 80 years old.

Besides having the skill to work on the clock's mechanism and the craftsmanship to cut the face, hands and numerals, someone in Bedgood's line of work must also have a plentiful supply of courage.

A matinee performance is set for the 16th at noon.

The spirited comic operetta by W.S. Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan illustrates the fun-loving Japanese at their most scrutable.

Kuniaki Hata is staging the production. Frederick Robert Lehmeyer will conduct the Alabama Symphony Orchestra.

Pennsylvania to paint and repair clocks, Bedgood usually works high in the air, and sometimes on a ledge where there's barely room to stand.

The most frightening experience Bedgood could remember happened as he inched his way along a narrow ledge on the courthouse in Ashland.

Because he had a paint can in each hand, Bedgood said he was unable to brush off a spider which came out of a crack and bit him on the neck.

Managing to remain calm through the ordeal, Bedgood said off, he made his way back inside the building.

According to Bedgood, the new plexiglass clock faces in the Shelby County Courthouse won't require the maintenance that the wooden ones did.

He also noted that the hands won't have to be rebalanced either.

Most of the huge clocks he works on are electrified, Bedgood said. Only about a half dozen still operate with weights, he related.

Bedgood recalled that 42 years ago, it was he who converted the

Montevallo grapples with lounge ordinance

by David F. Moore

The Montevallo Council struggled more than an hour Monday night with a proposed ordinance regulating a private lounge.

The remainder of the two and a half hour meeting was taken up discussing finances, means of countering the loss in gas revenues when the University of Montevallo goes to its new heating system, and discussing fire and police protection.

Last month the council narrowly agreed to allow James Frazier to open the first ever lounge in the city, aprivate club for UM students, staff and alumni. Never having a club that served alcohol before, the council found it necessary to start at the ground level in drawing up an ordinance to govern the lounge.

"Annie Get Your Gun," Irving Berlin's musical comedy about the legendary star of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, will be presented at the University of Montevallo Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 22-24.

The show stars UM students Florence King of Fairhope as Annie and Scott Votaw of Barnesville, Ga., as Frank Butler, the man she loves and almost loses because she out-shoots him.

City administrator Don Hughes laid the groundwork with two guideline ordinances derived from similar laws in Birmingham, Auburn, Fairhope, Marion, and other towns.

After discussing numerous aspects of the ordinances, ranging from having enough light in the lounge to read a newspaper, to noise control, lewd dancing, and the definition of "denatured alcohol," mayor pro tem J.A. Brown suggested the matter be turned over to the finance committee, composed of himself and councilmembers Billie Lacey and Grady Parker. The committee is expected to report at the next council meeting, May 10.

Frazier told the council delaying the ordinance would have a negative affect on his plans, but that he could live with the matter.

Frazier was more concerned over the license fee and taxes the ordinance would impose upon his business

City license fees from $500 to $1,000 were mentioned in addition to the state off premises beer, wine and liquor licenses which are also required. Taxes ranging from 5% to 20% of his wholesale purchases were also

nentioned

Frazier told the council that he would consider anything above a $500 license fee and a 5% tax to be excessive.

"I don't want to run a place that has excessive costs (to the customers). I want to work with the city and run a good place," Frazier said.

In answer to questions from the council, he said he planned to limit club admissions to one visitor of the opposite sex per member. Hesaid the club would have six to ten video games. Hours would probably be noon to midnight on weekdays, noon to 2 a.m. on Fridays, and 10 a.m.

to 2 a.m. Saturdays.

Only the announcement of the video games appeared to surprise anyone on the council.

Hughes explained that the intent of the proposed ordinance was limited to private clubs, and that any future public lounges or restaurants which served alcohol would necessitate ordinances of their own.

In discussing city finances, Hughes said, "I foresee us being in trouble a little longer."

"I'm not painting a bleak picture," Hughes emphasized, but

In noting the $7,000 the city overshot its budget last month, Hughes told the council and departments that three more such overexpenditures would empty the bank balance.

All major revenues have been collected, Hughes said. Keeping all departments operating was of the utmost importance, he said, but some layoffs may be necessary if spending wasn't somehow tightened.

spending isn't tightened. The council approved one means of saving money in the future when it agreed to seek a change in the rate schedule under which it purchases gas from Southern Natural.

When UM quitsbuying gas from the city in August, it will mean a 21% cut in demand. By going to the new rate, the city will have to pay about five cents more per 1000 cubic feet of gas. The new rates, however, will do away with the demand charge that the city pays, thus saving $48,000 over a year.

Hughes said the new rates will result in only a minute raise on customers' bills. But without the demand charge, the city forfeits its right to refuse to lower consumption if gas gets tight.

In other action:

·After a quick reading of MVFD Chief Mike Mahan's proposed change in the mutual aid agreement with Shelco, the council voted to accept the new measure. If needed, the fire companies will now assist each other with personnel, pumpers,

Workshop set on storytelling

"The Value and Meaning of Storytelling" will be the theme of lectures, discussions, a workshop, and a film at the University of Montevallo, Thursday, April 22.

The one day conference on storytelling marks UM's observance of National Library Week.

The conference is sponsored by the UM English Department and Library Staff, the Montevallo Public Library Board, and the Committee for the Humanities in Alabama.

For reservations phone 665-2521, ext. 222. The public is invited to attend. All of the events are free of charge, except the luncheon $6.

•PD Chief Allen Neeham reported that burglaries are still down in the city, and attributed the fact, in part, to the 806 activity calls his patrolmen made during April.

•Needham said the 82 citations issued in April tripled the number issued in March, and will bring in $3049.50 in fines. Also, the department logged 7551 miles on patrol.

•The chief also said he's seeking to lower the speed limit on Highway 25 near Wilton from 45 mph to 25 mph. At the suggestion of Lacey, he said he would seek similar measures from the state on Highway 119 near Ashville Circle.

Pelham, Thompson students ready to debate UN topics

A group of Shelby County students have been keeping up with events taking place on the international scene with more interest than the average citizen.

That's because they'll be debating those issues at a model United Nations session in Mobile next week.

The students from Thompson and Pelham High Schools have been meeting with their teacher Martha Brewer several hours a week in an international studies enrichment program.

As preparation for the mock UN sessions they're attending, the group has studied the UN charter and the culture, geography, and foreign policy of the five countries they're representing.

In order to understand how people from other countries behave, you have to see things through their eyes, Brewer stresses.

To have a thorough understanding of the world issues that will be discussed at the UN meeting, the class researched and wrote a resolution on each one.

"It will be up to the students to bring up the issues in their committee meetings," Brewer explained, "and to be ready to debate the pros and cons."

Since India is a member of the security council, four students are representing that country. Three students are assigned to the other counties which are: Spain, Nicaragua, Saudi Arabia and Singapore.

When they return from Mobile, the students hope to share their UN experience by putting on a model session for students in Shelby County.

Breakfast helps students learn

Like some 1500 Shelby County elementary students, Scott Garner and Todd Jeffries eat breakfast at school.

Scott, a first grader at Wilsonville Elementary, wakes up early, dres ses, rides to a friend's house and catches the 7:05 bus. If he gets there early enough, he can eat with his best buddy, Greg Abott. If he's lucky, lunchroom workers Doris Blankenship and Odell Smith will be cooking his favorite--pancakes.

Todd, a fifth grader at Wilsonville, has 20 minutes to get ready for school before leaving his home in Montevallo. His mother teaches at Wilsonville and they have to be there 7:30.

The thing Todd likes about the arrangement is, "I can get a good breakfast without having to wake up earlier and have Mom cook

Scott adds, "I never get hungry at school in the mornings because I always eat breakfast up here."

But not everybody eats breakfast before taking on a full morning of reading, writing, arithmetic and recess. And according to studies, growling stomachs and declining energy levels don't mix well with ABC's and 2+2.

According to Pat Bulger, child nutrition supervisor for the Shelby County Board of Educa-"If students don't eat breakfast, that means that for 18 hours they haven't put anything in their stomachs. And according to research, this long period has been directly tied into reduced academic performance."

Although there are no figures to back it, Bulger estimates that most elementary students do get a good breakfast, either at home or through the school progams.

But she also estimates that from 35-40% of high school students go to class without breakfast. A soft drink and potato chips at the conner store on the way to school hardly count, she points out.

Although 12 of the county's schools offer breakfast programs, seven others do not. Bulger explains that participation at the seven schools was too low to make the programs financially

Bulger says the main reason participation was low at the high schools, is that teenagers have much more competition for their money, such as dating, and buying gas and clothes. They also tend to take longer to get ready for school, and since many drive, they stop by stores, or otherwise arrived too late to eat.

Besides Vincent High, Thompson is the only other high school that offers breakfasts. Bulger says, however, THS only offers breakfast because it shares lunchrooms with the elementary school.

pants: 54%. "Teachers notice a definite increase in learning between the kids with a quick snack (or no breakfast at all), and the kids that have a nourishing breakfast at school," claims Wilsonville principal Rose Mary Liveoak. "Our breakfasts get a child up to perform better. The child's not sitting there at 10 o'clock with his stomach growling, concentrating on lunch."

"The breakfast program is a service to the child and parent at a minimum cost," Liveoak adds.

Full priced school breakfasts cost only $.55 a day. If parents qualify under USDA regulations, the breakfasts can be purchased at reduced rates of $.30, or obtained free.

Nutritional breakfasts, according to Bulger and federal guidelines, should include a half cup of fruit or vegetable juice, one serving of bread or fortified cereal, a half-pint of milk, and when possible, for protein, a serving of meat, poultry, fish, egg, cheese, or peanut butter. Foods containing vitamin C and iron are also recommended.

At Wilsonville, Liveoak says

breakfast menus in advance. Participation is lowest on cereal days, highest when pancakes on a stick, sausage and biscuits, or waffles are served. Knowing kids, this makes sense.

Another benefit of the school program is that it offers students a supervised social period for the thirty minutes or so between the time of bus arrivals and class, Bulger and Liveoak say. Teachers also try to tie nutrition lessons in-

"We're not trying to compete with the home as the breakfast place," Bulger explains. "We're simply trying to provide breakfast for those families who can't, for whatever the reason, provide breakfast at home."

But Bulger points out that inflation has hurt participation in the program this past year. Since last year, participation at the dozen schools offering breakfast has fallen off from 34.9% to

Further federal cuts under consideration by the Reagan administration could even cause breakfast programs to be eliminated,

Grandparents pay visit to Valley

In order to carry out the theme that school is a family affair, Valley Elementary School in Pelham held Grandparents Day, Wednesday, April 7.

According to school officials, about 200 grandparents showed children enjoyed orange juice.

The band will hold its spring concert in the school gym in May.

SA band rated highly

Shelby Academy's band, under the direction of Chuck Quinn, has brought home its first ever superior rating in concert competition.

The group took superior ratings in all categories at the Alabama State Private School Concert competition held in Auburn March 25.

According to Quinn, "As a reward for their dedication and hard work the band students will be treated to a trip to SixFlags, this month."

Shelby Academy took the honors for its performance of three selections, including Balladair by Frank Erickson and Toccata for Band, also by Erickson.

up for the annual event to visit with their grandchildren.

The grandparents were treated to coffee and donuts while the

The oldest of the grandparents to visit was Louise Nash, age 86 of Alabaster.

Those who traveled the longest distance to be with their grandchildren wereFrances and Anna Johnson of Minneapolis, Minn.

Nash is the great grandmother of Johnny and Julie Montgomery and the Johnsons are the great grandparents of Meredith Frommer.

The grandparents were also treated to a play by the second grade at the school.

Woman faces 35th operation

by David F. Moore

Gloria Gentry Jones is only 25. She once entertained quiet, simple plans for her life-wanting little more than a chance to be a good wife to Jerry, and raise their two sons in her hometown of Calera.

But those plans aren't working. They may never work.

Circumstances beyond her control have radically changed Gloria's life, and the lives of those who love her.

Since 1977, she's undergone thirty-four operations and survived at least one close brush with death. Her hospital insurance has long been exhausted, yet medical bills continue to mount endlessly.

Gloria was victimized by eosinophyllic cyctitis, a rare condition which has necessitated the removal of her bladder and several organs. After more than twenty operations, doctors hope her rare problem has been finally eliminated. But now her life is threatened by infections in the ur inary bypass which was opened in her side.

Gloria has lived three-fourths of the past year in hospitals, undergoing half a dozen operations. Only last week, she was released from a two week stay in Shelby Medical Center where she underwent operation numbers 33 and 34.

Yesterday, doctors were expected to announce her next date with surgery. This operation will involve making a second urinary bypass out of tissue from her small intestines, and running it out her other side. It will be dangerous, painful, and require some four hours of surgery, several days in intensive care, and another two weeks in the hospital.

Gloria is looking foward to it. "I feel like this will be the last one," she says, sounding almost chipper through the gloom. "I'm looking foward to the surgery to finally get this over with."

"I'm looking to get well and find a job to pay some of the hospital bills. I want to get through this and I will with the Lord's help."

Gloria exhausted her $100,000 of hospitalization insurance in March of 1981, and the insurance company, knowing her condition, will not renew it.

But the medical bills didn't stop when the insurance did. Already the Jones' owe some $39,000 in outstanding medical bills--not counting her last twoweek stay in SMC, or her next

Making matters even worse, her husband Jerry was able to work only three days last week because of layoffs at ABEX where he works as a craneman. He doesn't know for sure if he'll have a job next week.

Besides the hospital bills, the Jones also have six-year old Jerry Lane and four-year old Brad to worry about.

Gloria's simple plans appear hopelessly complicated.

"There were times over the past years when I wondered, 'Why me! Why me!"' she says. "And I wondered 'Why not just die and get over with?""

In fact, March 20, 1981,-her birthday and rebirthday-- Gloria says she did die, and was brought back by CPR administered to her at Brookwood Hospital.

While recovering from the removal of her bladder, she suffered a hemorrhage, couldn't breath, became scared and blacked out. The experience, she says, was peaceful, like drifting off to Gloria's "death" served to answer her bleak "Why me?" and "Why not die?" questions.

"I've been too close to death too many times to say it's just a coincidence that I'm still here." She declares, "The only reason I'm still here is to tell others that God loves them and they have a place in heaven. I know there's a place in heaven for me. I'm not afraid to die."

"My family has accepted my illness. My husband is exceptional, the only one who could have ever put up with all this. I'm fortunate to have my mom and my dad (Gene and Lessie Gentry), and friends and relatives. And the doctors have been dedicated, I'll have to give them that."

"It's always hard to ask people, 'Will you help us?' Fortunately, the church (Rock Springs Baptist) where I played organ and piano has done so much for us."

Gloria talks bravely of her beliefs, of what is supposed to be the final operation, of not dwelling on the past but instead looking foward to better things. When she's able, she makes every effort to carry on a normal life, pick up pieces of those once simple plans.

Tears overcome her only when she mentions little Jerry and Brad.

She listens while they pray at night: "God bless Mommy to come home to us. And make her

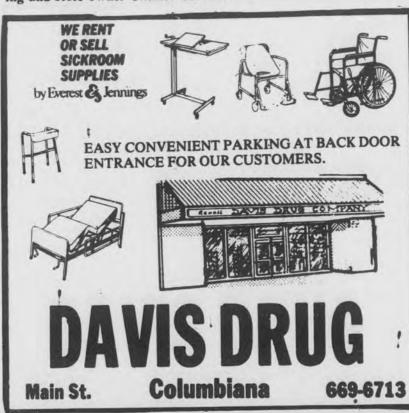

"We'd be crazy by now if we didn't pray and take our problems to the Lord," she says. "We have to leave it in his hands."

Friends of the family and members of the church have started a trust fund through Central State Bank in Calera to help the Jones' with their financial plight. Anybody wishing to donate can receive a tax deductible statement by mailing their donation to Gloria Jones, care of Theresia Baker, Rt. 2, Box A-7, Jemison, Alabama, 35085.

What Does Jesus Teach - About His Law?

Now that Jesus has ascended and the apostles have died, we no longer have them present in the flesh to teach us, but we have their word recorded and preserved for us by the power of God.

Jesus said in John 17:17 "Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth." Also, in verse 20, "Neither for these only do I pray, but for them also that believe on me through their (the apostles) word."

In Heb. 4:12 "For the word of God is living, and active, and sharper than any two-edged sword..."

Isaiah 55:11 describe God's word as powerful; effective; "So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall accomplish that which I please and it shall prosper in the thing where to I sent it."

Under the new law, and new covenant Christ established upon his death (Heb. 9:15), God's words are able to save us and give us eternal life if we obey them, as in Acts 11:4-13. Peter spoke unto shalt be saved."

Consider the authority of the covenant.

'War Eagle' fills air at Auburn Club dinner

by Theda Nordan

Pat Dye, Auburn University's athletic director and head football coach, arrived at Riverchase Country Club last Tuesday night to be greeted by an excited and overflowing crowd of Auburn Alumni and fans attending the annual Shelby County Auburn Club Dinner.

Coach Dye was escorted from the Shelby County Airport by Sheriff Buddy Glasgow just in time to hold a brief press conference with prior to a super delicious buffet.

Cheerleaders

B.F. "Happy" Hatchett, Columbiana, (1), with Annie Adams, Westover lead a big "War Eagle" cheer at the Shelby County Auburn Club dinner at Riverchase Country Club last week. Hatchett is of the Class of '21 and Adams the Class of '22. According to Club tradition, these two adjourn each meeting with a roof-raising cheer.

After the gourmet feast, the popular Auburn coach was introduced to the anxious "Tiger" fans by club president Larry Brasher of Chelsea. It was immediately apparent that Coach Dye has not only become a promising leader for the Auburn football team but also a loyal and devoted member of the Auburn staff and the academic and civic community as well.

"If Auburn people put up with what we did last year, we've got it made from now on!" Dye remarked. "We feel good about our football program right now. We have some things that are going to be in our favor as far as last year is concerned. I can assure you that we are going to be a different football team this year. I do think that we put character back into our fo otball last year. I think that this year we have a chance of being a good football team. I am excited about our football team and I think you have a right to be excited too. Our football team feels good about themselves."

Leslie Hamby, Assistant Director, Alumni and Development, was also on hand to greet alumni and fans on behalf of the National Alumni Association.

Clayton O. Nordan, (1) of the board of directors of the Shelby County Auburn Club, welcomes Tiger Coach Pay Dye to the Club's annual dinner last week. Sheriff Buddy Glasgow, who provided an escort for Dye into and out of the county and protection while here, is in the background.

Afterwards, Coach Dye and Miss Hamby we re presented bronze "War Eagles" from the Shelby County Club's board of directors.

Another highlight of the meeting was a special recognition of John Meridith, former president of the club, who was presented with a plaque. Meridith was the director of Oak Mountain Park prior to being transferred to Chewacla Park near Auburn last year.

Dr. Philip Beasley of the University of Montevallo faculty, vice president of the club and Carol Hill, Columbiana. secretary-treasurer, were introduced, along with Board of Directors members Mike Hill, Charles Knowles, Katie Robertson, Jackie Cates and Grant Gober, of Columbiana; Bill Martin, Pelham; Tom Stubbs, Joel Bearden, Helena; Tom "Tim" Fancher, Jr., Clayton Nordan, Montevallo; Gene Duffey, Wilsonville; and Ernest Lee, Cahaba Valley.

The meeting adjourned with a tremendous "War Eagle" cheer, led by B.F. "Happy" Hatchett class of '21 and Annie Adams, of the class of '22.

Superball

'It really gets off the bat'

by Richard Crosby

'Dudley Dura-Red T-4000' is the official name, but to softball players its just 'Superball'.

"What's so special about this ball," you ask? Well, it's kinda like hitting a golf ball with a softball bat. It really gets off the bat!!

The technical aspects refer to the 'Coefficient of Restitution', a term which refers to the ability of an object to be compressed - and the time it takes for it to resume its normal shape. In other words, it's a hard ball.

Those in the county that have hit it can attest to the characteristics of this weapon. For example: In a recent game at Montevallo's Orr Park, Alabama Sports beat Euco Beverages 76 to 63!

Larry Martin, who recently opened a sporting goods store in Alabaster, says that the ASA (the governing body of slow-pitch softball) has approved the ball for a two-year provisional period. "It's a whole new experience," Martin exclaimed.

He added that the pitcher in a game where the new ball is used better learn how to back up in a hurry. "He's a sitting duck!" he explained. Martin, also a pitcher for a softball team, added that he's learned how to hustle back to almost second base by the time the ball crosses the

"If the pitcher doe sn't get back he could find himself wearing a white-stitched hood ornament." Martin added that many leagues have outlawed the use of the ball. Most recently, Montevallo changed it's ruling to outlaw the ball. However, Thorsby and Green Springs are still scheduled to open the season with the 'Superball' as part of the

What the ball means to the average player is he can now hit the long ball. "It helps weaker teams when they play the 'Big Boys'. That should help in that respect, but for the really good teams it turns the game into a homerun derby." If you like watching hitters whack a ball over a fence, it'll be worth a trip to watch a game where the 'Superball' isbeing used. You still may not believe it when you see it!

Bobby Kennedy won the big fish trophy and prize money with a bigmouth weighing 5.38

The tournament was sponsored by the Telephone Pioneers from the Birmingham Central Council.

The next tournaments set for Lacoosa are the Moore Handley Employee Tournament set for May 15, and the Hayes Aircraft tourney set for May 22.

Falcons set records against Miles College

the University of Montevallo baseball team in the upcoming week, a critical stretch that could have a lot to say about the Falcons' chances for post-season

Montevallo is 25-8 on the season and ranked No. 7 in the NAIA, while currently resting in the district's second place with a 24-7 district mark behind Stillman College. The top three teams in the district will advance to the District 27 Playoffs May 13-15 at the site of the first place

Seven of the Falcons' eight games this week will be district games, with only a Thursday game against the University of Alabama in Birmingham not counting for district purposes.

The Falcons open their busy slate with a 4 p.m. twinbill against Southern States Conference foe Huntingdon College at home, UAB comes in for a 7 p.m. single on Thursday, and archrival Birmingham-Southern College pays a visit to Kermit Johnson Field on Saturday for a pair beginning at 4 p.m.

Montevallo then hits the road for a doubleheader at Hun-

Eight games in six days await tingdon on Sunday at 1 p.m. and a single game at 6 p.m. on Monday at Jacksonville State Univer-

> Last week the Falcons saw their losing streak reach four with a 12-3 loss to Jacksonville State, but snapped the skid with a record-setting 24-1 rout of Miles

As a team, the Falcons set new records for most runs in one inning (12 in the 5th), and most runs in one game (24). Montevallo pounded out 16 hits and also benefitted from 16 walks and four Miles errors in the five inning ballgame.

Senior center fielder Greg Key set one new record in the game and tied two others. He scored five runs to set a new UM standard, collected four singles and a double in six trips to the plate to tie the mark for hits in a game, and stole his 23rd base of the season, tying his own record set

Big bird

Robert Perkins of Columbiana bagged his second turkey of the season last Monday morning. The bird had a ten inch beard and according to bathroom scales weighed in at almost 20 pounds. Considering the scales and how dieters adjust them for that 'slim measurement' the bird could have weighed ten pounds more.

Cahaba Valley Little League opening set

Cahaba Valley Dixie Youth Baseball will open the season this Saturday. Both Helena and Pelham are participating with parades in both cities at 8 p.m.

Opening day ceremonies will commence following the parade. Pelham will open the season at the old park. Helena will hold dedication ceremonies at the new complex.

'Wacky Wood' the Birmingham Baron's Bleacher Preacher will be on hand all day in Helena as part of the festivities.

UM golfers finally win tourney

University of Montevallo golf the tournament to a 27 hole affair coach Dr. Leon Davis figured it was only a matter of time before his young team would put things together as they had in the fall and win a tournament during the spring.

His faith in the team finally bore fruit on April 9 as the Falcons captured the Point Mallard Intercollegiate Tournament at the Point Mallard Golf Course in Decatur, their first tourney win in five tries this spr-

Rain wiped out the first day's play on Thursday and reduced on Friday with Montevallo carding a four player score of 436. The Falcons had a 290 on the first 18 and a 146 on the final nine.

Freshman Harold Breen of Hunstville led the Falcons to the victory, winning medalist honors in the tournament with a 69-36 -

Montevallo teammate Greg Aderhold, a senior from Cullman, chipped in with a 69-41 110, and made the All-Tournament Team.

The win leaves the Falcons with a spring record of 25-25, and coupled with the team's fine showing in the fall, an overall record in 1981-82 of 50-32.

The Falcons return to the links Wednesday through Friday, April 14-16, in the Alabama Intercollegiate Tournament at the Woodley Country Club in Montgomery, then turn their attention to the biggest match of the year -the NAIA District 27 Tournament, tentatively set for the Cahawba Falls Country Club in Centreville on April 26-27.

Montevallo is the defending District 27 champion for two years running, finishing 14th and 11th in the last two NAIA National Tournaments.

For Falcon Club Classic

Golfers to converge on Calera

The second annual "Falcon Club Classic" Golf Tournament is scheduled for this Saturday at the Buxahatchee Country Club in Calera, and places are still available in the 54 player field.

The "Classic" is sponsored by the University of Montevallo's athletic booster organization, the Falcon Club, for the benefit of the UM Golf Scholarship Fund and to encourage additional membership in the Falcon Club.

and a lunch after the first nine holes of play, plus a 1982-83 membership in the Falcon Club.

Winners will be named in several flights, plus both match and medal play. The tournament will consist of 27 holes, with a 9 a.m. shotgun start.

Participants in the tournament are invited to Kermit Johnson

The entry fee includes coffee Field, home of the baseball and doughnuts in the morning Falcons, following the tournament for the Falcons' doubleheader at 4 p.m. with Birmingham-Southern College.

> For more information about register ing for the Falcon Club "Classic" contact University of Montevallo athletic director Dr. Leon Davis at 665-2521, ext. 401, or the Buxhatchee Country Club in Calera at 668-1845.

Ready to race

The Allison Br others, Donnie and Bobby, will be racing together at Talladega for the first time in a year when they run the Winston 500 on May 2. Bobby (right) won the 1981 Winston 500 and Donnie (left) came in 5th. Three weeks later, at Charlotte, Donnie wrecked and missed the rest of the 1981 season with injuries. He did make it to the Talladega 500 last August, but as honorary starter, not as a driver. With Donnie now ready to go full speed, and Bobby off to a good start this season as the Winston Cup Circuit's leading money winner, the two are looking forward to returning to Talladega on May 2.

invitations, and said the controversy was all because of misunderstandings. He issued a statement which appears on page 2 of this issue.

But it was not made clear throughout the week whether the community center has a board policy against allowing blacks to play on its teams.

Seales is not a member of the center's policy making board of directors. He told the Reporter he had not paid much attention to the softball league, had not attended a game in three years, and had left the operation this year to two volunteers, Tony Seales and Eugene Carden.

But the controversy has led to two team's withdrawal from the 12-team roster. The coach of Church United Methodist's team, Steve Dilworth, said his team is "definitely not playing."

"We feel that by our church participating at Camp Branch we would be condoning the discrimination practices that the Camp Branch board of directors has imposed upon their softball league. We therefore feel it would be in our best interest to play somewhere else."

Dilworth added that the team had voted unanimously and with the approval of the pastor, Bryon White, not to play at Camp Branch. The team had not yet paid its entrance dues of $275.00

The First Baptist Church of Columbiana withdrew from the league Tuesday night.

Mike Jones, chairman of the church's deacons, stated "We feel that the ministry of the church could possibly be jeopardized by association with the league. We therefore resign our standing as a member."

New Pelham water well doubles city's capacity

by David F. Moore

The City of Pelham did not strike oil. But considering its water shortage last summer, it struck the next best thing.

Mayor Burk Dunaway said Indian Hills last Friday when they tapped a water table with a 2,000 gallons per minute pumping potential.

The 240 foot well, when fully operational, will double the amount of water the city now pumps from its existing six wells, Dunaway said.

But first the state health department must approve the water and pumping rate. Then bids will have to be taken on a pump and assorted equipment. At a later date, in the summer, Dunaway said about a half-mile of either 14 or 16 inch water main will have to be laid from the well directly to the 500,000 gallon tank across U.S. 31 from Valley Elementary.

Before the new main is laid, the well drillers struck paydirt under city hopes to pump from 600 to 700 gallons per minute from the new well through an existing eight-inch water line in the area.

> The well was drilled at a cost of $52,000 by Graves Well Drilling of Sylacauga. Dunaway anticipates the pump, the 300 hp motor to drive it, and the valves and fittings will cost another $50,000. He did not have an estimate on the cost of laving a new main.

Graves also drilled another well for the city three weeks ago which will produce 250 gallons per minute. The 200 foot well is located off Alabama Highway 119 near the Oak Mountain fishing lake, and was drilled for about $32,000. The well house and lines will cost about $15,000.

Tuesday, a $45,000 pump bid was accepted from Jim House Associates, Incorporated of Birmingham for the Highway 119 well. Dunaway said the well may be operational within six weeks.

In a controversial move, Pelham raised its water rates earlier this year to upgrade its system. Estimates on the cost to consumers have been given as high as 150%.

Monday, however, Dunaway said that so far revenues form the water rate hike increased only 14% in Feburary. That figure is expected to climb, however, when water usage increases this

Redistricting plan sent to state

by Fred Guarino

The Shelby County GOP voted Thursday to let the State Legislature handle its county redistricting proposal, rather than the courts.

The decision, passed by a four vote margin, was based on the recommendation of District 3 County Commissioner Don Murphy of Pelham.

However, the group agreed to keep the possibilty open of using the courts if the State Legislature

According to Commissioner Murphy, the county commission has already turned the proposed redistricting plan over to the State Legislature.

He commented, "I don't know how people would take it if we went into court."

The group indicated that it wants the four county districts redrawn with 25 percent of the population in each district.

Commission candidates must run at large in the county, but they must live in the district where they seek election.

The GOP contends that with a redrawing of the districts, it will have a larger base from which to draw candidates.

David L. Bradley, the Shelby County GOP Chairman, told the group prior to its decision, "Either we accept areas that have a gross imbalance or we do something."

He stated (as he had earlier stated in other public meetings), that district four has only eight or nine percent of the population. District 4 is the northeastern sec-Continued on page 6

Columbiana adds events to annual horse show

Columbiana is planning three events for this Saturday which are expected to attract large numbers of people to town.

For the 19th year the high school's athletic club is sponsoring its annual "Heart of the Heart of Dixie Horse Show." This event draws horses and riders from throughout the Southeast.

The show begins at 11 a.m. at the high school field, and will continue into the night. Planned are 48 different classes, with $4,000 in prize money, trophies and ribbons.

From 9 to 5, the downtown merchants and charity organizations are holding special sidewalk sales downtown. In addition, the band boosters

Cahaba Valley fire district stirs sparks on Highway 280

by David F. Moore

The upcoming vote on the proposed Cahaba Valley fire district has sparked controversy and raised questions of fire protection along the U.S. 280 corridor.

The vote is set for Saturday, May 1, and if passed will establish the Cahaba Valley Fire and Emergency Medical District.

The new district would be bounded by the north side of the rapidly developing U.S. 280 corridor, the Shelby-Jefferson county line as far northeast as Highway 119, and the ridge of Oak Mountain which runs parallel to Highway 41, the Dunnavant Road. (See page B-10 for a legal description of the boun-

Only an estimated 160 familes

currently live inside the proposed 25 square mile district, and by state law, only registered voters in the area are allowed a say on the new district. On March 25, a 106-name petition calling for the vote was filed with the probate

However, more than half a million square feet of office space is under construction or proposed for the north side of the 6.75 mile segment of U.S. 280 from the county line to Oak Mountain. Furthermore, an eventual 1,000 lot subdivision has been approved for just north of U.S. 280, inside the proposed district.

But none of the major developers in the proposed district said they were personally contacted on the proposal. Of those developers, only Hall Thompson of Shoal Creek is eligible to vote on the issue. If passed, the new district would be built around the Cahaba Valley Volunteer Fire Department, which has served in north Shelby, on and off, since 1962. Under Chief Grady Gulledge, the department has been reactivated in the last two years, and currently has one serviceable pumper truck and bush truck. One of its 12 volunteers is a first level EMT, and another is currently being trained.

The voting will take place at the nearly completed CVVFD fire station on U.S. 280 at the western foot of Oak Mountain.

"The whole purpose of the district is to upgrade our equipment," Chief Gulledge told the Reporter. "We're trying to get it fixed up so we can serve the people."

But North Shelby County Fire and Emergency Medical District board chairman Jack van Pelt said creation of the new district would hurt future fire protection along U.S. 280.

"If you end up with two fire districts in here, you'll end up weakening both of them," van Pelt said.

When formed four and half years ago, NSCFD drew its western boundary along the south side of U.S. 280 because development across the highway was then limited. Furthermore, the lack of water lines and fire hydrants would have prevented the district from acquiring its present class seven fire insurance

Given Cahaba Valley's limited equipment and lack of water, van Pelt questioned whether developers and residents would be getting adequate protection for what they're paying. Fire insurance rates, at least for several years, would not be lowered, he

Because of highrise development in Inverness, NSCFD will soon be forced to build a second station and buy a ladder truck to keep its ratings from slipping. If the May 1 vote fails, North Shelby intends to expand coverage across the highway to help finance the new station and truck.

NSCFD accountant Jim King explained that potential fire dues from both sides of the highway would be ample to support quality fire protection. However, dividing the revenue between two fire districts would create financial difficulties, he said.

The question of whether a firm can contract with another department outside the fire district it's in, was raised by Elton B. Stephens, Jr. president of EBSCO Industries. EBSCO's multi-million dollar headquarters at the summit of Oak Mountain, which should be ready for occupancy this fall, lies in Cahaba Valley's proposed boundries.

She scored a 97.6. Other high scorers were: Fern Fuhrmeister,

County might get rich off its beer drinkers

by Fred Guarino

A bill under consideration to standardize beer taxes charged by all counties in Alabama could make Shelby County richer. It could also hit the wallets and pocketbooks of beer drinkers. According to information provided by Probate Judge Thomas

A. Snowden, Jr., the bill will set the tax on beer at one and a half cents per fluid ounce. Shelby County presently charges three cents tax on seven and eight ounces, four cents on 12 ounces and five cents on 16 ounces. A quick calculation shows that if the standardized tax is approved, as reported, seven ounces will be taxed 10.5 cents; 12 ounces, 18 cents; and 16 ounces, 24 cents. Judge Snowden told the Reporter "If this is right, man we will be rich!" He commented, "I'm excited about it if it will bring that kind of revenue." County Clerk Mildred Ray stated, "It would have to more than double it (beer tax revenue) unless people stop drinking beer."

The bill is slated to go into effect on September 30.

However, according to Snowden there is an amendment being considered to it.

As to whether or not Shelby County will indeed become rich from the new tax is up in the air.

Snowden acquired his information from a source in Montgomery but was not certain of all details on the bill.

By passing a new procedure for selecting juries, the Alabama Legislature rearranged the schedule of the criminal circuit court in Shelby County last week.

A murder trial, in which Darrell Grayson of Montevallo is the defendant, was continued until the May 31 court session.

The reason for that move was to allow an appellate court to rule on whether the old or new method of jury selection is to be

But other trials couldn't be held because defense lawyers had been told the Grayson trial would take up the entire week and they were unprepared to try their

The one for one method of striking juries that passed the legislature puts the district attorney on an equal footing with the defense in pruning the jury list to the required 12.

Previously, the defense has been able to delete two names to the state's one.

Among the defendants appearing on the April 12 docket was Victor Kennedy, a co-defendant in the case for which Grayson is to be tried.

Kennedy was convicted of capital murder in the death of Annie Laurie Orr and sentenced to death. His case is now under appeal.

Other charges against him are connected with the same incident and have been filed with the circuit court clerk pending the outcome of the appeal.

The charges are for: murder, 1st degree; rape, 1st degree; burglary, 1st degree; robbery, 1st degree.

Two Shelby County jail inmates who failed to make a court appearance were Jesse Ammons and Michael Nelson.

Ammons, who was charged with escape, 1st degree, escaped again two weeks ago. Michael Nelson, who left with him, has three charges of theft of property, 2nd degree against him.

Alias warrants were issued for the arrest of the two men.

There was good reason for another individual not showing up for court last week. Eddie Harrell, Jr., who faces charges of robbery, 1st degree and attempted murder in Shelby County, is being held in a Jefferson County jail in connection with the death of a Bessemer police officer.

Defendants who pled guilty and will be sentenced May 10 include the following: Bob Delaney, rape, 1st degree, who can receive ten years to life, depending on the number of prior of felony convictions he has; Leroy Tinsley, illegal sale of marijuana, 2-15 years depending on priors.

Daniel Green, burglary, 3rd degree, 1-15 years, depending on priors; Glenn Alan Campbell, two counts of burglary, 3rd, 1-15 years depending on priors.

After entering guilty pleas, the following individuals were sentenced: Charles Jennings was sentenced to 12 months at hard labor for Shelby County for burning through a jail window, arson, 3rd degree; Robert Lee Carter, attempted theft of property, 2nd degree, six months at hard labor for Shelby County.

Col. Mel Cooper, the unflappable director of the Alabama Ethics Commission, summed it up pretty well.

"To say this request is significant would be a major understatement... it strikes at the very makeup of the Alabama Legislature." What Cooper referred to is a request for an official ruling concerning the propriety of educators serving in the Alabama Legislature.

Dan Alexander, president of the Mobile County School Board, has asked the Ethics Commission to decide the issue, and a hearing is scheduled for April 28. Alexander, who has been engaged in a long-running fight with the Alabama Education Association, said he had "deep concern over the service of various educators in the Alabama Legislature."

"Even if educators forego being paid while serving in the Legislature," he said, "it is incredible to believe that it would be proper for them to vote on benefit -- such as the education

In his official request for a ruling, Alexander posed three questions: Should educators be allowed to serve in the Legislature; if so, should they be allowed to draw double pay as an educator and legislator; and finally, if allowed to serve, should they refrain from voting on matters that would be of direct benefit to them, their families or their associates.

Inrecent years educators have been elected to the Legislature in large numbers. Ironically, the passage of the Ethics Law played a role in this. In days gone by, lawyers dominated the legislative membership, but theEthics Law caused many members of the legal profession to lose interest in serving in the Legislature. It was school teachers, administrators, and junior college/trade school officials who have since filled this vacuum left by the lawyers.

Obviously, should the Ethics Commission rule in favor of Alexander, the impact on the political clout of the AEA would be enormous.

Since their pay raise steps hinge on that date, the employees are anxious to get the matter settled.

If the date of permanent employment set by the personnel board is recognized, two employees are now due $15 biweekly raises.

However, when the matter was brought up at the April 5 commission meeting, the commissioners agreed they had acted in accord with the personnel board's instructions when they made the four individuals permanent employees on Nov. 6.

Sheriff Buddy Glasgow agreed that there was no reason to change the November date.

But the board has been trying to get the commission to change that date to Aug. 30 for two of the employees and Oct. 1 for two

In a letter to the commission, the board explained that an eligibility list had been established Aug. 20.

For that reason, it would be a violation of personnel board rules for the provisional employees to be rehired on a temporary basis for another four month period, which in fact had been done.

Rule 4.12 says that no provisional employee can be continued for more than ten days after the establishment of an eligible list for the class.

At Thursday's meeting of the personnel board, secretary Betty Rayfield mentioned that one of the employees had been asking about the pay raise she fels is now due.

But since the commission refused to budge from the Nov. 6 date, the board agreed the only course of action open to the employee was through the courts.

Following the meeting, the personnel board secretary learned that the commission is prohibited by law from making retroactive

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

You know, if you read my stuff, that First National Bank of Columbiana is my boss. I guess that's why I had such a delightful time when Herman Strong and I love there, on both sides, and for went to the Grand Opening and that I am grateful. Open House of Cahaba Valley-Inverness Branch, intersection Inverness Parkway and highway 280. Maybe it's the prettiest bank around. Almost too pretty for a simple guy like me. But we had a fine time, with Karl and Mike and all the others, some we knew and some we didin't. If you're up that way, on business or pleasure, it'll be worth your time to stop and look around. They'll be pleased to see you.

When we first began visiting, Jim Merrell and I, two of our favorite folks were Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Falkner. There was Mr. and Mrs. Glenn and Mr. and Mrs. Fowler and Mr. and Mrs. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Juzan and Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Luck and Mrs. Payne and Mrs. Moon. All were Methodists except these two who were baptists. But they loved us so much and we loved them so much, that we never stopped going to see them. Now they are all

Two of my favorite folks are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ellis. I see them every other Thursday on my visits for the church, and it is, and has always been, one of my favorite stops. But today, on a Friday, I saw Frank at Shelby Medical Center. He is due for surgery Monday morning at 7:30. For all his friends, and there are oodles and oodles of 'em, this is to tell you he is resting well. And what an attitude! When my time comes to be ill, I hope I can have the same outlook this man has. What a splendid way to spend the last hours before surgery in a big hospital.

Another of my folks -- I say folks because for years I have been visiting in their homes --Neal Stinson is in the hospital also. He was in Intensive Care and I could only peek at him. But he is mending. And for his lovely wife, Bertie Lee, this is to say he will soon be back to share our visits.

There wasn't anyone in sight when I went inside, but I heard noises from behind a closed door.

So I puttered around doing this and that, and every so often I'd hear that same noise.

I couldn't quite figure out what it was, but I wasn't curious enough to knock on the door and ask what was going on.

But when a phone call came for my son, I went to see if it was he or his wife who was in the room.

When no one answered my knock, I opened the door and peeped in.

Much to my surprise, the room was empty.

Then I began to wonder where that noise was coming from. Could there be some unknown person in the house, I thought? Surely not, I told myself. They would have made themselves known in the hour or so I'd been home and not continued making that strange noise, knowing that someone was in the house.

Well, I had to find out what it was, so I crept down the hall until I came to my visiting daughter's

UM president defends 'small college' athletes

Letter to the Editor:

Letter to the Editor:

As Birmingham-Southern College President Neal Berte wrote in a recent Letter to the Editor, the "current national attention given to the problems associated with athletic programs in colleges and universities motivates me to share some thoughts," unsolicited though they may be.

First, most college athletes are not "on the take." I doubt if many are. I am confident that few, if any, are in colleges which, as B-SC and the University of Montevallo, are members of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, the governing association for "small college" athletics.

Second, most college athletes not only manage to get an education while they are engaged in intercollegiate sports; they also graduate. At UM, for example, the percentage of student-athletes who graduate is -- and is expected to be -- the same as that for all UM students.

Superintendent 'pleased' with schools' fire insurance inspections

by David F. Moore

The recent state fire insurance inspection of the Shelby County school system revealed 17 inadequate fire extinguishers. In addition, housekeeping practices in connection with storing flammable materials were found to be "poor" in three buildings:

Superintendent of Education Charles Knowles said that although these deficiencies were noted during the annual insurance inspection, he was "very much pleased" with the overall findings.

The inspection was conducted from March 29 to April 2 by J.D. Ratliff, inspector for the State Insurance Fund. Ratliff, who happened to tour Shelby County's school system two years ago, marked a 300% improvement in fire safety since that inspection, Knowles pointed out.

The inspection covers all 64 structures in the system's chain of 23 schools, offices and maintenance buildings.

Ratliff rated fire safety related housekeeping "excellent," in eight buildings, "good," in 38 buildings, and "fair" in 15 buildings, Knowles said.

"Poor" housekeeping ratings result from storing flammable materials, like papers, rags, paints and cleansers, in closets with hot water heaters, or storing such materials so that major electrical panels are blocked.

Knowles said the board will seek to contract with a company to recharge and provide additional fire extinguishers $20.8 million, he said. throughout the system.

Most of the improvements over previous inspections were due to maintenance sheds which have been built at more than a dozen schools for the purpose of storing flammables and other equipment. Knowles said the permanent buildings were built at a cost of $438 each by vocational school

Knowles declined to specify which schools had inadequate fire extinguishers or were rated "poor" in housekeeping, until the board has notified principals in the deficient schools.

In wake of the inspection, Knowles anticipates reviewing the

'Current use' could cost county nearly a million each year by David F. Moore

If the legislature gets its way with the current use bill, Shelby County could lose nearly $1 million in property taxes.

According to projections by Alabama Commissioner of Revenue Ralph Eagerton, the recent statewide property reappraisals should increase Shelby County's ad valorem tax revenues by $2.54 million. But if Bill 161 eventually passes as proposed by the legislature, it will reduce this county's revenue by $938,009, Eagerton estimated.

He told the Reporter that six corporations that own massive land tracts in Shelby County would realize the "largest percentage" of the tax savings offered by the current use bill.

Eagerton identified these corporations and their holdings in acreage as follows: Kimberly Clark, 58,935; Gulf States, 55,875; United States Steel, 26,334; Southern Railway, 19,120; Champion International. 13,082; and Mead Corporation, 6,063.

Shelby County tax assessor Bobbie Reynolds said 2,439 parcels of land in Shelby County are already under the current use exemption presently in effect. Acreage figures and landowner information on those parcels, however, were not available.

However, Reynolds said that this year's reappraisals listed the fair market value of these parcels at $121,925,322. But under present current use exemptions, that value falls to $70,535,230.

The final outcome of the controversial bill remained up in the air at press time Tuesday, although it passed both the House and Senate earlier this legislature with several executive amendments which would transfer current use tax savings from large landowners to owners of smaller plots. Among the changes, James is calling for a 40% deduction in tax assessments on only the first 500 acres of farm and timberland. Because the outcome of Bill 161 remains up in the air, Reynolds explained that her office has been concentrating on house and lot reappraisals not affected by current use. Tax assessments on current use land will not be figured until after the issue is settled, she said. The present current use exemption assesses values according to how land is being used, as opposed to what its value would be if put to its best and highest use. As passed by the legislature earlier

James sent the bill back to the this month, House Bill 161 incorporates a complex formula which provides, at least for owners of more than 500 acres, a further savings in property taxes.

Eagerton said that statewide, 202,439 landowners have timber holdings of less than 500 acres, while 4,874 owners have holdings over 500 acres. Also statewide. 52,624 owners have agricultural holdings of less than 500 acres, while 4,850 owners have farms over 500 acres.

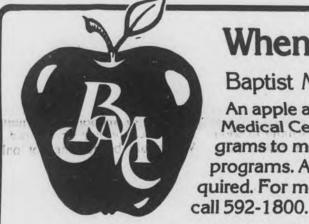

According to Jefferson Coun y tax assessor Charlie Crimin president elect of the statewide tax assessors association, that without James' changes, House Bill 161 will lower the average anpraised value of an acre of timberland from $310 to $200. Crimm said the bill would cut an praised values on row crop land from $600 per acre to $234.

Intersection work begun on Valleydale

Tons of dirt were moved in north Shelby County Sunday when the road improvement project at the intersection of Valleydale and Caldwell Mill Roads began.

Contractors and members of the Shelby County Highway Department began working at 5 a.m. and didn't leave the site until 10 at night.

The earthmoving work was completed on Sunday because of the heavy flow of traffic on the road during the week.

A survey revealed that an average of 10,000 cars a day go through the intersection.

According to Highway Director Gary Ray, the earthmoving involved cutting down two hills on either side of the entrance to Valleydale Shopping Plaza.

He explained that this improved the sight distance for motorists coming out of the shopping

The work also gives a better view to motorists coming into the intersection.

Besides grading the hills, the earthwork Sunday also involved filling in a sag in the road.

While motorists could travel on the graveled road Monday, the weather held up work that

Ray said the improvement project should be completed by the early part of next week.

Federal funds obtained through the State Highway Department are paying for the project which will cost $90,000.

Columbiana may combine gas, water boards

Columbiana's City Council went on record Thursday as favoring the establishment of a utility board.

But they made it clear that their unanimous vote only expressed their intent.

In order to get input from the gas and water boards, the council set up a meeting on April 22 at 7

But he agreed to vote for its passage at the meeting provided department heads were not included under its provisions.

Saying she wasn't opposed to that point, Jones adjusted the wording in the ordinance to that effect.

Explaining why she felt it was necessary to go ahead and adopt the ordinance rather than wait, Jones said, "This gives us a legal base from which to work, and we won't be left out on a limb if Walker had insisted on having something controversial should time to examine the document come up.'

The rules and regulations will pertain to areas such as: employment practices, advancement, classification of employees, rate of pay, grievances, holidays, sick leave and severability.

A rumor concerning the resignation of street superintendent James Palmer was brought up, but Councilman Harold Mc-Cord reported Palmer would remain with the city if he could have a two week leave of absence.

The council agreed to the leave without pay, and set the starting date for May 1.

Since there was only one bid on a key operation system for pumping gasoline, the contract was awarded to Oil Equipment Company of Birmingham.

Their price was $1,914. It was explained that $448 of the cost was for installation and mileage for those who would put it in.

At the last council meeting, the panel was made aware that the system will save the city money in the long run and be more convenient for city workers as well.

At the present time, an operator only works two hours in the morning pumping gas.

The new system has 15 keys which will enable an accurate record being made of the amount of gasoline used by each of the city's vehicles.

Since some of those vehicles belong to the city's water and gas boards, it was suggested they share in the cost by paying so much per key. In other business, the council heard from Birmingham Regional Planning Commission planner Allen Creel. He reported on the progress that is being made in codifying the city's ordinances and estimated a draft would be ready within four to six weeks.

Developers John Nix, president of Kovach and Associates, William Daniel, president of Dantract, as well as Stephens and Thompson, all indicated to the Reporter they didn't care who provides fire protection, as long as it's good.

Daniel, with plans for an office park and an eventual 1,000 lot subdivision, said he wants more time to investigate options which would allow him to contract elsewhere for protection which would give him lower insurance ratings, or have his 1,280 acres deleted from the new district.

"We need time to look over options, not just be taken in automatically," Daniel said. "I know they (Cahaba Valley) want a financial base to improve their service, but they've been going for so long it seems they could hold off for a while."

"To jump into this thing too quickly would be a mistake," he stated.

Thompson said he would support fire service for the area, but said that the area needs the best service available.

"If they (Cahaba Valley Fire District) can give good coverage, we're all behind them," King said. "But some people say they can't. Some say they can. It's split down the middle."

Chief Gulledge said he had no idea how much it would cost to provide fire and emergency service to the area. "We've put too much money and effort into this thing to be pushed out," Gulledge continued. "North Shelby's concerned, but whether they like it or not, I hope the new district is voted in."

Five property owners who don't want their land included in the Alabaster annexation have apparently succeeded in getting Governor Fob James to go to bat for them.

The Reporter learned Tuesday that instead of signing the bill which would allow an election to be held, the governor is sending the bill, with an executive amendment, back to the legislature.

Representatives Jabo Waggoner and Sonny Moore both told the Reporter that they had heard the bill was being returned.

But Waggoner said the legislature did not have to concur with the governor's amendment. According to one of the property owners, who asked not to be named, that would not prevent the bill from going through as the legislature passed it. The governor's amendment would take 150 acres out of the annexation. That area is along ·Alabama Highway 119 south of Alabaster.

Waggoner had amended the bill as advertised before the legislature voted on it.

By changing the east boundary line from U.S. 31 to I-65, Waggoner's amendment removed two or three acres from the proposed 14 square mile area which was advertised.

Music, arts come to Brierfield

The entire family can enjoy a weekend in the outdoors April 30-May 1 when Brierfield Ironworks Park opens its gates for the 1982 season. .

The annual Brierfield Bluegrass Celebration and Arts and Crafts Exhibition will provide activities for everyone, from walks along nature trails and overnight camping to a turkey calling contest and special activities for youngsters.

Along with Alabama craftsmen and collectors ready to sell their wares, there'll be Sacred Harp (fa-sol-la) singers, an Irish band, Indian dancers, and Brierfield barbecue. For the kids, you'll find a puppet show, "space bounce" attraction and a sawdust money hunt. The curious will enjoy taking a look inside a "real" Indian tepee, or examining the 19th century ironworks furnace.

Evenings will be filled with the strains of music provided by groups such as the Red Clay Ramblers, Touchstone, Magic City Slicers, Three on a String and Cider Mill String Band. The High Cotton Cloggers also will contribute to the rhythm of the entertainment. In case of rain, night shows will be held at Bibb Graves Gym at the University of Montevallo.

Plan to stay overnight in a primitive camping area (electrical outlets) are available for more modern campers), come for just one evening performance, or only Saturday's activities. Camping is free when you purchase weekend tickets.

For more information about Brieffield Ironworks Park's big weekend, call (205) 665-1856.

Compositions by Mozart, Brahms, Grieg and Bach will be presented at a concert by the University of Montevallo Student Woodwind Quintet and Chamber Choir Thursday, April 29, in UM's Palmer Hall.

The performance begins at 8 p.m. and the public is invited to attend free of charge.

Alabaster spends unbudgeted money

Members of the Alabaster City Council approved an item not in the budget Monday evening when they voted to purchase an addi-

Other bids submitted on the police car came from Adamson Ford, $9,462.21 and Jim Magill Chevrolet, $9,874.75.

Having approved the purchase of an air compressor at their last meeting, the council voted to accept the only bid submitted.

The price on the piece of equipment requested by the fire department was $6,978. It came from Harry Harless Company.

Fire Chief John Cochran explained at the previous council meeting that the compressor was needed to fill the air tanks worn by the firemen.

The Helena City Council is asking the developer of Fox Haven to clean up his act.

In a letter from the city, brought before the council at its Monday night meeting, David Davis of Federal Homebuilders was told that the city would appreciate his attention to the matter of cleaning up around construction sites in Fox Haven subdivision.

The problem was first brought up by councilman James Kwater at the last meeting.

Residents of Dearing Downs who requested at the last meeting that the council take similar action on the developer there, were told Monday that the city ordinance on trash left by home builders would have to be amended to provide a fine for such litter. Mayor Charles Penhale said the matter was to be turned over . . . .

Jail escapees still missing

Officials are seeking two inmates who are still at large after escaping from Shelby County jail Tuesday, April 6. Missing are Jessie B. Ammons, known as Cochise, and Mike W. Nelson.

The two white males, who fed the jail's doberman guard dogs, apparently made their break by climbing the jail yard fence while the animals were busy eating.

A Columbiana resident spotted two men wearing green jail overalls around 6:30 p.m., and notified the sheriff's office. In the dark of night, the fleeing men managed to dodge the search efforts and roadblocks set up in and around Columbiana.

Ammons, 42, a native of North Dakota who listed his most recent address as Siluria, was awaiting trial on charges of receiving stolen property, and a previous escape he had made. On May 28, 1981, Ammons and two other inmates had removed the glass Chelsea, was awaiting trial on from two innner jail windows and escaped through an outer cell window which someone had cut with a hacksaw blade.

After his first recapture, Ammons was sent for mental competency obervations. A sheriff's spokesman said Ammons had just recently been returned from Bryce Hospital when he pulled his second escape.

Nelson, age 31, of Route 1, three counts of second degree theft of property. He had been released once on bond, but the bond had been cancelled.

Employment figures improve

Employment in Shelby County apparently improved in February over January's figures.

In figures released this week by the State Employment Service unemployment in February, 1982 in Shelby County was an even 11 percent. In January, it had been 13.1 percent.

But a year earlier, in February of 1981, the unemployment figure for Shelby County was only 8.6.

The state figures show Shelby County has a civilian labor force of 28,694. Of this number, 3,163 were unemployed in February, Even so, Shelby County has a better rate of employment than other counties that make up the Birmingham Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area.

The unemployment rate in the Birmingham SMSA for February, 1982 was 12.6 percent, which is 1.6 percent higher than for Shelby County alone.

Last year, in February, 1981. the Birmingham SMSA unemployment rate was 10.5, compared to Shelby County's 8.6 percent.

The other counties in the Birmingham SMSA and their unemployment rates for Feb., 1982 are: Jefferson, 12.5 percent; St. Clair, 15.1 percent and Walker 13.6 percent.

The Pea Ridge Volunteer Fire Department purchased new hose, coats, boots, and hats last week. According to recently elected Chief Mike Parker, the equipment was purchased with funds collected from fire dues.

The department has also recently had an Indian backpack pump donated to it by the county forestry service.

Parker said the new equipment will be displayed at the open house planned for May 8. A softball tournament will also be held that day and concessions will be available.

This week, the department will start its junior volunteer firefighter program which will be taught by Parker and new board member John Boothe. Parker said nine junior volunteers have signed up for the training course.

"Everything is going real good here," Parker said. "We're getting real good support from the community and we're in top shape."

He said five new fighters have joined the department since new officers and board members were elected in March.

New officers are: assistant chiefs Clifford Lawley and Herbert Jarvis, captains Butch Pickett and Lynn Harper, and lieutenants Gary Thompson and Anthony Thompson.

New board members are: Joe Brantley, Marshall Goggins, Carolyn Clark, Boothe, Howard Harkins, Ed Coshatt, Flo Lawley, president Doyle Wiley; vice president Jarvis; secretary Clara Allen; and treasurer L.W.

Strong engagement revealed What Does Jesus Teach - About His Law? Mr. and Mrs. O.J. Strong of State Junior College and the

From the preceding articles we have seen that God speaks to us thru His Son Heb. I: 1-2, and that His Son, Jesus, speaks to us thru the Holy Apostles and Prophets, who were inspired to speak and write the things of God delivered to them by the Spirit, Eph. 3:3-5.

Math. 10:19-20 "But when they deliver you up, be not anxious how or what ye shall speak: for it shall be given you in that hour what ye shall speak. For it is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father that speaketh in you."

It should be very interesting to us to note the reaction of the people to all of these things prepared by God, Christ, and the Holy Spirit. In Acts 2 after the apostles had received power, the Holy Spirit, Acts I:8, they preached the Gospel message to a multitude of Jews, the result; Acts 2:42 "They then that received his word were immersed (baptized); and there were ad-ded unto them in that day about three thousand souls. And they continued stedfastly in the apostles' teaching and fellowship, in the breaking of bread and the prayers.

Falcon season fizzling

From first place to last in just two days -- that was the dismal story last week for the University of Montevallo baseball team.

The Falcons dropped back-toback doubleheaders on Saturday and Sunday, losing at home to Birmingham-Southern College, 7-3 in eight innings and 8-3, then going to Huntingdon College and falling, 7-2 and 13-3.

When the BSC twinbill began, Montevallo led the NAIA District

Fish kill case settled for $25,000

The State of Alabama has reached a settlement with Olon Belcher Lumber Company of Centreville for the alleged discharge of a chemical which killed approximately 100,000 fish in the Cahaba River.

The settlement provided for payment of $25,000 by the lumber company to the State.

27 race. When the weekend was over, the Falcons were 24-11 in the district and had dropped all the way to sixth and last place.

The obvious fact is that this year's district race is an extremely close one, but UM coach Bob Riesener readily admits that, if his team doesn't snap out of its slump, the Falcons could miss the playoffs for the first time in seven

"We seem to hit the skids like this at some point just about every year, and I can't figure out why," Riesener puzzled. "If I knew the solution, I'd write a book and make a fortune. The problem is really critical this year, because only three teams will make the district playoffs. Our backs are really to the wall."

Coupled with a 3-1 loss at home to UAB on Thursday, the Falcons have now lost five straight and nine of their last 10. Although ranked No. 7 in last week's NAIA poll, that high standing seems certain to drop.

Montevallo is 25-13 overall, 0-6 in the Southern States Conference, as well as their district record at 24-11.

There also seems to beno rest for the weary, as the Montevallo schedule remains rugged thr oughout the rest of the season.

Montevallo was to visit Jacksonville State University Monday and host Huntingdon on Tuesday. A red-hot Auburn University team visits the Falcons' Kermit Johnson Field for a single game Thursday at 7 p.m., then Montevallo hits the road Saturday for doubleheader against the University of West Florida in Pensacola.

Early next week, the Falcons host Livingston University in a 6 p.m. doubleheader.

About the only bright spot for the Falcons during the week was a pair of home runs by Greg Key, giving the senior outfieldershortstop nine for the year, just one behind teammate Mark Hearn, the conference and district leader. Key now has 33 career home runs, and each one he hits adds to his record lifetime

Kevin McKenzie was the winning pitcher. Joel Richey collected 3 RBI with two singles and a double. This week the Jackets take on Pell City Friday.

Pelham hunter kills two turkeys with one shot as wife watches

MR. & MRS. MIKE KNIGHT

by Richard Crosby

Now wait a minute. This just doesn't seem fair. Mike Knight kills two turkeys with one shot and folks like me don't even get to see a turkey.

It all started when Mike decided to take his wife Joanie out turkey hunting March 30th. It was her first time to go on the excursion and besides, Mike wanted to see how this turkey hunting stuff was done.

As Mike tells it, he commenced calling and lo and behold, a group of about five gobblers headed his way.

He eyed one coming straight up the trail and fired his shotgun one time. Like all experienced hunters, he jumped up and ran to the shot bird to make sure it wasn't just wounded and could run

When he arrived though, he found two dead turkeys. One behind the other lying in the trail. "You saw it! You saw it!" he exclaimed to Joanie. "No one would have ever believed me."

Of the turkeys, one had a four-and-a-half inch beard and the other's was an inch longer. Mike has killed four turkeys between the fall and spring season. He also bagged five deer during the past season.

A fireman for the city of Pelham, Knight said he was hunting on land leased by the Calera Sportsmen Club of which he is a Well, not that he may not have asked, but wife Joanie hasn't been hunting since. "I guess she thinksit's too easy," Knight commented..."Probably boring."

Yeah, it must be. Just getting to shoot once and only killing two turkeys.....What does Mike do for fun?

the city had been unsuccessful in getting some new programs implemented last "We feel like the program needs to reach more kids in the six to fourteen year-old age group," LeSueur stated.

He explained that the city "wants a planned program for ten weeks which will involve activities for the younger children in the community." He added that the applications will be reviewed by the Park and Recreation Board April 22nd and 29th at the Calera City Hall.

"We have felt that the head football coach was best qualified to run the program," Rasco commented. "He also takes care of the recreation building year round for us."

Ricky Seales, head coach at SCHS, will be running the program again this summer. He is paid $2,500, which Rasco said is for maintaining the building during the year and running the ten week summer program.

Neither city can afford a fulltime recreation director according to LeSueur and Rasco.

Richard Petty must know something good is going to happen to him in the Winston 500 on May 2 at Alabama International Motor Speedway. Petty has never won the Winston 500, the only race on the Winston Cup circuit in which he has never taken the checkered flag, yet he still smiles optimistically every time he buckles up at Talladega. Petty, whose STP Buick was one of half a dozen cars sidelined by a second lap crash in 1981, hopes his luck will be better on May 2.

U.S. Senator Jim Sasser, Democrat from Tennessee, has started some important pieces of legislation in his tenure in Washington, but none have created the instant excitement that will follow when he starts an event of a different nature in Talladega on May 2.

Sasser, as Grand Marshal of the Winston 500 at Alabama International Motor Speedway, will experience a politician's dream, that is to have a crowd of over 100,000 cheer their approval at something he says.

For it is Sasser's duty as Grand Marshal to give the command, "Gentlemen, Start Your Engines." The ensuing roar of the crowd, combined with the thunderous sound of forty 600 horsepower engines coming to life, is one of the most thrilling moments in sports and Jim Sasser will start it.

Kenneth Mitchell and his son Gary, who live near Montevallo, may have missed the first turkey they called up last weekend, but the second one wasn't so lucky. Kenneth brought the 20.5 pounder down with his 12-gauge near the Chilton-Shelby County line before all the rain started Saturday morning. The bird's beard measured 8.5 inches. (Photo by David F. ### Summer Hill wins trophy Summerhill Baptist Church has a trophy addition. The softball team from the church won the Chelsea Athletic Booster Club Tournament last Saturday in Westover, Summerhill won the championship game 12 to 8 over McManus Shell.

In reaching the finals, Summerhill defeated Westover 9-6, McManus 9-5, Downey's 7-5, McManus Shell finished the tourney with second place honors, followed by Downey's Auto Parts. Other teams participating in the tournament were Smitherman's Pharmacy and the Horse's Tail.

basketball program last year, as the Falcons' top scorer, Joe Hall, who averaged 14.4 points a game, came from there.

Now the Monroeville based junior college has tripled its Montevallo influence, as the Falcons have signed the Patriots' Anthony Glaud and James Smith for the 1982-83 cage campaign.

Glaud, a 6'3" guard, and Smith, a 6'4" forward, were teammates at Murphy High School in Mobile before joining Coach Eddie Dutton's Patrick Henry team together.

Sports Scribbles

by Richard Crosby

Sometimes it's hard to tell a girl from a boy - when you're talking about turkeys that is.

Billy Parker of Cahaba Heights found out that was true when turkey hunting Easter Sunday. He killed a gobbler? with a 10 inch beard only to learn that it was a hen and not a tom.

He was hunting on East Saginaw Hunt Club leased land when he killed the 11 pound bird. It was his third of the spring season. Dr. Leon Davis, Athletic Director at UM, gave me a quick English lesson not long ago. I have been too embarrassed to report it earlier, but since everyone else around here was guilty of the same offense, I can divulge the truth. There is a difference between 'Intersquad' and 'Intrasquad'. The 'Inter' is when two schools play each other. 'Intra' is when the teams are made up from within the same school - like spring

Like I said, all the coaches, and other news folks around the Reporter are guilty so I don't feel too bad, and now everyone else will know in the future what an Intrasquad and Intersquad

David Moore (the intrepid first-time golfer who related that experience last week) couldn't be persuaded to try his luck a second time last week. Although the clouds parted and the sun gleamed when his made his first bogie, it wasn't quite enough to convince him to whack the ball again. Besides, if he was afraid to tear up Fob's course, he would certainly be afraid to tangle with any of these owners of the non-state owned courses.

Five claim golf trophies in church links championship

Twenty-eight golfers participated in the First Baptist Church of Columbiana Spring Golf Tournament last Saturday. The event was held at Cahawba Falls Country Club in Centreville.

'Intrasquad Games'.

Bob Bolton took the trophy in the first flight. Charles McCombs won the second with a score of 86. Stanley Eniis won the third flight. Richard Crosby won the fourth flight, followed by Jeff

Hand Jr. who won the fifth. Rain fell several times during the tournament, slowing the greens and wetting the golfers and affecting the scores. Bolton won the first flight with a round of 84. We beat William Rasco on the last hole for the first place award.

Pelham opens youth season

The opening day at Pelham for baseball players turned out to be a soggy day with only eight games played.

Winners in the first day of competition were: Yankees over the Astros 21-19 and Braves over the A's 26-16 in T-ball action. In the Majors, the A's defeated the Dodgers 3-1, Privates over the Astros 18-0, and the Mets over the Braves 3-0.

In the Dixie Boys division, Helena Reds whipped the Montevallo Phillies 11-1, the Pelham Braves beat the Pelham Yankees 4-2. One softball game was played during the day and that game was won by the Ponytail Falcons by a 6-5 score over the Robins.

Regular games are scheduled for six days a week, at the old Pelham fields until the new complex is complete.

Banquet set

Jack Powell, former basketball coach at Livingston University and a major figure in the old Alabama Collegiate Conference in the '60s and early '70s, will be the guest speaker at the University of Montevallo Men's Athletics Awards Banquet on Friday, April

For more information about the banquet, or to obtain tickets, contact the men's athletic department at 665-2521, ext. 410.

UM students to display art in D.C.

Paintings, drawings, prints, and photographs by 19 University of Montevallo students will be on display at the Department of Education in Washington, D.C. through July 21.

UM is one of only four universities ever invited by the department to exhibit art. The others were Catholic University and Howard University Washington, D.C. and the University of Hartford (Connecticut).

The Department of Education will provide an opening for the exhibit Wednesday, April 28, at 4 p.m. Washington-area alumni and Alabama's congressional delegation will be invited to attend the opening.

Artists from Shelby County whose work will be exhibited are: Bill Buchanan, Montevallo; Carol Morey, Pelham; and Jack Viskil, Alabaster.

The American Scandinavian Student Exchange is looking for host families for five 16 or 17 year old boys and girls.

The students are eager to learn about the American culture through living with a family and attending a local high school. Interested families should contact: Carol Massey, Rt. 1, Box 680, Trussville, AL 35173, days: evenings: 1-933-4058, 1-655-2580.

Allison still eager for green flags

It will be sometime in early 1984 before Mark Martin starts as many NASCAR Winston Cup races as Bobby Allison has already won, but for sheer love of racing the two are pretty even.

Martin, the eager rookie, and Allison, the experienced veteran, were the first two entries for the May 2 Winston 500 at Talladega and that typifies the attitude of both drivers.

There is perhaps another reason for their eagerness to get to Talladega. Both have done well at the World's Fastest Speed-

Martin, in his only appearance on the 2.66 mile superspeedway, took the checkered flag in lest August's ARCA 200, edging two other Winston Cup competitors.

Allison has three wins at Alabama International Motor Speedway, having won the 1971 Talladega 500 and the Winston 500 in 1979 and 1982.

"Any track that you win on, you look forward to going back," says Martin, the 23 year old Champion Spark Plug Rookie Challenger. "I love Talladega and I really anticipate doing well there in May."

Allison, although nearly twice Martin's age, matches the youngster's enthusiasm when it comes to climbing in a race car, particularly at his home track of Talladega.

"A lot of people have asked me about the number of races I run. They want to know if, after so many years and so many green flags, I ever get really excited about any one race. I tell them 'Yeah, every time.'" grinned Allison.

Right, if you want good coverage Right, if you want professional service Right, if you want fast, fair claim settlement and, best of all, it's no gamble.

Alabaster chief

Indian chief Joseph Two Eagles shows Brierfield Ironworks Park Director Marty Everse his tommyhawk. Looking on are Kathy Jenkins of Helena and Mike Clayton of Alabaster, members of the Echota Cherokee dance team which will perform at the Brierfield Bluegrass Celebration April 30 - ingham in July.

Police chief turns Indian chief

by Bert Seaman.

Until his retirement a few years ago, Joe Stewart had been Police Chief of Vestavia for 23 years. Now Stewart is a chief again, but this time he's the leader of an Indian tribe. That tribe is the Echota

Cherokee. And the tribal headquarters is in Alabaster.

Explaining why they moved to Shelby County eight years ago, Stewart and his wife said they wanted to live in a rural atmosphere and were particularly attracted to this area.

When Stewart was elected chief of the Echota Cherokees last year, Alabaster became tribal Mentioning that she's half Creek, Mrs. Stewart pointed out that the tribe accepts members from any Indian blood line.

"We're proud of our So to bring the entire tribe heritage," she explained, "and we want to preserve it."

> One of the dreams of the chief and his wife is to erect an authentic Echota Cherokeee village. In addition to the educational aspect, it would also provide a much needed tourist attraction in this state, Mrs. Stewart said. As an example of how little is known about the tribe's culture,

Mrs. Stewart said that early tribesmen lived in log houses rather than tents. And she also noted that before the tribe moved west, the men wore turbans rather than the feathered headdress.

Besides looking for 30 acres of land on which to erect a village, the chief and his wife have also been active in lobbying in the state legislature.

The bill they've been involved with proposes giving every Indian tribe in Alabama equal representation on the state's Indian Affairs Commission. When they're at home, Mrs.Stewart busies herself with Indian craftwork while the chief researchs various aspects of the Indian culture.

His latest project is a study of the language.

Before a heart condition forced him to slow down, the chief enjoyed taking part in Indian dancing when time allowed.

Even though he won't be able to participate, a 25 member dance team of Echota Cherokee will be performing some of the native dances at Brierfield Ironworks Park in Bibb County on May 1.

Their performance will take place around noon.

The event is the annual bluegrass celebration and arts and crafts exhibit which will be held April 30 - May 1.

And if anyone is interested in Indian crafts, they'll be able to pick some up at the Brierfield

All of the hereinabove described land lies en tirely within Shelby County, Alabama, and none lies within any municipality Exhibit "B" 4) Shall the following schedule of service charges for establishing and maintaining the District, as provided for by Section 12 of said Act No. 62, plied within the District:

a) A service charge of $50.00 per calendar year shall be levied upon and collected from each person owning non-commercial property within the District, with co-ownership or joint ownership of such property be ing considered one ownership, and with contiguous parcels (if owned by the same person or persons) also being considered one property unit, provided that the total of tiguous parcels does not exceed 160 acres, with an additional $50.00 an nual charge being due from each property owner (or owners) for each tract or fractional part thereof, in excess of 160 acres, provided, however, that the total amount of such charges shall not exceed the sum of $500.00 per annum to any one ownership of such non-commercial property, regardless the total acreage owned? Each separate ownership actually occupied by the owner or owners thereof as his legal residence in any condominium building located within the District shall be considered non-commercial property subject to the annual fee of $50.00. Each apartment in any residential apartment house located within the District likewise shall be considered non-commercial property subject to the annual fee of

b) A service charge of two cents ($.02) per square foot, but in no event less than $75.00 per annum, shall be levied upon any and all buildings, structures, and inclosures used for commercial purposes within the District. Commercial structures shall include stores, restaurants, service stations, automobile repair garages and shops, greenhouses, nurseries, office buildings, research centers, manufacturing and assembly plants, sales offices, boat landings, airports, night clubs, dance parlors, warehouses, cabinet shops, printing shops, quarries, and all other premises not occupied by the property owner for strictly residential purposes only. In those cases in which the living quarters of the property ner adjoin the commercial structure, the property shall be considered nercial property, but a service charge of only $25.00 per year shall be applied to that portion of said premises actually used and occupied for residential purposes, with the render of such structure being subject to the commercial service charge reinabove set forth.

Mobile homes and house trailers occupied by the property owner as his residence shall be classified as non-commercial property subject to the service charge of $50.00 per calendar year. Mobile homes and house trailers not actually occupied by the property owner as his residence but rented by him or her to others for any monetary amount whatsoever shall constitute commercial property subject to the service charge of two cents ($.02) per square foot, but in no event less than $25.00 per annum for each such mobile home or house trailer located on the

All church properties exempt from State and County property taxes shall be exempt from the above service

OTHER CHARGES c) An amount equal to one-twelfth (1/12) of the annual fee, times the re-maining number of months to the end of the next fiscal year calculated to the next highest even dollar for any new service to be added. Service charges for new construction shall commence when a structure is roofed

d) Fifteen and no/100 Dollars ($15.00) for appeal to the Trustee of the District of any of the foregoing service charges which amount would be refunded if the Trustees determine that the service charge involved should be reduced to a less costly classification. Once a request for ap peal has been filed, the Trustees shall notify and obtain agreement from the user of the services, as to a mutually satisfactory date for the appeal hearing, not sooner than ten (10) days from the date of reaching such agree ment. An appeal must be requested within thirty (30) days of the original billing for the service. The Trustees decision shall be final.

e) A late fee of $15.00 shall be added to all service charges not paid within three months of the date of billing for such charges.

f) The property owner shall be liable for all costs involved in enforc ing collection, including a reasonable attorney's fee, and under foreclosure proceedings would be liable for interest at maximum legal rates in the event the property owner should pay off the debt within three years and recover possession. After three years, all rights of the property owner in the property would be extinguish

g) Failure to pay charges subject to Late Payment Fee shall empower theTrustees to establish liens against the property, and continuing disregard for demands for paymen will result in the establish foreclosure proceedings h) So long as any Federal Govern-ment financing of the District is in force, attempts to improperly evade the payment of established rate charges may cause the Trustees to request the Federal Government to institute charges for fraud against the

i) Unless the District is notified of another address for mailing pur poses, bills delivered to the property shall be deemed to have been delivered to the owner of the property, whether or not the owner pro

j) The Board of Trustees shall have the right, exercisable after a hearing, but in their sole discretion, to walve current charges if any property owner is found to be indigent considering Trustees. 5) The hereinbelow named Interim Trustees hereby certify that all revenues derived from the above and foregoing service charges, and from all service charges, if any, hereafter imposed, shall be used for terest and maturities on all outstanding debt of the District and for the purchase, procuring and maintenance of additional firefighting and emergency medical equipment and facilities so as to best serve the needs of the District, which already owns a basic fire station, a fire truck, and other vehicles

6) The property and income of the District, all bonds issued by the District, the income from such bonds conveyances by or to the District, and leases, mortgages and deeds of trust by or to the District shall be exempt from all taxation in the State of Alabama. The District shall be ex empt from all taxes levied by any county, municipality, or other political subdivision of the state, including, but without limitation to. license and excise taxes imposed in respect of the privilege of engaging in any of the activities that a District may engage in. The District shall not be obligated to pay or allow any fees taxes of costs to the judge of probate of any county in respect of its incor-poration, the amendment of its cer-tificate of incorporation, or the recording of any documents.

7) The service charge specified in Paragraph 4 (a) and (b) above and as dance with the provisions of Act No 62, Acts of Alabama, 1977, First Special Session, and as amended on Special Session, and as amended on July 18, 1979, by Act No. 79-369, Acts of Alabama, shall be a personal obligation of the owner of the pro ty served by the system, and shall constitute a lien against said proper ty in favor of the District, which lien shall be enforceable by sale there of in the same manner in which the foreclosure of a municipal assessment for public improve authorized Exhibit "C" 8) Shall the following named in-ividuals be elected as Interim Trustees of the District to serve until an election can be held in accord with the applicable provisions of Act No. 62, Acts of Alabama, 1977, First 18, 1979, by Act No. 79-369, Acts of Grady Gulledge; Braxton Taylor; Walter Cornelius; Earl Bailey; J.H.

election on the registered voters e proposed boundistrict. Voting be located at the cunava valley fire station on U.S. 280 at the western foot of Oak Mountain.

The proposed district has stireed concern among developers along U.S. 280 and the North Shelby Fire District board of directors.

More than a half million square feet of offices and a 1,000 lot subdivision are planned for the 280 corridor inside the proposed district. Developers say they don't care who furnishes fire protection, but it has to be good. In order to finance a new fire station and ladder truck, the NSCFD wants to expand into the area Cahaba Valley proposes to incorporate. NSCFD spokesmen said that potential revenue from development in the area is only adequate enough to support one good fire district.

However, Cahaba Valley Volunteer Chief Grady Gulledge said his men can do the job. Furthermore, most residents there favor the proposed district, Gulledge said Tuesday.

Gulledge said the proposed Cahaba Valley board would probably not look favorably on developers contracting for fire protection elsewhere.

Elton B. Stephens, Jr., vice president of EBSCO Industries said he was notified by the state that he would be able to contract for fire protection other than that offered by Cahaba Valley. EBSCO is building its international corporate headquarters inside the proposed district.

"Once Cahaba Valley gets the income, they'll be able to offer the kind of protection I need," Setphens said. Until such a time, Stephens said he would seek a contract with NSCFD or Chelsea Volunteer Fire Department, or Jack van Pelt, chairman of the NSCFD board, said Tuesday that he is having pamphelts distributed to residents in the proposed district spelling out advantages in fire protection they would have if they were taken into the North Shelby district.

Death investigation

Shelby County Coroner Billy Thompson and State Troopers Wiley Bibb and Gary Champion examine the tire tracks made by the log truck which ran off Hwy. 25 at the Shelby Springs crossing, killing driver Jimmy Salyers Monday. The victim's body was found lying behind the trailer.

Dodging train

Calera driver killed on Hwy 25

The 24 year old driver of a pulpwood truck lost his life Monday when he apparently swerved to avoid hitting a train.

A motorist discovered the body of Jimmy Dewayne Salyers of Calera at 11:30 a.m. at the Shelby Springs crossing on Hwy. 25.

Salyers' body was lying behind the trailer. State Troopers investigating the accident believe that he was either thrown from the cab when it left the road or that he jumped out.

It appeared that he had been were held Wednesday at Boltonrun over by the loaded trailer.

The truck was headed toward Columbiana when it went off the left side of the road on the Calera side of the crossing.

witnesses to the accident, it appeared that Salvers saw the train too late to stop and swerved to avoid hitting it.

According to reports, there was no mechanical failure in the truck which belonged to James Campbell of Wilsonville.

Mishap takes Helena man's life

by David F. Moore

A Helena man was killed Friday morning in an industrial accident at the Roberta plant of Martin Marietta. The incident is under investigation by the company and OSHA, the federal Occupational, Safety and Health Administration.

Funeral services for Timothy D. Yawn, 25, were held Monday morning at Jefferson Memorial Gardens South.

Shelby County cornor Billy Thompson said Yawn apparently died by asphyxiation when the dumping pan door on a dumpster slammed shut on his neck.

According to Thompson, Yawn had driven a one and a half ton lift truck to an isolated company dump to dispose of a dumpster full of refuse. When the man did not return for the 9:15 a.m. break, co-workers went to the originally set for last Saturday, dump and found him trapped in the closed door of the dumpster.

Thompson said Yawn's hardhat and safety goggles were found inside the dumpster.

The Roberta plant is located on Highway 25, just west of the Maylene's petition. Calera City Limits. Rescue paramedic from Montevallo answered the call. Thompson said medical efforts at the scene, and later at the Shelby Medical Center emergency room, failed to revive the man.

Thompson ruled the death accidental.

According to plant manager Charles Miller, Yawn's death was the first fatality at the plant in several years, and the first serious accident in 973 working days.

Yawn, known to co-workers and friends as "Smiley," was a member of the Helena Baptist Church and a 1975 graduate of Thompson High School. He reportedly went to work with the company in 1975.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dennis Yawn, sisters Gail and Laura Yawn, and brother Russell Yawn, all Helena.

His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. T.O. Fore of Helena, and Mrs. Minnie Westbrook Yawn of Collins, Mississippi.

Maylene gets blocked from holding vote

The proposed City of Maylene has been sent back to the drawing board. The election for incorporation of the community, was thwarted, nearly at the last moment, by attorneys representing Alabaster.

In a meeting Thursday morning with Probate Judge Tommy Snowden, Sonny Conwill and Bill Justice successfully challenged

Snowden said that at Thursday's meeting, Conwill and Justice showed that the petition calling for the election did not have signatures from at least four voters in every quarter-quarter section within the proposed city limits. The limits take in eleven such sections.

Snowden said that at least 44 proper signatures would be required to sign the petition. He estimated that less than 100 residents lived in the Maylene community.

Before a new date can be set for the incorporation vote, Snowden said its supporters will have to present another petition

The legislature passed the bill last Wednesday, and Probate Judge Tommy Snowden set an election date of May 15.

Voters will go to the Elliottsville Cumberland Presbyterian Church on Alabama Highway 119 to cast their ballots.

Since the governor failed to act, those individuals are still included in the annexation bill which takes in the subdivisions to the west and south of the present city limits.

Problem solved

Gas leak gives Vincent scare

There were some tense moments in South Vincent last Wednesday.

A high pressure natural gas regulator was ruptured when an 18-wheel transport truck veered off Highway 25 and smashed into it.

Flames immediately started shooting from the line, and residents in the area feared a major explosion might take place. Destruction of the regulator meant that the full gas pressure of 175 pounds was released.

City utility officials decided to let the gas burn until corrective measures could be taken. The fire continued for over an hour. Alabama Power Company workmen rushed to cut off power from lines above the burning gas. The situation was considered safe within an hour. The driver of the truck was taken to Brookwood Hospital for observation.

People on the scene speculated he had fallen asleep as he was heading south on Highway 25 near the intersection with county highway 62. The truck left the highway on the right, hit the gas regulator, crossed highway 62 and overturned in a clump of trees. The truck was owned by McClendon Trucking Co. and was loaded with fiberglass insula-

County Commissioner J. Alpha Lowe and D.L. Spates, chairman of the Vincent Gas Board were on hand with state, county and city crews to control the situation.

Knowles seeks second Ed term

Shelby County Superintendent of Schools Charles Knowles announced this week that he intends to seek re-election for a second four-year term.

Knowles points to his record, saying, "We've made good progress toward the goal I set when I took office." That goal was and still is, he says, "Improved instruction for all students who attend all Shelby County schools."

He listed several ways he feels progress has been made. For one, the California Achievement Tests show that county students are at or above the national norms. Another is that the curriculum has been enriched and course offerings have been increased. Guidance and counseling are now offered in grades 6 through 12, and physical education instruction is now in all elementary schools.

He is proud that class size is down to 25, especially in grades 1 and 2.

Another improvement he says, is in the maintenance and condition of the buildings and campuses. The urgency is gone, he says. "For the first time there is no known major roof leak in any school."

He credits the one cent sales tax that "showed the concern Shelby County citizens feel for their schools," with helping the schools improve despite three years of proration of state funds.

For the future, he believes, "We could be on the threshhold of another building program, based on the oil lease windfall money, which could get us out of re-locatables and portables in the system."

Knowles adds, "I won't be doing any politicking until after qualifying time," (sometime in

One other candidate, Dr. Norma Rogers, has also announced that she will seek the post.

Humanitarian awards

Jack Carter (left), president of the South Central Bell Pioneers of America Birmingham Southern Council, and Betty Honeycutt (right), president of the Riverchase Council of the same organization, were presented the Sylvia Worrell Humanitarian Awards Monday night at the Humane Society of Shelby County's first annual membership drive. Making the presentation was society president Ruth Ann Cumbo, who also gave Sylvia Worrell one of the group's promotional t-shirts. (Photo by David F. Moore)

Humane Society has plenty of work left

Already the pet population has exploded to the level of 100 million dogs and cats in the United States. And every 60 minutes, 3,000 puppies and kittens are born.

But half of these animals are, or become, homeless strays. Although two to three million pets are adopted each year from shelters, 13 million eventually have to be destroyed.

These facts were pointed out at the first annual membership meeting of the Humane Society of Shelby County which met Monday night in Alabaster. The group has grown to 70 members and 40 people attended the meeting. The society presented 22 awards and certificates of recognition at the meeting.

Shelby County veterinarian Dr. Phillip Hubbard said educating the public to benefits of spaying, neutering and pet birth control pills was the key to controlling the population problem.

Ann Miller, who lives near Dunnavant and is director of Wildlife Rescue, Inc., gave a talk on preserving prey seeking birds. One of the benefits to the ecology these birds provide is the control of rodents, she said.

She encouraged the use of the 320-6189 wildlife hotline, which can be called for help if someone finds an injured wild animal.

Sylvia Worrell, of Birmingham, a strong benefactor of the Humane Society, was the guest of honor at the meeting.

She complimented the society for its excellant work, but noting the scope of these problems, she added, "Frankly, you haven't done enough, yet."

Executive Director Anne Speakman said that the group's top humanitarian award was named in honor of Sylvia Worrell for her world-wide contributions to animals.

The award was split between the Riverchase and Birmingham South councils of the South Central Bell Telephone Pioneers of America. During the year, the groups donated several pieces of equipment.

The society's media award was split between Maryann Antonio of Channel 13 and Mary Gaines of Channel 6.

Attention Home gets top marks

Brenda Lee, Director of Shelby County's Attention Home, told the County Commission Monday that the home has the "best record in the United States" for helping the young people who are sent there.

She said that of 351 youngsters who were handled as out-patients last year, only 8 had to go to juvenile court.

That's a 98% record, she noted. She claims that juvenile delinquency has been lowered in Shelby County by 44%.

But federal and state funding for the home is being cut completely, she pointed out, and she is making every effort to raise the additional $35,000 it will take to keep the home going in the next fiscal year.

She and the staff already raised a similar sum to continue the home's operation this year.

She noted that contributions of food from churches has helped cut the food bill by $200 per month. Many other individuals, industries, and groups are helping by giving money or offering services, she said.

Miss Lee said her staff of four is not asking for any raises this

House destroyed near Calera; fire department stays at home

A house about a mile north of Calera off U.S. 31 was destroyed by fire Sunday night.

The call was phoned in around 9:30 p.m., but before the fire trucks rolled, it was discovered that the house was not inside the city limits, according to CVFD Chief James Miles.

Miles identified the building as the old Glass House, which is located on Old Turkey Farm Road. Miles said he understood the house to be unoccupied, and no one was injured.

The house was once included in the volunteer fire department's coverage area. But after Calera's recent annexation vote failed, the city council withdrew fire and rescue protection to the city

Pelham builds training center

To prevent houses from burning down, firefighters have to know more than how to turn on a hose. So, to keep its firemen on professsional toes, the Pelham Fire Department is building the C.E. Parker Memorial Training Center. The Montevallo Volunteer Fire Department has a training tower, but outside of Birmingham, the Pelham facility will be the first of its kind in the area, according to PFD Chief William Bryers.

The center will have a 35-foot training tower, smoke maze, burn-building, burn-pit, drafting pit, and eventually a "Christmas tree" and classrooms, Bryers

The center is designed specifically for Pelham's 19 paid and 15 volunteer firefighters. But Bryers said that under Pelham's guidance, other departments in the county will be allowed to train there.

So far, only $2,500 has been spent on the facility, Bryers said. Most of the equipment and materials were donated, and the firefighters provided manual labor. The city donated four acres for the facility from land it owns in the Pelham Industrial Bryers hopes to begin training at the facility within a month. He said the tower is nearly completed and the drafting pit was finished last Thursday.

The County Commission spent another lengthy session last Friday talking about space problems in the courthouse.

Discussions have been going on for almost three years amid proposals to build an agri-center building or an administrative building.

The new discussion was sparked by the fact that the former Strickland's Chevrolet building in Columbiana is now available for lease. Representatives of the five agriculture-related agencies were on hand. The five are: Extension Service, Farmers Home Administration, Agriculture

The new county landfill near Columbiana has an 'excellent' rating in a recent inspection by the State Health Department.

But the department gave the County Commission 30 days to clear up a problem at the Westover landfill, saying the garbage was not being covered each

After these reports were heard at Monday's Commission meeting the commissioners said they were tired of illegal dumping in the county and pushed for strong enforcement of the 'prima facie' law. They agreed to pursue more court cases, even though the first three had been thrown out for lack of sufficient evidence.

Shelby County Circuit Court Judge Harold Walden ruled last week that the new jury selecting procedure will be used in the Darrell Grayson trial.

Charged with capital murder in the 1980 Christmas eve day slaying of Annie Laurie Orr of Montevallo, Grayson's trial was delayed by the statewide adoption of the one-for-one strike system.

Judge Walden's ruling was in response to a motion filed by District Attorney Billy Hill asking that the new method be used in the case.

The DA's motion contended that the system which gives equal strikes to the state and defense should take effect immediately.

Rather than appeal the judge's decision prior to the trial, defense attorney Dick Bell said he would wait until the conclusion of the trial.

Should Grayson be convicted, Bell would presumably use the method of jury selection as one of the grounds for appeal.

Grayson's court date was set for the May 31 session of criminal court.

We saw unrealistic pay raises pushed for state employees and teachers when the lawmakers knew the money wasn't there. And these pay raises were above the pay raises being paid in the public sector.

I tried to stop these things because I know they are not what the people of Alabama deserve or can afford. But the lawmakers listened only to special interests and concerned themselves with election promises.

As your governor, I intend to call other special sessions. I will need the public's support to get legislation passed in the public's interests.

If that public support isn't forthcoming, the score again will be the same. The people will lose. Special interests will win.

It's up to the people at the grassroots whether this abuse of public interests will be allowed to happen again.

Have you ever been to a wedding reception where a "blessed event" took place?

That's what happended to us Saturday when my granddaughter's male gerbel gave birth to seven offspring.

If you read my column last week you may remember that I reported on the two small creatures my granddaughter received for her birthday.

However, I failed to mention that the pet store employee assured my daughter that they were both males.

That of course tells you that it must be extremely difficult if not impossible to tell the difference. Anyhow, the two little "guys" were named Stan and Oliver. Stan was small and constantly on the go while the larger Oliver always appeared to be lethargic. Now we understand why. Oliver should have been named Olivia.

The fact that we didn't realize we had two animals of the opposite sex made the births all the more startling.

Can you imagine entertaining the groom's family, which includes industrialists from Germany and a former diplomat from Spain, and being interrupted by a gerbel giving birth? We thought we had it made when the rain didn't fall on our outdoor wedding. The reception was going pretty well too, when the unexpected happened.

As the guests mingled and

Dr. Paul Hubbert of the Alabama Education Association has put to rest one of the hottest rumors to circulate all over that rumor mill known as Goat Hill.

The rumor had it that once the current legislative session ended, Dr. Hubbert would resign his AEA post and join the University of Alabama/Birmingham as director of a proposed new research program.

Dr. Hubbert has confirmed that he did indeed consider the UAB post, but has decided instead to remain with the AEA. His decision brought applause from some, expressions of disappointment from others.

While he did not rule out the possibility that some day he might leave AEA, Hubbert suggested it would not be in the immediate future.

"I will stay at AEA as long as the folks think they're getting their money's worth out of me," he said. However, he admitted that some day he would like to teach at the college level. Those who have done battle with Hubbert at the Capitol would be quick to suggest that he could teach legislative lobbying and political activity on the graduate

The first man to officially announce for governor will likely be Montgomery Mayor Emory Folmar, who will run as a Republican. Folmar's official entry into the race is anticipated momentarily.

And in the same arena, House Speaker Joe McCorquodale came about as close to announcing as a man could in Montgomery last week at a Democratic Party function. He also named the three Montgomerians who will head up his campaign (if he runs) in Montgomery County. They are City Council President Willie Peak, former State Sen. Tom Jones and former State Rep. Harold Harris.

And out of Birmingham comes talk that if George Wallace does indeed seek a fourth term as governor that Bill Baxley will lower his sights and run for attorney general, the post he held for eight years. He would be a part of what shapes up as a "Wallace Slate" of candidates in September---Wallace for governor, Billy Joe Camp for lieutenant governor, Baxley for attorney general, and Annie Laurie Gunter for Treasurer. When the commissioners asked him what the deputies use the office for, he said, "writing reports, making phone calls, picking up papers, and the investigator interviews people

Jones said they would still use the 2,000 gallon gasoline tank located at the NSFD office, to refuel county cars.

Jones also asked the commission to pay for physicals for reserve officers. They agreed to both requests.

In other action, the commission turned down a request for a liquor license to reopen the building formerly known as "Lib's" on Highway 25 west of Calera. Commissioner Harold Davenport said the sheriff had suggested the license not be granted.

County highway director Gary Ray described a hill in Dogwood that a coal mining company wants to take down. Because the hill is within 100 feet of a road, the commission must hold a public hearing before the request can be granted, Ray said.

The hill is south of Highway 22, and near highway 221 in Dogwood.

Steps will be taken to schedule a public hearing, the commissioners said.

The legal status of four employees in the sheriff's office continued to make trouble for the commission. The problem involves the date the workers began work. The whole matter was sent to the county attorney to settle with representatives of the commission, and the Law Enforcement Personnel Board. Larry Dillard and Dot Scruggs, board members, outlined the problems to the commissioners who commented they could only set dates that were legally allowed by the examiners.

Former safecracker tells of conversion

A woman who faced life behind bars became a woman with a mission when she was released from prison after serving only four years.

Speaking to members of Shelby County's Christian Law Enforcement Fellowship Thursday evening, Mary Kay Mahaffey told of the miraculous things that happened to her after she accepted Chirst in prison.

After an unprecedented early parole, Mahaffey earned a degree in secondary education and psychology and went on to complete an MA in counseling.

The former inmate now works in prison ministries.

Before her marriage to an exconvict, Mahaffey told her audience that she had been a registered nurse.

life of crime, Mahaffey related that she became a safe cracker and her name was placed on the

After being arrested, she was sentenced to 21 years in Alabama and other states dropped their charges against her.

Recounting some of the unusual things that happened after her conversion, Mahaffey said she was the first inmate ever allowed out of maximum security to be baptized.

And another first she mentioned, was her reclassification for parole three years early.

In 1980, she told the law enforcement group, she was given a full pardon including the restoration of all civil rights.

The public is invited to attend the meetings of the Christian Law Enforcement Fellowship which are held the fourth Thursday of the month.

Besides physical training, Bryers said the smoke maze will help firefighters overcome fears of the unknown.

Plans also call for a fire-proof burn-building. Wood and other combustibles will be placed in the building and burned to give firefighters on-hands training in dousing structural fires.

The burn-pit will provide training for fighting liquid fuel fires. The so-called "Christmas tree," tanks and masks, will be required will be a framework of gas to crawl through the dark maze feeding pipes which can be ignited to form a wall of fire. This will enable firemen to practice pushing back flames on pressurized tanks in order to get to the shut-off valve.

Rain slows cotton

About 800 acres of cotton had been planted in Shelby County last Friday. This number is far short of the expected acreage, according to Extension Agent Grant Gober, but the rainy weather has kept farmers out of the fields.

Clarence Ellison never puts a hoe in his garden, he said. Yet, the neat rows and smooth middles stay free of grass and weeds.

"I do everything with the tiller -- from plowing to weeding," said the Pelham gardener. He demonstrated the way he turns and tilts the tiller so the blades get close to the plants, taking out grass and throwing soil close around the roots and lower portion of the plants.

He plants in rows far enough apart for the tiller to move between them and have plenty of room to maneuver, he said.

When planting, he lays off rows with the tiller then works in fertilizer. He uses the commercial type as well as barnyard fertilizer and sawdust. After the plants come up, he then "side dresses," them, by scattering fertilizer on the soil near, but not touching, the young, tender plants and working it into the soil.

Last fall he scattered agricultural lime over his garden spot and turned it under with the tiller, so the soil would be ready for early planting.

Some like Direct Deposit, others prefer going to bank

by David F. Moore

Frances Wilson says someone may break in her Columbiana house and kill her. But they sure won't take her social security money, by George!.

Why? Because she takes advantage of Direct Deposit and her check automatically goes straight into her checking (or savings) account every month.

"I can't praise Direct Deposit enough," she proclaims. "I was one of the first people to sign up for it. It saves me money because I won't write a check for everything I see. But if I had the cash, I'd haul off and buy it!"

Mrs. Wilson isn't the only one who saves money by using Direct Deposit. Uncle Sam saves, too. By the bundles.

According to the Department of the Treasury, the 16 million individuals who used Direct Deposit last year saved the government $27 million in tax money. Instead of paying for checks, envelopes, mailing and processing, that money was pumped back into the various program agencies for future payments.

Furthermore, the government estimates that if all 31 million federal check recipients used Direct Deposit, it could have saved $65 million last year.

With this sort of incentive, and considering the financial plight of Social Security, the treasury department plans to make a strong push for Direct Deposit. Along with June checks, recipients will receive an insert encouraging them to participate in the program.

But Direct Deposit, for one reason or another, apparently isn't for everyone.

"I don't think I'd be interested in it," Columbianian Coy Hughes said. "I pay for things in cash, and besides it's all gone as soon as it comes in."

"I'd just as soon mine come to the post office," said Mrs. Luther Curlee. "I get several other checks at once and deposit them all at the same time."

"We just didn't want our check that way (Direct Deposit)," Nora Talton of Kingdom said. "We've always taken it straight to the bank and deposited it or done what we wanted to with it."

Edna Verchot told the Reporter, "I never thought too much about it. I need the exercise and it's a nice walk to the bank in Columbiana."

"But maybe I should think about using this Direct Deposit," Mrs. Verchot said when some of the benefits of the program were explained to her.

One of those benefits is a matter of safety, as Mrs. Wilson at-Cntinued on page 15

Former safecracker tells of conversion

A woman who faced life behind bars became a woman with a mission when she was and other states dropped their released from prison after serving charges against her. only four years.

Speaking to members of Shelby County's Christian Law Enforcement Fellowship Thursday evening, Mary Kay Mahaffey told of the miraculous things that happened to her after she accepted Chirst in prison.

After an unprecedented early parole, Mahaffey earned a degree in secondary education and psychology and went on to complete an MA in counseling.

The former inmate now works in prison ministries.

Before her marriage to an exconvict, Mahaffey told her audience that she had been a registered nurse.

life of crime, Mahaffey related that she became a safe cracker and her name was placed on the FBI's wanted list.

After being arrested, she was sentenced to 21 years in Alabama

Recounting some of the unusual things that happened after her conversion, Mahaffey said she was the first inmate ever allowed out of maximum security to be baptized.

And another first she mentioned, was her reclassification for parole three years early.

In 1980, she told the law enforcement group, she was given a full pardon including the restoration of all civil rights. The public is invited to attend the meetings of the Christian Law Enforcement Fellowship which are held the fourth Thursday of the month.

Youth and Law talk set at TMS

Thompson Middle School will host a special program billed as "Youth and the Law--A Family Affair." The program is set for 7 p.m., Tuesday, May 4, and is designed to aid all Shelby County parents in understanding relationships between juveniles and Eight 25-minute presentations, conducted by local professionals, are scheduled so that parents will be able to attend four of them.

Guest speakers and their topics are: State Trooper Billy Bradshaw--alcohol, youth and driving; attorney Tom Barber-juvenile law; outreach counselor Susan Johnston-the Shelby County Attention Home; Shelby Youth Services Director Brenda Lee-the parent's role in preventing and curing delinquents; probation officer John Miller-juvenile probation; District Court Judge Patti Smith-juvenile procedures; TMS civics teacher Judy Smitherman-shopliftting and your child; and DPS supervisor Rene Williams-neglected and abused children.

According to coordinator Phyllis Horrell, the program started out as an offshoot of Thompson's civic class, and was expanded so that parents from the entire county could attend.

Indian Valley Club

pays out treasury

When the Indian Valley Women's Club met for their last business meeting of the year, they decided to use their treasury for the good of Shelby County organizations.

Keeping in mind that federal cutbacks will affect many such organizations, the women felt they were doing their part by increasing contributions from the private sector.

The Shelby County Attention Home, which will lose the most in federal funds, was chosen by the women to receive the largest part of their treasury. A check for $315 was delivered to Attention Home Director Brenda Lee on Monday by club member Joan Simpson

The North Shelby Fire District received $75, Valley Elementary School and the Shelby County Humane Society each received $50, King's Ranch was given $25 and Riverchase Middle School received $20.

In addition, a senior from Indian Valley will be chosen by the principal of Pelham High School to receive $65 toward a college scholarship.

The contributions total $600.

'Fantasticks'

audition at UM

Auditions for "The Fantasticks," this summer's production at Brieffield Ironworks Park, will be on Saturday, May

The auditions will begin at 1 p.m. at LeBaron Recital Hall. University of Montevallo.

"The Fantasticks" will be produced by the UM Lyric. Theatre and Brierfield Ironworks Park three weekends in late July and early August. The outdoor drama, "Brighthope," presented in 1979 and 1981, will not be presented this summer.

Everyone auditioning will be required to sing two songs in contrasting styles.

Anyone who wants more information can phone Stan Nelson at 665-2521, ext. 389, or Marty Everse at 665-1856.

Countians named

to UAB honors

The dean's list for the winter term at the University of Alabama Birmingham includes many Shelby County residents. They are:

Ken W. Mobley of Calera; Cheryl M. Wilson of Vandiver; Karen L. Mitchell of Chelsea; Duane W. Connell, Judy L. Derbyshire and Sharon A. Whitman, all of Helena; Howard D. Davis, Laurie J. Davis, Debra K. Dial, Carrie L. Gill, June Hulsey, Linda R. Jefcoat, Carol B. Nelson and Louise H. Schrader, all of Pelham; William S. Elliott and Karyl L. Rasmussen, both of Vincent; and Lynne L. Hall of Columbiana.

Rain fails to dampen Heritage Day events

Rain discouraged the use of horse and buggy for transportation to Union Methodist Church Heritage Day services Sunday. But it did not dampen the spirit of the congregation.

"I believe our ladies look even prettier than usual," announced Sunday School superintendent Bob Crawford, looking out over the congregation dotted with iadies in long, bright cotton dresses and matching bonnets.

On the rostrum with Crawford sat pastor Lynn Terry in the dress of early men of the cloth. Other men of the congregation sported outfits representative of the church founding fathers.

The oldest available record of Union Church shows that it was a mission church of the Methodist Protestant Church in November, 1859. However, it is thought that the church was founded several years earlier, probably around 1830 just after the Methodist

Revival slated

Revival services will be held at The First Baptist Church of Alabaster May 2-7.

The visiting evangelist will be Henry Linginfelter.

Music will be directed by Richard E. Barrett.

A nursery will be provided at the nightly services which begin at 7:30 p.m.

Protestant Church was organized in Alabama.

Descendants of Hugh Shaw say he attended Union Church in the early 1800s. Records show that Hugh Shaw's son J.W. Shaw had a perfect record of attendance for 52 years.

J.W. and Amanda Sullivan Shaw were the parents of Lillie Holcombe who was a member of the church until her death in 1979 at the age of 85.

Children of Lillie and Charlie Holcombe are yet active in the church as are several other members of the Shaw family.

There are no known records of Union Church during the Civil War period. Records indicate that the 63rd Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church met at Union in December, 1891. The Annual Conference met there again in 1905 and 1918.

Although times past were fondly recalled during Sunday's celebration, all the talk was not of days gone by. While rain poured and skies darkened, the Sunshine Sunday school class, under the direction of teacher Wilma Holcombe Dulaney, talked about hope of brighter days as found in the book of Revelation.

Around 160 people crowded into the church sanctuary to hear pastor Terry's morning service. Lunch was shared in the fellowship hall before an afternoon singing closed out the Heritage Day festivities.

Dressed for church

Religious events

Rev. Herman Parker will be the evangelist at Antioch Baptist Church no. 2 during revival services sheduled for May 2-7 at 7:15 p.m. nightly.

Rodney Bouchett is music director. The church is located in the Pea Ridge Community and everyone is welcome. A nursery will be provided.

"Family Week" will be observed by Lesters Chapel United Methodist Church May 2-9.

Planned activities include special singing by the Charlie Smith Family at the worship services Sunday, May 2; a family picnic and cookout Wednesday evening and a Mother's Day program, Sunday May 9.

A highlight of the Mother's Day celebation will be a breakfast cooked at the church by male members.

All present members and families and friends are invited.

Valleydale Baptist Church on Valleydale Road will hold spring revival services May 2-7 at 7 p.m. nightly.

Rev. Wayne Watts will be the evangelist. Nursery facilities will be available at each service. A special invitation is extended to everyone to come and worship with the church in the revival.

The Nesbitt Family will be the guest singers at the homecoming all-day singing on May 2 at Calcis Baptist Church.

The church is lcoated on hwy

Fourmile Baptist Church of Wilsonville will observe its 158th anniversary on Saturday, May 1 beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Leonard Irwin, vice president in charge of planning for the home mission board in Atlanta will be the guest speaker.

Revival services will begin at 7:30 p.m. on May 2 at Oak Mountain Baptist Church and continue nightly through May 7. Rev. Harold McClendon will be the guest evangelist. The "Grim Reaper" will be shown at 7 p.m., Sunday, at the Central Free Will Baptist Church in Alabaster. The movie deals with the death of a son in a car race, and its effects on his family.

Pastor James Walden invites the public to attend.

The Mount Zion Baptist Church will celebrate homecoming Sunday with a special singing and a covered dish dinner.

The regular service will be held from 10 to noon, followed by dinner in the fellowship hall. The Echoes Gospel from Childersburg will lead the singing from 1-4 p.m.

The public is invited and the church is located on Old Highway 280 in Westover.

MISS SHEILA E. THRASHER ...to wed Mark R. Wortham

Miss Corbett to wed in Montevallo June 5th

Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Corbett of Montevallo have announced the engagement of their daughter, Janice Leigh Corbett, to Joey Lane Lovelady.

Lovelady is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Lovelady and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pickett and the late Mr. and Mrs. John F. Lovelady, all of Montevallo.

Miss Corbett is the granddaughter of Mrs. Wilson A. Corbett and the late Mr. Corbett and Mrs. Leon O. Holliman and the late Mr. Holliman, all of Fayette.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Montevallo High School and the University of Montevallo. She teaches at Vincent Elemen-

Letson-Horne vows recited

Kimra Letson and Ronny Horne were married by Rev. Roland Foster at the New Bethesda Baptist Church on Saturday, April 10. A reception followed.

Sponsors of a recent Bike-A-Thon presented a fist full of checks totaling $1,161.20 to the Shelby County Cancer Crusade Monday. Eightynine riders pedaled 20 miles each during the Chi Omega-Supreme Beverage sponsored Bike-A-Thon last month. At the presentation were (from left) Stewart Young, special events coordinator for the beverage company, which donated $950 for the event, crusade chairman Dr. Norma Rogers, Chi Omega president Celeste Dumas, and the UM sorority's social chairman Vivien Robertson.

Friend named chairman of United Way

Edward M. Friend, Jr., has been named 1982 United Way Campaign chairman for Shelby, Jefferson and Walker Counties.

Regarding the upcoming campaign, Mr. Friend said, "I see this year's campaign as a particularly challenging one. With increased cutbacks in human care services by government, and with that same government requesting major increases by the private sector to pick up a portion of these cutbacks, and the state of our local economy, we are truly impaled upon the horns of a dilemma. Clearly we must do more with less. I ask the entire community to join with me in the acceptance of this challenge."

tests after recently having her billfold snatched. Had Direct Deposit not put her money in the bank, the thief would have made away with much more than $3, she said.

"Can't nobody steal it," agreed Agnes Andrews, who lives near Mrs. Wilson, "It's much safer to have it go straight to the bank. And the people are real nice about it at the bank."

Besides, she laughs, "Direct Deposit is the lazy way out!"

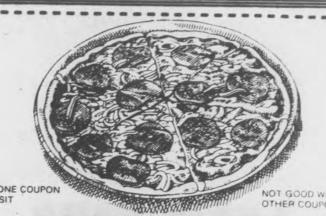

The treasury reports that 1.7 million claims were filed last year for lost, stolen and misplaced federal checks. Direct Deposit would have eliminated those losses, it claims.

As Mrs. Wilson knows from experience, handicapped people aren't always able to get to the bank when their checks come to their home. Direct Deposit is also a handy way to bypass long lines that seem to form at banks around the first of the month.

Tony Holmes, manager of Shelby Bank in Columbiana, says that all the customers he has

County teams head for playoff berths

by Richard Crosby

Several baseball teams from the county are eyeing the state playoff berths that are to be filled this

Thompson, Shelby County, Chelsea, and Vincent are all in the running. The Area Tournaments got started this past Tuesday.

In last week's action, Vincent won the sub-area title with a win over Winterboro 1-0. Kevin McKenzie pitched for the win which took eleven innings to decide. Rocky Burrell drove in the win-

Vincent meets Chelsea this Friday in the first game of the area race.

Thompson whipped Montevallo last Tuesday 3-0 with the pitching of Ronnie Rasp. He struck out 16 batters and gave up only two hits in the

On Thursday, Andy Partridge won on the mound when the Thompson Warriors defeated Pelham 5-1. On Friday Thompson completed an earlier postponed game against Shelby County.

The Wildcats won that one 12 to 4, but Thompson's Richard Brasher got his second homer of the

The big win, and it was the one that put the Warriors back in the area race, was against Pell City on Saturday. Thompson was at bat in the top of the seventh inning with two out and two men on when Rod McDade hit a line-drive to deep centerfield. That hit scored two runs and put the Warriors on top 8 to 7.

Thompson holds a season record of 10-5. Shelby County also got a win over Pell City last week. The Wildcats drilled Pell City 10-0 and pitcher Bobby Greenawalt threw a no-hitter. Ronald Benton hit the only homerun of the game.

The Wildcats have a record of 9-2 and are seeded tops in the area.

Pelham won its first game of the year last week, and that was also over Pell City. The Panthers won with the pitching of Steve Holler and 10 hits with everyone on the team getting one.

With a record of 1-7, Pelham tangles with McAdory this Thursday.

Shelby Academy won its second ball game of the year last week with a win over Minor Christian. The win came in the second meeting of the day between the two schools.

The Raiders lost the first one 6-2, but won in the nightcap 8-5. Earlier in the week, Coosa Valley defeated the Raiders 5-4 in eight innings.

Keith Knowles continues to be the hot batter for the team which plays its last game of the season this Friday afternoon against Bessemer.

Calera lost its only game last week. The Eagles fell to Jemison 6-5 in nine innings. Barry Turnbloom was the losing pitcher.

The Eagles hope to get things going this week with games against Indian Springs, Briarwood, and Billingsley. Calera posts a 2-6 record for the Chelsea has a 6-3 record, but plans to improve it this week before facing a showdown with Vincent for the area title.

Last week the Hornets whipped Indian Springs

14 to 4 in five innings. Paul Kendrick took the pitching win, and along with Scott Moore and Larry Cork, went 2-3 at bat.

This week Chelsea played Jemison Tuesday, faces Indian Springs Thursday and then hosts Vincent Friday in the first game of the area tourney.

Vincent and Chelsea are the only teams in the area tournament which will be decided Saturday. A 'Best of Three' elimination tourney is set, with the second game to be played in Vincent Saturday. If needed, a third game will follow on that same

Winners of the area races will advance to the first round of the state playoffs which commence

Several teams from the county also have regular season games scheduled after these playoff berths

In the future is the county baseball tournament which will be held at the University of Montevallo's Johnson Field starting May 17.

Falcons reach critical stage to repeat as district champs

Can the University of Montevallo Falcons mount a lateseason drive that will possibly carry them into the NAIA District 27 Baseball Playoffs and a successful defense of their district crown?

"It may be too little, too late," admitted UM coach Bob Riesener after his team went to Pensacola April 24 and swept the University of West Florida 4-1 and 11-7, "but we're going to give it our best shot."

The twin wins snapped a Montevallo losing streak that had reached six on April 22 with a 3-1 loss at home to Auburn University and thrust the Falcons back into the thick of the district playoff

The wins also gave the Southern States Conference crown to Birmingham-Southern College, which swept Huntingdon College on April 24 and made BSC the first team to qualify for the district playoffs

The chase is now in full swing for the remaining three berths to be determined and the Falcons' fate rests in their own hands, for the most part, with a rather favorable schedule the rest of the Remaining home contests for the Falcons, all twinbills, include Livingston University at home on April 27 at 6 p.m.; West Florida at home on May 1 at 5 p.m.; Livingston there on May 2 at 1 p.m.; and Huntingdon at home on May 7 at 5 p.m. The Falcons also have two road games against nondistrict Division I opponents, at the University of Alabama in Birmingham and Auburn.

Montevallo is now 27-14 overall, ranked No. 11 in the NAIA, has a 2-6 conference mark and is 26-11 in the district.

UM adds another to roundball team

Montevallo added another scholarship winner to the basketball team for next season. Anthony Godwin, from Bessemer, signed with the Falcons last week to bring the number of signees to five for Coach Bill Elder's squad.

Godwin played at Holy Family High School in Birmingham, and has spent the past two years at Snead State Junior College. There he received honorable mention all AJCAA.

"Anthony is a very fine athlete who moves well for a 6'8" player," noted UM Head Coach Dr. Bill Flder. "He jumps and shoots well and is a good shot blocker."

Vincent girls win two track titles

by Richard Crosby

Vincent's exploits in girl's track continued last week. The team won first place in the Homewood Invitational and won the Briarwood Relays.

In Homewood, Vincent gathered 56 points. Springville placed second and Jess Lanier third.

In that meet, Wanda McCrimon won both the long jump and high jump. Sebrina Kidd won the discus throw. The 440 relay team, composed of McCrimon, Ellen Jordan, Angela Riggins and Loretta Perkins also took first place honors.

At the Briarwood Relay, Vincent won the shot put, high jump, discus, 110 yard relay and 440 relay.

Making up those winning teams were: Sebrina Kidd and Polly Datcher - shot put; Loretta Perkins and Wanda McCrimon high jump; Kidd and Anne Stone - discus; Teresa Peterson, Mc-Crimon, Perkins and Ellen Jordan - 110 relay; Peterson, Mc-Crimon, Perkins and Sharon Kelley - 440 relay.

Thompson won second place in the Briarwood meet. The Warrior girls won two events - long jump and 880 relay. Brairwood, which took third in the meet, won only the mile relay.

Vincent heads to Selma this Friday for the sectional track meet. This past Tuesday the team ran in the county meet which was held at Pelham.

Talladega track ready for 500 miler

"Leading a race at Talladega is a lot like free-falling after you jump out of an airplane. It is an exhilarating feeling," stated 1980 Winston Cup Champion Dale Earnhardt, "Of course, not winning is a lot like not having your chute open; it ruins your whole day."

Earnhardt is NASCAR's No. 1 authority on leading races so far this season, but he has been around at the finish only once. He couldn't help looking ahead a bit to the May 2 Winston 500, however.

"Talladega is my kind of track," noted the hard-charging Earnhardt, "I like to go to the front and stay ther e. I'm looking forward to the Winston 500."

Earnhardt and the rest of the Winston Cup stars will take the green flag at 1 p.m. on Sunday, May 2, in the 13th running of the Winston 500, that carries a purse of $397,000.

On Saturday, May 1, the AR-CA Late Model Stock Cars will run the Talladega 200, also slated for a 1 p.m. start.

Knife selection can be confusing

by Earl Franklin Kennamer

Anglers usually don't take guns along on fishing trips. Nimrods won't be saddled with fishing gear. Campers aren't necessarily interested in either guns or tackle.

However, there is one item all three keep handy and use regular-

A knife.

When you select a knife or knives, always buy the best you can afford.

Until the past 25 or 30 years, the standard knife was a simple pocketknife with two blades, or possibly a single bladed Barlow,

In the past generation we have seen an almost unprecedented improvement in knives for outdoorsmen. Not only have we seen new developments in design. There has been an updating in quality and most of all, an explosion of model types, sizes, and numbers of manufacturers.

The maker of handmade knives has become popular for his individual patterns, types of steel, etc.

Today, knives are specialty instruments. There is the trapper's model by Queen, Case Ka-Bar and others. There are knives manufactured just for fishermen. Case makes a special all metal knife for fly fishermen, with scissors, screwdriver, pen blade, hook disgorger and hook file.

The outdoorsman has various types to choose from. The fixed blade sheath knife was once the choice of the discriminating

The sheath knife may have become popular from the past century's publicity about the original knife invented by Co. James Bowie of Alamo fame.

There's nothing wrong with a sheath knife except it's a bit awkward to carry comfortably in its scabbard on your trouser belt.

The newest and probably most favorable development in design is the lock blade. This is a knife which comes in an assortment of sizes from a pen blade you can hide in the palm of your hand to the monster with a blade that could double in brass as a sword.

However, the popular standby is still the pocket knife, usually with two blades. The tendency in design now seems to lean towards diversification -- a knife with multi elements.

Falcon Club has full schedule of activities for this Saturday

A busy weekend has been plan- members of the UM basketball, ned for 'Falcon Club' members and all prospective members at the University of Montevallo for Friday and Saturday, April 30-May 1.

The first event of the weekend will be the Men's Athletics Awards Banquet on Friday at 6:30 p.m. in the Main Dorm Dining Room. Jack Powell, former coach at Livingston University and a key figure in the old Alabama Collegiate Conference. will be the guest speaker, and baseball and golf teams and their 1981-82 accomplishments will be recognized.

Saturday begins at 9 a.m. with an 18-hole golf tournament at the UM golf course. At 2 p.m., the Falcon Club Board of Advisors will meet with Club supervisor Bob Riesener and the University's athletic directors. At 3 p.m. a picnic lunch will be served at the College Lakehouse.

Capping off the weekend's activities will be a doubleheader between the University of West Florida and the 11th-ranked Falcons at 5 p.m. at Kermit Johnson Field.

Overnight accommodations in Ramsey Lodge on campus may be arranged by contacting Kay Watts at Ramsey Lodge.

For information on the Falcon Club, the Awards Banquet, and the weekend's activities, contact the athletic department at the University of Montevallo at 665-2521, ext. 410.

Volleyball players Deboran two-time winner of the awards.

Sims, a junior from Birmingham, won the Scholar-Athlete Award presented by the Franklin Life Insurance Company. The sterling setter-hitter had a grade point average this year of 2.29.

Milliner and Sims were instrumental in another superb year for the Lady Falcon netters. Both made the All-State and All-Region Teams, while another UM player, sophomore setter Elizabeth Cooley of Pelham, also won All-State honors.

Beverly Warren, volleyball coach and women's athletic director, presented first letters to freshmen Corliss Cooper, Amy Dishroon, Kim Phelps, Paula Seibert and Blanche Watkins.

Receiving second letters were Cooley, Dianne Green and Janes Ingram.

Third letters went to Milliner and Sims.

Fourth letters went to senior Vanessa Felder of Birmingham.

Basketball coach Becky Glass presented first letters to freshmen Cooper, Mary Beth Blankenship, Amy Gartman, Tammy Johnson, Lori Oldham, Diana Olszewski, sophomore Celeste Misko and junior Teresa Hudson.

Second letters went to sophomore Ingram and senior Roberta Rass.

Help is available 24 hours a day

by Fred Guarino

A woman wakes up and finds herself so depressed that she feels life is a lost cause.

Her will to live is almost gone; she is finding that she just can't cope any more.

There is someone who can help, if she can just manage a telephone call to 668-1313.

That number is the emergency service line of the Chilton-Shelby Mental Health Center which operates 24 hours a day with qualified personnel answering the phone.

The staff which handles the calls all have degrees in psychology, psychiatric social work or counseling.

The type of calls they generally receive, concern anxiety or depression, behavioral problems, psychosis, substance abuse, family problems, physical abuse and

Center Director Jerry Jackson talked with the Reporter recently to illustrate how these calls are

He pointed out, however, that any comments he made would concern hypothetical situations.

For anxiety and depression, Jackson said, "Every case is different, depending on the individual and its seriousness. But, a lot of times this can be handled over the phone."

Jackson stated that the general procedure is to discuss the problem with the individual, assess its seriousness and go from there.

He said, "If we can deal with them we do. If we are not able to, I would think we would send someone out to meet them somewhere."

He commented that telephoned advice is usally given but if the situation warrants, an appointment is made for the person to come to the mental health center.

He added, "....We may suggest they go to the nearest hospital emergency room."

Jackson said of depression, "It normally took the individual several weeks, months or years to reach a state in which they would call us. It is not likely we can talk them out of it."

He said, "We give them enough counseling to get them through the night until they can get to a hospital for medication to control their depression or get involved with some intensive treatment."

About behavior problems 'Some people call us and say, 'My uncle visiting from Florida has all of a sudden become ill and is breaking the furniture."

"In a situation like that we recommend that the person making the call phone the police. We would then contact the police and find out what happened."

The center cooperates with the sheriff's office and police in every Shelby County city to evaluate jailed people who are suspected of mental problems.

Jackson also reported that the center works closely with the probate court on commitments.

He emphasized that the mental health center has no legal power in these matters.

He commented, "People don't understand our role. We can't just pick anyone up because that is a legitimate police function.

"The center can only make recommendations to the family and consult with the police."

For severe mental illness, Jackson said that if a person has insurance and is willing to go, "We can refer them to a hospital and make arrangements."

"If a person doesn't have money but is a veteran, we can get him into the Veterans Hospital in Tuscaloosa."

"If a person doesn't have money or insurance and is not a veteran, we can get them into a local hospital as an indigent. We've had good luck in this."

In the event that a person will not go to a hospital on his own, Jackson stated, "He must be picked up by police and by court action transferred to a hospital."

"Commitment is a legal decision. We would evaluate the patient and give the family step by step instructions."

For substance abuse, family

Jackson said that police can be called or referrals made for hospital care.

In cases where suicide is a possibility, Jackson said, "We would do everything possible to save life."

"In some cases, people are trusting and open. They will tell you their name, where they live and phone number."

He stated that many times such calls are a cry for help and if the caller can be given something to problems, or physical abuse calls, look forward to, it is a tremendous help.

In those cases, "I might say, 'I want you to go in the morning to such and such an office and meet a certain person." Jackson said if he were convinced that a person would commit suicide, he would maintain contact and get someone else to call police. If contact was broken, Jackson said, "I would try to re-establish contact or get someone on the

If all communication were lost, "I would call the police and tell them I suspect something is going happen," he said.

He emphasized, however, that neither he nor his staff would ever just give up.

Electric Power Research Institute day, and has capabilities for up the end of the decade. has awarded $8.5 million to Southern Company Services for the operation of its synthetic fuel plant in Wilsonville.

The contract runs from April 1, 1982 to January 31, 1983, and covers research and develoment of a process for converting coal to liquid fuel. The contract was announced March 31 by Alabama Senator Jeremiah Den-

"The Wilsonville facility is one of the best synthetic plants in the country and I am extremely proud it is in Alabama," Denton said. "It is fortunate that the department of energy is releasing such substantial funds for this project."

In operation as a Solvent Refined Coal (SRC) pilot plant since 1974, the Wilsonville facility was instrumental in the development of a solid, clean burning, synthetic fuel from raw coal for use in the the production of electricity.

In August of 1981, the plant added advanced coal liquefaction capabilities which further process SRC-1 into liquid fuels. According to Southern Company research engineer Tom Johnson, the process basically involves reheating the SRC to a molten stage and adding hydrogen to it to drive out mineral residues.

The plant produces some

The Department of Energy and dozen barrels of liquid fuel per said, should be available before to 17 barrels per day. Johnson said the fuel is used for analysis purposes, and as such he said the company's end product is knowledge as opposed to a commodity.

"The thrust of our work is two-fold," Johnson said. "Our near-term goal is to develop utility fuels for use in producing electricity. In the future we hope to produce synthetic crude oil for transportation uses."

Scouts raise dough with fish

When Boy Scout Troop 550 decided to raise some money, they came up with the idea of a fish fry.

The idea paid them big dividends last Saturday when 200 people flocked to the grounds of Camp Branch United Methodist Church and ate enough fish to turn $650 into the troop's of-

But this story has an unusual twist. The fish were caught and frozen through the winter by Scoutmaster Steve Bingham, who ran traps in the Coosa River. All in all, he caught 125 pounds of fish which he donated to the troop for the fund raising event.

For their part in the project the boys in the troop made a fence of poles which they lashed together with rope on the church grounds, set up the tables waited on tables and carried out many other tasks.

The troop will use the proceeds to buy camping equipment and defray expenses of their weeklong camp-out at the scout camp near Anniston and at a weekend in May at Gulf Shores.

Heflin aims bill at lowering home cost

U.S. Senator Howell Heflin (D-Ala) says a resurgence in the housing industry would cause a ripple effect throughout the nation's economy that could stimulate a general economic recovery. He made the point at a statewide forest industry meeting last week.

"It is absolutely essential to any short-term, as well as longterm improvement in our economy, that the housing industry be restored to a base of prosperity as soon as possible," Heflin said.

"Sky-high interest rates growing out of sky-high budget deficits are literally robbing our nation of its economic well-being and are bringing the housing industry in particular to its knees," he said.

Heflin told the forestry group that he has joined Indiana Senator Richard Lugar in sponsoring a bill in the Senate that will make homeownership more affordable and increase employment in the housing industry by stimulating home construction.

Heflin termed the bill a "one-time stimulus" to the housing industry that would enable a half million Americans to purchase homes at reduced interest

Heflin explained that the Lugar-Heflin housing bill would subsidize interest rates by four percent or the difference between the market rate and 11 percent. whichever is less.

"The revenue raised from the bill would exceed the cost of the program and the government will recapture its full investment upon resale or refinancing of the home," Heflin said. "The housing program would be both selfsupporting and self-liquidating."

"There is no room for partisan political maneuvering in this crucial undertaking," warned Heflin, a Democrat.

Microcomputers are changing lives every day

PART III by David F. Moore

George Jetson's computer tosses him out of bed in the morning, serves him coffee and brushes his teeth. The computer picks his wife's wardrobe and makes dinner with no more trou-· ble than choosing a button to

The Jetsons are only futuristic cartoon characters on TV, but is their button-pushing world truly that far-fetched? Will we be that closely tied to the whir of computers in the future?

"Why not?" says Ken Robinson, manager of the county government's computer data center. "Computers are just raking the surface now. I can't even imagine what it'll be like in the future."

Indeed, computers have already been used to determine the optimum moisture content for potatoes so farmers can develop breeds that produce lower calorie potato chips that take less engery to cook. And a national fashion magazine offers a computerized wardrobe service that isn't but a step behind Mrs.

Music, crafts fill weekend at Brierfield

In a hollow, along a spring fed branch, bluegrass music will fill the air during the fifth annual Brierfield Bluegrass Celebration and Arts and crafts Exhibition on April 30 and May 1 at the Brierfield Ironworks Park.

Featured performers include the Red Clay Ramblers, Three on a String, Touchstone with Triona Ni Dhomhnaill from Ireland, CiderMill, Reunion, Bluegrass

Only, High Cotton Cloggers and

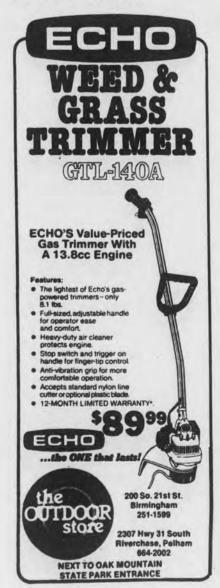

In addition to bluegrass, sacred harp and Christian harmony singers will perform. The Echota Cherokee Tribal Dancers will be on hand. The Scottish Heritage Pipes and Drums will march and play, and Alabama artists and craftspeople will display their wares. There will also be a turkey calling contest Saturday after-Camper hook-ups, primitive camping, concessions, and modern restrooms with showers are available at the Park.

Admission is $5 for Friday night (7 p.m.-till); $2 for Saturday (9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.) and $6 for Saturday night (7 p.m.-till). A weekend ticket is $10.

The Brierfield Ironworks Park is located 35 miles south of Birmingham just off Alabama highway 25 between Montevallo and Centreville. Listed on the National Register of Historic Places, the Brieffield Ironworks were constructed during the Civil

But today, the center-stage of the computer market is, by all counts, the microcomputer. This is the machine that is finding its way more and more into small businesses, the machine that market analysts are predicting will someday be in your home.

Down to about the size of a medium TV set with a typerwriter keyboard--and still shrinking-the computer's bulk has been dramatically reduced since the days of the 18,000 tube dinosaurs of the '50's. Perhaps even more dramatic is that today, for $3500, you can get a more powerful computer than you could 20 years ago for $500,000.

Furthermore, micro-computers have been simplified from the complicated days of "machine language," making them more down-to-earth for everyday of-

The first computers in Shelby County were understandably used by large corporations, the hospital and local government. The microcomputer is changing this. Doctors, lawyers, insurance agents, grocers and other businesses are turning more and more to the micro-computer to handle billings and accounts, case records and inventories.

A survey taken last fall by business and office occupation teachers at Shelby County Area Vocational School revealed that 17 of 31 companies responding to the questionaire used microcomputers or computerized word processors in their business. Another trend the survey showed was that most of these businesses did not have personnel hired solely for computer work, but that several people in the office made use of the machine.

"Businesses are going to microcomputers to process their paperwork," says office occupations teacher Darlene Rasco. "To keep our students up with this, we felt we had to go to on-hands computer training."

The developing trend, she explains, is that businesses will expect clerical workers to be as well versed in key-punch/data entry skills as they are in typing.

Although many businesses recognize the potential of microcomputers, apparently the time is not quite ripe for the "electronic brain" to take its place next to enable it to pick up teletype the office typewriter. But that's just fine with Roy Blankenship.

Blankenship makes his living as a free-lance computer consultant, contracting jobs from small businesses, which he does on his computer at home in the Kingdom community.

He has found that some businesses buy computers, then don't know exactly what to do with them, or don't know how to fully utilize them. Others may have only limited needs that don't justify a full time computer. Still others are leary of the technology involved.

"Most everybody would rather you do it for them, and not worry about the machine," Blankenship explains, taking a few minutes off an apparently busy schedule.

The majority of the work he carries home is in the form of accounts receivable, billings, and payrolls. As a consultant to local businesses who have computers but aren't getting exactly what they want from them, he spends considerable time on the road changing programs to meet specific needs.

Whether a computer is sought for business purposes or home use, computer owner Jimmy Ishee says the potential buyer should have a goal in mind before he or she goes shopping. Many people, he says, purchase computers and don't truly need them.

Ishee, who works with the satellite receiving system and computerized weather charts at WBRC in Birmingham, recently purchased a color computer for his homein Columbiana. As an amatuer radio operator, Ishee uses his home system to track communications sattelites. When he gets the hang of the machine, he wants to do his banking on it, get it to transmit Morse code, use it to design radio towers, and build equipment that would signals on the air.

The key to what a given computer can do lies in the software, or the programs available to a particular system. With the market eyeing home uses, computers programs are currently available for income tax work, budgeting, inventories for insurance purposes, teaching aids for children, and games. Furthermore, telephone hookup services to major computer centers throughout the country can bring up to the minute stock reports or the latest news from UPI, AP or the New York Times into your livingroom. Even the Bible has been made available for computer-viewing. But perhaps the most astounding facet of the computer revolution is that it's still in its infancy. As Ishees puts it, "There's no holding it back."

"The thing now is to educate people in computers," Ishee says. "You wouldn't take a person right off the pulpwood truck and put him on a computer."

"The future is pretty much open," claims Judson McClendon, a computer consultant for the county, "Computers can im pact our livestyles in the next 20 to 30 years, as much as electricity has up to now. People will be programming as early as they're learning to speak."

McClendon suggests that we don't look for computers and robots with consciousness, because after all, they are only machines. But don't be surprised if someday you live with a computer that you can talk with, that does all your banking, handles your mail and automatically shops for your groceries.

Perhaps then, the ultimate computer question is not whether technology will be ready for us but will we be ready to: technology?

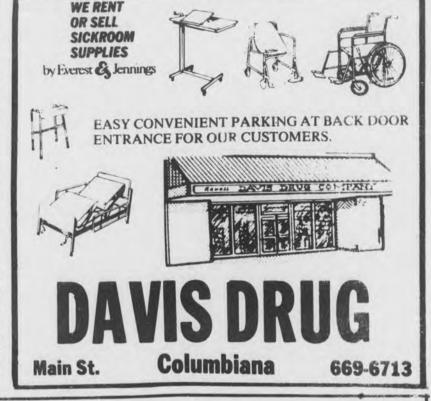

If nothing else, McClendon points out the pre-tech engrossed in beating the odds on a computerized video game. Can you imagine, he asks, how good a fighter pilot that kid will be when he grows up?

Siluria Baptists plan to begin revival May 2

Siluria Baptist Church plans a revival for May 2-5. Services will be daily at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. with a nursery provided in all the services.

Evangelist Ralph Brannon will be the preacher for these services. He has served as a pastor for 17 years and a full time evangelist for six years.

He will present a mini-concert each night from 6:30 - 6:50.

Jeff Andrews, minister of music, will lead the music program for the revival and will be presenting special music. Nancy Allen will serve as organist and Nanci Barker as pianist.

Roy Carlton Griggs is the pastor of the church.

Fire district to meet in Almont

Rescue and Medical District will hold a meeting on Thursday, May 6 at 7 p.m. at the Pilgrim

Rest Baptīst Church in Almont. The meeting is important to all

The Community West Fire members because the fire rating will be discussed along with what the district means to each member, according to A.L. Jones, chairman of the board of trustees of the district.

TIP OF THE WEEK

When loading your dishwasher, be sure that stainless steel and silver do not touch each other. Pitting may occur.

Applying liquid fertilizer and herbicide in one trip can give you from 3 to 8 extra bushels per acre, depending on the crop. Ask us about it. And order Thermogas/Hopcaid Liquid Fertilizer now. We'll be ready when you are!

IC grows competitive; s'ground to make up'

by David F. Moore

Shelby Medical Center serves 47% of the area residents who go to hospitals. Over the next five years, however, the hospital wants to capture 65% of the area's patient market.

The accounting and planning firm of Ernst and Whinney, in conjunction with SMC officials, spent nearly a year preparing a detailed, 200-page plan to capture this market, and to keep SMC viable in the competitive world of health care services.

As guests of Ernst and Whinney, SMC's board of directors, hospital officials and members of the press were shown the crux of the plan Thursday night at a private dinner club in Birmingham.

Ernst and Whinney planner Carl Sather told the crowd that one key to increasing the use of SMC, lies in upgrading the hospital's community image.

A survey last fall showed that many people view SMC as a small county hospital, Sather said. However, he pointed out that a second survey of many of the same people made since January, showed that perception of the hospital is improving.

"The future looks bright for Shelby Medical Center," Sather said. "But we still have ground to make up."

Dr. Harry Phillips said another

Alabaster Councilman Willie Arrington is serving as jury foreman.

Others on the panel are: Dixie Snowden, Montevallo; Debra Harkins, Calera; Julius Davis, Calera; Phyllis Tolleson, Calera; David Coleman, Columbiana; Brona Pitts, Montevallo.

Gary Jones, Wilsonville; meeting this week to consider Louann Albani, Pelham; Jane evidence in more than 200 cases. Adams, Vandiver; Sylvia Putman, Alabaster; Durene Herron, Montevallo.

key to SMC's future lies in the recruitment of primary care doc-

"The strength of the hospital is from its primary care physicians. Get those and the specialists will follow," Phillips said. "But we need to move fast because people in Birmingham (at competing hospitals) are hot on our necks."

It was pointed out that more than 300 patients per year are referred to other hospitals for open heart surgery and angiography, a process for detecting clogged arteries.

Sather recommended as a top priority that SMC obtain an angiograph/cardiac catheterization unit and hire a fulltime cardiologist. He also recommended a wellness center, a health education and exercise facility, and training and equipment for emergency medical groups in the county.

Planer Travis Kirkpatrick said that if you don't have money, you can't compete with other hospitals. He encouraged the group, saying, "Shelby Medical Center is in a good, sound fiscal position. But the key decisions you make today, will affect where you are 15 or 20 years down the road."

According to Kirkpatrick and hospital financial director Gene Taylor, SMC grossed $25 million in revenues last year, gets a 20% return on its equity, and shows a 5% profit.

To keep SMC competitive and in the black, Norman Price, hospital director of corporate development, outlined a basic problem solving plan that included developing priorities, specifying courses of action, and setting timetables.

"But a plan is of little good if you don't take any action," he

Hospital information director Sue Ann Henderson said SMC is trying to bring its image up to its level of service. Six radio advertisements are currently being aired and tv spots will follow in July, she said.

Publications and promotions, such as the free health screening service which reached 1,000 people, are also being used, Henderson said.

During Sather's presentation, Alabaster, Montevallo and north Shelby were singled out as key potential patient areas that need to be better tapped. Sather said 53% of Alabaster, 46% of Montevallo and 5% of Riverchase residents now use SMC.

Railroad Club picks up steam in Calera

The newly formed Calera-Shelby Railroad Club gets underway with public information activities this week.

The organization, which hopes to establish a major tourist attraction around a railroad museum and historic line, will hold a box luncheon for community leaders on Saturday.

According to Calera Mayor Carl Prichard, the luncheon, to be held at the Calera Civitan Building, will inform community leaders of the importance of the club to Chilton and Shelby Counties.

Voters approve fire district

Voters turned out Saturday to approve the creation of a Cahaba Valley fire district by a solid 11 to one margin.

The official results, released Monday afternoon by the probate judge's office, showed 88 votes in favor of the fire district, and eight votes against it.

The legal name of the public corporation is the Cahaba Valley Fire and Emergency Medical

A poll worker at the Cahaba Valley fire station, where the voting took place, told the Reporter late Saturday morning that the issue was drawing a heavier area turnout than the last presidential election. Vergie Sheets said 43 residents had voted on the issue by 11:30 a.m.

Voting was limited to residents inside the proposed 25 square mile district, which is generally bordered by U.S. 280, the Jefferson County line, and the ridge of Oak Mountain. An estimated 160 families live there, but county and fire district officals have no exact population figures for the Board trustee Walter Cornelius said the new district hopes to build a fire department the people will be proud of, "but we have a job ahead of us. No doubt." Fire Chief Grady Gulledge said that once revenues start coming in, the department's top priorities are to buy a drop tank and pumper truck. Neither Gulledge nor Cornelius have any estimate on how much revenue the district will receive, however.

Opposition to the new district has been voiced by North Shelby Fire District treasurer Jack van Pelt. (An article in last week's paper incorrectly identified van Pelt as chairman of the NSCFD.) Van Pelt, acting on his own, had pamphlets distributed in Cahaba Valley which urged coverage from NSCFD.

"I was surprised we had opposition," Cornelius said. "But we needed fire protection in here, and that's why I voted for the district."

"I'm just thankful it passed," he continued. "The men (in Cahaba Valley Volunteer Fire Department) have been very successful in the fires they've undertaken."

The new fire and emergency medical district will be built around the nucleus of the Cahaba volunteer department. Under Chief Gulledge, the department currently has a dozen active volunteers, a certified first level EMT, one serviceable pumper truck and a woods truck.

Trustees for the new district are Earl Bailey, J.H. Bailey, Braxton Taylor, Gulledge and Cornelius.

Poll workers for the election were Sheets, Mildred Wallace, Paula Wills and Beverly Gardner. Probate Judge Tommy Snowden said the new district will be responsible for paying for the election. The cost, he said, would probably be "less than $2,000."

The election form listed five points for voter consideration. According to probate office chief clerk Clara Smith, the official results on the other four points were: 85-8 for creation of an emergency medical district; 88-10 for creation of a fire and emergency district; 71-11 in favor of the service charges listed on the voting form; and 73-11 in favor of the trustees.

Since Shelby County's deputies money for deputies in the are paid on the trooper pay scale, they will also get the raise.

The news came as a surprise to county commissioners who had been told the raise would not include state troopers. The commissioners have complained for years that state-mandated raises are unfair when the county is forced to pay them whether it has the funds or not. In recent years the tight county budgets have forced delay of several projects in order to meet the sheriff's

Last October 1, when the county budget had been approved, the state gave a last minute raise to troopers, and this in turn threw the county operating budget out of line by well over $100,000. No raises were given to any other state employees at the time, and Shelby County was unable to grant raises to any other county employees.

The new round of raises will give annual salaries of $35,036 each to Chief Deputy James Jones and Chief Investigator Reed Smith.

The sheriff's salary, under provisions of a new bill just passed by the legislature would go to $40,291.44. The new bill provides that the sheriff should get 15 percent more than his chief deputy.

County Commissioner Harold Davenport said, when the Reporter called him about the raise, "Good Heavens, it's going to break the county up, if we don't get out from under the state trooper pay scale. I'll do everything I can to get the principle changed."

Commissioner Don Murphy said, "We couldn't afford to give the last raise. I don't see how we can afford this one. This is certainly going to hurt the county treasury - that and the current use bill, which means we won't take in as much money as we thought."

It would require an act of the legislature to remove the county deputies from the trooper pay scale. Only two other counties in the state are on the scale.

Former Governor George C. Wallace indicated to the Reporter that he is definitely a candidate for governor. In a telephone call to Reporter editor Marcia M. Sears on Monday afternoon, Wallace said his health is good. "I was governor in a wheelchair for seven years, and there's no reason I can't do it again. My dcotor even told me it would be good for me."

Wallace spoke of some of his accomplishments as governor. "I was always good to Shelby County," he added.

Wallace will be in the county on May 14 speaking at a meeting at Hargis Retreat and then speaking at Shelby County High School for the Honors Day program.

The Republican Party of Shelby County is accepting 'declaration of candidacy' forms from prospective candidates for the September 7 primary election.

Chairman David Bradley says he is encouraged and impressed by the number of candidates that have expressed interest in running on the Republican ticket.

But he notes there are still a lot of unanswered questions that face potential candidates.

For one thing, he points out that the redistricting plan which may change district boundaries of the Alabama Senate and House of Representatives is still under review by the Justice Department.

Candidates may qualify for the positions, but they cannot be certain what effect the final redistricting plan will have.

Districts for Shelby County Commission membership face a possible change if the legislature acts on a commission request to equalize the population of the Bradley also says there seems to be a growing grassroots movement to allow the next elected Board of Education to select the superintendent. Under present law, the superintendent is elected directly by the people. He says the Republican Party has not taken an official position on whether to back a change in the law or not.

The next meeting of the Republican executive committee will be May 13, 7:30 at Pelham City Hall.

revises semester

by Bert Seaman

When August 23 rolls around this year, Shelby County students will be at their desks, ready to begin a new school year.

And when school lets out for the Christmas holidays on Dec. 17, students will have completed the first semester.

The earlier than usual ending of the semester was the most noticeable change on the 1982-83 school calendar that was handed out at last Tuesday's board of education meeting.

But Superintendent of Education Charles Knowles assured those present that the period had the required number of days.

In the past, completion of semester work and tests have been given in January.

Holidays during the first semester will be on Labor Day, Sept. 6, Veterans' Day, Nov. 11

......

by Bob Ingram

and Thanksgiving, Nov. 25-26.

The second semester will begin Jan. 4, with spring holidays scheduled for March 14-18.

Classes will conclude for the summer on May 26.

The days set aside for professional development are: August 19, 20, Oct. 18, Jan. 3, May 27. Inclement weather days are: April 1, 22 and May 6.

Following their policy of not allowing students to attend a school outside the zone in which they live, the board denied three requests for changes.

It appears that the entire community of Inverness may benefit from the development of the school playground.

The superintendent reported that the board and county commission have a mutual support agreement for developing the school, especially the playground.

He went on to say that the Inverness Lions Club was also contributing to the effort with the expectation that it could be used as a park for the entire community.

According to Bill May and Lem Johns, two members of the club who were present, they are planning to develop the area for year round use.

Plans call for a field where soccer and football can be played, two baseball diamonds and a pavillion and picnic area.

The men also noted that they are hopeful that a safe access can be provided to the area, which is across the highway from the Inverness development.

Instead of reporting new proposals, the board of education's committee on salary, expense and fringe benefits merely gave a synopsis of their work at last Tuesday's meeting.

The two proposals for teachers and the three for administrators were turned over to the board for study and it was indicated the item would be carried over to next month's agenda.

Pointing out that support personnel had not been included in the study, Superintendent of Education Charles Knowles said that a committee would be formed to make recommendations for those employees.

ESPO representative Virginia Sharpe was quick to ask that Rose Jones, the local president of that organization be made a member of the committee.

The initial effort to upgrade the school system in order to attract and keep quality people was begun last October.

Knowles observed that the way to improve instructional opportunities for students is to "employ the best possible people."

With that premise, Deputy Superintendent of Education Vern Davis formed his committee which studied ways to make the Shelby County system competitive with others in the state. The committee was made up of two representatives from the elementary, middle and high schools, administrators and the central staff.

Knowles pointed out, however, that before any of the committee's recommendations can be carried out, certain factors will have to be taken into consideration.

He mentioned the state education budget, the local budget, the effects of the state reappraisal program and the current use bill on local renenues.

The board's finance coor-

However, there was an increase in the beer tax, Davis said, which was $94 higher in April. But regardless of the adoption or implementation of any proposal, teachers will be getting more take home pay. A resolution was adopted at the meeting which allows money put into the teacher retirement system to be exempt from income According to Davis, employees will take home from one to two percent more money now, depen-

The activities were alleged to have taken place at the Sam Fiorella place on old highway 31 on the south side of the Cahaba

On May 5, 1981, federal officers, armed with a warrant, led a raid to investigate alleged gambling activites at the house.

No arrests were made at that time but evidence was to be evaluated by the FBI.

The Reporter contacted the FBI, the U.S. Attorney's Office, the U.S. Circuit Clerk's office, and the Criminal Division of the U.S. Attorney's office in an effort this week to find out what had happened to the case.

The FBI suggested that the U.S. Attorney be contacted.

U.S. Attorney Frank Donaldson was not in. His office personnel stated that it could make no comments and that the court records showed nothing.

U.S. Circuit Clerk James Vandergrift reported that he had no indictments against Sam Fiorella in the past year.

Bud Henry of the U.S. Attorney's Criminal Division told this newspaper that he could make no comments at all.

Shelby County Sheriff Buddy Glasgow told the Reporter that he has been wondering about the case himself.

He said that the U.S. Attorney has told him Glasgow inquired about it that the case would come 'next month' each time he called.

knows, "the case is still pending."

It appears that no information concerning this case seems to have reached a point in the judicial system at which it becomes public record.

Writer lists all-time stars

Letter to Milton Bird:

I read your column with much interest. Especially the one about some of the old Shelby County baseball players. Enclosed is my line-up and I dare anyone to submit a better one.

3B-Bucket White, SCHS and Mississippi Southern; 2B-Jim Davenport, Thompson, Miss. Southern and S.F. Giants: SS-Frank Martin, SCHS, Univ. Alabama and Southern League AA; 1B-Jack Baker, SCHS; C-Parker, Vandiver; RF-Earl Martin, SCHS, University of Alabama; CF-Burns, Vincent, Ole Miss;

LHP-Bobby Parks, Calera, 1 year pro ball (injury); LHP-Ralph Hunt, SCHS, Ole Miss.; RHP-James Wallace, SCHS, signed pro.; RHP-John Galloway, Montevallo, signed pro (injury).

It's hard to leave out ball players like Slick Robinson. Charles Jones and Wright Ingram who were great infielders themselves. I never saw the Merrill boy from Shelby play. But the old pro, Bud Lansford, said he was great.

You will have to admit that my team had the experience with college and pro experience. I played ball, like yourself all over this USA. I think the Shelby Co. league champions of Columbiana, in 1961 and 1962 who I managed would be hard to beat any time.

Let me hear from you.

Sincerely, Sonny Dorough P.O. Box 669 Bakersfield, CA 93302 P.S. Parker's first name I can't remember. He played the 61 and 62 year for Vandiver.

The Burns boy is from Westover and his father is Merle Burns. I can not remember his first name.

Nursing home visits cheer

Letter to Editor:

We will be celebrating National Nursing Home Week May 9 through May 14. In nursing homes throughout Alabama, as well as our nation, there are many Mothers who will see not only this special week, but Mothers Day also, come and go without even one visitor. This is not necessarily through neglect. In many cases these ladies have simply out-lived their families.

That is why, as a volunteer at Briarcliff Nursing Home in Alabaster, let me ask your readers to make this a very special Mothers Day to someone in a nursing home. For information about patients your readers can contact the Activity Department in any nursing home. They can direct you to those patients who need your attention most. Personal attention would be wonderful, but if your club or Sunday School class would like to be involved then do something special for someone who otherwise may spend the time alone.

Make this a very special day for yourself as well as our elderly mothers. I can think of no way to better honor a loved one who has passed away than to bring joy to someone still with us. Please remember to contact the Activity Department of the nursing home you choose so that your efforts will be directed where they are most needed.

Thank you, Mrs. Wanda Burkholder 1760-B Woodbrook Apts. Alabaster, AL 35007

Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

It was that sort o' day. When Amy and I left Woodlawn the sky was crying all the way from Cullman to Clanton. And we were right in the middle of it. When we got to Westover it slacked up. And when we got to Union United Methodist Church it had almost stopped. And that's where we spent the day. A day too lovely and so delightful we'll always remember it.

A young preacher and his wife, Lynn and Vickie Terry, came here several months ago and fell in love with this fine and dedicated group of people. And together, all 170 of them, they have sung and prayed their way into a house of worship that is

Yes, only a few years ago there was maybe 11 or 12 people who would come to church on Sunday, and now there would be somewhere close to 170. And what they have done to make He said that as far has he their church beautiful, and how they have spread songs about to make their church delightful, was something for Amy and me to see and hear.

> Lynn took his text from Nehemiah, the 4th chapter, verses 1, 2 and 3. And before he had finished, Amy and I knew why this little church was having such a marvelous growth.

And there was the choir, 25 voices directed by Wendel Shaw, who, through the years was a member of The Legionaires and later the Tear Masters, from 1946 talents with his friends and neighbors. He and his brother Bill and Elvis Walton and Troy Benson, all of them lending their talents to a beautiful congregation. They sang Tis That Old Time Religion and Amazing Grace, so beautifully a fellow wished they would sing a hundred Yep, the folks were there -from Heath Wade Wood to Mrs. Hatti Adams -- and 155 others whose names we won't list because of space.

After the sermon, and three songs by the congregation, we had dinner in the Fellowship Hall. Fried chicken and baked ham and fried white meat and roast beef and chicken pie and chicken and dumplings and, according to an announcement by Jo Lynn Kelton, home-made butter and home-made buttermilk and a churn full of lemonade. On the sweet table they had cherry pie and blackberry pie and cupcakes and chocolate pie and banana pudding and pecan pie and potato pie and chocolate fudge cake and chocolate pudding and a graduation cake in honor of Lynn's graduation from Emory University.

Afterward, with Susan Donahue at the piano and Pat Autry at the organ, and led by Wendel Shaw and James Lee and David Carroll and Bill Shaw and Elvis Walton and Lynn and Vickie Terry and others, we sang old gospel hymns until 3 o'clock.

It was that sort o' day. Thanks to 1972, and now had come home, a million for sharing it with Amy to his mother church to share his and me. Make that two million.

Scrambled

Remembering names has always been a problem for me.

The one name I wish I could forget is the one I'm stuck with. Fortunately I don't have to use it very often.

If I told what my parents named me, I'm afraid someone would start calling me by it, so I'm going to leave it a mystery. But I'll be forever grateful to the person who whacked a few letters off, giving me a nickname that's not too bad. It's something I can live with anyway. I've often wondered if a name

There was something to suit everybody's taste on Capitol Hill during the past week... a wild and woolly regular session of the Legislature came to a stormy end.. the troubled Public Service Commission remained troubled... and countless politicians inched closer to D-Day (Decision Day) as election day approached...

For Gov. Fob James, the '82 regular session must have reminded him of a hit song of the distant past: "It seems like old programs he offered at the opening of the '82 session died slow deaths; he was soundly whipped on the Current Use bill; and he had to compromise on both the general fund and education budgets.

Down but not out, on the morning after the session adjourned James promised that he would try again to get legislation to modify state retirement benefits and reduce the number of state holidays. He will also have another shot at getting the package of crime bills enacted. James suggested a special session for either May or June. His plans came as no surprise, but they caused much dismay to many legislators who would much prefer using that time campaigning for reelection or some other office. In a roundabout way, James is making a lie of the old saying that a "setting sun giveth off little heat." The sun is setting on the James Administration, but the governor is applying plenty of heat on the legislators.

Odds and ends -- Former Gov. George Wallace is sticking to his same line -- if the polls continue to show him as the frontrunner for governor, he will indeed jump into the race. With this in mind, an office building has been leased on the Eastern Bypass in Montgomery to serve as his campaign command post, and county coordinators have already been given the go-ahead to begin setting up their organizations.

Pelham stuck between water and dry spot

by David F. Moore The Pelham council is stuck between a water table and a dry spot.

Three weeks ago the city drilled into a water table in Indian Hills which engineers predict can easily provide 2,000 gallons per minute--enough to double the city's current water pumping capacity.

However, Mayor Burk Dunaway told the council Monday that the health department has at least temporarily limited the well to pumping 1,000 gallons per minute. Officials will monitor the well during the summer, then decide whether or not to allow said.

Unless the city buys a half-mile of large size mains, it can only pump 700 gallons per minute from the new well through existing water lines in the area, Dunaway said. Still, some sort of a pump will be needed before any water can be tapped from the

Dunaway posed the following questions:

•Should the city be optimistic and sink $50,000 into a 2,000 gallon pump and motor, and $150,000 for the additional mains?

Or, should it purchase or

2,000 gallons to be pumped, he lease a smaller unit and fittings for $60,000 in case health officials permanently limit the well to 1,000 gallons?

•If the city bets on the lower limit, larger mains will still have to be installed to pipe the needed difference between the current 700 gallon piping capacity and 1,000 gallons. "Do we go large or small?" Dunaway asked.

Also bearing on the decision is the fact that the water rate hike has only brought in an additional $42,000 in the three months since it's been in effect--about a 40% increase in revenues. (Dunaway said the 14% increase he related two weeks ago to the Reporter had been a mistake on his part.)

Counting $30,000 of FHA money, the city has already spent $84,000 drilling the Indian Hills and a 250 gallon per minute well on Highway 119. The pump, pump house, and lines for the 119 well total another $60,000.

Dunaway estimated that completion of both wells and mains for a 2,250 gallon capacity would cost $400,000. The city also wants another storage tank in the future.

Without the improvemnts, Pelham stands to have more unpopular water restrictions enacted this summer.

The request was granted on the Erwin and Penhale said that would discuss the matter further with the attorney, and would talk Mims about chickens. The chicken discussion spurred another point of dissatisfaction with the current zoning laws: modular and mobile

Several residents said modular homes which had been set up in their subdivisions would lower property values.

"When developers get really hungry, they'll start dropping (vacant) lots for $3000," one man said. "Then there's no telling what you're going to get on there."

Kwater said the zoning laws needed to be updated and probably made more strict.

This would require legal advertising and public hearing, and two or three months' time, Penhale said. If they are reworked, they would not affect situa-

In other action, the Hugheses and Tim Peters requested speed breakers for Dearing Downs and Brandywine.

However, Erwin said that the city would be liable if a motorist hit a speed breaker and wrecked. He also said he had talked to as many people opposed to speedbreakers, as were for them.

He suggested placing stop signs at the intersection of Southwind and Dearing Downs, and beefing up police radar patrols there.

The council voted to try the stop signs. The request for Brandywine was tabled for further discussion.

Councilman Billy Hinds reported that the new phone system the city was eyeing would cost at least $160 a month more than originally anticipated. However, he said an improved intercom system could be had for about $15 more a month.

The council put the proposed phone system on hold when it heard the cost, and will consider the intercom.

Shelby hospital set for battle

by David F. Moore

Shelby Medical Center has rolled up its legal sleeves for a court battle to halt St. Vincent's plans for medical facilities in north

At a meeting last Thursday night in Birmingham, the hospital board voted unanimously to seek an injunction to thwart the Birmingham hospital's plans for health facilities in Shelby County. St. Vincent's has multistage plans for a doctor's office, retirement home and 120-bed hospital along the U.S. 280 corridor.

At a reconsideration hearing held two weeks ago at the request of SMC, the State Health Planning and Development Agency (SHPDA) restricted St. Vincent's to building a doctor's office, instead of its planned urgent-care

SMC, however, has plans to build a 120-bed hospital and holds an option on some 20 acres 119 and 280. The hospital board maintains that if other medical facilities are built in the area, they will duplicate services SMC intends to provide.

Board member E.E. Raughley pushed for the court injunction, but warned that "we may be stepping on a rattlesnake." Still, he maintained, if the hospital doesn't take a strong stand against St. Vincent's this year, it'll have to fight off more hospitals next year.

Raughley pointed out that the hospital stands to lose the $50,000-$150,000 bond it will be required to post for the injunction.

SMC Board Chairman C.E. "Bull" Carter stated that any hospital that tries to step across the Cahaba River into Shelby County, will have a fight on its Six hospitals, including SMC, are currently seeking SHPDA approval to build health facilities in north Shelby.

"The people are taxing themselves to have SMC provide health services," Raugley told the Reporter. "All we're asking for is the right to continue serving the people of Shelby County. I feel we've earned that right."

The board also voted to seek a certificate of need to buy the land on 280 for its second hospital. Norman Price, head of corporate development for SMC, said the certificate could probably be obtained within 60-90 days.

As a preliminary step to its second hospital, SMC plans to build its own primary health care center (doctor's office) on the land as soon as possible, Raughley said.

Working close to power lines is too close for comfort.

Before putting up a CB or TV antenna, remember to check for power lines, both overhead and coming into your home. Make sure they are at least twice as far away as the height of your antenna. Wait for a calm, dry day and get several people to help. When climbing a ladder for any reason, stay clear of all wires. Also, don't handle aluminum siding close to wires. And never touch a fallen electric line. Report it immediately to Alabama Power.

Noting the accomplishments of Pelham Police at last week's FOP pistol tournament, Mayor Burk Dunaway commended the department for its level of training. Officers Virgil Rice, Mark Delk, Bob Armwine, Bruce Matson, Chuck Taylor and Lt. Tommy Thomas all fired high scoring rounds at the event.

Rice and Thomas presented Chief D.O Watson with the trophies they won. Watson said that since the match he bought a new gun and new glasses, and next year Pelham would take first.

"I think we have something to be proud of in both our police and fire departments," Dunaway commented. "It never hurts to be the best."

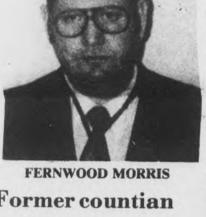

Dunaway also proclaimed next week as Municipal Clerks Week, and complimented Willie May Dennis for her 18 years of "invaluable" service to the city.

"I think our city clerk--our certified clerk--meets and exceeds every one of the requirements (in the national proclamation)," Dunaway said.

Scouts blow sailboats to victory

As their names were called out, Cub Scouts in Pack 5 stepped up to the two rain gutters outside Christ Church United Methodist and got ready to race.

Twenty-four sailboats constructed by the boys were entered in Friday's Raingutter Regatta. Filling their lungs with air, the racers blew their craft the length of the gutters without touching either the boat or the gutter.

And some of the racers had to blow their boats down the course several times in the hard fought contest.

Friday's Raingutter Regatta. In the heavyweight division, Filling their lungs with air, the winners were: Matt Thomas, 1st;

Lance Granger, 2nd; Joe Schneider, 3rd.

Lightweight winners were: Bartley Pickron, 1st; Rob Long, 2nd; John David Nolen, 3rd.

Before trying their luck in the regatta, which took nearly two hours to complete, the boys and their parents helped themselves to hot dogs and potato chips.

What is the country's most abundant fossil fuel?

Do you know the answers to those questions?

They were on the energy test questionnaire that has been distributed nationwide to call attention to the second national energy week May 1-8.

One of the leading proponents of energy conservation in Shelby County is the University of Montevallo where a steam plant is being constructed which will use waste wood as the fuel.

An energy control computer will also be installed at UM to cut down on energy costs.

Another way the local institution of higher learning is waging war against energy waste is the replacement of deteriorated lines.

It's the aim of National Energy Week to alert the public at large on how to find the solution to the nation's energy crisis.

The first step in that direction is public understanding, and the questions on the test are designed to prepare Americans for what the country will be facing over the next two decades.

The answer to the first question on the test concerning the percentage of U.S. energy that comes from oil is 43%.

JAN JACKSON ...to wed Gregory Hardin

Jacksons tell of daughter's engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hoover Jackson of Autaugaville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jan Louise, to Gregory Nolan Hardin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Lester Hardin of Montevallo.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mrs. John W. Jackson and the late Mr. Jackson, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie G. Stewart, all of Autaugaville.

She is a senior at Auburn University and an honorary member of Kappa Delta Pi. Miss Jackson is also a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, and Farm House Little Sisters.

The prospective groom is the grandson of Mrs. William Lester Hardin and the late Mr. Hardin of Eclectic and Mrs. John Henry Woodall and the late Mr. Woodall of Seman.

Hardin is a 1978 graduate of Montevallo High School.

He is a senior at Auburn University and is affiliated with Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, Omega Chi Epsilon, Lambda Sigma, Phi Eta Sigma, Who's Who at A.U., President of the School of Engineering, Engineering Council, and Student Government Association. Mr. Hardin is also a member of the Farm House Fraternity.

The wedding is planned for July 17 at 6 p.m. in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Jones G. Stewart of Autaugaville.

Beware cans on recall list

Don't eat any salmon packed in 7 3/4 ounce cans without checking the numbers on top.

Sherry Wilson of the Shelby County Department of Public Health cautions consumers that eight Alaskan canneries are being required to recall certain quantities of their canned salmon because of defects in the cans.

The recall is limited to 7 3/4 ounce cans, and there are code numbers on the cans that tell which cans are being recalled.

In case of doubt, consumers should return the salmon to the store where it was purchased. The store can check the code number on the can against the health department's list and determine if the product is safe or not.

When students at Vincent High of what's to come for students who want to try out their theatrical skills.

> According to English teacher Loyd Mehaffey, who is directing the play, the auditorium will be remodeled this summer and there will be a new stage with improved lighting and sound.

With the proceeds of this play, Mehaffey says that plans are already in the works to put on a more ambitious production.

The play that's been chosen, he reports, is, "For Color Girls Who Have Considered Suicide When the Rainbow is Enuf."

Keeping expenses to a minimum on the present production, Mehaffey designed the set and members of the Ag class put it together.

The play will be put on May 7-8 at 7:30 p.m.

> Peterson also won the 110 hurdles with Bridgette Taylor of Thompson second and Mc-Crimon of Vincent third. Loretta Perkins of Vincent won the high jump with teammate McCrimon second and Taylor third. Sebrina Kidd won both the shot put and the discus. Lessie Gaddis of Montevallo placed second in the shot put and Polly Datcher of Vincent third. Gaddis was also second in the discus.

McNight of Thompson won the 440 with Angela Riggins of Vincent second and Stehanie Burns from Shelby County third. Harper of Briarwood won the two mile run. Pam Stephens of Vincent finished second and Robin Parsons of Briarwood was Thompson also won the long jump with Miss McNight grabbing another medal. Peterson and McCrimon of Vincent placed second and third respectively.

In the sectional track meets held last weekend, many athletes from Vincent qualified for the state track meet. To qualify, athletes must have finished in the Pelham won the mile relay. Jentop four places in an event at the sectional.

Making the trip to that state meet for Vincent will be: Perkins, Peterson, Kidd, Datcher, Riggins, Jordan, Hamm, Hall, Stephens, and the mile relay team for Vincent.

Also qualified for the state meet is Lessie Gaddis from Montevallo.

Montevallo girls win in sectional

The Montevallo girls' track team won third place in the Junior High Sectional Track Meet held weekend.

Jennifer Wilder was the most prolific medal winner on the squad, winning three first place medals and qualifying for the state meet in another category.

Miss Wilder won the high jump, 110 hurdles, and the mile run, and qualified for the 880.

Other members of the team qualifying for the state meet are Fran Agee for the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and the 440 relay team composed of Lorraine Gentry, Benita Fields, Lisa Deviner, Montevallo also qualified several members of the junior high boy's team for the state meet. Norman Grayson will represent the school in the high jump, 220, and 440. Bill Deviner advances to the state meet to compete in the 880, and J.J. Moore goes to compete in the high jump.

Phillip Bruno of Vincent qualified for the junior high state tournament in the 880 yard run. Perkins of Indian Springs also qualified in the long jump and 100 yard dash.

Lions, Bulldogs win titles

by Richard Crosby

Briarwood and Montevallo claimed junior high county championships in track last week. Montevallo won the girls' crown and Briarwood the boys'.

Montevallo edged out Pelham, Vincent and Briarwood for the championship. Winners in the junior high county meet for the girls were: Sharon Kelley of Vincent with victories in the long jump and shot put, Nell Stone of Vincent in the discus, Cheri Webbn of Briarwood in the 440.

Montevallo won the 440 relay, nifer Wilder of Montevallo won the high jump, 110 hurdles, mile run and the 880. Fran Agee of Montevallo won both the 100 and 220 yard dash.

Briarwood won the boys' championship over Shelby County, Pelham, Vincent, Montevallo and Calera. It was the largest field ever for the junior high boys' event. Winners in that meet were: Jeff Carter of Shelby County in the shot put, Earl Lawson of Vincent in the long jump, James Cottingham of Shelby County in the

The high jump medal was tied between---- Youngblood of Pelham and Norman Grayson of Montevallo. Phillip Bruno of Vincent won the mile run and the 880. B.J. Walker of Shelby County won the triple jump.

Pat Grant of Briarwood won the 120 intermediate hurdles. Briarwood also won the mile relay. Youngblood of Pelham also won the 220 and 440 yard

Briarwood record surpasses 'Braves'

by Richard Crosby

Sssshhhhh.... Don't let this get out, but Briarwood is still undefeated in baseball. It isn't a secret mind you, but it seems like

The Lions have won fourteen straight games without losing and Coach Byrle Kynerd may not want to jinx his team by overemphasizing that record.

It may also be a record that by any member of the team this

When Kynerd listed his leading hitters it sounded like a roster. Everyone on the team is contributing - kind of like a Shelby County 'Atlanta Falcons' team.

Last week the Lions beat Springville 3-2 with pitcher Stephen Lindsey getting the win. Briarwood also defeated Calera 7-3 there hasn't been a home run hit behind pitcher Jeffrey Montevallo. On Thursday, it's McLaurine.

> Some of the hitting leaders on the team include Lindsey, McLaurine, Jeff Nelson, Mike McCrary, Kevin Kynerd, Lee Kirkpatrick, and Bo Miller.

This week is 'nite game' week for Briarwood. On Monday Montevallo got a chance to stop the string of wins with a 7 p.m. contest at the University of Chelsea's turn, and on Friday Calera gets a crack at the Lions.

Both the Chelsea and Calera games will be played on the new lighted field at Briarwood beginning at 7 p.m. We don't know what kind of attendance record might be set if the winning streak continues, but fans can expect a vocal crowd of supporters for the 'Falcons' of Shelby County.

The Shelby County High School Booster Club has purchased an insurance policy that will payoff in the event a hole-inone is scored on the par-three, third hole at Buxahatchee Country Club.

A 1982 Chevrolet Chevette is the prize, and if an ace is scored, the school will get an additional benefit. Ten percent of the value of the car will be given to the Boosters and five percent of the value will go to the golfer who is closest to the pin - all paid by the insurance company if a hole-inone is scored.

A field of 72 golfers is expected for the tournament and the chance to shoot for the new car.

The tourney is set for Saturday, May 22. Booster Club President William Rasco says there will be six flights for the golfers. Rasco adds that there will be four 'Closest to the Pin' holes plus a contest for the longest drive.

Trophies will be awarded to the top golfers in each flight. The entrance fee to the tournament includes green fees, cart rental and

Smokers are newest barbecue tool

by Earl Franklin Kennamer Since I like to barbecue and smoke my wild turkeys and venison, I knew you'd be interested in a new gas (or charcoal) smoker-grill. With these new implements you can dry-smoke, moist-smoke, steam, roast, bake and even grill. The gas job can be operated from refillable bulk propane tanks or disposable cylinders. A gauge shows the cooking temperature inside the smokebarrel and a thermometer port lets you insert a long-stemmed meat thermometer so you don't have to open the lid and let heat get away.

The smoker-grill has two 170 sq. in. grids. Each can hold 25 lbs. of meat or fixings for a total meal. This little cooker might be just the ticket for a big lawn party or for a group of families at the lake or hunting cabin.

The fuel-efficient smoker grill has burners that are self-cleaning with stainless steel rings that won't rust or burn out. There's a fully adjustable regulator control for up to 15,000 BTUs per hour -to take you from "sear" to "slow cooking." A bulk system hose is included for hooking up to refillable gas bottles. You can smoke or steam your meals even in winter weather. I personally recommend the refillable bottles and plan to use the propane bottles from my camp trailer. Your fuel will be cheaper in refillable containers.

There are other accessories to go with your smoker-grill: rib rack, long-stemmed meat thermometer, smoker-grill cover, 11

Pretty swing

Terri Moody is a relative newcomer to the LPGA tour, but from witnessing her swing, it shouldn't take long for her to reach the top of some leader boards. In last week's Birmingham Classic she collected only $450 after finishing halfway down the winners column. She completed the tourney 17 strokes off the winning pace. (photo by Richard Crosby) lb. or 20 lb. bulk propane cylinders and a propane hose and adapter. Cost will be in the ballpark figures of $200. Yes, I'll have to buy my own!

In the charcoal model there is a circular damper to accomodate the best cooking heat for your food. You can also put out the fire to save charcoal when the meal has finished cooking.

Like the propane model, the charcoal grill has a porcelainized heavy gauge steel lid and fire bowl to resist rust and burnout. There's a heat shield to protect decks or table tops. An ash/drip pan is included. The fire bowl holds 13 lbs. of charcoal. The grill will fit into your car trunk. You can also buy a "smoking kit" to permit an even wider range of preparing meat dishes.

Check with your local discount, department, sporting goods, and hardware stores for these new cookers.

We in Alabama should be proud of our 22 state parks. However, I am distressed at the wanton destruction that goes on in these parks by vandals. They mutilate plumbing fixtures. They shoot holes in roadside signs, steal the signs for hanging on the wall. Vandals are stealing your tax money. Damage or less in the parks requires repairs, replacement of missing items.

Even the individual who litters everywhere he goes should be chastized. It's so easy to buy a small litter bag for your car and empty it in a dumpster.

A person who carves or writes on tree trunks or rocks such imbecilic phrases as "Willie was here," or "John D. loves Carmine Z." is simply leaving his animalistic calling card, much as a fox or a dog leaves his calling card for other foxes or dogs by heisting his hind leg on a bush!

No hitter leads Cubs to win in Alabaster Little League

Ryan Lawyer pitched the first no hitter of the season in leading his team, Farm League Cubs, to a win over the Reds 18-0 in last week's action at Alabaster.

Chris Caldwell slugged a grand slam homer in leading the Farm League Pirates over the Giants in other action.

Sports Scribbles

by Richard Crosby

Just some scribbles from the LPGA Birmingham Classic.... While selecting the second shot to be played on the 18th hole, touring pro Vicki Tabor was asked by her amateur counterparts which one she thought was the best to play.

The pro-am tournament was a 'best ball' type event and each player hit from the same site after a shot was selected.

Tabor was debating over which shot to select, the longest one which was in a fairway bunker. "Do you think you can reach the green from here?" asked one of the men playing with her.
"I could if I had hair on my chest!" was her laughing reply.

The green was still 250 yards away.

Thanks to J.D. Ferguson, PR Director for the tournament. With rain falling steadily, I asked him if there wasn't some way to get out on the course to take pictures and still remain dry.

He got us the use of a 'Headquarters' golf cart for an hour. I really looked official for a short time.

The worst part of the golf tournament was watching these women pros hit the ball. Some of them hit farther with a five iron than I can with a driver. And straight..... How do they do

The state high school track meets for A, 2A, and junior high schools will be held this Friday and Saturday at Troy State University Stadium in Troy.

The state meet for 3A and 4A schools will be be held at the same time, but in Memorial Stadium in Selma.

The preliminaries will be held on Friday starting at 4 p.m. Finals in the track events, except distance events scheduled for Friday, for all senior high divisions will be run both days as scheduled.

Crappie season may be over, and bream haven't hit the beds yet. Bass fishing is picking up according to Lay Lake fishermen, but most of the traffic last weekend was pleasure riders.

The Mid-State Soccer League is in full swing and several tournaments have been set. On May 16th the league will hold a benefit game at Shades Valley High School for Childrens Hospital in Birmingham. On May 22 and 23, the Mid-State Invitational Tournament will be held.

County teams participating in the league include students from Indian Springs and Briarwood Christian.

Well, that's all for this week. Stay tuned ....

Senator makes mistake, extra funds not coming

by Fred Guarino

It appears that a recent news release from Senator Jeremiah Denton, concerning federal fish and wildlife funds for Alabama, is in error.

The release reports that Secretary of the Interior James G. Watt has allocated "an additional $2.1 million in federal aid for fish and wildlife programs in Alabama."

The release further states that announcement of "additional" funds was made by Denton, Tuesday, April 13.

However, when the Reporter contacted the State Department of Conservation to find out just how this extra money will be spent and where, we were informed that the money is not additional funding at all.

Instead, this newspaper was told that the funding represented only the state's normal allocation as the result of the Pittman-Robertson Act for restoration of natural habitats, passed in 1937.

Sam Spencer, assistant director of the state's game and fish division, stated that the money makes up 75 percent of the state's total game management budget.

He said that the money has been coming from the federal government for years. The amount is based on the number of hunting and fishing licenses sold and on the land area of the

Spencer commented that he had seen the Denton release and, "It is frustrating for people to think we are getting extra funds..."

He pointed out that the money recently allocated only represents a little more than the state received last year. He indicated that such funding has always been up one year and down another.

Spencer laughingly commented, "We are still as broke as we ever were." Gary Moody, assistant chief of wildlife in Alabama confirmed the statements made by Spencer.

He qualified his statements, however, saying, "Not unless something has happened we haven't heard about."

The Denton release reported that the "additional" money for Alabama is part of a national increase of $32.6 million nationwide for the entire program. Local office personnel for Senator Denton attempted to find the cause of the apparent mix-up for the Reporter, Friday.

Danny Cooper, who heads

Denton's Alabama office stated that the information in the release received by this newspaper was given to Denton by the Department of the In-

The State Department of Conservation reports that the money will be used statewide to operate the various game management

The federal money coming to Alabama is made in two installments yearly.

For wildlife restoration, the funds come from an 11 percent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition, a ten percent tax on handguns and an ll percent tax on archery equipment.

Fish restoration funds come from a ten percent excise tax on fishing rods, reels, crees and artificial baits, lures and flies.

Steve Allen, Denton's press secretary in Washington, D.C., told the Reporter, Monday afternoon that apparently the Department of Interior's original press release was "mis-translated" by Denton's office.

The wording called the appropriation an "increase over 1981" which Denton's office assumed to be a separate appropriation above the usual one.

Abuse reports increase

by David F. Moore

Reports of child abuse and neglect in Shelby County are on the rise in 1982.

According to figures for the first four months of the year, the Deprtment of Pensions and Security is averaging 28 reports per month of alleged child abuse and neglect. According to DPS Protective Services Director Rene Williams, monthly reports averaged only 19 in 1981, and 16 in 1980.

Twenty-five suspected incidents of abuse or neglect were reported this January, 26 were reported in February, 31 were reported in March, and 31 were reported in April.

Of the 113 reports so far this year, DPS determined that 33 claims of neglect and abuse were found to be true. Those claims break down into 12 cases of abuse, 21 cases of neglect and four cases of abuse and neglect.

Williams said that 37 reports are still under investigation. Thirty-five reports proved un-

Community kicks in to improve school

Everyone at Elvin Hill Elementary School pitched in to improve the appearance of the school during the recent beautification

In addition to the projects assigned to each grade, Columbiana Brownies planted shrubbery around the flagpole and the First National Bank provided funds for trees to go in the school courtyard.

Viewing their work as a community social studies project, students picked up rocks, planted ivy, put straw around the shrubbery and planted flowers in various locations around the school.

Other planting will be done later on and plans also include putting up bird houses and feeders.

cidents of abuse or neglect were founded, and four reports were reported this January, 26 were undetermined.

Four cases of sexual abuse in Columbiana, Montevallo and Wilsonville were turned over last week to the sheriffs department and district attorney for further investigation and possible prosecution, she said.

Williams attributed the increase in abuse and neglect reports to improved public awareness, and to mounting economic family pressures.

"I feel safe in saying that the news articles (last fall in the Reporter) generated a lot of calls. People just weren't aware of what our department does," she said. "I feel now the public is really more aware."

She explained that economic pressures can create tensions in families that are often taken out on children.

"The problem is not going to ever stop," Williams said. "There will always be people incapable of parenting."

"The most we can hope to accomplish is to identify families where abuse happens, and provide counseling services to try and alleviate as many of their problems as possible," she said. "If the problem isn't to the point of the child's life being in danger, we try and keep the family together. If that's not possible, we have to move the child to a more protective environment."

Suspected child abuse and neglect can be reported to DPS at 669-2111. Callers do not have to give their names, and cannot be held liable in court for their report.

Baptists give deed to Duncan

Rev. John Duncan and his wife, Kathleen, were honored at a banquet at First Baptist Church, Columbiana, on May 1. It was in appreciation of 20 years of service as Director of Missions of Shelby Baptist Association.

Some 120 people attended the event including special guests from the Alabama Baptist Executive Board in Montgomery, Dr. George Bagley, Dr. Billy Nutt and Rev. Ralph Halbrooks.

Calera, Shelby County, Alabama 35040

Several people were called upon to pay tribute to Rev. Duncan. Some of it was in the form of good natured "roasting." Most, however, was in appreciation for his abiding work in Shelby County.

Central State Bank

Mrs. Duncan was presented with 20 red roses, one for each year of service. Rev. Duncan was given a book of letters of appreciation from people of the various churches. Then, as a climax to the festivities, the couple was presented a deed to the home in which they now live as a gift from the Shelby Baptist Association.

Cousins and cousins

Reedy Kendrick (2nd from right) and wife Audie (on his right) are visiting Shelby County for the first time in more than 30 years and renewing acquaintances with relatives he thought he might never see again. Some of his first cousins he found still living in the Chelsea area are, left to right, Will and Ozelle Furney, Verna Stone, Berniece Moore and Eunice Minor.

Dream comes true for Chelsea native

by Shelba Nivens

A 30-year dream is coming true for Shelby County native Reedy Kendrick.

Kendrick, who left Shelby County for Utah in 1949 and presently lives in Oregon, is visiting Shelby County relatives and places of his boyhood after thinking he might never see them again.

Born in 1904 to Cora and Adolphus Kendrick, he grew up around Pleasant Valley near Chelsea. At the age of 17 he moved to Boothton to work in the coal mines.

In 1932 he and his wife, Audie Roe Kendrick left Alabama to seek a brighter future in the coal fields of Illinois, Colorado and the first of the second representation of the Kendrick advanced to a supervisory position in the coal mining industry before returning to Shelby County in 1948 to open a mine near Maylene with his brothers Cyrus, Melvin and Watson Kendrick. All four men were knowledgeable in the industry which seemingly had a bright future in Shelby County. They were assured they could not fail. However, the miners hit a body of water they could not control and soon lost everything.

Reedy Kendrick returned to Utah to work as a coal mining supervisor. He retired in 1970 and he and son, Richard, now run a 172 acre cattle farm near Portland, Oregon.

The Kendricks also have two daughters who live in California, and 14 grandchildren.

Reedy Kendrick's brothers also moved to the western part of the United States and they lost touch with the Shelby County Kendricks for several years.

However, one brother began visiting in the county a few years ago after someone here sent him a clipping from the Reporter about a member of the family.

Reedy and Audie Kendrick said they decided to return for a visit after reading Shelba Nivens' recently published book which includes a history of the Kendrick family and some of the places they recall from earlier years in the county.

In the Chelsea area, they have been visiting some of his first cousins and other relatives whom he had not seen since the 1930s, and some he had never even met.

They have been visiting such places as the old baptising hole near Pleasant Valley Church, Old Calvary Church and cemetery and Macedonia Cemetery near Maylene where his parents are buried. They have also enjoyed a lot of good, old-fashioned southern cooking, including barbeque which Mrs. Kendrick says she always thinks of in relation to Shelby County.

Former Pelham twirler

wins spot with Alabama band

Paige Eubanks of Riverchase has been selected as a Crimsonette, the name given majorettes who perform with the University of Alabama band.

Eubanks was a feature twirler at Pelham High School before transferring to Berry High School, where she is now captain of the dance team.

She will appear with the UA band as one of 18 Crimsonettes when she enters UA in the fall. She was one of 18 women from a field of 48 who tried out for the posts in late April.

Top police marksman shoots 480 out of 500

Virgil Rice of the Pelham Police Department wound up with the best individual score in the FOP's first pistol match Saturday.

The Pelham marksman shot a 480 out of a possible 500.

Two Columbiana policemen finished in second and third place in the individual shoot.

Frank Formby's score was 477
- Tom Carter's was 467.

In the team shooting, Formby got together with Sheriff's department deputies Mike Shaw and Larry Doss to win the first place award.

Their score was 1,399 out of a possible 1,500.

Placing second with a score of 1,360 was the team of Bob Arnwine, Mark Delk and Virgil Rice, all from Pelham PD.

The third place team was composed of three other Pelham officers - Tommy Thomas, Chuck Taylor and Bruce Matson. Their score was 1,343. When reserve police officers took aim at the targets, Chris Curry with the Sheriff's department proved to be the best shot. His score was a 473 out of a possible 500.

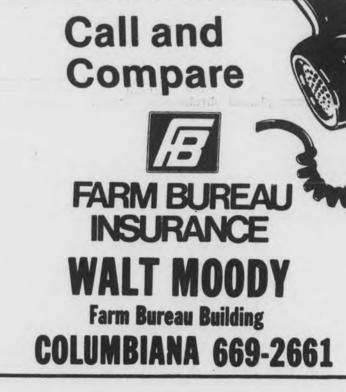

Arnwine shot a 455 and Steve Ward, a reserve deputy scored

In the open event, Curry again outshot the competition, winding up with a 484. Carter came in se-

sidents file for injunction against Alabaster annexation

by Bert Seaman

With the Alabaster annexation election only days away, 21 area residents have filed a petition to delay the voting.

Judge Harold Walden, who heard the motion for a temporary injunction, took the matter under advisement, saying he would rule before Saturday's election.

One reason given by Carl Johnson for putting off the election was the uncertainty in the minds of some individuals if they

Johnson, who was retained as attorney by the group filing the petition, said that a map should have been made available.

He also contended that adequate notice of the election hadn't been given and further noted that the bill passed by the legislature was substantially different from the bill originally

No one would be hurt by delaying the election Johnson pointed out, and he noted that it would save the city money in the long run in the event his clients challenged the election.

But the city's attorney, Sonny Conwill, said it would be in the city's best interest to proceed on schedule.

He pointed out that it would end the attempts of various groups who have been trying to form their own cities in order to avoid the annexation.

One of Johnson's arguments for delaying the annexation was the matter of certain areas being deleted.

He claimed that the city had deleted the areas where there was opposition to annexation.

But Conwill countered that argument by saying that the legislature had made the final changes - not the city.

And most of the land that had previously been taken out, he noted, was owned by Cheney Lime which would only have had one vote in an election.

By advertising the legal description of the proposed annexation area, proper notice of the election had been given, Con-being in or out, he pointed out they could make sure of their status by checking at city hall.

The people who signed the petition weren't in doubt, he noted. "They're in court with their attorney," Conwill declared.

Answering Johnson's charge that the annexation was not related to the city's needs, Conwill denied that.

"They're doing this for their growth and needs," he said, noting that services which include police, fire and paramedic, have been provided with no return to the city.

Conwill questioned the petition's being filed so close to the election date since the public has been kept informed on the annexation through articles in the

Planners move to Valley

Next Monday, May 17, will be the first time the Shelby County Planning Commission will convene at Valley Elementary School. In the future the commission will meet at Valley every other month, alternating monthly meetings with its usual meeting place at the Civil Defense building in Columbiana.

According to J.J. Garity, chairman of the planning commission, the new meeting schedule was adopted because, "The commission concluded that zoning cases should be heard at a site more convenient to the people most involved: the residents of Beat 12."

Beat 12 is the only beat in the county that is zoned.

Garity said that generally, only zoning issues will be dealt with at the Valley School meetings. Sub-Continued on page 2

Glasscox seeks office of superintendent

Ellie B. Glasscox of Pelham has become the third person to announce as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Shelby County Superintendent of Education.

Glasscox has been a teacher and coach in the county school system since 1968, when he took a position at Thompson High School as a math teacher, head basketball coach and assistant football coach.

In 1977 he became assistant principal at Thompson and continued as assistant football coach. In 1980-81 he was coordinator fo transportation for the county system, but returned to Thompson in his former capaci-

ELLIE B. GLASSCOX

The youngest of 15 children, he was raised in Blount County and attended Athens College on a basketball scholarship where he was graduated cum laude. He also holds the M.S. degree from the University of Montevallo in school administration.

The candidate says his first priority if elected would be to give every student a chance to develop to his or her fullest potential, and he wants to improve the morale of the employees within the system. "I plan to combine teamwork, hard work and common sense in overcoming the problems of our school system," he said.

Glasscox also advocates a strong board-approved code of conduct for students. He believes such a code would help minimize what he calls "the vast amount of time school administrators and teachers spend on discipline."

He has been active in civic affairs, helping to organize the Alabaster church softball league, and has worked with the swim club and the county YMCA. He is part owner of a small asphalt paving company, is a welder, and has worked on summer construction jobs.

He and his wife, the former Bobbie Lee of Pelham, have two daughters; Shawn, 11, a student at Riverchase and Kip, 6, a first grader at Valley.

They are members of First Baptist Church of Pelham.

The other two persons who have declared their intentions to run for Superintendent are Dr. Norma Rogers and the incumbent, Charles Knowles.

Citizens who own residences or businesses in the Almont area adjacent to Montevallo will see their fire insurance premiums reduced beginning June 1.

Rev. Albert Jones, chairman of the board of trustees of the Almont Fire District was notified this week that the fire insurance classification for the district has improved from a Class 10 to a Class 6.

The Almont Fire District was formed last year when residents voted to create a fire district and contract with the city of Montevallo for fire protection.

NSCFD seeking relief for soaring plug rates

The North Shelby County Fire ment. That suit is still pending in District presented its plight over hydrants to the Jefferson County Commission Monday night. But according to fire district trustee Martha Geyer, the commission offered to immediate relief.

The fire district has requested 11 additional fire plugs for north Shelby. Birmingham Water Works Board, however, wants $23,000 for installation, Geyer said.

"The commission seemed surprised that the cost was so high," Geyer said. "They said they'd do whatever they could to assist us, but there was no indication of what they could, or would do."

According to Geyer, the water board installed plugs in north Shelby three years ago for $650 each. She said a fire district in Pell City is currently having plugs installed for about the same price.

Last year the fire district association filed suit against the Birmingham water board's rate hike for water and plug install-

Wilsonville wants park budget

Wilsonville's city council wants the park and recreation board to prepare a budget.

Councilman Hobart Lee suggested the move at Monday night's council meeting, so the city can take responsibility for financing the board. The suggestion came following discussion as to who will handle the grass cutting of the city ball park.

While Lee wanted to let the park board have the money and hire someone to do the work itself, the council decided that it will seek a replacement for former grass cutter Sherman Humphries who no longer wants the job.

However, the idea of funding the park board was well received by the council.

On another matter, the council agreed to check into the legality of issuing a business license on a temporary basis to a business in a residential section.

A request for such a license was made by Joe and Joey Lyde for a mail order gun shop.

The council agreed to let its garbage collector change his pickup days from Wednesdays and Saturdays to Tuesdays and Fridays.

This was approved with the understanding that the collector would take the responsibility of notifying his customers.

The council officially approved an ordinance changing the fee for turning water on from six to $17 dollars.

A question as to whether the City of Wilsonville will contribute $46 to the Birmingham Regional Planning Commission's 208 program was tabled.

Mayor Sherrel McClure reported to the council that before the city can legally do any work on water lines extending outside of the city, it must secure deeds to those lines.

Councilwoman Frances Phelps reported that she learned a great deal about block grants and what other cities were doing to improve themselves at a League of Municipalities Conference in Mobile.

She was also concerned about the annexation of Sunrise Cove.

Mayor McClure told the Reporter that as there was no unanimous vote in favor of annexation by residents in the subdivision, the matter must be handled by a local bill.

division cases will continue to be heard in Columbiana, but it may be occasionally necessary to schedule such cases at Valley.

Paul Owens, County Planning Director added, "The meeting room in Columbiana is too small to comfortably accommodate large crowds that zoning cases attract. Columbiana is also remote from Beat 12 and inconvenient for those most involved in zoning issues. Moving the meeting site closer to the people should encourage more participation in the zoning process."

The regular meetings are held on the third Mondays of each month at 7 p.m. Next Monday a number of zoning cases are scheduled for hearing.

Farmers' market may open in Columbiana

It appears that a Farmer's Market will be opening in Columbiana within the next few weeks.

Billy Robinson attended Thursday's meeting of the Columbiana Council to request permission to open a second market here.

The Chilton County resident already has one market open in

Although negotiations with the property owner aren't final, Robinson plans to open the market at the intersection of Hwy. 25 and 70 across from the old Strickland Chevrolet dealership.

Although no vote was taken on

Robinson's request since Mayor Buck Falkner and Councilman Frank Owen were absent, everyone present indicated they were in favo. of his opening the

Robinson said the market would be open seven days a week from 9 a.m. until dark except on Sunday when it would open in the afternoon.

Most of the produce will come from the family's farms in Chilton County and Quincy, Florida, Robinson reported.

If the market gains acceptance, Robinson said that the facilities will be gradually improved.

Another visitor at the meeting was Attention Home secretary Judy Gilbert.

In response to the council's request for information on the number of youngsters from Columbiana being served by the facility, Gilbert reported that there are 23.

Twenty-one are being helped through Shelby County Youth Service, she explained, while two youngsters are actually living in the home.

Reminding the council again that federal funds for the program are being cut off, she asked the city for some sort of donation.

While the council was sympathetic, Mayor Pro Tem Lewis Walker said that the council is not even sure it can meet its budget.

Promising the council's help as soon as the money situation makes it possible, Councilwoman Jessie Jones said, "We need to bear some of the support for our kids who are there.'

Everyone seemed willing to include the Attention Home in next year's budget.

However, the mention of the $1,000 cost of replacing a signal light at the intersection of Hwy. 25 bypass and county highway 47 caused some negative comments.

While the feeling was expressed that it was the state's responsibility, one council member said that it was up to the city to put up the light and the state to maintain it.

Since the panel was not at full strength, no action was taken on the matter.

Reporting on the situation regarding a family who had raw sewerage running from their dwelling, City Clerk Mary Largin said she had received no response from the Health Department.

Largin reported that she had informed the Health Department that the property owner in Harpersville had been notified of the situation last year, but no action has ever been taken.

The renters who are not hooked onto city sewer lines live in the Sterrett-College Street area.

Another problem in that area, Jones reported, is the large number of chickens which she estimated to be over 100.

It appears that Brantleyville residents will receive some relief from coal trucks soon.

County Enginner Gary Ray told the county commission Monday that he has warned the Timcoaland company about speed and weight limits in the community.

Brantleyville residents had requested by petition that the county commission stop coal trucks from using county roads 260 and 270 for the safety of citizens, children and the roads.

Chilton child drowns near Waxahatchee camp

at 4:20 p.m.

Fifteen minutes after they from shore near the boat launch began dragging operations for a missing five year old last Tuesday, the Lay Lake Rescue squad retrieved the body of Daniel Gay.

According to the Shelby County sheriff's department, the youngster had accompanied his mother and others from their church to a home near Camp Waxahatchee on Lay Lake where a Bible study was being held.

The family is from Union

Grove in Chilton County. After they were unable to find the missing child, his mother and friends notified the sheriff at

Holcombe said that residents can fight mosquitoes by

Grand jury hears

41 witnesses

A Shelby County grand jury considered evidence in 237 cases during the May session. That was 71 more cases than were presented a year ago.

After hearing evidence last week and on Tuesday, the panel issued 175 indictments, dismissed 27 cases, continued 33 and put two back on the district court docket.

Of the indictments issued, 169 were on felony charges, six were for misdemeanors.

Cases involving burglary and theft numbered 85 and another 85 cases were drug related.

Testimony was given by 41 individuals.

Before disbanding, the jurors also visted the Shelby County jail and found it to be in satisfactory condition.

However, they noted the need for plumbing improvements and the repair or replacement of security gates.

They also listed on their report that bars or mesh should be placed on cell windows.

Audits of the Shelby County Hospital Board and Sheriff's Fund were examined with the recommendation that the hospital be audited by the Alabama Department of Public Accounts, if authorized by law.

Lokey Ferry Road paving sought

A delegation from Sunrise Cove near Wilsonville did not get any promises from the Shelby County Commisson Monday.

They wanted the old Lokey Ferry Road paved, saying, "It stays beat-out all the time. It's like a washboard right now."

Rev. A.C. Phillips was spokesman for the group and pushed hard for paving the ninthtenths of a mile that seves as the main artery into Sunrise Cove.

But Commissioner Jake Morris, who lives in the area and said he probably knows the road better than anyone in the room, said he had a road in Chelsea that needed paving even more.

Noting that the commission has been unable to pave any roads since 1975, Morris said, "I'll do everything I can for what's best for the county. If I can get the money and the other commissioners will agree with me, I'll see about it, but I don't promise anything." He added that he would not want to pave that road without changing the intersection to make it safer. Members of the delegation said that dust from the road was bad for the health of the 19 families who live there, because several individuals have had heart surgery.

Among those appearing were Tom Cadle, Elmer Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Miller, Tom Donley, Mrs. A.C. Phillips, Virginia Cadle, Alice Sparks, Richard Murphy, Thurman Newman and Ruth Jones.

In other business, the commission agreed to transfer the county franchise for solid waste from Wayne Archer's Klean Kounty Company, to Remove-all Waste Disposal, Inc. Archer asked for the change, saying he is selling his company to the firm headed by Wayne Lombard and Clay Day.

The new company will take over the routes without delay. It is a locally based firm that has contracts for waste pick-up in other areas of central Alabama.

S.I. Lime Company of Saginaw asked the commission to grant industrial park status to a large tract of company land. Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden was unclear whether the request was for 700 acres or 1200 acres, but a public hearing on the request was scheduled for May 24, at which time exact descriptions will be given, he said. (See legal notice on page 14.)

Bibb-Shelby road closing disputed

by Fred Guarino

Attorneys for Shelby and Bibb Counties, as well as Burgess Mining and Construction Company, are being called on to settle a road use dispute.

The road in question is one now closed to the public, which was reportedly used in the past by residents of Marvel in Bibb County and Boothton in Shelby County.

An attorney for Burgess Mining Company claims the company closed a private road for the safety of the public and for the protection of its mining equipment.

Public officials from Bibb County appealed to the Shelby County Commission, Monday, for support in getting the road reopened to the public.

Representing residents of Bibb County were Probate Judge George Desmond and County Commissioners Elroe Hood, W. E. Hamric and Napoleon Wor-

Judge Desmond told the Shelby County Commission that Burgess allowed the public to use the road in the past because mining operations made an old public road in the area unpassable.

He told the commissioners that the company has since put a gate on both ends of the road preventing public access.

The judge ask the Shelby County Commission to join his in an effort to get the road reopen-

Shelby County Commissioner Harold Davenport asked why the road was closed if the public was allowed to use it in the past. To this, an attorney for Burgess, William E. Prescott, III, responded, "I am not in a position to debate. I don't feel Bibb County's Commission is fully apprised as to what is a public road."

Prescott said that the company let the public use the road in the past but that it was posted. He stated that in the past there was no road where the present mining road is located.

He said the road was closed because the entire area will be mined. He stated, "It is extremely dangerous to be in the area. Without controlling the road, we have no idea who is in the woods around there."

Prescott stated, "I don't think either county recognizes what is involved, even if it could be called a public road."

He added that he did not think the counties would want to be responsible for the maintenance of the road or the danger.

He also pointed out that the counties could not get prescriptive rights to the road because there are a half dozen land owners, including the State of Alabama.

Prescott stated firmly for Burgess Minining and Construction Company "We have no intention of opening the gates."

When Judge Desmond pointed out that the gates were closed even when the mines were not in use, Prescott had a ready response.

The company attorney reported that Burgess Mining had hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of equipment and some of it has been vandalized in the past.

Hood reported that two weeks ago A. E. Burgess showed him a road that people could use with a little work. However, he reported, since that time the road has been filled with dirt.

Prescott contended that the road was not blocked and stated emphatically, "If anything has been done, I can assure you we did not do that."

Shelby County Probate Judge Tommy Snowden suggested that county attorneys and an attorney for Burgess get together and settle the issue.

The action came because of his alleged refusal to take a PEI test following his arrest in Chilton County several weeks ago.

Cook was originally charged with driving in the wrong lane of Interstate 65, and with driving under the influence of intoxicants. Those charges were dropped, however, because of a provision of the state constitution that legislators could not be arrested when going to and from legislative meetings.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

A guy gets old and he stops and he looks back and then he goes on again, knowing in his heart that what he's looking for is gone forever. But he looks anyhow. Because, in all the world, it seems the thing to do.

Maybe what he sees is basketball games and discipline and young eager boys and older boys... and a newspaper office and an editor behind a big desk and people coming and going, the substance of the news of the day... and words written and responsibility and a name signed at the end ...

And folks in trouble, little folks, and poverty, and other folks helping and justice running its course... and watermelon patches and sunhats and faded overalls and mules and old plows... and corn in a row and cotton and black-eye peas...

Sunday school classes and men teaching and other men listening and some who came and moved away but didn't forget... and schoolhouses and courthouses and offices and plowed ground and gardens growing...

Fishing trips and minnows and crappie and big bull bream.. and music and dances and time flying and big talk and soft laughter ... little hills and tall trees and crowds and parsons and words and loved ones in a row and flowers...

There was Wales Wallace Sr. and Handy Ellis and Amos Holman and Luther Fowler and Jim Merrell and Jack Stone and Preston Acker and Clarence Abbott and Dick McGraw and Garvis and Mollie Brasher and Henry Stone and Jim Taylor and Lawrence Looney and Josh Gibson and P. Baer and Curtis Falkner and Cecil Duke and Frank Fulton and Amos Daniels and last week, under the trees at Fourmile Cemetery, it was Irving Stone.

Yes, a guy gets old and he stops and he looks back and then he goes on again, knowing in his heart that there is no going back to yesteryear, no matter how hard his heart begs.

Scrambled

As I headed for a horse show with my daughter, son-in-law and granddaughter Saturday, I envisioned an afternoon of sitting.

But studying the class sheet, my daughter decided there weren't any classes we wanted to see in the afternoon show. So she came up with the bright idea of visiting some interesting sites in the capital city. Of course the logical place to visit was the capitol.

My six year old granddaughter was in favor of the plan and so was my German born son-in-law.

I thought it was a good idea too. But it had been years since I'd toured that area, and I'd forgotten the number of stairways, hallways and the distance between buildings.

As soon as the lady who greeted us in the capital heard my son-in-law's accent, she wanted to know where we were from.

Learning that it was just up the road in Shelby County, she appeared to be crestfallen. But a group who thundered into the building on our heels reported they were a senior class from Missouri.

That information seemed to cheer her up. As we started climbing the first staircase, we could hear her launching into her informative spiel.

It was a long way to the top, but I was still in pretty good shape even after the descent and during an excursion around the flags of the 50 states.

Well of course no tour would have been complete without a trip across the street to the White House of the Confederacy and the nearby Archives and History building.

Fortunately, we missed a rambunctious group who were emerging from the home, shouting that the governor would hear how they were treated.

I think their early departure was called for because of the dozen or so children they were herding through, who obviously did not know how to behave.

Our tour of the dwelling was pleasant and uneventful, but I was beginning to Jrag as we started climbing the steps of the archives.

After examining everything on the second floor, someone asked if we should go on to the third floor.

But there was no question in anyone's mind that we had seen enough history for one day.

Why I ever suggested going from there to a shopping mall, I'll never know. I guess our pit stop at a fast food place renewed my energy. At any rate, our tootsies got another workout. But it was the last one of the day. Now eager to get to the horse show, my son-in-law asked for directions. But much to his dismay, my daughter's reply was much like mine would have been. "I only know where to turn off when I'm on the road we come down on," she said.

I'm happy to report we eventually wound up in the right place, only missing one or two

But we were all in fine fettle again the next day and ready to begin another hiking expedition.

This time we wended our way back and forth through a civic center complex, helping my younger daughter load up the antiques she'd been exhibiting. After that, my walking weekend ended - and I'll have to confess, it wasn't a minute too soon. I'm afraid these fun weekends are just too much for me. I think I'll spend next weekend the way I usually do - working.

And Montgomery District Attorney Jimmy Evans, after surveying the situation, decided that he too would wait for another day.

Look for a major effort soon to have the legislative immunity provision in the State Constitution either drastically amended or repealed. Newspapers and radio and television stations have reported a barrage of calls and letters from irate citizens concerning this provision in the aftermath of the so-called "Doug Cook Affair." Cook is the state senator charged with driving under the influence and driving in the wrong direction on the Interstate who had the charges dropped because he claimed he was enroute to Montgomery on legislative business. The Constitution gives legislators immunity from arrest while going to and from the Capitol.

Commission opts out of BRPC; puts forestry on hold

by Fred Guarino

Shelby County's commission declined Monday to contribute to the Birmingham Regional Planning Commission's (BRPC) 208 program.

The program provides water studies for the area.

The county was asked to contribute $1,877 to continue the program the rest of this year.

County Commissioner Jake Morris immediately responded, "There ain't no way I'm going to do it."

He made a motion that the money be denied BRPC and Commissioner Alph Low seconded the measure.

Probate Judge Tommy Snowden told the commissioners that the program has been much more beneficial to Jefferson County than it has to Shelby.

A member of the BRPC Board, Snowden said that he told other board members that he could not see Shelby County go-

Commissioner Harold Davenport stated that with the financial difficulties of the county, "At this particular time, I can't bring myself to vote for it."

Commissioner Don Murphy stated that he agreed wholeheartedly making it unanimous.

The commission agreed to withhold funding for the Forestry Commission as the result of problems reported by landowners.

Commissioner Jake Morris told the commission that there were a lot of local people dissatisfied with the service.

He asked the commission to seek an itemized statement for the forestry budget and a list of equipment used in Shelby Coun-

Morris also recommended that a meeting be held between forestry personnel in Montgomery, Birmingham and Shelby County.

Commissioner Don Murphy

stated that there was either a communication problem or some people not doing their jobs.

He said, "If we've got personality problems, the state needs to do something about it."

Murphy made a motion that funds be temporarily withheld from the forestry commission until a meeting could be held.

That motion was approved. When asked who was upset with the forestry commission, Murphy told the Reporter "large land owners."

Gary Hamilton, forester for St. Clair County, who is on temporary duty as forester for Shelby County, told the Reporter he is not aware of any specific compaints.

He said any time there are two forest fires burning, and there is are naturally complaints, but he does not know what complaints might have led to the commission's action.

The county contributes about

$35,000 annually to the Forestry Division for use in Shelby County. Most of the sum is obtained by a special five cents per acre tax on forestland that forest owners voted in favor of several years

In other business, commissioners agreed to install a pay telephone at the county airport over the objection of Commissioner Murphy, who thought the base operator should install it.

The commission agreed to take new bids for Sheriff's Department walkie-talkies.

A resolution was approved honoring Floyd A. Blankenship who has retired from the county highway department after more than 20 years of service.

The program will include a historical perspective of Montevallo, interviews with the city's residents, and visual footage of the community.

One of the features will be a montage of Montevallo photos selected from those submitted by residents in a contest.

Photos should be prior to 1960 with special consideration given to those taken before 1940 (especially the 19th century). Photos will be judged on uni-

queness, historical documenta-

All photographs will be returnwithin one week after the deadline.

The deadline for the contest will be May 31.

Photos should be sent to Joe Terry, University Televison Services, P. O. Box X, University Alabama 35486.

Joe Terry, the producer of the series, told the Reporter that the purpose of the first program will be to show people what it is actually like to live in Montevallo.

He stated that his crew will be making a lot of interviews with residents about their city ... both its good and bad sides.

He commented, "Of course we'll probably get a lot of the same stories but that's OK too."

Terry stated that the residents of Montevallo will actually be able to assist in the production because, "they know a lot more about Montevallo than I do."

The new series will begin on the Alabama Public Televison Network, Thursday, July 1 at 8:30 p.m. with the Montevallo production.

We're keeping up with Shelby County. Now that's saying something!

Shelby Medical Center-today; 210 beds.

WEEK - a good time to take a minute or two to follow SMC's progress during our decade of growth.

The first step to establish a hospital in Shelby County took place on October 5, 1954, when a group of interested county residents filed a certificate of incorporation. The incorporation was in the name of "Shelby County Hospital Board."

A meeting was held in Columbiana August 2, 1956, to discuss a location for the proposed hospital. Six Shelby County cities were represented: Alabaster, Siluria, Calera, Montevallo, Wilsonville, and Columbiana.

The following April, the Board unanimously approved the purchase of 14 acres of land in Alabaster for $14,705. A 35-bed hospital was approved in August at a cost of $540,000. Funding was to be shared by the federal and county governments. Funds from the Hill-Burton Act ($360,000) and local ad-valorem taxes ($180,000) made construction

By February 27, 1958, the Board voted to change the hospital's name to "Shelby Memorial Hospital."

The hospital opened its doors September 27, 1959, with 35 beds the culmination of years of hope and hard work.

Plans for expansion had begun even before the doors to the new health-care facility were opened.

Expansion was rapid and wellplanned. In 1962, the ground floor was completed and 20 additional beds were added. Three years later, a 40-bed nursing home was built and the floor above the nursing home was completed.

A year later, an obstetrics department and 20 additional beds were added. In 1972, the nursing home floor was converted for general hospital use.

In 1975, the Board voted to undergo a third major expansion. Designated Phase I, this building program was established as the first of three carefully planned stages of Extensive renovations and additions in Phase I included four new operating rooms in the surgical suite, a new intensive care unit equipped with the latest patient monitoring equipment, and 80 new patient rooms featuring the latest furniture and equipment in conjunction with centrally located nurses' stations. Additional facilities included a spacious new laboratory, a new radiology department including three X-ray rooms, a new and expanded pharmacy, a spacious lobby, a new board room, and an expanded dining area.

As Phase I open house and dedication ceremonies were being held in July 1975, plans were underway for Phase II, a $13.5-million expansion adopted by the Board of Directors in 1978. Phase II received approval from the appropriate local, state, and federal agencies, and construction was begun - part of a ten-year long-range master plan to enable the hospital to meet the continually growing medical needs of Shelby County citizens.

During May 1981, the hospital's name was changed from Shelby Memorial Hospital to Shelby Medical Center to reflect the hospital's growth in facilities and services.

Perhaps the most exciting event for the Medical Center during 1981 was the completion of the Phase II Building Program. Dedication ceremonies were held December 5, after construction was completed during late fall.

During this second major expansion, 40 beds were added - bringing the total bed complement to 210. Other major additions were: an emergency-ambulatory center, new dining and kitchen facilities, ultramodern facilities for neurology, cardiology, and pulmonary medicine, and additional departmental spaces, as well as the total renovation of the existing structure - both inside and

During the past 20 years, Shelby Medical Center has proved our capability and willingness to meet the growing medical demands of Shelby County's rapidly expanding popula-

Even as we dedicate the new Phase II renovations, plans are underway for the final phase of the Building Program - Phase III.

Future plans include the addition of psychiatric beds, vascular imaging, mammography, community health forums, and the construction of a 100-bed satellite hospital in East Shelby County.

Not only must we continue to expand the number of beds and service areas, but we must also increase the services which provide total health care to our patients.

As we reach the midpoint in the "Decade of Growth," we look back with pride at the gains we have made at Shelby Medical Center - in our modern facilities, in the latest medical equipment and technology, and in the most highly trained and skilled medical professionals available anywhere. We look forward to reaching even greater potential in

Society takes custody of neglected dogs

They ain't nuthin' but hound dogs. But the Humane Society of Shelby County thinks even a hound dog deserves a fair shake.

The society charged the Wild Kingdom Hunting Club with neglect and recently took custody of 21 of its dogs, according to society director Anne Speakman. Seventeen of the hounds are now up for adoption at the animal shelter in Columbiana.

Speakman said the hunting club, located near Calera, had been warned last year about improper feeding of its penned hunting dogs. For a while, club members took better care of the animals, she said.

However, Speakman said that care of the dogs had recently deteriorated to the point where they only were fed bread once a week. So on April 22 the Humane Society took custody of the dogs.

She said five of the animals were in such poor health, they had to be turned over to veterinarians for care.

Most of the dogs are tan and black and trained for hunting, Speakman said. Some are still puppies.

If adopted, the society is asking that the dogs not be bred because of pet over-population.

The $20 and $25 adoption fees include rabies and distempter shots, and the dogs have been wormed. For $10 more, spaying or nuetering can be arranged, she

Team wins trophies

Even though they only began studying Taekwondo Karate a little over two months ago, members of the Montevallo team recently won four trophies in national competition.

Fifteen year old Jim Turner won a first place award in free fighting; two seconds went to six year old Morgan Lawley in sparring and Steve Wilkinson, 18, in free fighting.

A third place award went to eight year old Rachel McKinney in the form competition.

The 16 members of the Montevallo club who traveled to Little Rock, Ark. were among 1,500 competitors from all over the United States who took part in the grand national champion-

In order to make the trip, students and parents raised over $800 by washing cars, holding garage sales and other activities.

Oak Mt. expects big crowds for horse show, bicycle races

Saturday may see one of the largest crowds in years at Oak Mountain State Park. The key to the potential is the double drawing card of flying show horses and flying bicycle racers.

The Oak Mountain Hunter and Jumper Competition gets underway at 8 a.m. as children, amateur and professional riders mount up to vie for over $12,000 in prize money.

Judge for the show will be Geoff Sutton of Memphis, Tennessee, and Anne Mitchell of Montevallo will be steward.

The Oak Mountain Riding School, under the direction of Galal and Pam Abdulla, is hosting the show. The competition is in accordance with The American Horse Shows Association, and will be held at the riding stables at the demonstration

For a different taste of fun and action, the War of the Stars National Bicycle-Motocross competition will crank off at 9 a.m. The new bicycle-motocross track is located near the park beach.

Races so far this year have drawn nearly 300 competitors each from around the southeast. Riders from across the country are expected for the nationals.

Bicycle-motocross, like its motorized dirt bike cousin, requires the rider to manipulate a windy, hilly course. But instead of noisy engines, the kids have to peddle hard and fast.

Other events scheduled for the park this month include a Jaycee 10 kilometer walkathon, set for Sunday, May 16. Proceeds go to fight juvenile diabetes.

The Shelby County Center for Exceptional Children will visit the park May 20. A nature hikeslide show will be held May 22. The Vulcan Trail Association will hold an orienteering demonstra-

Dry Valley asks council for fire, medical services

Four citizens of Dry Valley asked the Montevallo city concil Monday night for fire and medical services for the Dry Valley Home Owners Associa-

T.L. Hunnicutt, spokesman for the group, asked the city to provide the services on a contract

Mayor Ralph Sears replied to the request, saying the city's legal counsel and the Alabama League of Municipalities advised against a contract arrangement unless the contract is with a formally organized fire district.

City Administrator Don Hughes suggested members fo the association draw a map of the area desiring protection and submit it to Councilman Grady Parker, chairman of the city's public safety committee, for further study.

Dana Barnes, Chief of Emergency Medical Services for the city stated that he would inspect the area requesting protection and report to Parker's com-

Skit scheduled

'Thurber's Carnival,' a series of humorous skits and sketches reflecting the wry side of life, goes on stage in Montevallo this

Sponsored by the Shelby County Community Theatre, the play will be presented in the recreation building at Orr Park at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, with a Sunday afternoon matinee at 2.

Directed by Charles Majure, the show features Marty Everse, Elaine Hughes and a cast of mittee the feasibility of including it in the city's coverage area.

No additional action was taken on the request.

In other business, council members approved, on a split vote, an application from Michael Harris for an offpremises beer and wine license. Harris proposes to establish a convenience store on Selma Road near the former Super Fly Club.

A proposed ordinance designed to regulate lounges was returned to the city's legal counsel for modification.

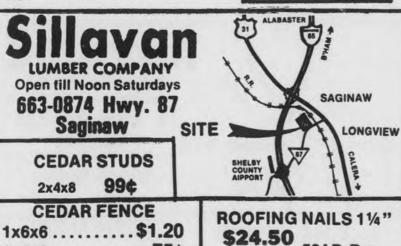

In a final item of business, Mayor Sears asked council members to give consideration to combining the city's water board and gas committee into a single utilities board. No action was

The David Lindsay Chapter of DAR held its May meeting at the home of Ruth Coffman, with Eloise Meroney as co-hostess.

Mrs. Jack Ward, Regent, gave a report on a recent ceremony in Clanton where the DAR honored Mrs. J.J. Mullins' memory by placing a marker at her grave.

The newly organized Clanton chapter of DAR assisted at the grave marking. Many of the Clanton chapter were former members of the David Lindsay Chapter.

In other business, Mrs. D.J. Duffee, Jr. of Birmingham, vice regent of the Alabama Society of DAR, reported on the state meeting in March and on the National Congress in April.

Army Private Danny R. Williams, son of Troy and Virginia O. Williams of Rt. 2, Alabaster, has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

He is a 1978 graduate of Thompson High School.

When Dana J. Barnes' appendix ruptured, he knew what was happening, and he knew what to do about it.

As Chief of Emergency Medical Services for the City of Montevallo, Barnes has usually been on the other end of urgent phone calls, but on this occasion, he called City Administrator Don Hughes, said "I'm dying, can you get me to the hospital right

Hughes sped to the rescue, radioing ahead to Shelby Medical Center and physicians.

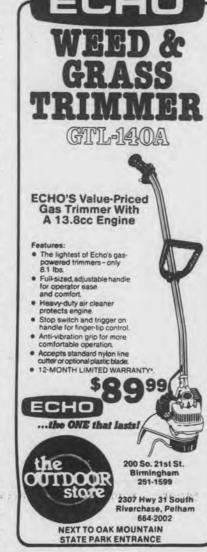

The difficult surgery was begun within minutes after they arrived, and Barnes came through the ordeal with flying colors. But it took two days in intensive care and a full week in the University for 1982-83. hospital before he was back on his feet.

The timing was particularly bad for Barnes' student career at the University of Montevallo, coming as it did the last few weeks of the semester. He will have to finish up his course work in the next term.

But he is especially happy to have the experience behind him, and is very grateful to all his friends and neighbors who showered him with cards and other expressions of kindness during his emergency.

He is now ready to answer those emergency calls again himself, and says he much prefers being on that end of the telephone line.

Thompson math challenge answered by Montevallo

Montevallo Elementary School Thompson, Susan Sargent. had no difficulty in rounding up a math team when Thompson Elementary School issued a challenge to see who had the best mathamaticians.

There were 67 students competing for the four positions on the fifth grade team alone.

And Thompson students were eager to compete too. In one grade, 127 students tried to earn a berth on the team.

When the scores were totaled after Thursday's competition at TES, the host team managed to come off as winners in every

But there's always next year, observed TES Assistant Principal Doug Trotter, who coordinated the competition.

Trotter noted that the school had held an intra school competition last year and this year decided to open it to other students.

If the county doesn't initiate a tournament for fourth and fifth grade students, Trotter said, then Thompson will invite other schools to compete next year.

"We do this," he pointed out, "both to create an interest in math and to get math teams ready for middle school."

The competition Thursday consisted of ciphering and written problems.

In the fifth grade team event, Thompson totaled 590 points, Montevallo 417. Thompson's fourth grade team wound up with 625 points; Montevallo's scored 561 points.

In individual scoring, Thompson fifth grader Kim Bush made the highest score for the grade with 141 points. Ky MacPherson was the MES high scorer with 129 points.

Bo Eison from Thompson scored 160 points to win the fourth grade trophy in the individual event; Jill Lawley was the winner from Montevallo with 145 points.

Thompson's fifth grade team was composed of: Valorie Moore, Kim Bush, Melissa Alternates were: Lisa

Students on Montevallo's fifth grade team were: Angie Gerber, Potts, Joyce Smith.

Mike Ludwig, Ky MacPherson, Donna Steadman.

What Does Jesus Teach - About Salvation?

In Matt, Mark, and Luke account is given of Jesus' final moments on earth before His Ascension. In Luke 24:46-47 Jesus said to the apostles, "Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer, and rise again from the dead the third day, and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name un-

In Mark 16:15-16 Jesus said to the apostles, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every baptized shall be saved but he that believeth not shall be damned."

VISA®

Note the order of events described by Jesus in Mark. 1. Preach the word. 2. He that believeth. 3. Is baptized. 4. Shall be save. Some confuse this order. For instance: 1. Preach. 2. He that believeth, 3. Is saved. 4. Then baptized. This is not what Jesus said. In Matt. 28:18-19 Jesus said to the apostles, "All power is given unto me in Heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

God willing next week we'll look at what the apostles did after they received POWER. LK. 24:49.

A warm welcome awaits you at the Church of Christ at South Columbiana.

Track teams garner medals

by Richard Crosby

County track teams claimed honors in last week's state track meets.

Vincent won second place in the varsity girls' meet. Montevallo placed third in the junior high girls', Briarwood placed fourth in the boys and fifth in the girls junior high meet.

The wins came at the state track meet held at Troy State University last Friday and Saturday.

Vincent wins 2nd

Vincent placed second to Calhoun County in the varsity girls meet. The Yellow Jackets led after the first day of the meet, but fell behind on Saturday and settled for second place.

Three members of the team won state championships and two of those girls set new state

Sebrina Kidd won the discus title in setting a new record of 114 feet, outdistancing the old mark by two feet. She also placed second in the shot put.

Teresa Peterson set a record of 15.2 seconds in winning the 110 hurdles. She also carried home several other medals. She placed fourth in the 100 yard dash, fourth in the 220, and fifth in the long Loretta Perkins won the state high jump championship.

Other individual medals were won by Wanda McCrimon with a third place finish in the high jump and long jump. Majorie Hall placed second in the mile run. Angela Riggins was fifth in the 440, and Pam Stephens was fourth in the two mile

The 440 relay team placed third in the state. Running for the four-girl team were Riggins, Peterson, McCrimon, and Ellen Jordan.

The mile relay team also finished third in the state. Members of that team are Jordan, Perkins, Hall and Riggins.

The state meet concluded another banner year for the track team at Vincent which won the state indoor meet in February, and claimed many other medals and trophies during the track season.

Montevallo places 3rd

Montevallo's Jennifer Wilder won the majority of the points for her team. The junior high squad placed third in the state girls meet.

Miss Wilder also set a new state record for the mile run with a time of 5:56. She also placed second in the high jump and third in the 110 hurdles. Fran Agee also had a good showing for Montevallo with a third place finish in the 100 yard dash and a fourth in the 220.

The mile relay team from Montevallo placed fourth in the meet.

Montevallo should improve next year with the entire squad returning for another crack at records and medals.

Briarwood Boys

Briarwood's junior high boys took the fourth place award at the state track meet. The Lions were one of 22 teams competing in the annual Greg Collier placed second in the 440 and third in the long jump for Briarwood. Wayne Miller finished second in the mile run.

The mile relay team for the Lions placed fifth. Making up the squad are Collier, Bob Farris, Victor Nichols, and Wayne Price.

Briarwood Girls

The junior high girl's team for Briarwood placed fifth. Last year the team was third. Shannon Moody placed in two events - third in the discus and fourth in the shot put. Candi Engel was fifth in the 880. Mitzi Harper was third in the mile run and Debbie Scotch was fifth in the 440.

The mile relay team for Briarwood was fourth. Members of the squad are Engel, Scotch, Christine Hughes, and Cheri Webb.

Track Coach Bobby Scott commented that he was proud of the performance of his teams in the state meet.

Briarwood will continue to participate in the state junior high events next year. But the varsity squad will not be able to because of membership restrictions of the Alabama High School Athletic Association. Those restrictions do not apply to the junior high.

Also winning medals

Also winning medals for Vincent were Ane' Stone with a second place finish in the shot put and fourth in the discus. Sharon Kelley placed third in the shot put. Both girls competed in the junior high meet.

Vincent's junior high boys' team also won points. Phillip Bruno won the mile run with a new state record of 4:53. He also finished third in the Norman Grayson won two medals in running for the junior high boys' team for Montevallo. He placed fifth in the 440 and high jump.

Vincent High School would like to have won, but the coaches and players aren't dejected that they lost in the state playoffs. After all, Vincent was the only county team that even went to the playoffs. The Yellow Jackets put on a good show, but lost in the second round last week.

Coach Kenny Wright isn't calling the loss the biggest of the year. "We didn't expect to go to the playoffs this year." Wright commented. "After losing seven

County tournament gets first pitch Monday

County baseball teams will be fighting for the championship starting on Monday. The annual tournament will be played on Johnson Field at the University of Montevallo.

First round action begins at 3:30 p.m. Monday with Montevallo and Pelham squaring off. At 5:45, Chelsea and Vincent will tangle, followed at 8 p.m. by Thompson and Indian Springs.

Tuesday night will have Briarwood playing the winner of the Montevallo-Pelham contest at 4 p.m. At 7, Calera will play Shelby County.

After an off night on Wednesday, the tourney resumes with the semi-finals on Thursday night.

The winner of the Thompson-Indian Springs match will play the winner of the Calera-Shelby County game. That game will be played at 7 p.m. Earlier, The Chelsea-Vincent winner will play the winner of the Briarwood

The finals will be held on Friday night at 7 p.m. The All County team will be announced at the conclusion of the tournament and awarding of trophies.

Bob Hope headlines sight classic

It's Bob Hope time again. Riverchase Country Club is the site for the ninth annual Charley Boswell Celebrity Classic golf tournament set for June 5th.

Hope, always on hand for jokes and bringing out the crowds, will be joined by acclaimed pianist Roger Williams.

Also joining the lineup will be Dave Marr, former PGA champion, who will head up the golf clinic. Also helping with those duties will be Doug Sanders, Bob Goalby and Mac McLendon.

Since its beginning, the Boswell Classic has contributed $537,000 to the Eye Foundation Hospital in Birmingham.

Tickets for the June 5th banquet and show, featuring Hope and Williams, may be obtained by calling the Boswell office at 322-2517. The evening event will take place in the South Exhibition Hall at the Birmingham-Jefferson Civic Center.

Lure retrievers work to save fishermen money

With bass fishing picking up, and those rascal fish hiding in the weedbeds, the lure losing season hits an all-time high.

The cost of fishing lures, like everything else, is going up. Plugs that used to sell for a dollar are now costing three times that.

Losing one of these to an underwater snag can put a dent in a fisherman's wallet...not to mention his tackle box.

There might not be anything more aggravating than reeling in a line without the lure dangling on the end. And with the cost of them so expensive, most fisherman are inclined to save them when they hang up on stumps,

County players make all stars

The annual East-West All Star Game is set for this Sunday in Clanton. The roster at this yearly event includes the names of the best athletes from county baseball squads.

Playing in this year's game will be: Calera - Ricky Winterbottom, Bobby Turnbloom and Barry Turnbloom; Shelby County -Randy Lewis, Bobby Greenawalt, Matt Dill, and Tim Smith.

rocks, or other unseen debris.

There are several ways to go about reclaiming the stuck lure, but the most effective seems to be the use of a manufactured lure retriever. These devices are slotted to slip over the fishing line, and are usually equipped with short lengths of chain to entangle the lure's hooks.

A stout line attached to the retriever lets you pull the lure backward and free once it is hooked.

If you don't have a retriever, jiggle the rod tip up and down vigorously while holding the line taut, letting it go slack on each downward move. If this doesn't shake the hooks loose, move your boat so that the line can be pulled in the opposite direction the lure was traveling when it snagged.

If the snag is shallow, plunge the rod into the water as far as possible and reel the tip right up to the lure. Then try to push the lure backward with the tip, or holding pressure on the line, work the tip in a circle to dislodge the hooks.

When all else fails, cut the line several feet above the water and tie on a small piece of styrofoam as a marker. This way, you can return later with a retriever and find the snagged lure.

Tennis camp is first for Alabama

Tennis lovers need not leave Alabama for their specialized summer campers. Marion Institute will be hosting a tennis camp this summer and participants can look forward to six hours a day in instruction.

The camp is open for boys and girls, ages 10-17, and will be held July 11 through July 17. John McWilliams, tennis coach at Marion, is directing the new camp and Boyd (Boo) Mason is co-directer.

Mason is the tennis coach at Indian Springs School and is a teaching professional. He is also owner of a tennis shop in Chelsea.

The summer camp will feature a traditional approach to the game with an emphasis on stroke production, strategy, etiquette and sportsmanship.

A number of non-tennis activities are also planned such as swimming, movies, and ghost stories, told by Alabama's foremost tale teller, Katherine Windham.

Campers will be housed in dorms on the Marion campus and all meals furnished. For more information contact Mason at 678-9502 or 967-9502 or call McWilliams at 875-7507.

Sports Scribbles

by Richard Crosby

Baseball fans take note! Need those professional ball scores? Can't wait for the paper, TV or radio to read them over the air? Want to know the probable starting pitchers for tonight's games?

No need to wonder because you can find out with one phone call. Terry Smith of Columbiana accidently called the wrong number the other day and got a 'baseball hotline' of sorts.

A tape recording identifying itself as 'Qualified Sports' with 'Barney Bucket' with tell you the results with winning and losing pitchers.

By dialing another number you can learn who to expect on the mound for the various teams. No, you don't have to listen to any advertising message. All you get is results.

Don't bother asking me why, or how, just dial 871-2131 for results and 871-2133 for other news.

The All County Banquet is set for May 22nd. The Coaches Association annually funds the banquet which honors those athletes selected All County in football, basketball, baseball, and volleyball.

Falcons utilize back door to enter baseball playoffs

It's official. The University of Montevallo facing each other head coach Bob Riesener admit-Montevallo Falcons are entered in the 1982 NAIA District 27 Baseball Playoffs.

Montevallo actually finished the year in 5th place in the district in a season which saw probably the best-balanced race ever. But the Falcons get to go into the playoffs, because Stillman and Alabama State, who finished ahead of Montevallo, did not play the required 30 games.

The playoffs will include Birmingham-Southern College, Huntingdon College and Montevallo. The games begin Thursday with Huntingdon and that afternoon and the loser playing 'Southern that evening. The action will be on the B-SC field.

The Falcons are 31-18 overall after taking a pair from Huntingdon on Saturday, 2-1 and 7-3. Montevallo finished in a tie for 2nd in the Southern States Conference with the University of West Florida at 5-7, trailing Birmingham-Southern and was 30-15 in District 27 play.

A visit to Auburn University on Monday, May 10, closed out the Falcons' regular season schedule.

When informed that his team had officially made the playoffs, ted, "Maybe people will say we backed in, but when you look at the season as a whole, it hasn't been that bad. Our record is one of the best we've ever had, and we're playing pretty well right now. I hope we've got some momentum heading into the tournament. We intend to give it our best shot at defending our district championship, that's for sure."

With three wins in a row, Montevallo's pitching has looked strong and the mound staff should be the Falcons' key in the

YMCA offers summer class in swimming

Besides being one of the best forms of exercise, swimming is also a sport that people of all ages can enjoy.

So for anyone who doesn't know how to swim, the Shelby County YMCA is offering morning and evening classes.

They will begin May 31 and continue throughout the summer. Executive Director Molly McGregor says that YMCA membership is not necessary in order to take the classes.

Instructors, she said, have been trained by the YMCA in the most modern learn-to-swim techni-

"We at the Y think everyone should learn to swim," McGregor remarked, "if for no other reason, than because it's good for the heart and lungs and it can relieve tension and stress."

Registration is now underway at the YMCA office in Alabaster.

For more information about the classes and other summer programs, call the Y at 663-6504.

Store chain tells ### of rise in sales

Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc. reports sales for the first quarter of 1982 of $1,588,032,000. This compares with $1,480,058.00 for the same period of 1981, and is an increase of 7.3 percent.

For the 40 weeks ended March 31, 1982, the sale total was $5,063,810,000 compared with $4,737,892,000, an increase of 6.9 percent.

The company expects to open approximately 40 new stores and close about the same number during the fiscal year which ends June 30, 1982. The rate of new store openings during the next fiscal year will remain at reduced levels due to the inability of developers to obtain shopping center financing at acceptable interest rates and terms. Remodelings and enlargements to update older stores are being accelerated during this period of reduced new store construction.

WALTER GREGORY SMITH

Walter Gregory Smith of Shelby has been named recipient of a George C. Wallace leadership scholarship to Troy State University.

The announcement was made today by University President Dr. Ralph W. Adams.

Smith, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Smith, is a graduating senior at Shelby County High School where he is president of the student government association, a member of the Beta Club, Junior Civitan Club and Interclub Council.

Paint a picture of old home

by Shelba Nivens

If you had trouble deciding what to give your mother for Mother's Day, next year you might like to do what Nellie Williams of Wilsonville did.

Of course, Nellie has had quite a bit of experience at painting and drawing. She often designs and constructs her own greeting cards, gives art work as gifts and has sold several paintings. Her first public showing is scheduled for Childersburg library later this mother Carrie Rice Ginn is of the Rice family home located on highway 56 near Four-Mile Baptist Church.

The house was built in 1913 and 1914 by Mrs. Ginn's father Isaac Alexander "Charlie" Rice. It is now owned by Eli Stevens.

Mrs. Williams said her mother has many fond memories of the old home and she wanted to preserve it for her on canvas.

Carrie Rice married Marlin P. Ginn, an early Wilsonville grocery store owner, but they moved to Jefferson County where they raised their family.

The painting of the old home was unveiled and presented to Mrs. Ginn Sunday during a special ceremony honoring her as the oldest living charter member of the Pleasant Grove Nazarene Church. The ceremony took place at the church in Birm-

Railroad ties provide material for mountain-top home

by Bert Seaman

Log cabin homes became popular a few years ago. But a Montevallo couple had an inspiration when they got ready to build.

Instead of using logs, Loyd and Cliffortine Harrris substituted railroad ties.

One advantage of the used ties was the cost. Harris reported that they are free. However, he was quick to add that they cannot be obtained without the railroad's permission.

His only cost for the ties, Harris said, was the hauling.

Since the Harris' son decided to build the same type of home nearby, the Montevallo family pooled their efforts and spent three years putting up both struc-

So both houses were built at the cost of one conventional home, Harris reported."

Although the home he and his wife occupy has a spacious porch running along two sides, the focal point is what Mrs. Harris calls her "yodeling balcony."

Patterned after the small railed porches seen on Swiss chalets, it projects from a second floor bedroom.

Since the home is built on one of the highest points in Montevallo, the family has a splendid view of the countryside

Mrs. Harris claims that the

UA alumni plan party

The Jefferson County Chapter of the University of Alabama Alumni Association is having a spring party on Thursday, May 20, from 5 until 8 p.m., at the Botannical Gardens in Birmingham.

All alumni, members, and friends are invited to the party.

temperature is actually ten degrees cooler on the top of the hill than it is at her daughter's home at the bottom.

Proving that he doesn't pass up any free building materials, Harris pointed out the stair railings and towel racks he made from the wood of a cedar tree that was felled by a storm.

He says he's also planning to make cabinets from what is left of the wood contained in the huge tree.

Using many of their own ideas in the do-it-yourself home, the Harrises used wooden flooring as their bedroom ceiling.

And the two inch thick door which opens into their bedroom from the outside is also made from floor boards. Large black barn hinges, steel bolts and a Z design made from boards add to the weight of the door.

Stones used to build the fireplace came from a nearby

Although Harris is a jeweler by trade, he said that he learned about building by buying old homes and fixing them up.

Now that he's retired, Harris enjoys working in the blacksmith shop he's built near the house where he can tackle such projects as making a handle or forging iron.

During their leisure moments, the couple can observe the wildlife in their wooded area which includes turkey and deer.

The scenery outside their home is also enlivened by four peacocks that strut around in an enclosure outside their bedroom.

Another unusual sight outside the Harris home is a rowboat planted with strawberries.

For some reason, they seem to grow better there than in the bed near the porch, Harris said.

When he's not busy in the garden, or finishing up a shed for his goats, Harris mulls over the idea of designing other types of homes that can be constructed with rail ties.

In the meantime, he's testing a fence that he built with some of the ties that were left over.

Rep. Shelby hits road

Congressman Richard Shelby is hitting the road again in the Seventh Congressional District for a series of Shelby County community visits on Saturday,

"In April I had a chance to meet personally with more than 1,000 citizens of the Seventh District, so I am really looking forward to doing it all again and getting the chance to meet even more of my constituents," Shelby stated.

Following is Congressman Shelby's schedule for his Shelby County community visits on Saturday:

by local lawyer

As part of their activities to observe Law Week, 8th grade students at Columbiana Middle School invited Columbiana attorney Tommy Harrison to speak.

The students also requested, and were given permission to use a county voting machine to elect student government officers.

The following students were elected to the posts: Phillip Howell, president; Rebecca Vincent, secretary; Sheila Oliver, treasurer.

Local business predicts future to be 'healthy'

A healthy future is predicted for Vulcan Materials Company which operates quarries in Shelby County at Calera and Helena.

In remarks made at the annual meeting of shareholders on April 30, W.H. Blount, president and chief executive officer, referring to the company's 1982 earnings outlook, stated, "We believe the company's earnings will approximate or perhaps exceed the splendid results of 1980 when the company earned $6.04 per share."

continued, Blount "Management believes it likely that the economy in 1983-1987 will be much stronger than in 1982. If that proves to be the case, it is our opinion that Vulcan will record a steady growth in earnings per share in those years. We also believe that Vulcan's cash flow in 1982 and succeeding vears will continue to increase as it has over the past 13 years.

"While no projection is offered," Blount observed, "management will be keenly disappointed if the company's growth in earnings per share over the next six years averages less than 6 percent a year plus the rate of inflation."

Vulcan is a multi-industry company with strong positions in three basic businesses. It is the nation's foremost producer of construction aggregates. It is also a leading chemicals manufacturer, producing a diversified line cf chlorinated solvents and other industrial and agricultural chemicals. Additionally, Vulcan is a principal producer of secondary aluminum, detinned steel scrap and tin chemicals.

Predawn raids sweep county

by David F. Moore

The predawn quietness in Shelby was broken by a pounding on the trailer door. Six inspectors and deputies waited.

"Who's there?" came a groggy voice from inside.

Shelby County sheriff's department. Open up. We have a warrant for your arrest."

The door opened. Sleepiness on Leslie Davis' face turned to sullen disbelief.

"For what?" "Selling drugs," answered deputy Larry Doss. "Let's get dressed."

Twenty-six such rude awakenings occurred early last Thursday morning as law enforcers pulled off the biggest drug related roundup ever held in Shelby County. By Tuesday at press time five other suspects with warrants against them had either turned themselves in or been apprehended. Three suspects are still being Undercover agents from the United Narcotics Detail Operation (UNDO) began buying mariiuana and other drugs from area dealers last summer. Evidence from their 10-month investigation was presented to a Shelby County grand jury in early May. The grand jury returned 54 indictments against 35 alleged drug dealers. Bond was set at $35,000 for each indictment.

Deputies, UNDO agents, Alabaster and Pelham police, and district attorney investigators convened at the sheriff's office early Thursday morning for prebust briefing. The 25 men were divided into three main strike teams and given a fist full of war-

Sheriff Buddy Glasgow told the men he would consider the operation successful if half of the 35 suspects were apprehended. "That's about as many as you expect to get on a bust like this," Glasgow said.

A convoy of unmarked cars filed out of Columbiana at 3 a.m. for the sweep of Alabaster and Pelham. Another team went into the Columbiana and Shelby

The strike teams ticked as smoothly as Swiss clockwork.

At 3:15, the radio crackled in the sheriff's office. The first suspect had been apprehended in Columbiana. Others soon follow-

Six more suspects were picked up that morning in Columbiana and Shelby, and shuttled back to the jail for booking. In Alabaster, 10 suspects were awakened and taken temporarily to the city jail.

Seven suspected drug dealers from Pelham, Helena and Riverchase were taken after daylight to Alabaster. They were loaded into the sheriff's van along with the other suspects.

By 7:15, 26 suspected drug dealers were in custody at the county jail. Danny Alexander and Robert Weir, both of Chelsea, were already in jail when they were informed they now face four counts of selling drugs. Alexander is awaiting trial on a charge of third degree burglary; Weir also faces trial for forgery, receiving stolen property, federal probation violation, and two other drug violations.

Only a small quantity of drugs were confiscated during the operation since the warrants were for arrest, not for searching the premises, Glasgow said.

UNDO Capt. J.C. Williams did not know if any of the suspects were "big time dealers," but said, "We think they're all bad when they're selling drugs."

Trade Day activities planned for Calera

Calera will be the site of major festivities Saturday when the second annual Trade Day gets underway at 8 a.m. on Main Street.

The Calera and Shelby Railroad Museum will be displaying several cars behind the Calera Fire Department. Groundbreaking for the museum is scheduled for 10 a.m. Approximately 35 trade booths will be offering crafts, coins, antiques, flea market, plastic crafts, notions, clocks, brass, quilts and many more items.

All local merchants are planning special sales events, and at lunchtime the Civitan Club and the railroad club will be serving 'Hobo Stew' in front of the school.

Residents of Beat 12 who want the zoning law to continue poured into Valley School Monday night.

It was to have been a regular meeting of the Shelby County Planning Commission, and two zoning matters concerning Spradco Industrial Park and Meadowbrook were on the agen-

But because of the Supreme Court ruling of last Thursday (see accompanying story) the agenda was tabled.

Planning Commission Chairman Joe Garity presided over the meeting, and all those present agreed that immediate steps should be taken to preserve zoning in Beat 12. The six commissioners voted in favor of delaying tactics which they hope will allow time for the legislature to pass a new act that will pass all constitutional tests.

They voted to petition the state

Supreme Court to reconsider its ruling and if it won't, to ask the U.S. Supreme Court to review the ruling. They will ask the Shelby County Commission to file for an injunction to prevent people such as industrialists from taking advantage of the situation.

A committee worked through the night to put together a proposed new act, so that public advertising could be started in this week's Reporter. The new proposed act is essentially the same as the one under which the planning commission has been operating. By law it must be advertised four weeks before it can be introduced into the legislature. The group hopes the act can be introduced and passed in the legislature's special session, which will end in late June.

Members of the Planning Commission are Garity, Roy Martin, Blanton Moore, George Starcher, Al Knight, Leon Archer and Eason Mitchell.

Bryson Weygand, a developer, told the Reporter, "I probably do more battling with the planning commission than anybody, but I sure don't want to do without them."

O.E. Johnson said he is "absolutely in favor of zoning...whatever it takes."

Lynn Argo told the group that parts of Shelby County.

When the Alabama Supreme Court said last week that the law establishing Shelby County's Planning Commission was unconstitutional, shock waves reverberated through Beat 12.

Rude awakening

DONALD H. HUGHES

Leslie Davis of Shelby got a rude awakening early Thursday morning when deputy Larry Doss began pounding on his door. # Citizens say 'yes' in Alabaster vote

"We've just finished some unfinished business," noted Alabaster Mayor H.A. "Doc" Rubin when the council came to that portion of the agenda at Monday night's meeting.

The Mayor was referring to Saturday's annexation election which passed by a vote of 505 to

Although a group of citizens who were opposed to coming into the city had filed a petition last week to delay the election, Circuit Judge Harold Walden denied their request.

City officials estimated that 1,200 individuals were eligible to vote in the election which expanded the city's boundaries by about 12 square miles.

Some who lived within the territory to be annexed were not able to vote, they said, because they had either failed to register or reidentify.

Although none of the new residents were present at Monday's meeting, the mayor and council nevertheless welcomed them into the city.

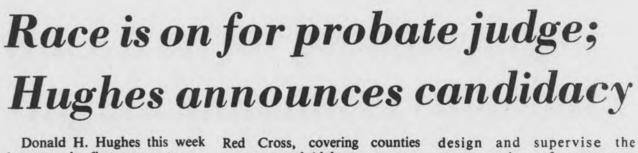

After Police Chief C.E. "Bull" Carter reported that he had had several calls asking if chickens had to be sold, the mayor stressed that anyone with animals would not have to get rid of them.

"We don't intend to change anyone's lifestyle," he emphasiz-

The original annexation bill would have taken in 38 square miles. But that area was reduced when the city agreed to take out the property of some landowners who were opposed.

Most of those who were in favor of the annexation are subdivision residents. The six subdivisions that were voted into the city limits are: Willow Glen, Mission Hills, Green Valley, Eaglewood, Scottsdale and Woodland Hills.

Poll workers in Saturday's election were: Robert Butler, chief inspector; Mrs. Robert Butler, Lois Cost, Mary Thompson, Catherine Sarris, Nina Kent, Myrtle Lawley.

becomes the first person to announce his candidacy for the office of Probate Judge of Shelby County. He will seek the office on the Democratic ticket.

Hughes is city administrator of Montevallo, a position he has held for the past five years.

If elected, he feels he can lead the county progressively by getting the municipalities, the volunteer groups and the county commission to work together effectively for the good of the entire county.

The 38 year old Hughes earned the B.A. degree from the University of Montevallo in 1967. He remained at UM as director of faculty student services until 1971. After teaching school for two years (history, political science and economics) he joined the Shelby County sheriff's department as an investigative photographer. Later he was a divisional representative for the across central Alabama.

The Shelby County Commission then asked him to set up a microfilming system for the probate office and to assume the duties of county Civil Defense director. During that period there were six major disasters in the county, and Hughes coordinated efforts of volunteer fire and rescue squads, county crews, and law enforcement officers from city, county and state. He was highly praised at the time for the speed and efficiency of his efforts at saving lives and property.

Among the disasters were a major tornado, forest fires, a train wreck on the Coosa River bridge in which 33,000 gallons of propane fuel were involved and floods on Bishop Creek which required the evacuation of Chandalar South and Greenpark

In addition to his other work with the county, he was asked to reconstruction of courtroom facilities and judges' offices on the second and third floors of the courthouse. The work was completed within 22 days.

In his present position in Montevallo he is responsible for the overall functioning of the city, including water and gas systems, streets, sanitation, park and cemetery.

A new shop, a new park building and library facilities have been built under his supervi-

Hughes served with the Alabama National Guard for 12 years and was named outstanding honor graduate of the signal school. In 1981 the Montevallo Civitans named him 'Public Employee of the Year.'

He is married to the former Patti Galloway of Montevallo, who is also a UM graduate and former teacher. They have two children, Hoy, age 12 and Rachel, age 6.

Stunt pilot killed in air show crack-up

Before the crash

As part of his act, stunt pilot-clown Don Smith (under arrow) dressed as a woman and mingled among Sunday's air show crowd. When his partner called for a "volunteer" to fly a "remote controlled" airplane, Smith came foward. The act ended in his death. (Photo by Milton Bridges)

by David F. Moore

It was supposed to be funny. But an aerobatic clown act ended in tragedy Sunday at Air Show

As a crowd estimated in the thousands watched, Huntsville stunt pilot Don Smith's single engine Piper nosedived into the runway at Shelby County Air-

At an altitude of about 300 feet, the plane went into a spin, hitting the north end of the runway at a 70 degree angle.

Chief Deputy James Jones and an unidentified volunteer pulled the 60 year old retired Navy pilot from the debris.

Medical teams administered first aid and rushed him to Carraway Hospital by helicopter. Hospital officials pronounced Smith dead at 4 p.m.

"Based on what I could tell, he probably died on impact," airport operator Larry Chapman told the Reporter. "We were on the scene and had him out in about two minutes, but he never showed any signs of life."

Chapman said fuel was leaking from the smoking wreckage when rescue workers reached it. However, Shelco volunteers hosed down the debris, foamed the engine, and it never caught fire, Chapman said.

The crackup occurred at 2:50, about 50 minutes into the show, and six minutes into Smith's routine.

Another crash occurred just before the beginning of the Sunday show.

A low flying ultra-light biplane clipped the ground with a wing when its engine stalled, but the Birmingham pilot was uninjured.

The featured attraction this year was wing-walker Jim Dorrsey from Dayton, Ohio. Dorrsey performed stunts on the wing of a bi-plane without the benefit of support harnesses.

Other acts included jet fighters, a hot air ballon, skydivers and stunt pilots.

"After Don crashed, it gave the rest of the show a sombre atmosphere," Chapman said. "We cleared the wreckage and got underway again in 30 minutes. I think Don would have wanted it that way."

This was the first fatality in the annual Birmingham Aero Club sponsored shows. Proceeds go to the Southern Museum of Flight.

ty," Glasgow told the Reporter. "Some of the kids experimenting with drugs, we try to help out. But when they're dealing, we want them in jail."

Glasgow called the operation "a great success" since 26 of the 35 suspects were apprehended during the sweep. He attributed the lack of any incidents to the show of force by the multiagency strike teams, and the early hours in which they struck.

Spurred by the success, Glasgow said, "We'll be out there soon scratching again."

Arrested during the sweep were, from Alabaster (according to reports): Russell Booth, Bryan Burnett, Otis Calhoun, Tony Carden, Johnny McMullin, Terry Reach, Alton Shedd, Phillip Thomas, Charles Whitfield, and David Yarbrough.

Suspects arrested in Pelham were: Mickey Carter, Johnny Cochran, Tim Dunnaway, Johnny Lewis, and Danny Johnson. Arrested from Columbiana and Shelby were: Kenneth Bozeman, Robert Brown, C.E. Davis, Leslie Davis, Dan Grooms, Paul Carden, and Michael Martin.

Also charged Thursday with selling drugs were: James Sorrow of Riverchase, and Jimmy Wayne Massey of Helena.

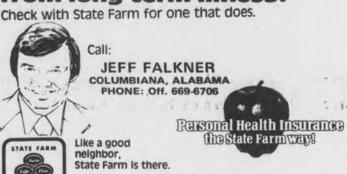

Other alleged drug dealers indicted by the grand jury who have since been arrested are;

Thomas Goolsby, Pelham; Richard Hammerick, Calera; Helen Martin and Riley "Red" Morris, Shelby; Tura Weir, Chelsea, and a 17 year old juvenile.

Two of the suspects were female, and two were black men. The rest were white males.

By Saturday, approximately 10 of the suspects had been released on $35,000 bond for each indictment against them. No court date has yet been set.

In one fell swoop, the Shelby County Board of Education last Wednesday, dropped eight nontenured employees from the

One of those employees, Montevallo Middle School librarian Kathy Vogel, is appealing her non-renewal of contract.

However, Superintendent of Education Charles Knowles said that the board's decision is final.

Before a vote was taken on the contracts, Montevallo Middle School trustee Grady Parker spoke in Vogel's behalf.

The board also had a letter from the school's trustees as well as Joan Atkinson, past chairman of the Children's and School Librarians Division of the Alabama Library Association.

In her letter, the former state library official referred to Vogel's energy and dedication and said she was surprised the local school system "would not find her performance more than satisfactory."

Although state law says that a reason need not be given a nontenured teacher for a contract not being renewed, UniServe Director Wayne Sumners, who represents the teachers, protested the situation.

Noting the outstanding evaluations Vogel had received in three years, Sumners asked that a legitimate reason be given for "letting a good teacher go."

A delegation from Pelham was also upset that head coach Joel Foshee will not be coming back.

Since he has been at the school less than a year, supporters insisted he had not been given a chance to turn the athletic program around.

This past season, the football team failed to win a game.

Acting as spokesman for the parents who back Foshee, Dave Tkacik asked the board not to cancel his contract.

And Ervil Swinney, another supporter who didn't arrive until after the vote was taken, lashed out at the board for what they had done.

Other employees whose contracts were not renewed were: Pelham High School teacher Catherine Winslett, Pelham High maintenance technician Randy Abbott, Calera High teachers JoAnn Tombrello and Frances L. Israel and Helene Feigen, itinerant teacher of emotional conflicts.

Virginia Sharpe, who represents support personnel, requested that Abbott not be dropped.

The superintendent explained that the fact a contract isn't renewed doesn't necessarily mean the employee isn't acceptable.

He pointed out that school principals generally made the recommendations for nonrenewals after evaluation showed it would be in the best interest of the school to replace those

And the board generally went along with those decisions, he added.

However, Vogel told the Reporter that in her case, the non-renewal of contract had not been recommended by her principal.

Tommie Harrison, President of the Shelby County Teachers' Association, asked if any of the non-renewals were politically motivated.

She said she was referring to teachers speaking out at meetings.

If that were the case, Harrison pointed out that it would be a violation of first amendment rights.

The legislative reapportionment plan will probably not be changed as it affects Shelby

This was the word from State Senator Lister Hill Proctor who is co-chairman of the legislative committee that devised the plan. The Justice Department ruled that some of the new proposed district lines were racially discriminatory.

Proctor went to Washington Monday with others to try to work out compromises in the plan the legislature adopted last

The Justice Department apparently did not fault the way the new lines affected Shelby County, but objected to the plan in Jefferson County.

The new plan gives the populous north Shelby County area a representative and very little of Jefferson County is included in the district. At present the district includes a large segment of Hoover and Vestavia.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

There were nine of them--Lillian Creek and Eleanor Mooney and Lorena Mayne and Grace Ritter and Beth Crawford and James Creel and Tony Mayne and Eldon Crawford and John Ritter -- and Amy and I, and Rev. John Howard Brasher. We were together for the monthly meeting of the Young At Heart Club in the fellowship hall at Antioch Church in Kingdom.

A club that had two no-no's-never use the words senior citizens and never say anything about an over-age group. And four by-laws that I'd like to mention here: to provide fellowship and to discuss mutual problems and furnish self-help and to exchange ideas.

The club was formed on January 10, 1980 and meets every month on the second Tuesday in the fellowship hall. If you would like to share some real fellowship this would be a good place to spend a Tuesday morning. Amy and I spent the morning with them Tuesday and had a marvelous time.

We opened the meeting with a prayer by Eleanor Mooney, a lovely prayer that seemed just the right words to say. Beth Crawford, who was in charge, took her text from Hebrews, the 4th chapter, and made a talk about love and prayer we'll all remember.

She passed out little paper eggs, yellow paper shaped like hen eggs, and asked each one to write little messages on his and her egg, things we'd like to mention in our prayers for the less fortunate and the ill and the shutins. A little book-mark to keep in our bibles, to take out now and then to remind us of our own good fortune.

Then we sang four songs: Do You Know My Jesus and When We All Get To Heaven and What A Day That Will Be and Sweet Hour Of Prayer. The door prize, won by James Creel was pulled out of a hat by Amy Bird.

We ate lunch in the fellowship hall: corn and beans and squash and corn muffins and homemade rolls and fresh garden salad and pecan pie and pineapple upside-down cake and banana pudding.

Afterward, for almost two hours, we just talked and laughed and had a splendid time together. And if you're looking for good fellowship and a chance to trade ideas and funny tales with a group of really nice folks, this is your chance to spend a lovely morning, the second Tuesday in each month.

Scrambled

I went looking for an alligator last week, but all I found was poison ivy and mosquitos. Hunting an alligator was the last thing I expected to be doing that particular day so I didn't have time to think about what attire I should wear.

And since I'm covered with bites and a rash, I guess my outfit didn't fill the bill for that type of activity.

What I should have worn, I guess, was a long sleeved shirt and knee boots with one of those pith helmets they wear in the jungle to complete my outfit.

When I finally found the pond where the alligator was said to have taken up residence, I crawled under the barbed wire fence to join the folks already engaged in the search.

A couple of them were out in a boat and two or three others were walking around the bank trying to see a snout or two beady eyes.

Occasionaly someone would spot some bubbles or a stick and think it was the gator. But every sighting turned out to be a false alarm.

Thinking I might be the heroine of the great alligator hunt, I struck out alone to comb the underbrush along the bank on one side of the pond.

Quietly creeping under the overhanging tree branches, I'd stand unmoving, my eyes scanning the murky water of the pond.

But it was impossible to remain immobile for very long. I had to keep flailing my arms in an attempt to ward off the swarms of mosquitos that kept up a relentless attack.

Then the hunt completely disintegrated when TV reporters began arriving on the scene.

I'll tell you - you just can't keep anything from those varmints.

Then to add to the crowd, we had some animal visitors join the Fascinated with the TV cameras, the horses who were grazing nearby wandered up to sniff at the strange contraptions.

Any alligator with a grain of sense would have made itself scarce under the circumstances, and this one was obviously pretty smart to have eluded its would-be captors since last year.

Realizing there wasn't much chance I'd even see the alligator, I decided to call it a day.

So swatting one last mosquito, crawled back under the barbed wire fence, making my way back into a mundane world where alligators are only seen on TV or in the zoo.

For the past year and one half, members of my staff and cabinet have been gathering information on the source and use of federal dollars in Alabama government.

Because they must work on a budget for the United States, they must look at the concerns of all states including Alabama. Our objective was to show what we know about Alabama and hope it might help their decisions on this country's future.

In our state, several departments receive the lion's share of federal dollars. They include Pensions & Security, Public Health, Mental Health, CETA, Education, Highway, and Na-

Shelby County Principal Robert Brasher is retiring at the end of this term after 31 years in the Shelby County school system. Last week during a surprise ceremony, the school's gym was dedicated in his name. He was also honored Sunday by a retirement tea.

"I think I've learned nearly every day from just about every kid I've known," Brasher says. "It's been a good life."

A native of Shelby, he graduated from Shelby County High School in 1947, after serving two years in the armed service. Four years later, with a degree in education from Howard College (Samford University), he went to Chelsea as a ninth grade teacher.

"The first day, they had an assembly to introduce all the teachers, and I was the only new face in the crowd," he remembers. "I felt a little awkward and embarrassed, but it didn't take long to get over it." in 1953, Brasher went to Shelby Elementary as principal, and remained there until 1964 when he became principal of the new Valley Elementary. He stayed at Valley for three years before returning to Shelby for Besides his duties as principal, Brasher also doubled as a sixth grade teacher.

"I believe kids are basically the same as they were when I started teaching," he says, "but they are wiser and more knowledgeable about the world around them. It seems some of them don't have quite the respect for other people, but I don't think kids have changed a lot."

Parents, he says, have become more aware and involved in politics and the working of the school system.

"The schools themselves have changed greatly--for the better," Brasher observes. "Teachers are still conscientious and hard working, but we have a much better educational process. There's much more we can offer the student."

"I don't know of any other profession I would have preferred for the past 31 years," Brasher says. "The main reason I've enjoyed doing this so much is because of the people I've worked with."

"Somebody asked me the other day what I was going to do when I retired." Brasher laughs and says, "I don't worry about it. All I have to do is ask Dorothy (his wife) and she'll tell me!"

Brasher and his wife have one son, John, who also lives in

Train, truck collide at crossing on 119 near Thompson School

by David F. Moore

Wayne Moore said he didn't see the freight train until the last second. According to the 27 year old Gardendale trucker, the signals weren't working late Tuesday morning at the Highway 119 crossing near Thompson High School.

"I didn't have time to get scared," Moore said. "I just wanted to get the cab over the tracks. I didn't care about the trailer."

L&N engineer J.D. McFarland saw the collision was inevitable. He slammed on the air brakes, he said, then hit the floor of the engine cab.

At 34 mph, the engine guillotined the rig at the hitch, spinning the northbound cab back into the side of the train.

The impact derailed the lead locomotive, bent the train tracks, and demolished the coal carrying

With part of the ripped trailer plastered to its grill, the train carried truck debris 600 feet down the track. A front door popped open and coal poured inside with the engineer.

McFarland said he looked back down the tracks and thought "that boy didn't make it."

But Moore climbed out of the rig with apparently nothing more than a minor head injury and numerous scratches. He was treated at the scene by Alabaster paramedics and taken to Shelby Medical Center for further

The accident happened at 11:12 a.m. Traffic on 119 was blocked for more than an hour while police and state road crews cleaned up debris.

Pelham council seeks grant # to finance Keystone sewer work

Pelham is seeking a bloc grant to finance more than $300,000 worth of sewer work in the Keystone area.

The council passed a resolution Monday night seeking $305,000 in community bloc grant funds from the state. If the money is received, Pelham will be required to spend $59,250 for engineering and some repaving the project would require.

The grant was requested by city engineer Paul Yeager, II. Yeager said the proposed sewer lines would be made available to residents and the few businesses in the south Pelham area on the east side of U.S. 31.

Sewer service is already being made available to many businesses in the central and southern parts of Pelham.

The city also heard a plea from three representatives of Brown and Ferris Industries, the solid waste pickup company that already has a county garbage franchise. They said they want a shot at Pelham's contract for its.

"If you don't get a competitive bid from other haulers, you don't know if you're getting the best price," one of the men said.

"If the council puts it up for bid, you can bet our pencil will be sharp," he added.

Mayor Burk Dunaway said the city is waiting for an attorney general's opinion on whether the city can renew contracts without opening them for bids. "Until we get this opinion, I don't know what we'll do," Dunaway said.

The city also rezoned a lot on Valleydale Road to accommodate the McDonough House, a home for severely emotionally disturbed children.

House director Lee Yount said the McDonough House will be relocated from Cahaba Heights to Valleydale, and should be back in operation by July 1. The home is part of the Allan Cott School which is governed by non-profit Child Mental Health Services, Yount said the home will provide a learning and caring environment for six emotionally disturbed children. Two house parents will also live at the home. In other council action:

•Following recomendation by Councilman Ken Maynard, Bud Bryant was approved to head a committee which wants to restore an old house on city property near the new park.

Dunaway broke a tie vote, granting a beer license to the Crystal gas station on U.S. in north Pelham. Councilmen Bob Cleveland and Maynard voted against the issue, saying, in effect, that gas and beer don't mix. Dunaway said he saw no reason to deny what the state had already legalized.

•The council transfered beer licenses to the new owners of Pig 'n' Whistle and The Picnic Place.

Paper costumes

Wearing paper bag costumes, kindergarten students at Chelsea school enacted four plays last week. Parents were invited to see their children perform in: "Chicken Little," "The Three Little Pigs," "Billy Goat Gruff," and "The Ginger Bread Man." The program was under the direction of kindergarten teacher Louise Barton.

A UAB honor student was killed early last Wednesday morning in a traffic accident on U.S. 280. Two other victims received minor injuries.

James Lee Nelson, 20, of White Oak Drive, Cahaba Heights, was pronounced dead at Brookwood Hospital at 1:45 a.m., Shelby County Coroner Billy Thompson said.

According to Thompson and Highway Patrol reports, Nelson was turning his Toyota onto 280 from Valleydale Road, when he collided with a tractor-trailer truck shortly after midnight. The truck went off an embankment, but driver W.C. Pounder of Goodwater, was not injured.

Nelson's passenger, Hannibal Crumpler, 21, of Birmingham,

Civitans honor teachers as top citizens

Two retired teachers will be honored this year at the Central Civitan Club's Citizen of the Year Award dinner.

Miss Lavada Harper and Mrs. Mary Kroell were both longtime teachers at Thompson Elementary School before they retired.

The event will be held June 3 in the Thompson High School lunchroom beginning at 7 p.m.

Friends and former students of the two honorees are invited to join Civitans in honoring them.

Tickets for the dinner are $5. For reservations, contact Dan Acker, 663-7334; Leo Barton, 663-4360 or any member of the Central Civitan Club.

sions and Security. She is a member of the Pelham Homemaker's Extension Club which provides clothing through the Foster Parents of Shelby County as an ongoing project.

A homemaker with varied interests, Mrs. Jenkins does not deny that sewing is the hobby from which she derives the greatest satisfaction. A completely equipped sewing room in her home attests to the importance of this interest. "My slogan is have machine will travel," she says, and her portable machine does just that when on frequent business trips with husband, Ray.

"I like to create," she says. Where some create with paint and easel, and others with pen and paper, Carol Jenkins cuts and stitches. Her reward is the joy of a child who receives a new garment made especially for them!

ty will take place to observe May as National High Blood Pressure Month. The churches in the county have proclaimed Sunday, May 23, as "High Blood Pressure Sunday."

Churches helping with

According to the county health department, everyone has blood pressure. It is the force of the blood against the walls of the arteries. This force is generated by the heart as it pumps blood to all parts of the body. High blood pressure is usually the result of a narrowing of small arteries so more force is required to push the blood through them, which adds to the workload of the heart and arteries.

High blood pressure or hypertension is the most common of the diseases affecting the heart and blood vessels. It can cause strokes, heart attacks, kidney disease and more.

Deacons block Calera beer license 3

by Fred Guarino

Roy Hadaway will remain chairman of the Calera City Council's finance committee.

A beer license will not be given to Larry W. Avery for the old Moores Supreme Building.

Bids will be taken under advisement for Pilgreen Drive.

The city will attempt to help James Pardue with the problem of foot traffic through his property because of the narrowness of Highway 25.

These items highlighted Monday night's regular session of Calera's City Council meeting.

Apparently as the result of statements previously made by Hadaway, indicating a desire to resign as finance chairman, Councilman Doug LeSueur brought the matter before the governing body.

Mayor Carl Prichard interjected that the situation had been worked out and that Hadaway would continue as chairman of the committee.

When questioned as to the correctness of the mayor's comment by LeSueur, Hadaway responded, "If it is the desire of the coun-

While H. N. Donahoo Contracting Company held the lowest of three bids submitted for the paving of Pilgreen Drive, the council decided to withhold action on the matter until its next meeting.

Donahoo's bid was $222,000. The council wanted to check the calculations used in the making of bids by all parties.

Other bidders were Central Alabama Paving and Flanagans Excavating.

Pardue complained to the council that children walked through his yard because of the narrowness of the shoulders of Highway 25 and were throwing rocks and sticks at his dog.

Mayor Prichard reported that the council is seeking a grant to put a road through the park to relieve the situation.

He stated that he was continuously hounding the state highway department for corrective measures concerning the road's shoulders.

Prichard stated, "I will bring this matter up until they get sick of me. If one youngster gets killed on that highway, we ought to sue someone."

The council agreed to put a sign up on the sidestreet off Highway 25 near Pardue's residence saying "no through street."

Frances Blalock presided at the luncheon which featured the Shelby County Farm Bureau's cotton sewing contest and fashion show.

The event was held at the Farm Bureau building in Columbiana. Judges for the contest were Mrs. George Starcher, Mrs. Carl Jones and Mrs. Gail Regan. Marian Cotney served as narrator of the show. (See photo for winners.)

In the business section of the program, Mrs. Blalock urged action in legislation at all levels. She stressed the need for members of the women's committee to keep informed about farmers' needs and to share this information with neighbors. She also reminded members to prepare for the booth that the group sponsors annually at the county fair.

SMC expecting injunction news

Shelby Medical Center is making an 11th hour decision on seeking a court injunction against St. Vincent's Hospital.

"No suit has been filed at this point," SMC attorney Frank Ellis, Jr. told the Reporter at presstime Tuesday. "I would think we're within 24 hours of making that decision."

The deadline on the injunction is today (Thursday).

On April 20, the State Health Planning and Development Agency turned down SMC's request to stop St. Vincent's from building medical facilities in north Shelby. SMC was told it had 30 days to appeal, but the appeal would have to be through the circuit court. Last week SMC board chairman C.E. "Bull" Carter said he expected the hospital board to make a decision on the matter by May 14. Administrator Roland Bradford left a message for the Reporter that the matter was now in the hands of hopsital at-

"We're looking at all available legal remedies--including the possibility of the injunction," Ellis said.

Three weeks ago the hospital board voted to seek the injunction as a means of halting St. Vincent's plans. However, a tape recording of the actual motion revealed that it failed to specify the injunction.

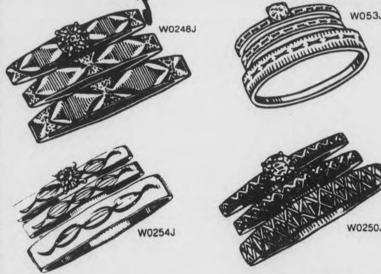

SMC has plans to build a doctor's office at the intersection of U.S. 280 and Cahaba Valley Road. Further plans call for a 120-bed hospital to be built on the land.

I have just returned from a week's vacation spent at Kowaliga Beach on Lake Martin with my parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Smitherman of Pea Ridge and a cousin, Lynn Harper of Birmingham.

What Does Jesus Teach - About Salvation?

Acts I:8 "But ye shall receive power, when the Holy Spirit is come upon you; and ye shall be my witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judae and Samaria, and unto the uttermost parts of the earth." Notice the order, the apostles received power (authority) when the Holy Spirit came upon them, then they were to be witnesses. Luke 24:49 "...but tarry ye in the city until ye be clothed with power from on high." See also John 14:16 and John 16:12-14.

So the apostles waited in Jerusalem. Waited for power, authority, for the Holy Spirit, their comforter, John 14:16.

In Acts 2 it came on the day of Pentecost; vrs. 2-4 the apostles received the immersion of the Holy Spirit. According to Jesus in Luke 24: 47-49 they were now to go and preach repentance and remission of sins. In Acts 2:14 Peter stood with the eleven and preached and those men and women believed and were "pricked" in their hearts vrs. 37 and said: "What shall we do?" and Peter said: "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins ....

What about you friend, have you obeyed Peter's words yet?

A warm welcome awaits you at the Church of Christ at South Columbiana.

Comic wedding

set at Thompson

English students at Thompson High School are "Headin' for a Weddin'" Thursday night, and the public is invited to join them.

The wedding will be depicted in what is billed as a "three act farce." The play is being produced and cast by 20 English students from grades 10-12.

The play will be staged in the THS auditorium tonight at 7 p.m. Proceeds go to the school's speech department.

The students performed the play twice Tuesday for the student body.

Citizens fight

816 of 1965, which set up the Planning Commission, was unconstitutional because it differed widely from the bill as it was advertised.

The suit was first considered by Shelby County Circuit Judge James Sharbutt. After his retirement, Judge Robert Armstrong handed down a decision that the Act was constitutional.

On appeal, the Supreme Court reversed Armstrong by a vote of 8 to 1, citing six substantial differences between the act as advertised for public discussion, and the act as passed.

The high court allowed 17 days before the ruling is to take effect.

In a comment to the Reporter, Cecil Adam said he was "pleased with the decision, but disappointed the local judges would have put the citizens of this county to this expense when they must have known Act 816 was unconstitutional. Political factors must have been involved."

UM President Vickrey honored

University of Montevallo President Jim Vickrey has been named Outstanding Educator of the Year by Kappa Phi Kappa professional education administration organization.

Vickrey was presented the award during the state chapter's meeting recently in Birmingham.

Peevy, director of admissions and records at Montevallo, said Vickrey was selected by the chapter because "he's the only person the nominating committee knew of in the state who has spoken out for the interests not only of higher education, but also Chapter president Larry for all levels of education, including elementary and secondary schools."

Vickrey also has represented the interests of all education during trips to Washington, D.C., to lobby against proposed education budget reductions, Peevy added.

Vickrey, 40, has been president of UM since 1977.

Law officers stay busy arresting 'Otis'

by David F. Moore

His name is Otis. He's the comic town drunk on the Andy Griffith show, a harmless man who causes no real problems other than wasting police time and taking space in the jail.

But the drunk weaving down Shelby County's highways is a different story. He can kill himself. He can kill you. He can destroy your property. And the time law enforcers spend trying to keep him off the streets, adds up to a lot of time that could otherwise be spent fighting crime.

Officials are quick to note that not every drunk driver is spotted and arrested. Nonetheless, on during an average week, 24 arrests for driving under the influence are made across Shelby County.

Figures supplied by county law enforcers and compiled by the Reporter show that from the time a drunk driver is stopped, taken to the station, tested, booked, bonded out, and taken to court, he has tied up a patrol officer from one to three hours.

"We're not spending that much time or money with drunks per se, because the officer is out on patrol, anyway," said Pelham Capt. Allan Wade, "although, it does take him away from his patrol."

"It's not uncommon for a deputy to be at the jail with a drunk driver, and get a call on a problem back in his territory," Chief Deputy James Jones said.

Besides being off patrol, in a month's time, this tie-up equates to five officers or deputies each working nearly a full week doing nothing but handling drunk

Moreover, a drunk spending the night in jail has to be fed, gas has to be burned for the arresting officer to return to his patrol area, and PEI (Photo Electric Intoximeter) machines have to be bought and maintained. In addition, some municipalities, such as Montevallo, pay $2,000 per year for contracts with counselors to try to rehabilitate problem drinkers.

But as Montevallo PD Chief Allen Needham said, "We don't equate it on a cost basis because we're out there patroling anyway. We look at the benefit arrived at preventing accidents, death and destruction of property." Calera, like Montevallo, averages about six DUI arrests per month. But "if we just sat and waited on the drunks, we could probably make a lot more legal cases," CPD Chief Harry Deal said.

"No doubt, drinking has a big impact on crime and problems," Helena assistant chief Ray Rollan said. All the officals interviewed held concurring views.

Alabaster alone accounts for nearly half of the DUI arrests made on an average in the county. According to Sgt. Larry Rollan, 49 DUI arrests were made in March.

"Alcohol is the biggest contributing factor to all our arrests. Period." Rollan said.

"We could spend much more time on other things, but we have to get the drunk driver off the road to keep him from killing somebody."

Several trends in DUI arrests were noted in the interviews.

Most arrests tend to come on Saturdays, followed by Fridays, Sundays and Thursdays, and most are made from 5 p.m. to the early hours of the next morning.

Several officials have noted that DUI's increase around the first of the month when federal checks are mailed. Others noted increases during football season, December and January, and whenever the weather turns warmer in the spring.

"A full moon tends to bring them out, too, and I'm as serious as a heart attack," said Chief Jones.

Jones also said that DUI's come in cycles and when one arrest is made, others usually follow.

Needham and Deal, however, said that DUI's remain fairly constant in their cities.

Traffic Safety Council director J.C. Draper said his agency has no figures on the number of traffic fatalities related to drinking for Shelby County. However, he said rough national statistics show that DUI's figure in half of all traffic fatalities, and that several years ago a study showed that figured climbed to 60% for Alabama.

Needham said that DUI's had decreased since 1980 when tougher laws were enacted. Chief D.O. Watson said that the opening of I-65 cut DUI arrests in half in Pelham.

Other monthly averages for DUI arrests in the county are as follows: sheriffs department, nine; Pelham, eight; Helena, seven; Vincent, two; Columbiana, four; Wilsonville, one; and state troopers, four.

Suspected drunk drivers in Columbiana, Wilsonville, Vincent and Harpersville are taken to the county jail for a PEI test. Deputy Jimmy Keister reported that no tests were administered for Harpersville from March 1 to April 26.

Break Wildcats' five year domination

Bulldogs win county weightlifting title

by Richard Crosby

Montevallo's Bulldogs outlifted everyone last week to win the county weightlifting champion-

It was the first win for any school other than Shelby County High. The Wildcats had won the event the first five years.

The Bulldogs put together a team effort to win the sixth annual event with a total of 778 points. Thompson was close behind in second place with 769 points. Shelby County fell to third with 619.

In the competition, points are awarded to athletes for lifts heavier than their body weight. One point represents one pound.

Thompson's Tom Puckett and Shelby County's Tim Smith shared individual honors with lifts 170 pounds over their body weight. Howard Gaddis of Montevallo was third with 142 points.

Each school could enter as many participants as it wished, with the eight top performers counting toward the team total.

Making up the winning Montevallo team and their points are: Jeff Chism 111, Nihita Bolling 79, Dewayne Jackson 93, Kevin Staffney 87, Barry Worthy 123, Howard Gaddis 142, Chuck Killingsworth 72, and Clyde Sailes 71.

Thompson's high scorers were: Rick Long 77, Chris Green 79, John Steele 76, Tyrone Jones 76, Tim Whaley 102, Demetrius Threat 102, Greg Snell 87, and Tom Puckett 170.

Shelby County's point scorers were: Tim Smith 170, Daron Burns 127, Pee Wee Cottingham 83, Jason Head 39, Willie Lee 43, Roger Vincent 55, Bob Austin 56, and Mark Cardwell 46.

The competition was at Montevallo High School last Wednesday. Other members of the Montevallo team are: Steve Glosson, J.J. Moore, Glenn Hamrick, Ralph Towner, Jeff Gentry, Quinten Chism, and Andy Prentice.

Thompson's Tom Puckett pressed the heaviest load. His lift of 365 pounds was the most weight the bar had to contend with. Other members of the Thompson team are: Jim Leach, Tim Smith, and Max Brown.

Additional members of the Wildcat team are Bryan Bentley and Randy Rhodes.

Winning weightlifters

Montevallo's winning weightlifting team grabbed the county title last Wednesday by ouncing-out Thompson. Members of the team are: Jeff Chism, Nihita Bolling, Dewayne Jackson, Kevin Staffney, Steve Glosson, J.J. Moore, Barry Worthy, Howard Gaddis, Glenn Hamrick, Chuck Killingsworth, Clyde Sailes, Ralph Towner, Quinten Chism, and Anthony Prentice.

Captains

SCHS athletes receive honors

by Richard Crosby

Tribute was given and received by all who attended.

Coaches awarded trophies and plaques to athletes, and in turn those members applauded the coaches for their leadership.

It was that kind of atmosphere that surrounded the annual athletic banquet at Shelby County High School.

Coach Ricky Seale told the crowd composed of athletes, parents and boosters "I'm proud of our school and athletic program. We didn't win as many games as I like, but we're going to get there - sooner than expected."

He intimated that the effort of the athletes and the support of the community made a great partnership on which to build for the years to come.

Principal Don Bulger told the gathering that, "The school, teachers, and coaching staff are to be commended. We have a program going in athletics that has these kids happy, and if we're ever going to succeed, we're going to have to do it having fun.

"I feel we've made some great strides in the basketball program also, and we have Don Piazza to thank for it, "Bulger stated.

Piazza's team compiled a 13-11 record - the best since 1975. He was also named the county Coach of the Year by his peers in the coaches association.

Letters were presented to those athletes in the various sports, prior to the announcement of the special award winners.

Named Captains for the football team were Randy Lewis, Daron Burns, and Tim Ray Smith. Ronald Benton was named the Most Valuable Back and Roger Vincent the Most Valuable Lineman.

Vincent was also the winner of the Scholastic Award.

Thomas Simon was named the team's Most Valuable Player.

Michele Reed was named to the All County and All Area Volleyball squads and was also named the school's Most Valuable Player on the Wildcat

For basketball, Aristotle Wallace won the Hustle Award. The Most Valuable Player award was shared by Thomas Simon and Bruce Martin. Managers James Walker and Bernard Williams were also given special recognition.

Mrs. Juanita Lightsey presented the cheerleaders with their letters. Girl's Basketball coach Deanne Vansant presented letters to her players and named letters and named Don Phillips as Christine Buie as the Most Valuable Player. Vansant also presented tennis

Pea Ridge hunters haul in gobblers

Pea Ridge may not look very big on the map, but the area is almost over-populated with successful hunters.

During the past hunting season quite a few calls came from Pea Ridge hunters who were cooking up venison and turkey. Last week the Reporter received three envelopes attesting to prowess of Pea Ridge outdoorsmen.

Jimmy Pickett killed a 19 pound-8 ounce gobbler during the spring season. The bird had a beard longer than nine inches.

Buster and Duncan Pickett killed turkeys the same morning (April 17th). Buster had the larger of the two with a 20 pound gobbler that sported a 12 inch beard. Duncan's was no baby though. His weighed 16 pounds and had a seven inch beard.

Envelope three contained the pictures of Ernie Polk. He bagged an 18 pound gobbler, and the next evening killed a 40 pound

If any gobblers are reading this they better beware the Pea Ridge hunters. It seems that these guys don't fool around.

First county tennis championship won by Shelby County's netters

Shelby County High School outnetted all comers last week to claim the county tennis title. The Wildcats collected 26 points and won both the singles and doubles

Don Phillips won the singles championships for SCHS with an 8-1 win over Chelsea's Randy Kennedy.

Phillips teamed with Clay Owen to win the doubles match 8-2 from Vincent's Phil Berryhill and Kent Baker.

Donna Dorough of Chelsea won the girls title by defeating Judy Edwards of Vincent 8-5.

The tournament was held last week at Chelsea Sports Supply's courts. Chelsea placed second

Golf tourney tees off this Saturday

There's only a few days left to sign up. The golf tournament sponsored by the Shelby County High School Booster Club tees off this Saturday morning.

The big attraction for this spring's tourney is the new car that is waiting to be won.

The car, a 1982 Chevrolet Chevette, is top prize for a holein-one on the par-three number three hole at Buxahatchee Country Club during the event. A field of 72 is expected to participate in the annual golf tournament. Golfers can choose to tee off in the morning or afternoon and compete in six flights for trophies and prizes. Special awards will also be made for closest-to-the-pin on all four par-three holes, and for the longest drive. Proceeds from the tournament will go to the school's athletic department. The entrance fee to the tournament includes greens fees, cart rental and lunch. Call William Rasco at 669-2581 or 669-6009, or contact any member of the booster club to signup.

Three-legged racers hop for victory

Third graders at Thompson Elementary School learned a lesson in leg shaking Friday at the school's annual track and field day. In the three-legged race, Amy Allen (right, top picture) and her partner Elizabeth Wiser hop off to a fast lead over Gregory Mullins and Mike Stephens.

The girls held on to win, as Amy threw herself over the finish line (right), and into a teacher's arm. The entire student body spent most of the day engaged in numerous events. (photos by David F. Moore)

Pelham's Swinney signs with Marion

Pelham's Tracey Swinney signed a two-year football scholarship with Marion Military Institute last week.

The 6 foot 2 inch, 155 pound athlete received several awards this past year. He was named All County, and Honorable Mention All State.

This past season for the Panthers, Swinney caught 34 passes for 476 yards and one touchdown.

Coach Joel Foshee or Pelham said of Swinney, "I think he'll be an asset to Marion. They play a high caliber of football and that should give him exposure to other schools. I believe he can help them and then earn another scholarship to complete his education."

Montevallo Falcons end baseball season with 33-21 record

Despite the fine efforts of several players, against some rather overwhelming odds, the University of Montevallo baseball season came to a close in the NAIA District 27 Playoffs last week at Birmingham-Southern College.

The Falcons were unable to successfully defend their 1981 district championship, but gave it a valiant try and wound up with a final 33-21 record and a No. 20 ranking in the NAIA.

Montevallo's task of again winning the district title was complicated by an unusual tournament setup which resulted in the No. 3 team (which turned out to be the Falcons) needing to win four games while the other two teams only needed to win two.

"The number three team was placed at a decided disadvantage if they lost the first game," noted UM coach Bob Riesener, "but I

Chelsea team wins state tennis title

It's on to the regionals in Atlanta for the Chelsea Slams.

The county based men's team won the state championship earlier this month. They play in a United States Tennis Association league that involves teams from all over Alabama.

The state title came in a match held in Birmingham. The regionals will be held June 4,5,6 in Atlanta. A win there will advance the team to the nationals.

Boyd Mason is the coach and sponsor of the team which is composed of many players from Making up the state championship team are: Paul Trammell-Alabaster, Bill Edwards-Helena, Mitchell Green-Inverness, Breg Butcke-Adamsville, Ammons-Childersburg, Craig Branch-Briarwood, Rajeev Mohan-Childersburg, Wake Asbury-Inverness, Randy Carter-Sylacauga, Brian Lebold-Birmingham, and Brad Drake-Helena.

Camps scheduled for little leaguers

A boy, a bat, a glove and a baseball. Typical of summer just like sunshine and afternoon showers.

Baseball is the 'Name of the Game' at Little League's summer camp in St. Petersburg, Florida. If your son likes baseball, he is age 9 through 15 years, he can attend.

Safety standards, approved equipment and techniques known throughout the world as basic to Little League baseball are applied at this camp. Each instructor and counselor is selected because of is knowledge and ability to work with boys ages 9 through 12 and 13 through 15 years. Teaching and developing skills are emphasized. A basic goal is for every camper to have a happy and safe experience in a controlled and protected environment.

To enroll your son for either of the three sessions starting June 20, July 4 or July 18, write Little League Baseball, P.O. Box 13366, St. Petersburg, Florida 33733 or call 813-344-2661 for an aplication and full details.

guess I can't complain too much. had a three-hit game against cia batted .353, finishing the year I was district baseball chairman last summer and drew up the plans myself for a three-team tournament. Somehow, that potential problem just escaped me, as it did the other coaches in the district who voted for it, and we had to live with it. We'll definitely get it corrected for next year."

The ultimate result was that Montevallo played each of the first four games of the tournament, and would have played every game had they defeated Birmingham-Southern College on Friday night.

The Falcons opened the tournament by dropping a 7-6 decision to Huntingdon College, came back to defeat Birmingham-Southern 7-5 and Huntingdon 9-4, and then were eliminated by 'Southern 7-4.

Birmingham-Southern went on to down Huntingdon 5-3 to win the district crown.

Montevallo's main problem, as Riesener saw it, was too many games in too short a time, thus using up all the pitchers.

"That last game, everybody we put out there had either a sore arm or a tired arm, but they gave it everything they had," Riesener pointed out. "Our hitters did all they could, too. I'm proud of them for playing as hard as they could for as long as they could. and we've got nothing to be ashamed of for our performance in the playoffs."

Sophomore first sacker David Bailey had a phenomenal tournament, just as he did last year. Bailey cracked out 9 hits in 18 at bats, an even .500 average, including four doubles, a triple, and two home runs, and drove in seven runs.

Junior designated hitter Mark Hearn also was hot, batting .333 with two doubles, a home run, and five RBI. Senior center fielder Greg Key hit a home run and stole three bases, and senior third baseman Tim O'Hara batted .385.

UM adds new basketball recruits

A pair of south Alabamians, Sammy Jackson of Headland and Richard Dorsey of Brantley, have become the sixth and seventh signees for the University of Montevallo .

Jackson joins the Falcons after helping coach Steve Williams' Headland High School teams compile a 54-13 record over the past two seasons.

The talented 6'3" wing man led Headland last year by averaging 16 points and 11 rebounds per Dorsey, a 6'6" forward, prepped at Brantley High School, then spent the past two years playing for Coach Sid Elliott at Enterprise Junior College.

Jackson and Dorsey join 6'1" guard Steve Swain of Childersburg, 6'4" forward Kennedy King of Bessemer (Hueytown HS), 6'8" forward Anthony Godwin of Bessemer (Holy Family HS) and Snead State Jr. College, and 6'3" guard Anthony Glaude and 6'4" forward James Smith, both of Henry Jr. College, as Falcon Mobile (Murphy HS) and Patrick signees for next year.

Sports Scribbles

by Richard Crosby

It's a job that has its drawbacks.

Forecasting that is. No, not the weather; sports outcomes. More specifically - county baseball tournament outcomes.

Folks just seem to wonder what sports writers think about their team's chances. It's a job that can get you into trouble in a

For example: it wasn't but just a few years ago that I forecast football games. I picked Calera to lose every game of the season during 1978. 'Course the reason was just to fire the boys up, but some townsfolk got quite upset - especially because the Eagles were still undefeated.

I even lost my beard on one bet.

I've changed!

Now forecasting is a serious endeavor. No longer will I be able to 'fire up' a team by picking them to lose. I guess it's old age

As the years have rolled by, I've matured past the point of fun-and-games. Now I'm dignified.

I've got a serious job to do, so here goes.

In the first round of the county tournament, Pelham and Montevallo will tie and Briarwood will have to play both of them. Chelsea and Vincent will play in a 14 hour game which will be called because of darkness.

Thompson and Indian Springs won't get to play because of the long Vincent-Chelsea marathon.

In the second round of action, the fans will come from the stands and a 'fans versus coaches' game will ensue.

The semi-finals will be called off because no one wants to hurt another's feelings.

The championship will be won by Coach Bob Riesener for having the field in tip-top shape.

Whew! I'm glad that chore is over with. You won't be able to harass me this week. I picked 'em as I saw 'em. Now head out there and cheer for your team.

They told me that I would be writing up the game in the paper. Just because I'm the sports guy at the Reporter doesn't give me a special privilege to expound on personal greatness.

It just happens that I play softball on Columbiana's First Baptist Church team. I promised fellow members that just because I got lucky wouldn't mean that the team would get mention in the paper.

I didn't report my strike-out two weeks ago, so why would I talk about my two back-to-back home runs?

What kind of unbiased guy do they think I am? Many people have hit home runs. (Although not that many may have hit two consecutive inside-the-park homers.)

So, if you would like to learn about my exploits, get comfortable and call. It might take a while.

North county bikers pedal for prizes

Bike riders from northern Shelby County won patches and cash in the second annual North Shelby Optimist Bike Rodeo held recently in Pelham.

Thirty-five riders participated in the event which was held in the parking lot of a Pelham business

e contest consisted of a safety check, five skill tests, and a written quiz, according to chairman John Draper.

Winning in the nine-year-old and younger class were Chris Sacco-first place, and Ken Rainwater-second place.

Also in the running for the class were: Jay and Pat Nesmith, Jonathan Sacco, Aaron Johnson, Brian Ward, J.J. and Danny Ahearn, Eric House, Shane Phillips, Scott Housey, Robbie and beth Ailshie, Ross Dixon, Baron Crawford, Ronnie Wolfe, George Golliday, Jimmy Hicks, Pepper, Ginger and Leasha Hilleke, Kristan Suling, Kurt Weselins, and Joey Dogil.

Sam Lowe took first and Richard House second in the tenyear-old and above group. Also riding were: Scott Walker, Rusty Holsanbeck, Tim Brewer, Greg Fessel, Rene Barker, Sandra Housey, Shawn Buckner, and Mike Brews.

The team of Kurt Weselins, Brian Ward and Aaron Johnson, named the Wildcats, won the team honors in the rodeo.

Bike timing

John Draper starts the clock as Jonathan Sacco starts the balance skill test. Jonathan was one of 35 youngsters who participated in the bicycle rodeo.

Rodeo winners

Richard Houze and Ken Rainwater accept their first place prizes from Rodeo Chairman John Draper. The boys won the bicycle rodeo which is sponsored by the North Shelby Optimist Club.

The conventional yawn occurs when breathing slows down vite clean-up crews into their because of fatigue, inactivity or lack of sleep. Opening wide creates a sudden intake of air that sends oxygenated blood to the heart. The heart, in turn, rushes blood to lethargic muscles, reviving a sluggish system.

Some animals do yawn for conventional-or physiologicalreasons. For instance, the javeline (wild boar) yawns to rejuvenate himself whenever he leaves the shallow depressions int he desert where he sleeps.

But for other animals, yawns are mere weapons in territorial battles. Lizards and fish commonly threaten unwelcome invaders by opening their mouths. Bears and wolves open wide to bare their teeth before an attack. The hippopotamus displays perhaps the most spectacular aggressive yawn. Two hippos trying to settle a dispute stand head-thead and flash two-foot-long teeth in giant yawns. They have been known to match yawn for yawn over several hours before settling a quarrell.

Baboons also issue threats with yawns--often to establish pecking orders within groups. For the baboon, "the yawn constitutes a

Some animals even aywn to inmouths. A cse in point is the crocodile, who can't move his tongue well enough to clean his teeth. He instead spreads his jaws wide so that certain birds can dine on leftover food among his

When animals get the irrepressible urge to yawn, they seem to know, as man does, when other animals that live in groups have perfected the technique. When they don't want to reflex yawn to be perceived as a threatening gesture, these animals look away or cover their teeth with their lips. Lowerranking animals turn away from higher-ranked animals when they can't suppress a yawn.

Take a lesson from the lion the next time you yawn at the wrong time or in the wrong place. Turn your head, or cover the gaping hole with a hand. Otherwise your

Finishing touches

Members of Christ Church United Methodist spruce up the grounds outside their new $94,000 addition in preparation for a consecration service Sunday. The addition, which was completed in four months, includes a new kitchen, multipurpose room, choir room and extra Sunday School classrooms.

Church consecrates new wing

Even though they've recently occupied a new addition, members of Christ Church United Methodist are running out of room again.

The rapidly growing church on Caldwell Mill Road in North Shelby County is already eyeing the next phase of a long range building plan, Rev. Byron White at the January ground breaking told the Reporter.

Sunday, a service of consecration for the completed additon was held with Rev. W.C. Davis leading the service.

Davis, who is the district superintendent for the Birmingham East District, also spoke

Alabaster man shoots ace in tournament

There were several winners last weekend at Buxahatchee Country Club's Member-Guest tournament, but one golfer may have outshone all the others. Charlie Martin of Alabaster shot a holein-one on the course's number-17 par-3 hole.

Martin used a nine-iron for the ace on the 150 yard hole. He was playing with Jim Duncan, Kyle Duncan, and Dennie Pike. It was the first hole-in-one for the Alabaster golfer in eight years of playing.

Jerry Coshatt and Terry Duncan were the winners of the golf tournament. the pair scored 23 shots under par in the best-ball affair. They won individual trophies and merchandise prizes for the win.

Tuckered out

After rolling through Calera's Trade exhibits Saturday morning, seven month old Becky Champion was so tuckered out, it looked like she would sleep through the railroad museum groundbreaking. But when the Calera band (background) broke out with "Yankee Doodle Dandy," the youngster came alive. She is the daughter of Gary and Diane Champion of Calera. (Photo by David

I want them to have a choice of someone they can talk with in a down-to-earth manner; someone who will maintain regular working hours; someone who believes in and will provide firm support of law enforcement; and will work fulltime to eliminate wasted time and expense in our court system."

Judge Mitchell stated that he plans to make a point of utilizing an already existing state law which requires persons convicted of serious crimes to make restitution to their victim as a condition of probation, or parole if sentenced.

This act states that "the court shall hold a hearing to determine the amount or type of restitution due the victim or victims of criminal acts. Such restitution hearings shall be held as a matter of course and in addition to any other sentence which the court may impose."

A few shovels full of dirt Saturday marked the beginning of a new page in perhaps the history of both the railroads and Calera.

While the Calera band played "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and 'I've Been Working on the Railroad," dignitaries from across the county and state broke Club's museum and historic train excursion.

It was fitting that a passing freight train interrupted the speech of Ralph Honneycutt, a board member of the two railroad clubs. When the train passed, Honeycutt said the club had finally found the home it's been looking for for nearly 20

Heart of Dixie president Bill Boone explained that work on the projects would be done in stages, and perhaps never finished because something new could always be added.

The first plan is to obtain ground for the Heart of Dixie enough track to relay the line and Calera-Shelby Railroad from Calera to Shelby, Boone said. The clubs own the 11-mile right of way and hope to begin running excursion train rides along it within two years.

Echoing the introduction by Mayor Carl Prichard, Boone added, "There could hardly be a more suitable place than Calera for this project. One of the first railroads in the state came through here."

Caroline Cavanaugh, director of the state's publicity and information bureau, told the crowd of about 60 that the excursions and museum would give Calera a crack at Alabama's $2.5 billion dollar tourist industry.

"You're going to see bus loads

Museum groundbreaking

Calera was built around the railroads, so it's a fitting location for a railroad museum, Mayor Carl Prichard (right) said at Saturday's groundbreaking ceremony. But Councilmen Doug LeSueur and Robert Loftin (at left in railroad caps) had a moment's trouble working their ceremonial shovel.

S. I. Lime gets definite maybe

by Marcia M. Sears

County Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden broke a tie vote Monday, changed his mind, rescinded his vote, and said, "A line has to be drawn...but where?"

The issue before the commission was S.I. Lime Corporation's request for industrial park status at its Saginaw location. Such parks are exempt from being annexed into municipalities.

The City of Alabaster had its mayor, city clerk, and attorney on hand at the public hearing to urge the commission not to grant the request.

S.I. Lime is within Alabaster's police jurisdiction. It pays Alabaster sales taxes of about $25,000 to $26,000 per year.

vote, it left the entire question open until the next commission meeting in three weeks.

Commissioner Harold Davenport of Alabaster led the discussion against granting the industrial park status. He was supported by Commissioner Don Murphy.

Davenport had earlier been against granting similar status to the Alabama Power Company and to Vulcan Materials, but both of those requests passed.

Davenport said, "It was a bad piece of legislation that went through Montgomery to exempt industries from certain taxes. This is going to mushroom throughout the county."

Commissioners James "Jake" Morris and J. Alph Lowe favored

When Snowden withdrew his the company's request, if Alabaster would not lose any tax money in the process.

> The arguments went on for an hour and a half with attorneys for Alabaster and S.I. Lime doing most of the talking.

> C.A. "Butch" Powell, the lime company's attorney, said Alabaster would not lose anything by the maneuver. He said his company would be glad to agree in writing to continue paying Alabaster sales taxes on the same scale as in the past.

He argued his company needed to have industrial park status so it could make plans for the future. The company would like to attract other industries to the area, but needs assurance of a stable future to do so, he said. "We

ARCO to drill under Westover

by Fred Guarino

Could it be that over 10,000 feet below the surface of Shelby County, oil is waiting to be discovered?

Ignoring the negative results of a wildcat operation in Pea Ridge three years ago, Atlantic Richfield Company is going across the county to try its luck in a wildcat operation south of Westover.

The company, through its subsidiary Arco Oil and Gas Company, is drilling on property owned by Gulf States Paper Com-

Authorized by the State Oil and Gas Board, the well will be called Arco/Anschutz Alabama Properties Number One.

According to Richard Knowles of Atlantic Richfield's Dallas drilling division, the actual work will probably be conducted by Delta Drilling Company.

The efforts by Arco will mark only the second time the Appalachian fold and fault region of Shelby County has been tapped.

Pea Ridge proved unproductive in 1979 when a well drilled to a depth of 12,522 feet was abandoned as a dry hole.

The site of the well will be three miles south of the intersection of county roads 55 and 51.

Preparation work is already underway on the test well location and is being handled by T. K. Stanley, Inc. Oil Field Contractors of Waynesboro, MS.

On Monday the company had already cleared all the timber at the site, and was digging a reservoir. Dirt was being hauled in to level the land for oil drilling equipment.

According to Lee Howard, a foreman on the job, the test well will be drilled to a probable depth of 16,500 feet.

When asked if the well was in fact being drilled for oil, Howard stated "oil, slash, natural gas."

Arco is in the process of working out a lease agreement with Gulf States Paper Company for use of the property.

According to Eddie Lary, a forester for Gulf States, work has actually gotten ahead of the necessary paper work.

Ed board nixes new pressboxes

The cost of rebuilding a pressbox that burned early this year will have to be borne by Montevallo school patrons and members of the community.

Shelby County Board of Education member Bill Fancher made a motion at Tuesday's meeting to reimburse the school in the amount of $3,521.

But the motion failed to pass when Jack Upchurch, the only other board member present, cast a negative vote. Board Chairman Barbara Whitman refrained from exercising her option to break the

There was a round of applause following the action. Chelsea School trustee Dewey Garrett later commented it was the first time he had ever heard the board say no to a recommendation from Superintendent Charles Knowles.

Before the vote, Garrett had asked the board for help in rebuilding the pressbox at Chelsea which had deteriorated and was considered a safety hazard.

But Knowles said he considered that a different type of situation and did not recommend Montevallo High School Principal Joe Perkins offered no comments on the board's action except to say after the meeting, "What will be will be."

Earlier in the meeting, Knowles had asked the board to consider insuring buildings and structures on school campuses which they were not responsible for erecting.

That action had been recommended by insurance inspectors who looked over school properties several months ago, Knowles

"If such a building should be lost," he noted, "and it was uninsured, technically we would have the responsibility of replacing it."

The superintendent said that further investigation would be made to determine the costs of picking up such insurance.

The amount of insurance coverage should be 80% of the value, he said, which would jump the present premium payment of $40,000 to $110,000.

The subject will be placed on the agenda of the next board meeting on June 22.

During the summer months, board meetings will be held at the central office in Columbiana on Tuesday afternoons at 3:30 p.m.

LEON ARCHER

Archer announces for commission seat

Leon Archer announced his candidacy this week for the Shelby County Commission, District Four. He will run on the Democratic ticket in the September 7 primary.

Archer lives in Westover and is president of the Westover Water Authority. He was elected to the water board in 1977 and reelected for a 6 year term in 1981. Since 1977 the water board has built a new office and shop, an additional storage tank, and a new well. The water system is financially sound.

Archer was appointed to the Shelby County Planning Commission in October 1980. He is also a member of the Democratic Executive Committee.

The 34-year old candidate is employed by Globe Chemical Company, Inc. of Avondale Estates, Georgia as a sales representative who services schools, city government and various other businesses.

He is married to the former Margie Powers and has two daughters, Alana, age 12, and Lori, age 8. They attend Elvin Hill Elementary and Columbiana Middle Schools.

He is an active member of the PTO and band boosters.

Archer is a member of the Mt. Tabor United Methodist Church where he holds several offices.

Listening to the voters is one of Archer's main concerns. He feels that efficiency, sound business practices, and hard work are essential in successful, fair coun-

Montevallo's city council Monday night, approved an application for a $300,000 Community Development Block Grant. If the application is approved and funded, sewer lines and road resurfacing will take place in Montevallo's Evansville and Nix Hill areas.

The CDBG application was prepared by Lucas and Carr Engineers, Inc., an engineering firm retained by the city. The application is similar to applications submitted by the city in 1978 and 1979. Those applications were approved but not funded:

District Judge Patti Smith asked the county commission for its support in a program to help juveniles in trouble.

She outlined a program that has been successful in Gadsden, which is individualized for each juvenile. The plan includes working with the families, and with all agencies of the community, to help the children succeed. "They see themselves as failures," Smith told the Commissioners.

The commission unanimously voiced support for her plan.

On Tuesday she presented it to the board of education, and that board also voted favorably on it.

Perplexed observers

can't make plans this way. We want to know what the situation will be 10 years from now." Ken Roberson, a vice president for the company pointed out that Southern Stone and S.I. Lime have four different locations in Shelby County, and they are not asking for industrial park status for any of the others. "One was annexed into Alabaster last week," he said, indicating the company's shop on county road 12, just off highway 119.

Bur Alabaster's attorney H. A. Conwill said the legislative act creating industrial parks was never intended to be used "as it has been used in this county. Its purpose was to bring in new industry. S.I. Lime may agree to pay taxes to Alabaster, but they will not be obligated to do so. This takes Alabaster out of the picture altogether."

Powell disagreed and said one of the purposes of the act was to preserve existing jobs. He stressed again that the company would continue to pay taxes to Alabaster. "In the South, lawyers still are as good as their

Conwill shot back, "Yeah, but he's not from the South."

Commissioner Morris wanted to table the question so the company and Alabaster could work out an agreement. Lowe concurred. But when it came to a vote, Davenport and Murphy were against a delay. Snowden broke that tie by siding with Davenport and Murphy.

Another who spoke out was H. Glenn Ware, with the AFL-CIO 581 and 561. He opposed the request saying it was not fair for one company to get tax relief and not others. "This would affect our jobs." He said he worked at Allied Products.

Charles Denward, vice president and general manager of Allied Products, said his company takes no position on S.I. Lime's request. But he said his company favors any incentive that can be given to industry.

Fred Maxey, a vice president for S.I. Lime said, "We want protection from an irrational move. We need to know what to expect."

There was more talk about Alabaster and the company working out an agreement, but Davenport moved that S.I. Lime's request be denied.

Again the vote was 2-2. Chairman Snowden then cast his vote with Davenport, saying it was "with provisions."

Davenport said, "There were no provisions in my motion, Mr. Chairman." At that, Snowden withdrew his vote, leaving the matter up in the air until the next meeting.

Trailer issue hanging

Trailers, speed limits, a new method of dispersing gasoline and advertising benches were a few of the topics discussed at Wednesday's meeting of the Columbiana Council.

However, most of the items brought up were put aside for further study.

When the request to locate a trailer in the city was mentioned, it triggered the usual difference of opinion among members.

While the majority of the council seems willing to let people in the neighborhoods involved make the decision on whether a trailer is located there, Councilwoman Jessie Jones opposes that system.

Emphasizing that she wasn't against letting trailers come into the city, Jones insisted that standards should be established so everyone would be treated fairly.

Councilman Harold McCord acknowledged that the ordinance on the books, which only allows trailers in mobile home parks, is being violated.

He suggested that it be abolished. But the council took no action after Mayor Buck Falkner mentioned that that move would probably encourage people to 'put trailers on every empty space in town."

So the policy of letting the neighbors decide will continue to be used.

McCord also asked for a change in the speed limit in some areas, calling those presently in effect unrealistic.

Before voting to increase the speed in the various places, the James Palmer wanted to leave the mayor asked McCord to make a more thorough investigation.

Falkner also asked the council to think about the way the key system method of pumping gas should be handled.

When they approved the new procedure, the council had assumed every city vehicle would have a key so an accurate record could be kept of mileage and gasoline consumption.

However, it was reported that all department heads don't want to keep up with the number of keys that would require.

In the event a key isn't assigned to every vehicle, it would be up to department heads to account for the mileage on each vehicle.

At the present time, the Gas Board has one key, the Water Board two, the Street and Sanitation Department one, the Fire Department one and the Police Department, four. A total of 16 vehicles are involved.

After reporting that the estimated cost of spraying for mosquitoes would be around $1,000, Councilman Bill Seale said that Street Superintendent apparatus on his pickup truck.

For that reason, Seale explained, the street superintendent had asked for permission to drive a discarded police car.

The council approved the request for the duration of the spraying.

Another matter on which the panel will deliberate, is whether or not benches containing advertising should be placed in the city.

When such a request was made at a previous meeting, there had been complaints about the streets being too narrow.

However, it was mentioned that more benches are needed in the city park.

Bringing the panel up to date on the progress of a $300,000 community block grant for the improvement of the sewer system, Jones reported that the application has been submitted.

The Shelby County Commission is upset over delays in receiving a classification program for county employees.

The program was to be prepared over a year ago by Don Hendron, who was with the Association of County Commis-

The purpose of the program was to screen all jobs handled by county personnel and set up a system by which people doing the same jobs get the same pay.

Harold Davenport brought the matter to the attention of the commission when civil defense director Bill Tucker asked that consideration of a pay increase be given Annette Martin.

Tucker pointed out in writing that Martin was doing work for four departments, has been employed by the county for 11 years and is still being paid as a clerk typist.

Gary Ray, county engineer, who also heads the county highway department, stated that he had not asked for merit raises for his employees because he was waiting on the new classification system.

The highway department, unlike other county departments, has had a written pay schedule for a number of years, but Ray said Monday it was no longer worth the paper it was written on.

Although no vote was taken, commissioners agreed that someone should contact Don Hendron about getting the work finished.

Bill Tucker reported that asphalt poured for the creation of a new tie-down area, has made existing lines unusable.

Plumbing work to clean clogged sewage lines at the airport was also approved.

Tucker indicated that a design error in the airport's septic tank system had eliminated cleanout plugs. He said this meant plumbers had to do major work before they could get access to the lines.

The county Ingineer was given instructions to purchase as many of his supplies as possible from Shelby County merchants.

Ray told the commission that it was his policy to purchase supplies at a savings. He said that he does buy locally when possible.

However, Ray stated that comparisons have often shown local prices are higher than those in Birmingham. He volunteered to show the commission the prices he pays for supplies and those quoted by county businesses.

However, he agreed to check into local purchase prices more closely before buying.

In other business, the commission authorized the engineer to hold an auction to sell three pieces of loading equipment.

Ray was also given authorization to include in a work contract the hydroseeding and mulching of road banks at the intersection of County Roads 17 and 29.

This was granted only with the understanding that the contractor hired for the road work is in agreement.

Ray was given emergency authority to have a scraper, used in landfill work, repaired without taking bids.

Ray stated that the scraper is absolutely necessary to complete the work at the landfills in time to meet the health department's deadlines for closing the Calera and Helena landfills. . . . .

With 88 inmates on the books Friday, Sheriff's deputies report life in the Shelby County jail has been crowded recently. However, according to Chief Deputy James Jones, the federal courts set

Jail population decreases

by David F. Moore

In the wake of the May 13 drug busts, the population of the Shelby County jail swelled to 115 inmates. It was the second highest inmate count in the jail's history.

By Friday, May 21, the jail population had dropped to 88, mainly because 29 of the 32 people arrested for selling drugs, had paid at least $35,000 each, to get out on bond.

But the jail still housed 13 inmates more than it was designed to accommodate.

Jail reports show that only 17 of the 88 inmates are serving time on county charges, while 41 of them are convicted on state felony charges.

Twenty-nine inmates are awaiting trial, and one is being held for Columbiana. Chief Deputy James Jones said nearly all of the 29 face state charges.

With only 75 functional cells, makeshift sleeping and living arrangements have been necessary. Pads and cots have been placed in some of the day rooms, and in other parts of the jail which are not protected by locks.

Deputies receive 'double' pay

It appears that the county will begin paying deputies who attend National Guard camps their full salary while they participate in the training sessions.

At their Wednesday meeting, members of the Law Enforcement Personnel Board were informed that the commission office had requested the board's consent before doling out the extra pay.

Under the rules of the Personnel Board, employees of the sheriff's department have only received the difference between military pay and their salaries.

Making the motion to comply with the request from the commission, board member Larry Dillard said, "There's no reason for them to follow this rule since they don't follow any of our other rules."

The board voted in favor of Dillard's motion.

Dillard's remark about a rule the commission didn't go along with, involved the date of permanent employment for four workers at the sheriff's department. The request had been made to rectify an error and to get the board in compliance with their rules. Referring to that situation, board member Mickey Johnson said that in his opinion, the commission had missed the point of the request. He noted that the commission had said the personnel involved couldn't be reclassified retroac-

"That implies that they were classified correctly in the first place and they weren't,"

Johnson declared.

"What they're doing," Johnson pointed out, "is telling us we can't go back and correct a mistake."

Board chairman Teddy Brasher reminded members that everything possible had been done to rectify the situation.

If the commission had backed up the date of permanent employment for two of the workers to August 31 and October 1 for two others, a small amount of back pay might have been involved.

The board found it incongruous that the commission would be concerned about that amount and then turn around and pay a much larger amount to the deputies who go to training

The matter of double pay had been brought to the attention of the commission office by the Attorney General's office.

One of the four deputies who attend training camps had written for an opinion. And even though his answer wasn't an opinion since the deputy had not gone through the proper channels, the deputy was told he was entitled to his full salary while at camp.

State law, he was informed. makes that a requirement. All of the other county employees have been getting the double pay.

'The big problem with so many inmates is security," Chief Deputy James Jones said. "Especially since a lot of them aren't behind lock and key."

Up to 40 overflow inmates have, within limits, been free to wander about parts of the jail. And as many as three of the six or seven day shift guards are often out at once taking prisoners to court or the doctor or dentist. That leaves only a few guards to handle the jailhouse.

Some prisoners without individual cells want one, Jones explained. Others in locked cells are envious of the added "freedom" the overflow inmates have.

So far, this has led to aggravation among some inmates; but no physical incidents, Jones said.

"I'm ready for all these people to get out," commented one trusty during the rush of the 26 drug arrests. "Then things can get back to normal."

Overcrowding, however, has not caused a financial strain on the sheriff's department. So far, the $1.75 per day the state pays for each inmate, has been enough to keep reportedly good food on the dinner trays.

Jones anticipates the opening of two new state prisons will end the overcrowding. But those facilities are two to three years from completion, he said.

Two current inmates are awaiting trial on murder charges: Hulen Wilson of Vincent, charged with the 1982 death of James Davis; and Darrell Grayson of Montevallo, scheduled to standtrial May 31 for the December, 1980 murder of Annie Laurie Orr.

Helen Horton of Shelby uses the name Helen Martin as an alias. She was arrested as Martin in connection with the May 13 drug raids.

The Reporter correctly copied the name Martin from a grand jury indictment list furnished by the sheriff's department. That list, however, reverses her true name and alias.

"We had no control over the name used on the indictment," Chief Deputy James Jones said. "But she signed all her legal documents as Helen Horton, so apparently that's her real name."

Baseball memories recalled

Letter to the Editor:

With the recent increase in baseball reminiscence I thought I might add a word on Shelby County baseball in the 1940's. These were the war years when schedules were decided on whether you had enough gas to get there.

The very lucky had real baseball shoes, the less lucky played in tennis shoes, and the unlucky were always getting hit on their bare feet. For some reason there was a shortage of neetsfoot oil, and coaches, never strong on humor and even worse on puns, assured their outfielders that the lard they rubbed on their gloves would draw flies!

Calera easily took the prize for the most unusual baseball field. This was due to the decision to install a home plate made of marble that stuck up about two inches above the ground.

When you first batted at Calera you noticed that marble plate. When you ran in home and stepped square on the plate your foot shot up in the air and you ended up on your back.

Calera fans would loudly ad-

Blackburn (?) who scared you when he came up to bat, and who looked like the end of the world as he blocked home and waited for you.

If you remember Luther Reach you remember the finest pitcher the county ever produced. He could have gone the whole way. If you saw his nineteen strikeout game against Columbiana you do remember him.

And a personal word to Tommy Baker who always called a better game that I could pitch.

Fire chief picked from ranks

Tuesday as Helena's full time, paid fire chief. He replaces Doug Sprouse who resigned from the position earlier this year.

Penhale, a first level EMT, has been a volunteer with the Helena department for 11 years. He has served as assistant chief for the past seven years.

According to councilman Ron Erwin, four applicants were interviewed for the position. Two of them did not meet all the qualifications, and one did not want to move to Helena, he said.

Penhale's appointment was unanimously approved two weeks ago at a called council meeting.

"He wanted the job and I'm satisfied he'll do a super job," Erwin said. "He's a local boy and he knows the streets and the people. He'll be able to find his way around."

"The volunteers recommended him and he's got the full support of the council," Erwin said.

Erwin explained that the chief will answer to him instead of Mayor Charles Penhale, to prevent any conflicts of interest. Garry is the mayor's son.

"My foremost goal is to improve the emergency medical service in Helena," Chief Penhale told the Reporter. "Next in line is to recruit more volunteers. We also want to support the newly formed ladies auxiliary."

Wilsonville Park budget approved

by Fred Guarino

Little by little, Wilsonville's Park and Recreation Board will receive its first official town fun-

After a lengthy discussion Monday night, the town council approved the first budget ever for the board, which amounted to $1,416.25.

However, as the town's general fund only shows $1,100, the money will not be awarded all at Mayor Sherrel McClure argued that the town's budget was set last fall, and to include the park and retreation board now would require a revision.

He said that a new budget will be made in October for the next fiscal year and asked that funding be delayed until then. He reported that in October the town could anticipate the necessary funds, and include the park board in its budget for the entire

However, on the motion of Hobart Lee and a second by Frances Phelps, the council moved ahead with funding the board from May 24 through October 1.

Lee stressed that the budget seems large now only because this is the time of year when the most park maintenance is necessary.

He stated, "We are now in the middle of ball season when the park will be used the most."

Lee added that by funding park board, Wilsonville would get more for its money than hiring maintenance work.

The budget includes cutting the grass on practice baseball fields, lining the playing field, grass cutting at the park, bushhog work, trash pick-up and cleaning park restrooms.

Also included were short range improvements needed at the park.

Listed as needs were landscaping around tennis courts, two additional picnic tables, basketball goals and a horseshoe court.

When Councilwoman Frances

Phelps asked about the proposed annexation of Sunrise Cove, already approved by council, Mayor McClure responded that things had to be taken one at a time.

He said, "We will try to finalize water line acceptance and then pursue annexation."

In another matter, Mayor Mc-Clure reported to the council that it could not legally issue a business license in a section of town that is zoned residential.

During the last session of council, Joe Lyde requested a license on a temporary basis to operate a mail order gun shop from his home.

Helena denies responsibility for problem

by David F. Moore

Johnny and Joyce Lynn have a mosquito breeding swamp stagnating in back of their Brandywine home. And they want the City of Helena to clean it up.

The swampy area is created by a debris clogged drainage ditch. It runs the length of the Helena subdivision and water backs into the Lynn's yard on Chateau Drive.

In dry weather, the water stagnates and mosquitoes breed. When it rains, the ditch floods, the Lynns said.

Brandywine resident Charles Cook said he's seen the Lynns' backyard turn into a lake before.

At the council's Monday meeting, the Lynns presented a ty.

"If it was just cleaned out and dug deeper, there'd be less of a problem," Mrs. Lynn told the council. "I'd like something done about it."

She also complained that the city neglects cutting the high grass that grows around its pumping station near their home.

Lions offer help to Inverness School

The Inverness Lions Club has entered into a compact with the county to help financially at the new Inverness School.

On Monday, Lions president Ray Beavers, and incoming president Bill May won the support of the county commission and the county school superintendent for a 'mutual pact.'

In the agreement, the Lions Club pledges a 'substantial' donation for the next school year, and continuous financial support each year as long as the need exists.

The county board of education in turn grants control of a minimum of one football field, one soccer field, one baseball field and one playground/picnic area to the Inverness Lions Club, after the school's needs are met.

The Lions' money is to be used for the development of the areas and for sports programs at the new school.

Beavers anticipated the Lions' contribution would be about $15,000 to $20,000 over the next five years.

The idea is to make the school an integral part of the communi-

Pelham tries tactics to avoid rationing

Do Pelham residents face water rationing this summer such as they did for five months last year?

According to Mayor Burk Dunaway, it depends on three factors: delivery of pump valves from Pennsylvania; consumer consumption; and the whims of the weatherman.

The city's new well in Indian Hills, with an estimated 2,000 gallons per minute pumping capacity, might end Pelham water woes permanently. However, health officals limited the well's output to 700 gallons, at least through the summer.

In the interim, the city has purchased a used pump and motor for $3,500, and will spend another $8,000-$9,000 to install it. Dunaway expects to be pumping water from the new well in several weeks. But to do so requires diverting lines from a present Indian Hills well, thus giving the city a net gain of 300-400 gallons per minute.

The city will have to wait until some time in July before it can start pumping a second new well located off Highway 119. The valves for the pump will not be delivered from Homestead Valves Company in Pennsylvania for about two months.

Jim House and Associates of Birmingham is installing the unit, and a spokesman for the company told the Reporter such delays are not unusual.

"With a little luck from the weatherman, and if we get these new wells on line, I think we'll be able to go through the summer without rationing," Dunaway said.

"If consumption stays low enough, we could do it without either well. But in the past, usage has gone up whenever we've increased our pumping capacity."

'If we don't get any rain, the 300 gallons from Indian Hills probably won't be enough," Dunaway continued. "But if we can get the 119 pump going-there's just too many 'if's!""

"I'd like to go on and order a large pump for the Indian Hills well and get it ready. I'm anxious

"I think the health department will let us," Dunaway said. "But that's my opinion, and that and 50 cents won't get you anything but a cup of coffee with a small tip for the waitress." Last May the city imposed a five month rationing schedule on its water customers.

In an effort to prevent such oblems from recurring, the city hiked its water rates and so far this spring, has spent about $150,000 on new wells, pumps and lines. To convert the Indian Hills well to 2,000 gallons will cost about $400,000 more.

High schools consolidate programs

The summer school program for Shelby County high school students is being consolidated this year.

Instead of classes being offered at Pelham, Montevallo and Thompson, the entire program will be held at Pelham.

According to the Board of Education's Curriculum Coordinator Evan Major, principals wanted the consolidation to carry on a better program.

Major pointed out that more courses can be offered at one location with classes averaging 20 students.

"Instead of a summer school with 40 students, we'll have one with approximately 400," Major remarked.

He said the basic subjects taught will be in the areas of history and English. But any course can be given, he added, as long as there are 15 students in the class.

Another advantage of the consolidation, Major noted, would be in cost reduction with only one school being open.

Due to the location of this year's summer school, Major said that Pelham Principal Ed Belue would be in charge of the program.

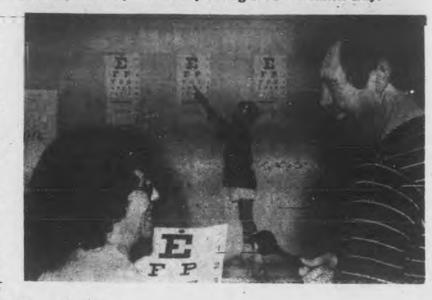

However, the site will rotate every year, Major added.

The Title I summer programs which elementary schools offered, Major said, were discontinued a couple of years ago due to a reduction in federal funds.

Association president queries teacher salary revision delays

The Shelby County Board of Education was questioned Tuesday, about failing to take action on revising salary schedules for teachers.

Shelby County Education Association President Tommie Harrison handed out a mimeographed sheet with that question and other matters of concern to the teachers.

She also related that the board was uncertain of the effect of the reappraisal program and the current use bill.

For those reasons, she explained, no major adjustment in expenses could be made.

Another item on the printed sheet concerned mailings from the central office.

While the recognition of students deserving honors has always been handled locally, teachers this year were asked to compile and send a list of these students to the central office.

According to reports, students are to be sent commendations from the superintendent's office.

Teachers have complained that preparing the requested information was a time consuming task and Harrison noted that taxpayers' money would be used to pay for postage.

A letter to parents thanking them for support in the "School is a Family Affair," program was also mentioned. It was noted that the signature of the person who headed up the program, Dr. Norma Rogers, was not on the letter. "We ask," Harrison wrote, "that you be very selective in the months to come. There is a thin line," she continued, "between praising, listing accomplishments and political propaganda."

The sheet also mentioned the lack of response from the board on concerns voiced at the Chelsea board meeting and called attention to "lack of priorities and rationale for some of the educational expenditures" in the coun-

Job applicants flood county

Job standards are changing. In a dire straits economy where 9.6% of the county work force is unemployed, even work as a county road laborer can look good.

Last week the Alabaster Job Service screened 150 applicants for four positions that opened with the Shelby County Highway Department. The agency whittled the number of applicants to 16.

After interviewing them, county engineer Gary Ray hired three men this week. A fourth man will be hired before June, he said.

"You can tell times are tough by the people coming in here,"

"Why in the world would you consider taking a job this low?" Ray asked the interviewees. "I've been surprised at the people coming off $6, $7 and $8 dollar an hour jobs, telling me they want

"Peoples' standards have changed," said Jo-Ellyn Norton, employer relations specialist with the Alabaster Job Service. "The rate of pay is definitely down."

"It's an employer's world right now," she explained. "There are few jobs and lots of people to fill

According to preliminary figures for March, the county's unemployment rate is 9.6%, up 1.2% from one year ago.

Unemployment declined from 10.9% in Feburary, but Norton anticipated that it will get worse before it gets better. The closing of U.S. Steel in Fairfield and the influx of graduating seniors this month is expected to run the unemployment figures back up again, she said.

"I think this trend will continue as long as the economy stays in the state it's in," Norton predicted.

However, she suggested that anyone seeking a job make an application at the Alabaster office. After all, four people did get lucky this week.

average is 11.7.

Credit for those strides has been given to teachers and principals who designed courses which have done a better job of meeting the needs of students.

A spokesperson for the Central Office of the Board of Education also attributed the improvement in academics to the positive attitude of students and the support and involvement of parents.

Although they were above the national average and equal to state averages, first grade scores didn't show as much gain as scores of other grades tested.

Many factors affect these scores such as the nature of skills taught and length of time students have been in school.

Many of those children had no school experience before entering first grade. Reports show that of the 1,000 first graders tested, 300 attended public kindergartens and approximately the same number went to private kindergartens.

CAT scores aren't reported for students in grades 3, 6 and 9. The Alabama Basic Competency test is used in these grades.

This test measures the progress in basic skills which must be mastered before students graduate from high school.

Commission enforces zoning

The county commission unanimously agreed Monday to enforce subdivision regulations under powers granted in recent state legislation.

The county's action was necessary because the state Supreme Court had invalidated a 1965 law which set up the county's zoning regulatory body.

That law had established a Shelby County Planning Commission which had power to enforce zoning regulations. The law a new act passed by the state was challenged by persons in Beat 12 who did not want zoning, and after several years in court the Supreme Court held it unconstitutional on May 13.

The commission, at the request of Don Murphy, also agreed to ask the members of the former Planning Commission to serve as an advisory committee while the attorneys try to get the Supreme Court to rehear the case.

Steps are now underway to get legislature at the earliest possible time to reinstate the Planning Commission and its regulatory and zoning powers.

Attorney Oliver Head said the county cannot ask for a 'blanket injunction' against anyone who tries to build industries in Beat 12, but he said it can ask for an injunction in each individual case

The Tenncor Company got the go-ahead from the county commission Monday to take down a hill within 100 feet of a county road right of way.

The hill is actually waste from a coal mining operation of 60 years ago.

Speaking for the company were John Bramfeld and Bruce Neighborhood residents who attended the meeting were W.R. Hughes, Paul Callahan, J.C. Allen, Chester Lovelady and T.R. Hughes.

The company men said there would be no blasting and no strip mining. The complaints voiced cerned the noise of the operation, which operates 24 hours a day.

Moore said the company plans to enclose the washer, which will cut down on the noise. A whistle that one resident objected to is required by federal law, Moore said. He sais the whistles cost the company $2,000 each, and did not seem any happier about them than the neighbors.

The commission granted the request to allow the operation to proceed.

Speech problems solved

with cooperative effort An estimated 22 million

Americans suffer from communicative problems. But youngsters who receive help with speech and hearing disabilities when they enter shoool are usually able to overcome their difficulty.

Since May is Better Speech and Hearing month, speech pathologists who work in the Shelby County school system emphasize the importance of early detection.

Speech supervisor Betsy Stockdale said that youngsters are screened when they enter kindergarten and first grade, and those in need of attention begin therapy immediately.

This year's caseload for the county includes 390 students - 32 more than last year.

Speech pathologists point out that cooperation is the key word in achieving a successful result.

Classroom teachers are urged to keep the pathologists informed of the student's performance in class regarding their difficulty, and parents are also encouraged to work with their child at home. Charts and tally sheets recording progress and poor performance, are useful in making the student aware of what he or she is doing and trying to correct it. Students with hearing or speech difficulties usually have sessions with the pathologist two or three times a week.

Depending on the severity of the problem, they may spend between 15 and 30 minutes in the University of Montevallo protherapy session.

Some students are able to be phased out after a semester, while others may need attention for two or three years.

Although most students benefit from these sessions, hearing impaired youngsters make the greatest strides in a program such as the one at Riverchase.

Transported in a special van from all areas of the county, the students have therapy sessions and then attend regular classes at the school.

paired Columbiana student he had been unable to help, speech pathologist Joe Ford said that immediate improvement in grades took place when the youngster went to Riverchase.

One speech disorder which could require surgery, explained Montevallo's speech pathologist Shirley Harrington, is nodules on the vocal chords.

She said that constant yelling was often the cause of the condi-

Other speech disorders involving pitch are speaking too high, too low or in a monotone.

The pathologists also work with students who stutter and those who have difficulty with articulation.

Language disorders are also dealt with. Some students are unusually slow in developing the language skills necessary to express ideas and understand

Then there are students who have learning disabilities, which means there is something interrering with their ability to understand the message the eyes and ears are receiving.

In addition to the therapy that is provided in the schools, a program for the hearing impaired is also conducted at the University of Montevallo.

Programs for students with hearing defects are developed by audiologist Wendy Crunk, supervisor for the county.

Gail Nivens handles the gram and Nancy Cox works with hearing impaired students at Riverchase.

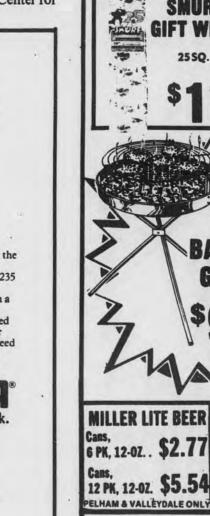

Speech pathologists and the schools they serve are: Cindy Bailey, Riverchase, Helena; Holly Krueger, Valley, Pelham High; Shirley Harington, Montevallo schools.

Homemaker's Club held its May meeting at the home of Janice Gordon. The pledge of allegiance was led by Elizabeth Isbell, and the meditation was given by Crickett Lovett.

Ruth Gordon presented the program on budgeting. "Where does your money go" was her topic and she pointed out where leaks in the budget might be found. To correct the situation, Mrs. Gordon suggested "self control" in exercising a well prepared spending plan. She offered the following steps as a guide in establishing a plan for

Admire quilt

Dr. Thomas Cargo, left, of the University of Alabama, discusses details of a quilt made in Harpersville in the 1880s with Hisotrical Society president Dr. Tom Caldwell and society members Norma Jean Howell and Johnnie Harper.

Historical club views hand made quilts

Quilts belonging to people from across Shelby and surrounding counties were on display at the spring meeting of the Shelby County Historical Society.

Some were pieced, some appliqued, and some were family heirlooms, while others were newly made.

In addition, Dr. Robert Cargo of the University of Alabama displayed samples from his extensive quilt collection.

As guest speaker, Cargo gave the history of quilt-making in America and showed slides on various patterns used through the years. He asked for anyone having old photographs showing quilts, to please contact him at the University of Alabama.

Dr. Cargo's collection has. shown at the Museum of Art in Birmingham and will be on display later in the year at a Montgomery museum. Restoration of the old courthouse in Columbiana was discussed during the business portion of the meeting.

Society treasurer Nell Fulton said that several people have asked her when the Society is going to do something about the outside of the building.

President Tom Caldwell said all the experts have stated that the roofing must be completed before any other work of a permament nature can be done. Then stripping away of the old outside finishes will begin.

Court action on the first roofing job has held up work on a new one, he said, but permission was granted at the end of 1981 to go ahead with a new roof. A contract for the new roof was let with Shelby County roofer Roy Holcombe and work has been started. However, it was reported that work has been held up because of wet weather this spr-

Caldwell said that contracts have already been signed for plumbing and electrical work on two rooms of the building which will be used for museum rooms. The group has already received for display private papers and books, quilts and other items connected with the early history of the county.

The possibility of hiring someone to oversee the restoration project and see that it keeps moving was discussed briefly. This is to be considered by the court house committee.

The Historical Society president told the Reporter that the group is planning a dinner for later in the year to recognize people for their work on the project.

Warriors wear county crown

by Richard Crosby

Clutch hitting was probably the key. The Thompson Warriors fought back in the bottom of the seventh inning to win the county baseball championship.

Briarwood seemed to have the game on ice. The score was 6-4, Jeff McLaurine was in fine form at the mound. Only three outs were needed for the Lions to win the county crown in their last year to play for it.

Thompson didn't give up. Vince Wiser started off with a single. He moved to second on Jim Standbridge's single.

Designated hitter Dale Bailey walked to load the bases with no

Richard Brasher got a hit on an error which scored one run and left the bases loaded.

Junior Dunaway singled up the middle. Stanbridge scored from third to tie the game. Bailey tried to stretch Dunaway's single for the game winning run, but the throw to the plate was in time.

With the score tied 6-6, one out and runners on second and third, Johnny Thomas stepped up to bat for Thompson.

He swatted a missle to the shortstop. Bo Miller made a great play to come up with the ball, but not in time to make the play at the plate, because Richard Brasher was already home with the game winning run.

Francisco Contract Co

Thompson won 7-6, and claimed the championship trophy after a wild celebration. Coach Billy Woodham told his players after the game, "You battled back!

'In life you're going to have to battle back all the time. There is a lot we have accomplished, and I'm looking forward to next year. This is the best note you can go out on. I'm glad I've had the chance to be associated with you."

Woodham then shook each player's hand in congratulations. Thompson finished the year 16-6.

On the other side of the field was a dejected Briarwood team. The Lions had shown everyone this year that they were a team to be wary of. The 21-3 record is the best the school has produced.

Coach Byrle Kynerd said of the team, "We played as a team. We have had good dedication and execution. They worked hard all year and played with a lot of class. I think they are a credit to the Alabama High School Athletic Association.'

Kynerd's last remark may have been prophetic. Briarwood will not be able to play public schools again due to a change in the rules by the AHSAA.

To reach the finals, Briarwood had to fight off a determined Chelsea team. The Lions got off with a 6-1 lead in the first inning, only to see it chipped away by the Hornets until the fourth inning

Briarwood tied the score in the bottom of the inning. The Lions broke the tie in the fifth inning when two runs scored on an er-bottom of the seventh. The Hornets loaded the bases but couldn't bring in a run and the game ended 9-7.

and went to work. By the fifth inning, Thompson had an 11-2 edge on the Wildcats who com-

In the bottom of the sixth, Shelby County's bat woke up, within one run (10-11).

Thompson deflated the hopes of Shelby County early in the seventh as the first man up, Rod McDade, blasted a home run over the right field fence. Two more runs came in to make the score 14-10. Shelby County failed to score again and Thompson moved on to the finals showdown.

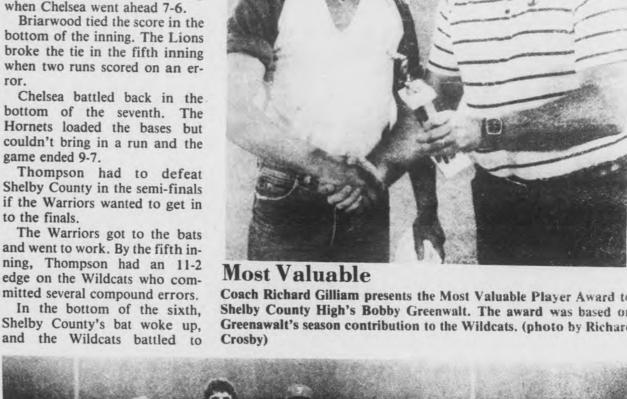

At the conclusion of the championship game, All County players were awarded their certificates. Those players were chosen for their season-long contribution to their respective teams. Bobby Greenwalt was named the Most Valuable Player for the county.

In addition to the All County Players (see list in banquet story), five players received Honorable Mention. Those were: Bo Miller-Briarwood, Scott Bryant-Indian Springs, Mike Peacock-Montevallo, Peter June-Pelham, and Kevin McKenzie-Vincent.

Car remains unclaimed in SCHS golf tourney

by Richard Crosby The car is safe.

The Shelby County High School Boosters offered an automobile for a hole-in-one during their tournament last Saturday but no one could claim the prize.

Despite the car's going unclaimed, 56 golfers claimed lesser prizes in the day-long tourney out of the 80 duffers who challenged the Buxahatchee Country Club course.

Tournament director and Booster Club President William Rasco said the tournament raised nearly $1,500.

Proceeds will be paid toward the debt retirement of the new, lights on the high school football field.

"I think everyone who played had a great time," Rasco commented. "We had more prizes to give away than ever before, and I think that added a lot to the success of the event."

Rasco added that the Booster

Club will be holding its annual Ross Bob Mullins Invitational Tournament in the fall and expects an even bigger and better tournament.

Winning the First Flight 'A' Division was Robert McCartney with a round of 70. Following him in the order of finish were: Jack York, Jim Threet, Mickey Crawford, Mo Robbins, Buddy Morrison, Andy Bunn, and Milton White.

Oliver Head won the first flight 'B' division with a score of 78. Other prize winners were: Charlie Tidwell, Joe Hubbard, Steve Lee, Rhett Vick, William Rasco, Eddie Gentry, and Don Bulger.

Wayne Shaw won the second flight with an 84. Others in that flight taking home prizes were: Robert Sigle, Forrest Schopp, Bill White, Jason Shaw, Conrad Fowler, Rick Ingram, and Alan Jim Curtis won the third flight with an 85. Other winners were: Preston Hughes, Stan Ennis, Kerry Nivins, John Wild, Don Piazza, Wayne Wright, and Sonny Davenport.

An 85 was the winning score for John Bowen in the fourth flight. Also winning were: Russell Rasco, Herbert Sims, Harold Davenport, Ricky Seale, Tony Foster, Tim Smith, and Trisha Bright.

Jim Adams fired an 89 to win the fifth flight. Following him were: Joey Neil, Richard Crosby, Terry Smith, L.C. Franks, Kyle Lansford, Ben Jones, and Jack Zuiderhoek.

The sixth and final flight was won by Jeff Hand Sr. with a 98. Hugh Alford was second, Jeff Jones third, and Dan Kitchens fourth.

Russell Rasco won the longest drive. Winning prizes on par-3's for closest-to-the-pin were Harold Davenport, Herbert Sims, and Robert McCartney.

All the aforementioned golfers won prizes in the tournament. Lunch was provided by the wives of Booster Club members.

Chelsea Hornets

Chelsea had a productive year in baseball, placing second in the area. Members of the team which is coached by Bobby Statum are: (not in order) Jeff Burns, Jock Efferson, Larry Cork, Paul Kendrick, Scott Moore, Billy Kendrick, Jeff Kendrick, Greg Conkle, Tim Rich, Jim Weston, David Cooper, Carl Folds, Mike Fant, and Scotty Isbell. (photo by Richard Crosby)

A national championship is within reach for local golfers who qualify. The 57th United States Amateur Public Links Championship is the prize.

Oak Mountain's golf course is the qualifying site for the tournament. Qualifying will consist of 36 holes of stroke play and will take place June 21.

Entries are open to amateur golfers who have been bona fide public golf course players since January 1, 1982, and have not held privileges of any course which does not extend playing privileges to the general public.

Entry forms are available at Oak Mountain. The U.S. Championship wil be held July 12-17 at Eagle Creek Golf Course in Indianapolis, Ind.

Undefeated

The Alabaster Braves T-ball team is still undefeated after seven games. The Braves also won the first-half championship in the Alabaster Dixie Youth Coaches for the team are Jim Dennis and David Lucas.

Members of the team are: Drew Crawford, Paul Pike, D.J. Pike, David Wallace, Chris Tinney, Shawn Tinney, Mark Lucas, Terrell Norris, J.T. Jones, Carey Welsh, Jeremy Fox, Scott Dennis, and Mark Dennis.

The Minor League Cardinals won the first half championship in the Alabaster Dixie Youth League. The team completed the first portion of the season with seven wins and one loss.

Coaches for the team are John Douglas, Joe Doyle, and Curtis Woodruff.

Members of the Cardinals are: Jay Doyle, Jason Douglas, Todd Brand, Clint Woodruff, Chris Bunn, Michael Davis, Kip Blankenship, Chad Wooley, Jason Fournier, Matt Hicks, Bryan Brandenburg, and Jeff Pfeil.

The second half of the Alabaster season began May 21, and lasts for eight weeks.

Important dates

Important dates for the Alabama High School Athletic Association are as follows: July 29 - All-Star Basketball Game; July 29 - All-Star Football Game (both contests to be held in Tuscaloosa); August 2 - fall sports practices may begin.

Rule changes

Rule changes by the ASHAA for basketball include prohibition of the use of television monitoring or replay equipment for coaching purposes during the game and halftime period; an excess time-out results in an intentional, two-shot technical foul; and the warning period for lack of sufficient action is reduced from 10 seconds to five seconds.

In trouble

The latest schools and folks chastised by the ASHAA are Gadsden High School for flagrant violation of eligibility rules. Gadsden received a $500 fine and probation for a year.

Coaches Bubba Lewis and Don Brewer at Jeff Davis High for flagrant unsportsmanlike conduct_ toward umpires. And, Coach Ron Watters at Chambers County High was put on probation for unsportsmanlike con-

Basketball

An organizational meeting for a proposed summer basketball league will be held Monday night, May 31, at 7 p.m. Don Piazza says the meeting will be held at the Shelby County High School Everyone interested is urged to come to the meeting or call Piazza at 669-9996.

Promoters hope to have two leagues - one for players under 30, and another for players over

And furthermore

Childersburg High School's golf team finished tenth in the recent state championship.

Individual honors were also won by Jeff Batson who fired a 158 score in the 36 hole event.

Sports All County awards Briefs received by athletes at annual banquet

by Richard Crosby

The county's top athletes were honored last Saturday night in Chelsea. The occasion was the annual All Sports Banquet hosted by the Shelby County Coaches Association.

Those athletes selected as the best in their particular sport received their All County patches during the evening's festivities.

Guest speaker for the night was Keith Pugh, former Alabama player and now area representative for the North Alabama Office of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

The big award of the night was the presentation of the All Sports Trophy. Thompson High School won the award for the second year in a row.

Briarwood Christian placed second. It was the last chance for the north county school to win the award. Changes in the structure of the Alabama High School Athletic Association eliminate Briarwood from playing public schools next year.

Receiving All County patches for football were: Mike McCrary and Bo Miller from Briarwood; Derrick Merritte, John Killingsworth, Mike Roberson, and Ricky Winterbottom from Calera; Jack Shaw and Jim Weston from Chelsea; J.J. Moore, Lloyd Pickett, and Rex Wallace from Montevallo; Felix McCavley and Tracy Swinney from Pelham; Ronald Benton, Randy Lewis, and Thomas Simon from Shelby County; Arthur Johnson, Rick Long, Tom Puckett, Jeff Bentley, and Rod McDade from Thompson; and Bobby Howard from Vincent.

Selected All County for Boys Cross Country were: Phillip Bruno from Vincent; Tyler Nash, Andy Scotch, Mike Mulvaney, and Shawn Dochtermann from Briarwood.

Named All County for Girls Cross Country were: Traci Jerman from Briarwood, Jennifer Wilder from Montevallo, and

Wind Creek reopening set

baseball, volleyball, cross-country, golf and wrestling. As shown above, the county is rich in talented athletes in all sports as the All

County selections gathered for an team photo.

Wind Creek State Park is now the largest developed campground in Alabama. The 1,355 acre park area includes 300 developed acres of picnicking, camping, swimming and boating. the area includes a marina-boat launch ramp and maintenance area. The remaining 1,000 acres are to be maintained in their natural state.

The grand re-opening and the events during the day are free and open to the public.

The grand re-opening of Wind Creek State Park, on Lake Martin near Alexander City, will be Saturday, May 29 at the park.

The park has been closed for modernization and renovation for the last three years.

The gates will open at 7 a.m., with scheduled acitivites beginning at 11. Entertainment during the day will include a country music band and a ski show. After dark, a new film about Alabama's attractions and one highlighting the state park system will be shown, followed by a spectacular fireworks display.

The public is invited to enjoy the many activities offered by the park such as swimming, boating, sunning and fishing. Free transportation shuttles including a train and two hayrides will transport visitors to the events.

Join the thousands who already enjoy this magical new form of entertainment

Rain threatened...in fact it rained. Despite the precipitation the Shelby County High School Booster Club golf tournament continued at Calera last Saturday.

The new car that was offered for a hole-in-one during the event never got its keys rattled. I had someone all lined up to drive my 'bomb' back home so I could ride up to the house in a

I wasn't the only one who had made those tentative plans. I also wasn't the only one who didn't get to follow through with those plans.

The car is back on the lot now. Despite all the eagle-eyed boasting golfers, the car was never in jeopardy. The closest anyone hit to the hole during the tournament was seven feet.

No wonder insurance companies will take the risk. It was really no risk at all.

The rain halted play of the early players for about 30 minutes. The afternoon bunch played in a drizzle at times, but the sky held off offering new floods until the event was completed.

It must be said that the tournament was the best one of the spring season though. It was well organized, ran smoothly, and there were plenty of prizes for almost everyone.

Even I didn't go away empty handed. And that's saying

Soil conservation

holds annual district barbecue

The Shelby County Soil and Water Conservation District hosted its 39th annual district barbecue Thursday night.

An estimated crowd of 270 people showed up for the free meal at the state 4-H Center on Lay Lake.

The barbecue was held to promote a more personal relationship between conservationists, landowners and land users.

Attending the event were Earl Norton, assistant state conservationist at Auburn, and Don Presley of the area Soil and Conservation Service office in Tuscaloosa. Lawrence W. Garrett is chairman of the Shelby County group.

Members of both the Shelby and Jefferson County Boards and Shelby County officials were also invited.

Child abuse case

reaches settlement

A man charged with child abuse at a day care center on Valleydale Road has paid a settlement fee of $10,000, after the charge was reduced.

George W. Clark of Chuchura Drive in north Shelby was arrested for child abuse in March of 1981 for allegedly spanking Amanda Christine Gibbs at the Happy House Day Care Center. Dr. Larry Gibbs of Altadena South filed suit against Clark on his daughter's behalf, seeking $350,000 in damages.

Clark, however, recently pled guilty to a misdemeanor charge of third degree assault and federal judge John Bryan awarded Gibbs and his daughter $5,000 each. Bryan said the amount awarded was punititive since no medical damages occurred from the spanking.

After Clark's arrest, the Department of Pensions and Security sought to have the day care center's license revoked.

However, attorney David C. Johnson said that Clara Clark, wife of the defendant and owner of the center, closed Happy House herself because of financially reasons.

Johnson said that federal courts ruled that DPS's procedure for seeking to revoke the license was unconstitutional.
